Area River Projects

Seven of 10 river clean-up projects begun last year in northwest Minnesota have been completed this spring ond summer, thanks to the Stream Maintenanca Project—a matching-great program administered by the Minnesoto Department af Naturol Resources Division of Waters.

DNR Division of Woters received $150,000 in a speciol appropriation from the Minnesota Legislature in 1989 to pay up to 50 percent of related costs to counties willing to administer river clean-up projects. County officers around the state, usually in cooperatioo with watershed district or soil and water conservation district officials, submitted project praposals. Grants were approved last year and work began on most af the projects. In narthwest Minnesota, eight counties received a total of $59,640 to complete 10 projects.

Completed this year were clean-ups on the Snake River in Marshall and Polk counties, the Red Lake River in Pennington County, the Otter Tail River in Wilkin County, the Little Minnesota River In Traverse County, tha Pomme de Terre River in Stevens County and a large cooperative project on the Red River that received funding and resources from the DNR, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Clay County, the cities of Forgo and Moorhead, the Buffalo-Red River Watershed Board, and the Southeast Cass County Watershed Board of North Dakota. Extensions were recently granted on three other projects in Polk, Roseau and Traverse counties for the Sand Hill and Warroad Rivers and Twelve Mile Creek, with clean-up work to be completed by mid-summer next year.

Counties or their cooperating local agencies receive half the stote grant money at the start of each project. Area hydrologists with the DNR must oversee thn work ond verify project completion before the second half of the grants are poid off.

Local government and watershed authorities usually match the stote grants with a cambination of cash and in-kind services, depending on the resources available and the special requirements of the individual jab. In some cases, heovy equipment is rented and/ar extra laborers or contractors are hired to remove dead and downed trees, debris, rubble, large boulders and other abstructions from stream beds and flood plains. Project coordinators work with local solid-waste authorities to properly dispose of materials removed from each clean-up site.

According to Jerry Faul, DNR Regional Hydralagist at Bemidji, "DNR Stream Maintenanee Project grants provide a number of benefits to the watershed including improved novigotionol safety, water quality, and aesthetic and recreational values. State and local governments work together to camplete projects that, very often, no single agency could accomplish an its own."

The 1991 Legislature appropriated two additional grants of $75,000 each for Fiscal Years '92 and '93 to fund additional Stream Maintenance Projects. Tha DNR Division of Woters will soon be soliciting project proposals for Fiscal Year '92.

Con-Con Landa were tax-forfeited to the stote in the early part of this century. As timber activity began to slow down, laws were changed to accommodate public pressure for more agricultural land. An extensive system of drainage ditches was constructed to drain bogs and swamplands for agricultural purposes in Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall and Roseau counties. However, much of the land proved unsuitoble for farming.

Drainage project costs were assessed against all landowners in the drainage districts. When many private landowners were unable to

Bob Farmes Memorial dedication set

State and federal wildlife managers, along with officials from Ducks Unlimited (DU) and the Red Lake Watershed District are finishing plans for the September 21st dedication of a memorial to Robert E. Farmes, professional wildlife manager with the Minnesata Department of Natural Resaurces (DNR), who warked for more than 37 years among the prairies and wetlands of northwest Minnesota.

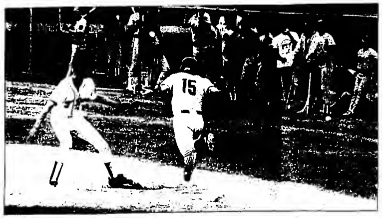
Among his accomplishments was the establishment af 33,000-acres of northwest Minnesota public lands into state Wildlife Management Areas (WMA's), including the 15,560-acre Elm Lake WMA, located just south of the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) in Marshall County. Farmes worked for 30 years to restore the wetlands of Elm Lake that had been drained in the early 1900's in a generally unsuccessful effort to create more agricultural land.

Dn Saturday, September 21, 1991, at 1:30 p.m., on the border between the Agassiz NWR and the Elm Lake WMA, an engraved, six-ton granite cairn, purchased with private donations, will be unveiled and dedicated as o permanent monument to Farmes. Wildlife staff ot both facilities have been sodding, landscaping, and preparing a site for the memorial near a dike and water-control structure recently completed as part of a water-impound project that will restore Elm Lake, 75 years ofter it was drained. The dedication ceremonies will rename Elm Lake as The Robert E. Farmes Pool.

Speakers on hand at the dedication will include Minnesota 7th District Congressman, Collin Peterson; U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Region 3 Director, James Gritman; Minnesota DNR Cammissioner, Rod Sando; DNR Fish and Wildlife Directar, Roger Homes; Retired DNR Fish and Wildlife Director, Dave Vesall; Red Lake Watershed District Administrator, Lowell Enersan; Ducks Unlimited Executive Vice President, Matthew Cannally Jr.; DU President, Jahn E. Walker; and possibly U.S. Secretary af the Interior, Manuel Lujan.

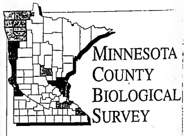
Representatives fram the news media, and several sportsmen's groups and environmental organizatians will also be invited, along with the general public. Portable bleachers, tents and restroom facilities will be set up for the occasion, and local DU Chapters will be serving refreshments.

For more information contact Joe Kotok at the Agassiz NWR, Middle River, MN 56737 phone 218-449-4115; or Gordy Forester, DNR Wildlife at Thief River Falls, phone 218 681-7790. Individuals or organizations that would like to contribute to the coat of the granite memorial may send checks to: Jerry Maertens—Farmes Memorial, c/o DNR Wildlife, 2115 Birchmont Beach Road NE, Bemidji, MN 56601.



Farmes graduated from the U of M in 1949 with a degree in wildlife management and soon began his career with the Minnesota DNR as a research biologist warking with waterfowl and prairie grouse. In 1958 he becama the wildlife manager for a 13-county area in northwest Minnesoto. He was promoted to Northwest Regional Wildlife Supervisor in 1980 and retired from that position in 1985. On April 21, 1988, Farmes lost his battle with cancer.

Throughout his career, Frames was most concerned with the retention and improvement of public lands for wildlife habitat, and worked to increase the number of state-owned prairie and wetland acres put into managed wildlife areas. He also liked to help get public agencies and private sportsman's graups together to coaperate an wetland restorations and other projects. Most of the wildlife water impoundments in northwest Minnesota today are a direct result of his efforts or guidance.



Farmes received numerous awards during his career, the first of which came from the Minnesota Conservation Federation in 1962 for his "outstanding service" in dedicating 33,000 acres of state land to WMA's. In 1966 and 1968 he received awards from the Fergus Falls Save-the-Wetlands Club and American Motors, respectively, for his, "intensive campaign to preserve Northwest Minnesota Lands." In 1986 he received special recognition from his co-workers in the Minnesota Fish and Wildlife Employees Association for, "A lifetime of dedication to the preservation and protection of the Wildlife Resource." In 1978 he received the Minnesota Chapter of the Wildlife Society "Man of the Year" Award.

Upon his retirement in 1985, Farmes received special recognition from the Minnesoto Deer Hunters Association, the Minnesota Conservation Federation, and the Minnesoto Prairie Chicken Society. He also received the coveted, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Silver Eagle Award—one of only a handful of Minnesotans ever to receive that honor.

The ball caromed into foul territory and away from Thief River Falls first baseman Pete Balmer as Fergus Falls runner Ben Schlarer hit the bag on a key seventh inning play during Thursday's opening round Ninth District American Legion Tier I baseball tournament at Irv Wilson Field. Schlerer put down a sacrifice bunt on the play, but a throwing error put runners on second and third in the bottom of the seventh. An intentional walk loaded the bases with nobody out, and Fergus Falls' Barratt Prody broke a 1-1 tie with a single to right field that advanced Fergus Falls into the winner's round of the eight-team, double-elimination tournament that continues through Sunday.

Area is included in state biological survey efforts

What motivates volunteers to devote an entire day to wading through swamps and ditches and clambering over beaver dams? They are inspired by the possibility of discovering a new site of the rare Rams'-head Lady's slipper or Dragon's mouth orchid.

On a beautiful day in early July, volunteers from Warroad, Roseau, Karlstad and the Twin Cities searched for these rare orchids in Roseau county. By the end of the day, two new locations were discovered that harbored both the Dragon's mouth orchid and the Ram's-head Lady's slipper.

The orchid foray was led by Norm Aaseng and Dan Townsend, botanists with the Minnesota County Biological Survey. They had selected promising search areas in advance. Aaseng knew that the orchids often inhabit tamarack-spruce swamps with a ground cover of hummocky spagnum moss, and led the volunteers to such a site, where they found the plants. By the end of the July blooming period, a total of four new sites of Ram's head and seven new sites of Dragon's mouth orchids were confirmed. Almost half of the new locations were discovered by volunteers.

This orchid search is only a small part of the larger county biological survey effort this summer in Minnesota. The Minnesota County Biological Survey is conducted by the Natural Heritage and Nongame Wildlife Programs within the Department of Natural Resources. The survey goal is to gather information county-by-county on sensitive natural lands and rare plants and animals that will lead to the protection of the state's biological diversity.

To date, surveys have been completed in six western prairie counties and six counties in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. This summer work is progressing in ten additional counties, including six in northwestern Minnesota – Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau.

pay these assessments, the land went tax-forfeit. Neither the drainage districts nor the counties were able to assume the debts still owed. Between 1929 and 1933, a number of laws were passed in the Legislature whereby the state assumed the debts in exchange for absolute title to the forfeited lands.

In 1949 the Legislature consolidated all the lands acquired by this process into the Consolidated Conservation Area Fund. The five counties were to receive 50 percent of revenues generated by the lands.

MN state park quilt display

Minnesota state park centennial quilt will be on display at the Newfolden senior meals center on Friday, August 16, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be served by the Newfolden seniors to people who come to view the quilt.

Started a year ago as a "nice little project" to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Minnesota state parks, the quilt measures 11x12 feet and has thousands of pieces of fabric sewn by persons donating thousands of volunteer hours.

Each quilt block represents an image from one of 65 state parks with Itasca—the first state park established—having a larger block in the lower left corner. Manager and staff of each park selected the image they felt best represented their park. Bonnie Ellis, quilt coordinator, transferred those images into designs as diverse as each of the state parks they represent.

Volunteers from around the state stitched the blocks and returned them to Ellis who sewed them together for the quilt top. Quilting bees were then held statewide to stitch the top, batting and backing together, including a final quilting bee in the State Capitol rotunda.

Area participants include Chris Weir-Koetter, assistant manager at Old Mill State Park, who stitched the Old Mill square; Mary Barvels, parks worker at Lake Bronson State Park, who stitched squares for Lake Bronson, Whitewater and Prona Jevne parks; and Francis Welin, Argyle, who stitched the Forestville/Mystery Cave block.

Claudette Forsberg, service and rehabilitation chairmen of the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer Society, presented her report of activities at the annual dinner and meeting of the American Cancer Society in Pennington county on July 30, at the Heritage Community Center.

Cancer Society: Local unit holds annual meeting

Pennington county unit of the American Cancer Society held its annual meeting Tuesday, July 30 in Thief River Falls. President Gordie Peterson led his unit to a very successful year of patient services, public and professional education and fund-raising for cancer research.

The unit learned that fund raising increased from $23,400 last year to $30,000 this year. Contributing to that amount were Daffodil sales, the crusade which included residential in Thief River Falls and rural in the rest of Pennington county, memorials given, the Longest Day of Golf, the regular golf tournament and generous support from the Thief River Falls United Way.

Patient services included funding cancer patients travel to Fargo and Grand Forks, equipment loans, patient and family support, Cansurmount program, Reach to Recovery program, Road to Recovery program, Kids Count, Too Program, I Can Cope, program, School Reentry program, Summer Camp program, Patient and Public Education program. About 3,700 people in Pennington county were reached with life saving messages.

The professional education program also reached a number of people. The unit reached 103 medical professionals during the past year, providing the latest information on cancer detection, treatment, diagnosis and research. This included 60 nurses, 39 physicians and four people allied with the medical profession.

Unit officers and committee chairs for the past year were: Gordie Peterson as president, Pat Johnson as vice president, Ruth Haagenson as secreary, Barb Lendobeja as treasurer, Julie Rohl in public education, Sharon Russell in professional education, JoAna Reeve in public information, Ed Sisler in nominations, Dorothy Hanson as at-large representative, Lillian Ranum as the memorial chair, Maxine McEwen and Sylvia Grindley as Daffodil Days chairpersons, Larry and Sheryl Lee as the Longest Day of Golf chairpersons, and Robert Wold and Milton Reierson citywide Crusade representatives, and Marcella Hanson, Beattie Mickelson and Erna Scholin as rural Crusade representatives.

Dive Rescue:
County dive rescue squad assists searchers in Lake of The Woods

Members of the Pennington County Dive Rescue Squad were among those searching for a man missing after a boating accident on Lake of The Woods.

According to a Pennington county sheriff's department spokesperson, Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold and three members of the Dive Rescue Squad from Pennington county were at Lake of The Woods searching for a man reported missing after an accident Monday. Sheriff's Deputies Mike Hruby and Ray Kuznia, and Thief River Falls Police Officer Craig Mattson left Tuesday night for Lake of the Woods. The team searched all day Wednesday and Thursday for the man missing in the accident who has been identified as Richard (Rick) Emerick. The team returned Thursday evening.

According to Lake of the Woods Sheriff's Department in Baudette, Emerick, 37, Fisher, (Brookings, SD originally) was apparently thrown from a 15-foot Northwood boat when it went out of control at about 8:30 p.m. Monday, July 29.

According to the report, Emerick is a guide for Flag Island resort, and was teaching Sandra Olson, also an employee of Flag Island, how to run the boat when he lost control. Emerick and Olson were both thrown out of the boat about one and one-half miles from Flag Island. Olson lost contact with Emerick and swam to shore to retrieve the boat. Olson then returned to Flag Island for assistance.

An aerial search and search by boat were joined by members of a dive rescue squad from Pennington county Tuesday.

Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold said they returned from a long and tiring trip. The water was very cloudy and it was difficult work for the divers. He also said high waves made it difficult for those working in the boat supporting the divers.

Occupational Development Center in Thief River Falls received two donations recently from Eagles Aerie 2369. A $300 gift was used to purchase a television set and VCR for the ODC training center. An additional $500 was received this week for the purchase of educational tapes to be used in training. Shown at the ODC are (left to right) Habilitation and Training Center staff member Mike Melby, Eagles vice president Tom Puppe and ODC program coordinator Lori Loscheider.

Swimming pool fund donations

A site at Franklin Middle school was evaluated as being the most suitable among all the choices provided, including the Sports Arena site. The outdoor facility would be a summer recreational complex that would include room for lap swimming, diving and a plunge slide, a zero depth pool, wading pool, sunbathing deck, grass sunbathing area, concession eating area, sand volleyball court, wet sand modeling area, children's play area, and flume slide.

The cost of heating the water, chemical and electricity was estimated to be about $104 per day for 88 days totaling $9,152. The cost of a summer instructional and recreational program was estimated at $525 per day for 88 days totalling $46,200. Total costs would be about $59,000 and revenue was estimated at $69,000, which would come from coupon books, lessons, season tickets, daily admissions, rentals and water slide ticket sales.

Total estimated building cost of such a recreational facility was set at $985,000.

Wold said this week that the total cost includes many options. He said it's the Cadillac of swimming pool facilities, and he's not sure the community wants or needs a Cadillac.

Currently, the swimming pool fund has received $76,919.84 in contributions, $9,837.41 from fund raising activities, and $25,020.97 in interest earnings. Expenses have been $6,929.01. The balance in the fund as of June 30, 1991 was $104,849.21. That amount however, does not include the $10,000 the group recently received from the Hartz Foundation.

In all, the controversy about returning funds to donors may have been just what the swimming pool project needed to renew interest in the project. From the efforts now being made, it appears efforts to raise money for the project are getting back on track.

Authorization needed by farmers to move collateral under loan

Producers removing collateral that is under loan without first contacting the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office requesting authorization to move, feed or sell will now subject themselves to severe penalties, according to the ASCS offices in Pennington and Marshall counties.

County office directors said Washington has set firm policy that such actions will constitute a breach of the producer's agreement with the Commodity Credit corporation (CCC) and subject him or her to all of the following:

• Calling of the loan immediately, requiring full repayment and settlement of the entire loan principal, interest and liquidating damages;

• Foreclosure actions to acquire the remaining loan commodity; and

• Placing the producer's name on the list of program violators and denial of future farm-stored loans.

In the past, the county office directors said, producers could request waiving call of the entire loan if the quantity disposed of was immediately repaid and other conditions met. This is no longer an option available to the county ASCS committee.

Producers will be provided appeal rights to the county ASCS committee, the state ASCS committee and the ASCS office in Washington, DC. The Washington office has the final word; state and county ASCS committees have no authority to waive penalties.

Washington's policy on such waivers is that the county ASCS committee must determine that the actions of the producer were "inadvertent." Definition of "inadvertent" removal or disposition is as follows:

° The accidental removal or disposition of mortgaged collateral without negligence on the part of the producer. This does not include any of the following:

(1) Movement of loan collateral off the farm;

(2) Movement of loan collateral from one storage structure to another on the farm;

(3) Feeding of loan collateral; or

(4) Conversion.

A separate waiver of denial of future farm-stored loans is also subject to Washington's policy and rulings.

County ASCS offices are also required to conduct regular spot checks of commodity loans to assure that CCC's interests are fully protected. Such spot checks are ongoing throughout the life of the loans.

"In brief," the office directors concluded, "to alleviate such adversities, producers are strongly reminded to comply with the farm-stored commodity loan agreements which they have signed."

Arctco to build new watercraft

Limited production of a new personal watercraft beginning late next spring was announced by Arctco, Inc., of Thief River Falls at its annual meeting of shareholders Tuesday afternoon.

Design and testing of the watercraft, which is as yet unnamed, has been underway for the past two years. Initial limited production is scheduled to begin in the early part of the company's fiscal 1993 year, which begins April 1, 1992. Production expansion is planned for later in fiscal 1993.

Arctic Enterprises built a personal watercraft called the Wet-Bike beginning in 1978 and manufactured it for several years. It is still being built by Untranautics company of California at a plant in Crosby, MN.

The new watercraft is a two-person sit-down model which will be competing in a market currently dominated by Yamaha, Ski-Doo and Kawasaki. Polaris Industries at Roseau also recently announced entry into the personal watercraft field.

Arctco expects little or no impact from the production on its fiscal 1993 sales and revenues.

Fiscal 1992 first quarter financial results were also announced at the annual meeting with net sales up nearly a million dollars from a year ago and net earnings nearly doubled.

Net sales were $13,411,000 for the quarter ended June 30, 1991, compared to $12,426,000 for the same period last year. Net earnings were $517,000 (four cents per share) for the quarter, compared with $289,000 (three cents per share) for the first quarter of fiscal 1991. Weighted average shares outstanding for the first quarter of fiscal 1992 were 12,682,000 compared with 10,821,000 for the first quarter of fiscal 1991.

Sales at municipal liquor store higher than expected

Liquor store sales are above 1991 projections, according to Dennis Langston, liquor store manager.

Langston told members of the liquor committee of the Thief River Falls city council that sales are above projections. Beer sales, especially, are way up. Langston said beer sales are about $100,000 higher than anticipated at the beginning of this year. If sales continue a revised projection estimates that the municipal liquor store will have over $1 million in beer sales. Besides beer, other liquor sales projections are also slightly above projections.

Langston met with the liquor committee to discuss liquor store's budget for 1992. Like many departments, budgets are being prepared for the city's 1992 budget.

As a result of the successful sales this year, the liquor committee may be able to transfer more funds to the general fund. The liquor fund has been transferring about $150,000 per year to the general fund. In 1992 they may be able to transfer over $160,000.

During the meeting, the liquor committee also decided to recommend to the city council at its next meeting to use between $10,000 and $15,000 for a Central Business District Strategic Planning and SBDC project. The project will determine the feasibility of a Small Cities Development Block grant. The grant would be used to make improvements in the downtown business district.

Don Stewart, community development direction, said he has not decided on how to proceed or even what the process will be.

Earlier this week the public safety and airport committees met to discuss budget items. All three departments — police, fire and airport — are primarily service related departments with little or no revenue to count on to help reduce budget expenditures. The airport department is considered a enterprise fund department, but has been heavily subsidized in the past few years.

Loss in about $90,000 in aid for 1992 will have an impact on budgets this year. The impact is lessened somewhat, by the fact that the city will receive about the same amount of aid it received last year. City Finance Officer Roger DeLap said he isn't too concerned about the loss in anticipated aid at this time.

Budgets for 1992 are still very sketchy at this time. Labor negotiations have yet to be conducted. Members of the labor/compensation committee have indicated to the Teamsters that it doesn't look good for anything in the way of salary increases for 1992.

On Monday three departments will meet to discuss budgets. The building, street and engineering departments will meet to discuss preliminary budgets. The Finance committee meets on Tuesday to discuss budget summaries.

Take a Step on The Wild Side

Take a Step on the Wild Side will be held at the Fairgrounds in Thief River Falls August 17.

Take a Step on the Wild Side allows youths of all ages to experience a variety of leisure activities, said Community Education Director Jane Mattson.

Last year, which was also the first year the program was held, over 250 youth participated in the event. This year even more activities are planned.

Activities at the Fairgrounds Saturday, August 17, beginning at 4 p.m. and ending at 8 p.m. include health assessments, a farm safety demonstration, skateboarding, rollerblading, archery, a batting cage, hairstyling by Amy, Graffiti Art, a caricaturist, DU target practice, tug-of-war, volleyball, bingo, and arm and leg wrestling. An ultralite airplane demonstration, talent show, dance, and swimming pool activities are also planned activities. Music will also be provided by KTRF/KSNR and Kezar's Music Machine.

The activities are free. The ultralite airplane demonstration will be at Johnson Greenline. Rollerblading will be inside the Sports Arena. A skateboard ramp will be set up outside.

Fun at the Franklin Middle School swimming pool begins at 2 p.m. and ends at 4 p.m. A dive and rescue team demonstration, dive for pennies, a greased watermelon contest and crazy races will be held at the swimming pool.

Behind the southeast end of the Water Treatment plant in Thief River Falls a large pit has been dug for the construction of a new sedimentation pond. Arlo Rude, utilities department director, explained that water bearing lime from treated water used to flow to the settling ponds located south of Nora avenue. The Lime was then removed. The new settlement pond will allow the sludge to settle and the water to be recirculated through the water treatment plant, which will reduce waste water from the plant. The sludge will then be pumped as a thick slurry to the settlement ponds south of Nora. Rudo explained that water in the bottom of the pit is used to prevent the concrete from curing too fast.

NW counties receive large DNR payments

Twenty-one counties in northwest and west central Minnesota received a total of $1,856,029 in 1991 from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) under the state's in-lieu-of-tax payment programs.

The $1.8 million distribution was part of more than $6,197,500 distributed statewide this year to Minnesota counties in lieu of real estate taxes for land owned or administered by the DNR.

Payments in the seven counties of Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Polk, Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods totaled $779,579. Most of this total went to Lake of the Woods county with $285,829 and Roseau county with $252,359.

Marshall county received $89,552, Kittson received $82,866, Polk received $50,178, Pennington received $11,220 and Red Lake county received $7,593.

Beltrami county was the largest recipient among the 21 counties with $392,046 received under the payment program during 1991.

Included in the program are state forest lands, wildlife management areas and public hunting lands, Consolidated Conservation lands, state trails, DNR-owned public water access sites, county-managed tax forfeit lands, School Trust fund lands and state parks.

Payments also include a portion

ACTIVITIES

Camping

Camping is great fun and it is nice to extend that activity to allow children to play camping once they get home. We will need to supply some props for this activity.

These could include such things as a play tent or a blanket to hang on a clothes line or prop between two chairs. A blanket or throw rug to simulate the sleeping bags is another idea. The rest of the props are as varied as you may want to get. They may include play dishes, dolls, stuffed animals, snack food or lawn chairs.

PARENTING TIPS

Camping With Children

Camping can be a wonderful family experience or it can be a disaster. "Roughing it" in the great outdoors is not for everyone. If you are not sure you can take it, choose a campground with bathrooms, laundry facilities and a general store for your first outing. You may feel safer if your camp site is not near a road, lake or stream. Always remember that children, even responsible preschoolers, must be watched constantly!

Try to be flexible. Accept each moment for its own enjoyment; original plans and destinations sometimes have to be changed mid-stream.

* Stage a practice run in your back yard. You can test all your equipment and accustom your children to the experience. If you should decide that's as much camping as you can handle with small children, they still will have had a great experience.

* Include rain gear, boots and jackets when packing, no matter what the weather report says. Make washability a priority for camping clothes and select them with an eye to layering.

* Pack some clothing and gear in plastic pails of various sizes that you can use for dishwashing, hand laundry or the kids can use at the beach.

* Bring empty plastic catsup or mustard containers to slip over tent stakes and prevent stubbed toes.

* Make up a "nature box." Include plenty of plastic bags, jars and boxes to hold collections. Give the kids "assignments" such as three leaves, five rocks, two pine cones, etc.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about your camping experience ahead of time. Talk about where you will go, the campground and other experiences you plan to have.

LHS Class of '41 plans 50th reunion

Lincoln high school class of 1941 will hold its 50th anniversary reunion on August 16, 17 and 18 at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls. About 100 people are expected for the event, including at least 55 members of the class.

Local chairpersons for the reunion are Alverda (Lund) Noel and Hildegaard (Green) Hamre, although other planners and organizers have ranged from the Twin Cities to Florida, Arizona and California. The reunion is considered especially significant, since the Class of '41 was the last to graduate before the United States entered World War II. It also has the distinction of being one of the few classes to attend both the old high school and the "new" facility, having moved into the present building in January, 1940, during their junior year.

Tours of Arctco and Digi Key are scheduled for Friday afternoon, with registration of attendees beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Best Western. Informal visiting will follow.

Saturday will include golf in the morning for those who are interested. In the afternoon, members will tour Lincoln High, Northland Community College, and the Technical College. The feature of the reunion will be the banquet, slide show, and dance at the Best Western on Saturday night. James Skarstad, class president, will preside over the ceremonies.

A 50th Reunion "Classbook" will be presented to all the members, including individual graduation pictures, current addresses, brief biographies, and a section containing recent pictures of 84 of the 103 surviving classmates. Charles Gustafson, who compiled the book, says it was a "labor of love."

"I never cease to be amazed at how some of these people haven't changed in 50 years!" Gustafson said. "Then of course, there are a few like myself that nobody will recognize."

Gustafson points out that a large majority of his class mates have retired, although a few are still actively employed. Their occupations ranged from farming to dentistry, and from aviation to psychology. He cites statistics that out of the 139 members who graduated in May, 1941, 36 have died, although none of them was a casualty of the War. There were 55 men in the class (40 per cent), compared with 84 women (60 per cent). Among the deceased, 19 were men and 17 women. However, this represents 35 per cent of the men in the class, and only 20 per cent of the women.

On Sunday morning, the Rev. John Parbst, a classmate, will conduct services at Pioneer Village, followed by a picnic at the Silas Hansan farm, arranged by Silas' sister, Elfie (Hanson) Erickson, who is a member of the class.

Lap/shoulder belts reduce deaths, injury

Lap/shoulder belts are 40 to 50 per cent effective in reducing deaths and 45 to 55 per cent effective in preventing serious injuries to passenger vehicle occupants.

Warmer weather needed to push corn, soybeans

As the barley and oat harvest winds down, warmer weather is needed to push corn and soybeans along, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The northwest district had an excellent week for small grain harvest with barley harvest progressing 57 percentage points and spring wheat 17 points. However some areas in west central Minnesota are still too wet to combine, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

Some reporters indicated barley in their area were thin and lightweight and yields were less than expected. Spring wheat rated good to excellent fell 11 percentage points from last week.

Despite cooler than normal weather last week, corn and soybeans made good progress for the week. Corn tasseling gained 21 percentage points and the milk stage increased 31 percentage points. Soybeans blooming increased 11 points and setting pods jumped 18 points to 48 per cent. In setting pods, the south central district is 35 percentage points behind the five-year average but two points ahead of last year. Corn in the milk stage is 30 points behind the average in the south central district but 16 points ahead of last year. Three-fourths of the corn crop is rated good to excellent along with about 70 per cent of the soybeans, both better than last week.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Last week's recipes were so good, I couldn't resist giving you a few more of the Italian favorites from "Eat This...It'll Make You Feel Better" by Dom DeLuise. You can thank ZipLoc Bags for putting it out.

Make your spaghetti with these now and make enough to freeze for using in other Italian treats later:

Dom's Mom's Meatballs

"For as long as I can remember, my mother has never worn makeup. Also, she simply combs her hair straight back in a bun. Can you believe that when I was a child, I thought that bun was filled with meatballs? Good old Mom."

2 pounds ground chuck
1/2 pound ground pork
2 cups Italian-flavored bread crumbs
4 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup fresh parsley, chopped
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 garlic cloves, chopped very fine
1 onion, minced
1/2 cup pignoli (pine nuts) (optional)

Place all ingredients in a large bowl and mix thoroughly. Let stand one-half hour. Shape into medium-size meatballs. Fry gently in olive oil until lightly browned, or place on foil on a cookie sheet and bake for one-half hour at 350 degrees. Gently place in your own hot spaghetti sauce and cook on medium low heat for 1 hour. (Serves 10, 2 meatballs each.)

"P.S. What I like to do is quadruple the recipe (you'll have about 100 meatballs) and then place the meatballs on large Teflon baking pans. After they're baked and cooled, I put twenty at a time in large Ziploc bags and pop them in the freezer. Then they're ready, willing and able anytime!"

Chicken Dominick

"This is special and might even be called 'Mock Veal.' It is delicious served with wild rice, asparagus, a mixed green salad with olive oil and lemon juice, and hot French bread. Shazam!"

4 chicken breasts, split and boned
1 garlic clove
butter
1 large green pepper, sliced
1 large red pepper, sliced
8 mushrooms, sliced
5 tablespoons sauterne

Place chicken breasts between 2 pieces of wax paper, pound them so they look like cutlets, and dredge in flour.

Saute garlic in butter, remove when brown. Add chicken breasts and saute 1 minute on each side. Add green and red peppers, mushrooms and wine. Shake the pan. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes. (Serves 4.)

My Sister Anne's Stuffed Mushrooms

"Accompany this recipe with a simple green salad, and you've created what looks like the perfect light lunch to me!"

2 pounds large mushrooms
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 onion, minced
1 1/2 cups seasoned bread crumbs
2 cups crab meat (cooked)
pepper to taste
1 cup Monterey Jack cheese, shredded

Wash mushrooms quickly and remove stems. Mince stems and set mushrooms aside.

Heat oil in skillet and saute garlic, onion, 1 cup of bread crumbs and minced mushroom stems. Remove from heat, add crab meat and sprinkle with pepper. Mix well.

Stuff mushroom caps with mixture. Place in casserole dish and top with remaining bread crumbs and grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. (Serves 6-8.)

Eugene's Almost No Flour Nut Cake

"My sister has a friend named Eugene Canava, who brought this light, nutty, scrumptious cake to me and my mom, who flipped over it—wow! When my mom flips over somebody else's cooking, this is a special happening. Cut the finished cake into thin slices, and all you need is the time to enjoy its very individual taste. Serve it and just listen to the ooohs and ahhs!"

1 dozen eggs, separated
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon lemon rind
2 teaspoon lemon juice
1 pound filberts (or walnuts or pecans), shelled and ground fine in food processor or grinder

Beat egg yolks with all the above ingredients except nuts until smooth. Add nuts.

In a separate bowl, beat egg whites until stiff. Gently fold whites into yolk mixture.

Pour into greased Bundt pan and bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes.

Attention: There is no sugar in this case, but try it, you'll like it! (Serves 8-10.)

"The Guess Who" will headline "Jammin' in '91," an afternoon and evening of musical entertainment Sunday, August 18, at Island Park in St. Hilaire. The Winnipeg-based group which originated in the early 1960s and recorded 14 Top 40 hits now includes original members Jim Kale (bass and vocals), Garry Peterson (drums), Ken Carter (lead vocals), Dale Russell (guitar and vocals) and Mike Hanford (keyboards). Among its best known hits are "American Woman," "These Eyes" "Undun" and "Laughing." Most recently the band was part of Dick Clark's American Bandstand tour. The park will open at 2 p.m. August 18 and afternoon music beginning at 3 p.m. will be provided by four area bands including "4-Wheel Drive" and "Epik" of Thief River Falls, "The Stand" of Bemidji and "Sly Dog" of Warroad. "The Guess Who" will perform in the late afternoon or evening, according to promoters of the event. A pork barbecue, concessions and prize drawings will also be featured at the park. Advance ticket prices of $10 for adults and $3 for children 12 and younger will be increased to $15 and $4 at the gate.

Polaris acquires Northern Metals Co in Wisconsin

Polaris Industries Partners L.P. completed the acquisition of the assets of the Northern Metals Specialities division of Western Industries.

Northern is a major supplier of steel stampings such as skis, suspension and chassis assemblies for Polaris snowmobiles and all terrain vehicles (ATVs).

Kenneth D. Larson, Polaris president and chief operating officer, said the acquisition will result in lower component and manufacturing costs, improved turn-around and higher profit margins for the company.

The 190,000 square-foot facility, located in Osceola, WI, also will enhance and expand Polaris' manufacturing capabilities and support a continuation of the strong growth seen by Polaris in recent years, Larson said.

Northern employs approximately 100 at the Osceola plant, and Larson said now changes in operations or employment are expected.

The purchase price of $8 million will be paid out of internally-generated funds, and is not expected to affect planned quarterly cash distributions to Polaris unit holders. Polaris BACs (units of beneficial assignment of Class A, Limited Partnership Interest) currently pay $5 per year, for a yield of more than 15 per cent based on a current unit price of $33.

Polaris is the world's leading manufacturer of snowmobiles and the leading U.S. manufacturer of ATVs. The company is headquartered in Minneapolis, and has manufacturing facilities in Roseau, and Osceola, WI. Polaris units trade on the American Stock Exchange and Pacific Stock Exchange.

Deadline for damage claims approaches fast

The January 1, 1992 deadline for filing personal injury or property damage claims with the State harmful Substance Compensation Board is fast approaching. After this deadline, a two year statute of limitations will go into effect for all applications filed with the board and claims which are more than two years old cannot be accepted.

The five member board was created in 1985 to compensate victims of personal injury or property damage due to chemical contamination of the environment. The board gives people a chance to recover damages for an injury or loss, while avoiding the costs, delays and uncertainty of filing a lawsuit. It also gives them a way to be compensated even if the persons responsible for the problem are unknown or are unable to pay any damages.

Among the damages the board can cover are the costs to homeowners of replacing a contaminated well, connecting to a municipal supply, installing a carbon filter unit for a contaminated well, or abandoning wells required to be sealed because of groundwater contamination.

In cases where a homeowner is forced to sell a home because of a work transfer or other hardship but does not receive the appraised market value due to chemical contamination on the property, compensation can be awarded for up to 75 per cent of the loss in home value.

The board can also compensate injured persons for medical expenses, lost income, and the value of lost household labor, as well as providing death benefits to the family where an injury or death has been caused by environmental contamination.

Interested parties should apply for reimbursement soon, because the board has a January 1992 deadline for old claims. After that date, applications must be submitted within two years of the damage or injury.

For more information about how to file a claim with the board, and to find out if you are eligible, call (612) 642-0455, or write to the Harmful Substance Compensation Board, 2700 University Ave. West, Suite 115, St. Paul 55114.

Lead poses threat to youngsters

Lead poisoning is a serious and crippling disease in young children. Once believed to be the disease of the urban poor, lead poisoning is on the rise among the children of affluent young couples who are moving back into the city, buying and renovating old homes.

According to Kathy Mitchell, R.N., M.S., from Children's Hospital lead poisoning clinic, this almost invisible disease can cause learning difficulties and behavioral problems as well as severe handicaps such as mental retardation, blindness, brain damage, kidney diseases, cerebral palsy and even death. Victims usually are children between the ages of six months and 6 years. The highest mortality rate associated with the disease occurs at age 2.

Approximately one out of every six children in the United States age 6 and under have dangerously high levels of lead in their bodies. The majority of these children are never identified. In addition, every year, 400,000 babies are born with elevated levels of lead. The national Centers for Disease Control (CDC) calls lead poisoning the number one environmental disease of American children.

Pre-schoolers and toddlers are the most vulnerable to lead poisoning because their still-developing brains are affected by even very low levels of lead. These children also are at greater risk because they are most likely to put objects and their fingers that may be covered with lead dust, into their mouths.

Lead enters a child's body when he or she breaths air or swallows things that contain lead. The most common way children are exposed to lead is through breathing lead dust from deteriorating lead-based paint. Also, young children often ingest chips or flakes of lead-paint from walls, woodwork and window sills. Lead paint can taste sweet and once sampled can be attractive to children.

In addition to paint, yard soil may be contaminated by emissions from leaded gasoline or airborne lead dust. People who live in high-traffic areas or near lead industries are the most vulnerable.

Currently, children with more than 25 micrograms of lead per deciliter of blood are considered to have toxic levels. However, physicians specializing in lead poisoning treatment at Children's Hospital say the CDC is expected to lower its guidelines this fall to 1- micrograms of lead per deciliter of blood.

According to physicians at Children's Hospital, children with elevated lead levels often don't show symptoms, and when they do, the symptoms are similar to those of other diseases. Children who are suspected of having high or even moderate lead levels, should be tested by a physician.

Children who have high levels of lead in their bodies may need a treatment called chelation, a process that expels lead from the blood stream. "It is important to note, however, that lead poisoning cannot be cured," says Mitchell. "Removing lead from the blood stream will prevent further damage, but the damage already caused by the disease is probably irreversible."

For most children with elevated lead levels, the only treatment necessary is to remove the source of the lead. Experts at Children's Hospital say the most important action parents can take is to prevent their children from being exposed in the first place.

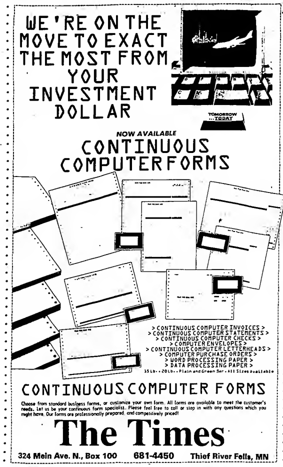
Medical professionals at the lead poisoning clinic offer the following suggestions for keeping children safe from lead poisoning:

Keep children away from surfaces with chipped or peeling paint, especially if you live in a home built before 1960; remove old paint from walls and window sills and repaint with lead-free paint. (Because of federal regulations, most paints made today contain very little lead). It is best to have the removal done by a licensed contractor who is knowledgeable about lead, before remodeling test the old paint for lead. If it contains lead, children and pregnant or nursing women should not stay in the home during the paint removal process;

Because house dust can be a source of lead, keep your home as dust-free as possible by wet mopping and dusting — especially floors and window sills. Don't let children play in soil (it may be contaminated with lead); encourage good hand washing, especially before meals; wash all fruit and vegetables; in homes with copper plumbing always let water run for two to three minutes before drinking it; don't store food in opened cans. This includes fruit juices (especially orange, grapefruit and tomato juice);

Don't use glazed pottery and pewter dishes to serve or store food; avoid the use of home remedies that have been found to contain lead, such as azarcon, great, pay-loo-ah or shung-ta; eat a nutritious diet high in Vitamin C, calcium and iron. When the diet is deficient in these nutrients, the body will absorb more lead. Diets high in fat will also increase lead absorption.

The lead poisoning clinic at Children's Hospital of St. Paul is dedicated to treating children suffering from lead poisoning and the devastating effects of the disease. For more information on lead poisoning, call Children's On-Call at (612) 220-6868 or 1-800-869-1320, the health and information line at Children's Hospital of St. Paul, or call your local health department.



ROTC grads may be eligible

Some senior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) and service academy graduates from the classes of 1977 and 1978 may be eligible for retroactive education assistance payments as a result of legislation recently passed by Congress, the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced.

Prior to the new legislation, these individuals were not eligible for benefits under the Vietnam Era GI bill. Instead, they could contribute toward education benefits under the Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP).

The change means that they may receive an amount equal to what they would have received under the Vietnam Era GI bill for training pursued before January 1, 1990. Even those individuals who contributed to VEAP may apply for the retroactive benefits.

Eligible applicants must file VA Form 22-1990 at the VA regional office in the state where the school they attended is located. All applications must indicate that the individual is filing for "Section 207" benefits. The deadline for applying is December 31, 1991. Contact the St. Paul VA Regional Office and Insurance Center toll-free at 1-800-827-0646 for more information and assistance in filing the application.

Working In A Comfort Zone

For a number of years now men in public office and business have been taking a shin kicking from activists for practicing a "good old boy" system in the way they conduct their operations. Regardless of ability, it has been claimed, women have been denied access to the leadership circle simply because they are women.

What the activists claim may well in part be true, but not necessarily for the reason most often given—that men want to keep women in a lower and subservient status and not permit them to show or reach their potential.

More often, we would suggest, is the tendency for people to operate in a comfort zone when choice permits them to do so. And in general there is a tendency in the workplace and elsewhere for men to be more comfortable among men and women to be more at ease among women. Given this comfort zone, it may be expected that people with a choice will choose to surround themselves with people they would expect to be able to relate to and understand with a minimum of difficulty.

What brought this to mind was a news release we received today from the office of Marlene E. Marschall, Minnesota Commissioner of Health, regarding announcement of seven people she intends to appoint to a newly-created Speech-Language Pathologist and Audiologist Advisory Council. Five members named to the seven-member council are women.

We have no quarrel with this. We don't question the motivation of the appointments or the qualifications of the appointees. But we must believe the ratio of women to men on this council appointed by a female commissioner is more than coincidental.

Consider the office of Minnesota Secretary of State Joan Growe. The most recent legislative manual we have at hand lists Elaine Voss as her Deputy Secretary of State and Jeanne McGree as her administrative assistant. Four of the five directors and supervisors of divisions in the Secretary of State's office are women. Only her office director and one division director are men.

Joan Growe is a very capable person and we have no doubt she has a very capable staff. But we doubt the ratio of women to men in appointive leadership positions in her office is purely coincidental.

In the same legislative manual, Sandra Gardebring was commissioner of the Department of Human Services. Three of her four assistant commissioners were women. We doubt that ratio of women to men is only coincidental.

What we're saying is that in the reality of life there is something less than sinister about the relationship of men and women on a governmental or business basis. People in positions where stress may be expected aren't looking for ways to have greater stress. They want to get the job done well in the most efficient and effective manner without conflict or criticism. Most often they believe that can be accomplished by co-workers of the same sex.

When women are in a position of authority where they can select people to work with them, we would expect them to turn to other women with whom they would feel comfortable. Is it unreasonable to expect that men have, and do, frequently operate under the same motivation?

Pursuit Of The Good Life

Perhaps the best description we have seen in a few words of one of the major problems in American society today was quoted in an article about Geraldine Brookins, professor in child welfare and youth policy at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

"We have substituted things for nurturance and time and face-to-face caring," she said. "It doesn't mean we care any less for our children, but we haven't demonstrated it in concrete ways."

She said she is concerned not only about ghetto kids but middle-class kids whose parents "are often caught in a pursuit of the good life and not the best life."

Let's take a look at that description again—"pursuit of the good life and not the best life!"

Isn't that description so true for so many Americans today? We want our children to have all the things we never had, and we want so many things ourselves that other people have, that both father and mother work full-time and more to earn the money it takes to buy these things. As a result there is not enough time or energy left to give children what they really need most—the attention that comes from care and concern and love and commitment.

As a result, children grow up left too much to their own devices. They "grow up" too fast with too much unstructured time on their hands to experiment with all the things their parents have probably hastily warned them against. And they do it at younger, more impressionable, more damaging ages.

There is nothing wrong with wanting things and working to obtain them. It is part of the American way to do that very thing. But we are frequently persuaded that we need more than we actually do and we make unnecessary effort to get what we don't need.

Crime feeds on this theory as those too lazy or unskilled to work for what they want are content to take it from others who have earned it. Americans are led to believe that they are entitled to the "good life" whether they have circumstances to afford it or not.

Each generation has been concerned about the next generation since time began, but we feel that never before in America has there been the likelihood of a next generation so willing to do damage to itself and to those around it. The only way to combat that calamity is through strength in the values taught in home and family—values sadly lacking as too few are taking the time to teach them in the home environment.

Indeed, pursuit of the good life keeps us away from the best life, just as Brookins said. It's something that should make each of us re-think our own values and make whatever course corrections we can while we can. Our children are counting on us all.

More Americans killed in accidents

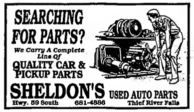
Safety Belt promotion underway

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, about 25,000 occupants of passenger cars are killed each year, more than all the nation's homicides. Several hundred thousand more are seriously injured in traffic crashes. Increasing compliance with safety belt use laws could save nearly half of those lives and prevent many thousands of severe injuries, NHTSA says. Three-point lap/shoulder belts reduce the chances of being killed or seriously injured in a crash by 40-55 per cent.

NHTSA Administrator Jerry Ralph Curry said his organization is relying on a strong partnership with state and local enforcement agencies to launch the 1991 summer phase of the program. "Everything that we have learned since the first safety belt law was enacted in 1984 points to enforcement as the key to achieving the goal of 70 per cent by 1992," Curry said.

Curry cited the Canadian experience: safety belt use statistics languished at 55 per cent until increased enforcement and public awareness efforts produced a national surge to more than 80 per cent belt use. Some provinces achieved rates over 90 per cent.

Curry said that enforcement activity this summer will be coupled with a public awareness campaign, "Buckle Up — Avoid the Summertime Blues," in which TV and radio spots, print ads and billboards will take an upbeat approach. The public will be assured that the police are out to make the good times of summer safe times too.



Thirty-eight states and the District of Columbia currently have seat belt laws in place. An on-going 19-city survey by NHTSA indicates that front seat occupants' use of safety belts has increased to 49 per cent, up from 15 per cent in 1984, when the first safety belt use laws were enacted.

MFU President resigns position

Minnesota Farmers Union President Willis Eken has announced that he will be stepping down from the office he has held with the MFU for the past seven years.

Eken contacted the MFU Executive Committee, Board of Directors, and staff throughout the week about his decision. He has accepted a position as an advisor for Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson. His resignation is effective on September 1.

"One of the major factors in my decision was the ability for my wife Betty and me to return full-time to our home in Twin Valley," he said. "This was not an easy decision, but I am looking forward to working for Representative Peterson and to continue the fight for family farmers," Eken said.

Eken's third term as state MFU president would have expired in November during the organization's annual meeting. With his resignation, the MFU Board of Directors will appoint a new president during their upcoming August 24 meeting.

The newly selected state president will then be up for election by the general membership in November.

Eken served as a state representative from 1971 to 1984. During his terms in the legislature he served as majority leader from 1981 to 1984.

Eken was appointed by the MFU board of directors in 1984 to finish Cy Carpenter's term when Carpenter was elected National Farmers Union President. During the past seven years he has been known for building coalitions among organizations and for his work on state, national and international agriculture issues.

In March, Eken was elected chairman of the National Farmers Union Executive Board. Eken currently holds several other positions, including Chairman of the World Trade Center board of directors, President of Green View, Inc., board member of the National Green Thumb program, and several other boards and committees.

Some civilians qualify for benefits

Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced that certain civilian crewmen of U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey (USCGS) vessels who served during World War II have been granted veteran status.

A recent Defense Department decision determined that civilian crewmen who served aboard one or more USCGS vessels and performed their service in areas of immediate military hazard while conducting cooperative operations with and for the U.S. Armed Forces during the following time periods are potentially eligible for veterans benefits:

• From December 7, 1941 through May 8, 1945, in the Atlantic outside U.S. inland waters, including Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico coastal waters;

• From December 7, 1941 through August 14, 1945, in all Pacific areas outside U.S. inland waters, to include Pacific and Alaskan coastal waters.

The USCGS vessels are: Derickson, Explorer, Gilbert, Hilgard, E. Lester Hones, Lydonia, Patton, Surveyor, Wainwright and Westdahl.

In general, these newly designated veterans (or their survivors) can apply for the same benefits currently available to other World War II veterans, including service-related disability compensation, pension, medical care, certain survivors' benefits, VA-guaranteed home loans and burial benefits.

Eligibility for specific benefits will be determined on a case-by-case basis, depending on the specifics of service and eligibility criteria for each benefit.

Before applying for veterans benefits, individuals must first apply for an Armed Forces discharge certificate by filling out DD Form 2168, which is available from any VA regional office or the Department of the Navy, Bureau of Naval Personnel (PERS-312), Washington, DC 20370-5312. The completed form should be sent to the Navy Department at the above address.

The discharge certificate must be presented to VA when applying for veterans benefits.

Americans fails to recognize bread content

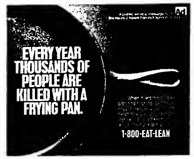
In a strong commentary on America's weak grasp of nutrition and the foods they eat, 49 per cent of a recent Gallup poll's 1,006 respondents could not correctly define white bread as a wheat food. Almost as many (48 per cent) incorrectly considered oatmeal a wheat food.

"The poll results lay out a compelling argument for increased public education on nutrition, and the importance of wheat foods in our diets," said Kenneth "K.C." Kuznia, a Stephen wheat farmer who serves on the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion Council. "I wonder what they think white bread really is made of?"

This lack of understanding could have a direct bearing on Minnesota's $347 million wheat industry. Research suggests Americans are still about two servings shy of meeting the minimum of six to 11 servings from the breads, cereals, rice and pasta food group recommended in current government guidelines.

"Domestic wheat sales could be boosted by 30 to 40 per cent, including wheat from Minnesota, if consumers meet that guideline," said Kris Versdahl, assistant director of the Minnesota Wheat Council.

But Americans aren't getting the message. Two-thirds (68 per cent) of Americans were unaware of revised dietary guidelines that urge consumers to cut fats while increasing their consumption of grain products and other complex carbohydrates. In addition, only 15 per cent planned to eat more servings from the bread, cereal, rice and pasta group each day, while 10 per cent planned to eat less and 75 per cent said they are getting the right amount.



Gallup conducted the poll on behalf of the Wheat Foods Council to help it shape an educational program teaching Americans how to incorporate more healthful products in their diet.

The Wheat Foods Council is a non-profit organization formed in 1972 to help increase public awareness of dietary grains, complex carbohydrates and fiber as essential components of a healthy diet. It is supported voluntarily by wheat producers, millers, bakers and related industries. The poll involved 1,006 respondents nationwide and has an error margin of 3.1 per cent.

Filing for election to a position on the School District 564 board of education at Thief River Falls will officially open Tuesday, August 27, according to Larry Belmont, clerk of the district. Filings will close Tuesday, September 10.

Election for the School District 564 board will be concurrent with the general election Tuesday, November 5, with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Terms of Hank Hallstrom and Larry Belmont expire Jan. 1, 1992. Board members are elected for three-year terms.

To qualify for election to the board of education, candidates must be citizens of the United States, residents of the school district for at least 30 days prior to the date of election (November 5) and at least 21 years of age by Jan. 1, 1992.

Wikstrom phone customers

Customers of Wikstrom Telephone company of Karlstad will begin voting October 30 to select the long distance company of their choice.

Balloting is a result of a 1983 order by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) which is intended to grant all long distance telephone companies an equal opportunity to compete for business. Customers will halve the option of staying with the long distance carrier they currently use or selecting a new one.

Wikstrom customers will be mailed an official ballot listing the participating long distance companies. Customers will cast two votes, one for a carrier to handle calls made within their calling area and one for calls made to other calling areas. The same carrier may be selected for both areas.

"It's critical that customers vote and return their ballot promptly," stated Gwen Wikstrom of the Karlstad-based company. "Those not voting will be randomly assigned a long distance carrier in accordance with FCC regulations."

The ballot sent to customers will contain toll free numbers for all participating companies to give consumers the opportunity to call and compare rates and services.

The long distance companies may mail information or call potential customers asking them to subscribe to their company. However, only the "Voice Your Choice" ballot sent by the Wikstrom company will be the official ballot and it must be returned before the deadline in order for the customer to select the long distance carrier.

Old-Pro softball tournament

Mystery pipes slow highway construction

Red Lake Falls — According to Mike Miller, the supervisor for Christiansen Industrial Developers, Inc., the contractor for the Highway 32 job through Red Lake Falls, the work is being slowed by an unusual sewage piping problem. He adds that the crew has spent many extra hours searching for two sewer line systems between First and Second avenues that were not on any city charts. One was in front of Cindy's cafe and came out from underneath the cafe at a 60 degree angle reaching up to Dr. Alcorn's building. A number of services were plugged into this one pipe. The other line came out of the bank on Second street, bent around the corner to the Casavan/Cota building and tapped into the main sewer line. Red Lake Falls city clerk Larry Kruse thought it might have been laid when a sidewalk was replaced. (Gazette)

Wikstrom phone customers

Customers of Wikstrom Telephone company of Karlstad will begin voting October 30 to select the long distance company of their choice.

Balloting is a result of a 1983 order by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) which is intended to grant all long distance telephone companies an equal opportunity to compete for business. Customers will halve the option of staying with the long distance carrier they currently use or selecting a new one.

Wikstrom customers will be mailed an official ballot listing the participating long distance companies. Customers will cast two votes, one for a carrier to handle calls made within their calling area and one for calls made to other calling areas. The same carrier may be selected for both areas.

"It's critical that customers vote and return their ballot promptly," stated Gwen Wikstrom of the Karlstad-based company. "Those not voting will be randomly assigned a long distance carrier in accordance with FCC regulations."

The ballot sent to customers will contain toll free numbers for all participating companies to give consumers the opportunity to call and compare rates and services.

The long distance companies may mail information or call potential customers asking them to subscribe to their company. However, only the "Voice Your Choice" ballot sent by the Wikstrom company will be the official ballot and it must be returned before the deadline in order for the customer to select the long distance carrier.

Trap league city class championships Monday

City Class Championships will be decided for the Thief River Falls Trap club in 50-bird events for Classes AA, A, B, C and D Monday evening at the trap club grounds northwest of Thief River Falls.

This will be the last night of the second half of the trap league season. Shooters will use their first 25-bird round as their league score, then shoot an additional 25-bird round for a 50-bird city championship score.

League play Monday will match Northland Foods against Triple J Trap Co., Pizza Hut against St. Hilaire Elevator, Tony Dorn, Inc., against Bridgeman's, Eagles against Bruce Pharmacy, Narverud Cleaners against Bakke Insurance, Woodmen Construction against Lock & Load Hunting Club and Northern State Bank against Sjoberg's. Thyren Auto draws a final round bye.

Going into the final week of league play Triple J Trap Co. and Northern State Bank are deadlocked for the second half lead with 12 points each. Thyren Auto has 10 points for third and Bridgeman's has eight points for fourth place.

Narverud Cleaners, by virtue of a 118-118 tie with Bruce Pharmacy last week for a single point, holds down fifth place with seven points while four other teams have six points each. Narverud's needs a win over Bakke Insurance to be assured of a fourth or fifth place finish with nine points. A loss would leave the team with seven points and give St. Hilaire Elevator, the Eagles, Sjoberg's Cable TV and Woodmen Construction a chance to pick up two-point wins and finish with eight points.

Bridgeman's also needs a win or tie to advance to 10 or 9 points and avoid a possible tie with the four teams now with six points mentioned above. A loss combined with a Narverud's win would drop Bridgeman's into fifth place with eight points.

Top five teams in the first half of the season were Triple J Trap Co., Narverud Cleaners, St. Hilaire Elevator, the Eagles and Sjoberg's Cable TV. Top five teams in each half of the season are involved in a shoot-off for the league championship.

In sixth round matches last Monday there were nine perfect scores of 25 recorded by league shooters. The 25-straight scores were fired by Peter Tri of the Eagles, Linton Vlassk and Neil Hanson of Narverud Cleaners, Mork Hagen of Bakke Insurance, Howard Thorson and Dennis Zulawski of Northern State Bank, Ike Ellingson of Thyren Auto, Fran Johnson and Rick Sovde of Triple J Trap Co.

Bombers lose playoff

An otherwise successful season for the American Legion Bombers baseball team from Thief River Falls came to an abrupt halt Tuesday evening at Grand Rapids when Nashwauk-Keewatin scored a 12-1 state tournament play-off win.

Thief River Falls had qualified for the Tier II play-off game by winning the District 9-A tournament Sunday, August 4, at Ada. Four play-offs were scheduled throughout the state with four winning teams advancing to the state finals in Mankato this weekend.

"It was a case of their team hitting our pitching early and our inability to get the key hit when we needed it," coach Wayne Rahlf said about the season ending contest. The Bombers closed out the season with a record of 41 wins, 18 losses and one tie.

Jeremy Olson was the starting and losing pitcher for Thief River Falls, surrendering nine earned runs on 10 hits in one and two-thirds innings. Rick Ostby went the remaining four and one-third innings of the game shortened to six innings by the 10-run rule. He surrendered three runs, including a two-run home run.

Olson gave up four runs in the first inning after retiring the first batter on one pitch. A key play was a potential double play ground ball up the middle which skipped into center field for an RBI single.

In the second inning Olson retired the first two batters on one pitch each, then surrendered back-to-back doubles, a single and two more doubles before Ostby was called on in relief. Thief River Falls trailed 9-0 before coming to bat for the second time as the home team on the scoreboard.

Nearly every inning Thief River Falls had runners in scoring position but only in the bottom of the sixth could they plate a run against Nashwauk-Keewatin hurler Jeremy Lake. He tossed a six-hitter and pitched out of trouble on a number of occasions.

Only run for Thief River Falls was scored by Carter Rogalla who doubled in the bottom of the sixth inning and scored on Jeremy Olson's RBI single. Rogalla also had a single in the contest for the only multiple hit effort for Thief River Falls.

Osthy gave up only three hits and kept Nashwauk-Keewatin off the scoreboard until the top of the sixth inning when three runs scored. When Thief River Falls could score only once in the bottom of the sixth inning the game was halted by the 10-run rule.

Coach Rahlf said the team had enjoyed a successful season, finishing first in two tournaments and third in another during the summer, placing first at the end of the league season and second by half a game in the Tony Sipe league, placing as runner-up in the sub-district tournament and winning the district tournament.

"I have so many trophies sitting around my office it will take a truck to bring them to the sponsoring American Legion club," Rahlf said.

"I honestly feel that this team has tremendous potential and should provide a strong nucleus for high school and American Legion teams next season. There are two or three players who I believe have the capability of playing baseball for a Division I school and many others who could play at the community college or small college level."

Prairie Day Events

August 10 marks the fifth annual Minnesota Prairie Day—a day of celebrations and heightened public awareness of Minnesota's prairie heritage and the valuable remnants of prairie that survive today. Among the five official celebrations taking place around the state are events being planned in the northwest Minnesota communities of Karlstad and Lake Bronson in Kittson County.

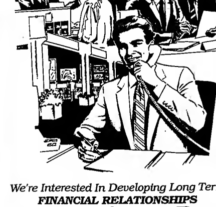
Representatives from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Area Wildlife Office at Karlstad, Lake Bronson State Park, the Minnesota County Biological Survey, a local prairie seed grower and The Nature Conservancy will give presentations to the public on various prairie topics beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Karlstad Community Center on Highway 59.

In the afternoon, the public is invited to select one of up to four educational and sight-seeing motor tours of local brush prairies, dry prairies and aspen parklands. The tours will leave from Karlstad, with expert guides to help observe the wide diversity of plant and animal life on an original prairie. Participants will be able to see sandhill cranes and perhaps moose and other prairie wildlife, and learn what makes prairie lands different from pastures. There is no admission charge for the morning activities or the prairie tours.

Beginning at 6 p.m. a buffalo burger cookout will be held at Lake Bronson State Park. Live music will be provided by the Red River Valley Fiddlers. There will also be slide shows, videos, and other presentations and prairie games for the kids. Admission to the cookout is $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12. The public is invited and interested prairie prowlers are encouraged to bring along their favorite prairie pictures and slides to share.

Minnesota's prairies, the open, grassy plains that once covered one-third of the state, nearly 18 million acres, have all but vanished. Today, less than one percent of these lands remain—untouched by the plow or urban development—yet these areas are home to many of the state's most rare and endangered species of plants and wildlife. Original native grasses and wildflowers—as many as 300 individual species—each contributed for centuries to the survival of the prairie ecosystem.

Other Prairie Day events will take place at Blue Mounds State Park near Luverne in southwest Minnesota; at the Kellogg Weaver Dunes near Kellogg in southeast Minnesota; at the Sherburne National Wildlife Refuge near Zimmerman; and at the Minnesota Valley National Wildlife Refuge in Bloomington.



For more information, contact the Karlstad Area DNR Wildlife Office at 436-2427 or Lake Bronson State Park at 754-2200.

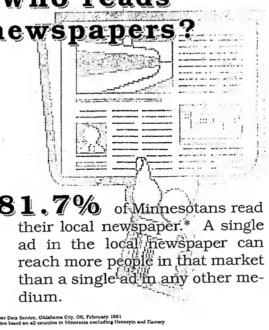
"TIME"

Day by day, week by week, month by month, year by year, time marches on. You can't stop it. We as people live in a time zone. We start out at a day old and end up many years older.



In Isaiah 40:7&8, it tells us, that the grass withereth, the flower fadeth; because the Spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it; surely the people is grass. The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the Word of our God shall stand forever.

We are on the earth such a short time. The Bible says we are like grass, here today, gone tomorrow. Lets make our time count here on earth. Stand on the Word of God, and trust in Jesus.

Seamless Aluminum Guttering

Our seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum; the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used, and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew...saving on labor costs. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

planner, told the commission that the Transportation Committee has been trying to make sure that the Highway 75 section between Donaldson to Hallock scheduled for reconstruction in 1993 does not get pushed back, according to the minutes of the meeting.

Herb Maurstson noted that all of Highway 75 between Crookston and Moorhead has been reconstructed but a seven mile stretch between Halstad and Shelly has not been overlayed.

Rep. Bernie Lieder of Crookston, noted that there is a good possibility that there will be less money for State Aid Highways in the rural areas. Lieder said, however, that the State is aware of the concerns regarding Highway 75.

Rep. Wally Sparby, Thief River Falls, noted that he attended a meeting on the Highway 75 issue between Donaldson and Hallock with MnDOT staff, state staff, NWRDC staff and others and after this meeting he said he felt more confident that this road will be reconstructed as planned.

Janice Hanson of Kittson county asked that a letter of support from the commission be sent to MnDOT encouraging them that this section of Highway between Donaldsoo and Hallock be completed as planned in 1993. Hanson noted that the schools are very concerned and active in this process because of school consolidation that will be taking place. A motion was made by Solberg, seconded by Lindberg that a letter of support be sent by the Commission. The motion was approved.

Although Governor Arne Carlson eliminated RDC state appropriations from the budget which will result in a $40,976 reduction in funds each year, the commissioo decided not to raise the local levy to account for the total loss in funds.

Joe Bouvette, chairman of the Regional Development Forum, reviewed the budget for fiscal year 1992. Bouvette noted that the board of directors recommended raising the local levy by three per cent which would result in a $3,500 increase. Bouvette further noted that the commission could levy up to $180,000. A motion to increase the levy by three per cent resulting in the levy being set at $120,394 was approved.

Because of the loss in funds at least one staff position will be eliminated.

Leon Heath, executive director, distributed a list of work program changes to deal with the loss of the $40,976 in state appropriation funding. Heath noted that the changes are based on the recommendations of the Economic Development committee and staff to reduce 1,800 hours of staff time. The major reductions are as follows: 1) eliminate the natural resources work element; 2) reduce staff time in international trade; 3) absorb work in the loan fund recapitulation and the administration of the rural rehabilitation pilot grant in the regional forum work program; 4) reduce time in grant writing activities; 5) make a general reduction in community development; 6) reduce business assistance; 7) increase the current contract rate from $25 per hour to $35 per hour; 8) attempt to absorb about 600 hours of work through the use of temporary employees, additional reduction in time spent on new project development and efforts to obtain additional funding.

A motion to approve the work changes was approved.

The commission approved $6,200 in arts grant recommendations from the Arts Advisory Committee.

Recipients of the grants included Middle River Community Theater, Northland Community College, and the Crookston Civic Music League.

Fashion Mart to open in TRF

Ron Haus of East Grand Forks is planning to open the Fashion Mart in Thief River Falls the end of August.

Located at the corner of Third street and Main in downtown Thief River Falls, the woman's clothing store will carry specialty line clothing at budget prices. Haus said the market in Thief River Falls needs another apparal store, maybe two to three more. Haus said it's very hard for just ooe store to survive in a community. Clothing stores need competition to provide tho customer with choices.

Haus doesn't believe the store will need much work. Because it was remodeled just last year it won't take much time to get up and running. Haus is waiting for clothing and fixtures.

Clothing for the Junior or Misses will follow the seasons ot the Fashion Mart. Haus said he will open with back to school items. The store will carry many sweaters, denim, specialty store labels, accessories and many other items. The clothing line will generally follow the seasons and be from modern or better markets vs. the budget market.

Haus has been in the clothing business all his life. He began with Kmart and has also worked for Herbergers. He has another Fashion Mart in Wadena.

The store will employ two full-time employees and possibly three part-time employees. Haus said his wife will work full-time at the store, which will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and from noon until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Haus likes the location at Third and Main. It has a lot of traffic, good visibility and there's good parking — as a general rule. He also likes the community and hopes to provide customers with good products and budget prices.

earlier shipments of snowmobiles and related products to our dealers and distributors," president and chief executive officer Chris Twomey told the shareholders at the meeting. "We are pleased with the first quarter operating results, which are in line with company expectations."

Twomey also said he and others at Arctco are excited about the personal watercraft development and the market potential for such a unit. He said the watercraft "will provide the same exceptional performance, styling and finesse that we are known for in our snowmobile business.

"Our strong existing chain of dealers and distributors will have immediate access to the target market of customers for this product," Twomey continued.

"In addition, the production of a personal watercraft in our Thief River Falls facility will utilize some of our excess manufacturing capacity resulting from the seasonal nature of our operations, further increasing our manufacturing efficiency as well as providing full-time employment to more of our employees."

of funds derived from the sale of state timber plus agricultural, mineral and miscellaneous leases. This is the 12th year that counties have received in-lieu-of-tax payments from the state.

The local dollar distribution is based on the total acreage of state and county-administered land in each county.

By law, counties are required to deposit 40 per cent of the funds received into the county general revenue fund. Another portion must be deposited into a county resource-development fund for use in forest management, fish and wildlife habitat improvement, recreational development and maintenance of county-administered natural resource lands.

However, counties receiving less than $5,000 annually for resource development may elect to deposit those funds into their general revenue accounts. Organized townships also receive a portion of the payment for road and bridge projects.

Coast Guard fee applies to boats on Lake of the Woods

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Yes, it's true—boats over 16 feet in length operated for pleasure on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods are now required to have a set of Recreational Vessel Fee (RVF) decals displayed. The federal law went into effect July 31, 1991.

The Times received a "Clip Sheet" on the U.S. Recreational Vessel Fee from the U.S. Coast Guard on August 15. The sheet carried a date of June 28 and was marked "for immediate release."

The material points out that owners of certain recreational power or sail boats over 16 feet in length are required to display the special decals as proof that they have paid their 1991 Recreational Vessel Fee.

The fee is applicable to such boats operated on: U.S. territorial seas (up to three miles offshore); internal waters subject to tidal influence; internal waters from which a boat can be navigated to tidal influenced waters; and specified waters "that don't meet any of

Sheriff's Dept. sends officers to Mahnomen

Two officers from the Pennington county sheriff's department were among the officers asked to assist Mahnomen county sheriff's office at the Shooting Star Casino construction site Thursday.

Protesters have stopped construction at the new Shooting Star Casino in Mahnomen a couple of times. In response to a request to assist officers in Mahnomen handle the situation, two sheriff's department officers traveled to Mahnomen. Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold and Sheriff's Deputy Ray Kuznin provided assistance in Mahnomen Thursday.

Sheriff Wold said about 35 to 40 officers were at the scene. There were 31 arrests made. Wold said through a joint powers agreement, they traveled to Mahnomen. "Mahnomen officials made the arrests," Sheriff Wold said. "We did the securing and transporting," he said. No problems arose while they were there but Wold said the potential was there. Wold said he believes the show of force probably helped convince them that "we were going to win this battle." He said about 12 squad cars arrived at the same time. "We could have had more if needed," he said.

"The main reason we went," Wold said, "is because we're all in this situation where we might need help in the future. If we didn't go and we had similar trouble where we needed help they might think twice about providing assistance."

"Hopefully we won't have to go again but will if needed," Wold said.

The students are the first in a new Summer health Care Intern Program co-sponsored by the Minnesota Hospital association, Minnesota Department of Education, Minnesota Medical association, School District 564 in Thief River Falls and Northwest Medical Center.

Ila Flesche, instructor in the medical careers program at the vocational center, and Mike Parker, director of human resources at Northwest Medical Center, said the program has been exceptionally successful and the students have performed their duties in an exemplary manner. Flesche visits the medical center at least weekly to maintain contact with the students and monitor their progress.

TRF City Council to study proposed levy

Levy increase for 1992 expected to be 6.8 per cent

Thief River Falls' proposed levy increase for its residents has been estimated at 6.8 per cent above last year.

During a city finance committee meeting last week, City Finance Officer Roger DeLap said the levy limitation set by the Minnesota department of revenue would raise $1,252,477. In addition to the levy limitation set by the department of revenue, the special levies for matching funds, bonded indebtedness and public pension liability, would put the total amount available for general fund purposes at an estimated $1,302,198.

DeLap projected a local collection rate of 96 per cent. The estimated HACA, Transition Aids and Disparity Reduction Aids will be reimbursed by the state at 100 per cent. The proposed 1992 tax levy works out to be an estimated $826,839 locally, and $760,183 to be reimbursed from the state.

Taxes traditionally account for about 20 per cent of the governmental revenue received by the city. By way of comparison, in 1989 taxes accounted for 20.9 per cent of the $4,473,983 in governmental revenue. The largest source of revenue was state grants, which accounted for about 44.4 per cent of the total. Other revenue sources included five per cent of the total in special assessments, 6.3 per cent in federal grants, 1.6 per cent in fines and forfeitures, 5.7 per cent in miscellaneous revenue, 4.3 per cent in interest earnings, 5.1 per cent in charges for services, 5.5 per cent in county and local grants, and 1.2 per cent in licenses and permits.

As compared to other cities, taxes generally accounted for a larger portion of governmental revenues. In information provided by DeLap, taxes generally accounted for 31.5 per cent of 1989 governmental revenues. State grants on the other hand, accounted for only 29.7 per cent of governmental revenues.

During the meeting, DeLap also presented a study of the city's bonded indebtedness. Such studies are used by council members in setting the budget. DeLap said the purpose of these projections is to address the on-going question of how much infrastructure improvement and bonded debt the city can afford.

Thief River Falls' bonded indebtedness in 1992 will be $269,273. That amount is required to maintain 100 per cent of one year's principal and interest on reserve in the city's debt service funds and to cover a portion of the estimated debt service on the upcoming 1991 bond issue and future levies.

Taxes for debt service have remained relatively constant over the years, according to DeLap. But DeLap prepared a summary of tax levy projects from 1992 to 2003 for council members. The summary included the city's existing debt, a $550,000 bond sale for 1991, a $1 million bond sale for 1992 (Highway 32 project), and a $500,000 bond sale each year thereafter for infrastructure maintenance and new construction of the city's streets, curb and gutter, storm sewers, water and sewer system and other special assessment type projects. Beginning in 1992 at $219,273, the level of tax levies for bonded indebtedness fluctuated but gradually increased to $347,000 by the year 2003.

DeLap's projections were based on a number of assumptions including the following: that net interest rate on the proposed bond issues would be about 7 per cent, bond terms 12 years long, the average amount of project cost covered by special assessment would be $300,000 or 60 per cent of the bond issue, the average prepayment of special assessments would be $102,000 (34 per cent of special assessment roll), and interest earned on special assessments would be 8 per cent.

DeLap concluded that based on the above scenario the city could handle the future debt service tax levy requirements.

In his finance committee summary, DeLap also summarized a number of other concerns. Government aid is also of concern. DeLap estimated that approximately 47.9 per cent of the amount levied to the county for collection in 1991 will be forwarded to the state to be returned in the form of Equalization Aids Disparity Reduction Aids, and Homestead Ag. Credit aids.

Alvin Jensen goes to sea at age of 64

Oklee native returns to steam engineer position on 930-foot ammunition ship SS Cape Farewell

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When Alvin Jensen of Oklee left for work this morning he couldn't tell his wife exactly when he would be home for supper. It probably won't be until 1992, and possibly not until next autumn. Sailors go where their ships take them and they sign on for up to a year of duty.

Did you say a sailor—like on the ocean?

Did you say from Oklee—about as far from an ocean as you can get and still be in the United States?

Did you say Alvin Jensen—the fur farmer and Red Lake county commissioner? He must be close to retirement age!

Actually, Alvin is 64 years young. And the answer to all of the questions above is a definite "yes!" Alvin is going—actually he has gone—back to sea. He sailed for most of eight years from age 17 to 25 before coming back to the place where he was born, the small town of Oklee in northwestern Minnesota.

"My brother Ray had gone to sea and he thought it would be a good job for me," Alvin explained. "I pulled out of school and went into the maritime service in 1945 at age 17. I started sailing on a merchant ship but went to school when we were in port at Baltimore, MD to work on getting my engineer's license."

And get the license he did, by age 20. He secured a more advanced license in a couple more years at age 22. For two years he and Ray were both merchant seamen, although they never were on the same ship, then Ray left the big ships and big water in 1947 to come back to Oklee and get into the fur business.

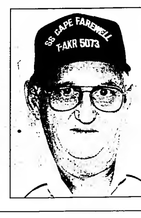
While Ray was getting the mink business established, Alvin was floating around much of the world and sending money home to help get the fur venture going. When he turned his back to the ocean in 1953 and headed inland there was a business established for him to come home in.

During those eight years, however, he put a lot of water under the hull. He sailed on the 450-foot liberty and victory ships hauling wheat and general cargo, primarily to northern Europe where he made many stops in ports up the European coast from France to Finland. He was in Genoa, Italy, three times, sailed twice to South America and went through the Panama Canal 44 times —22 trips out and 22 trips back.

One trip out lasted five months and 17 days as the ship went from port to port before returning to the United States. Alvin was then employed by a steamship company where he started as a wiper in the engine room and then with school and experience worked his way up to steam engineer status.

Pay for seamen was good in those years, when you consider that the army had been paying $21 a month for soldiers. Not only did seamen receive a higher base pay, they received "war zone" pay bonuses that increased the base by one-third when only a few miles out to sea, by two-thirds when further out to sea and to double when in the Mediterranean Sea.

"German subs sank a lot of merchant ships during World War II," Alvin said, "and there were still mines in some of the waters where we sailed. I guess that was the reason for the 'war zone' pay bonuses. And we did run into some really bad storms in the North Atlantic in the winter."



Alvin renewed his engineer's license once after he came home in 1953, then let it expire because he didn't expect to use it again. He became deeply involved in the fur business, raising many mink and being actively involved on a national and international level.

But the fur business turned sour a few years ago, due primarily to over-production of pelts on a world level, Alvin said. He sold his mink six years ago. He and his wife Bonnie raised nine children, all of whom have attended or are attending college. Bonnie also went back to school.

For eight years Alvin served as a Red Lake county commissioner—until voters upset with the board's interest in permitting a state hazardous waste storage site in the county elected new commissioners in the last election.

Then along came the Persian Gulf war and the massive military effort of Operation Desert Storm. The U.S. government brought out 169 ships from storage to haul equipment and supplies and found

ACTIVITIES

Choosing Day Care

Choosing day care is an important and sometimes difficult decision. But after the decision is made, it is wise to help prepare your child for that transition.

The child should know the name of the caregiver and the place. She or he should get a "tour" of the home or center before the first day as well as the parents. They should get to meet the new teacher or caregiver, see the toys, where they will eat, sleep and outdoor play area. This should happen a few days before the first day.

When you are home, talk about things that the child will probably be doing and "play" day care. The activities may include things like story-time, art activitias and games.

On the first day, it is wise to allow extra time in the morning so you can spend some time with your child at the new day care. The amount of time necessary depends on you and your child, but the child should be acting comfortable and needs to know when you will return.

Preparation for a new day care is as important as the selection process.

PARENTING TIPS

Choosing Child Care

Choosing child care can be one of the most important decisions that parents make. It can also be one of the most difficult. You want your children to have the best possible care, but how can you tell what is "best" for you and your child?

Remember, there is no one "best" type of care for everyone. Just as family experiences vary, so will child care vary. You will want to make sure that the type of child care you select is compatible with what you want for your child. You will want a child care that will meet your child's needs and reflects your values.

You, the parent, must take the time to look into the child care options you have in your community. Make a list of things that are important to you that you want to know. Then begin by calling and asking some questions. (Phone calling will help you to narrow the choices.) Then select a couple to visit. Call and set up an appointment. Most care givers will want to interview you also.

When you have made your selection, request a two to four week trial period to make sure this situation is working well for all concerned.

We are fortunate in northwest Minnesota to have access to the Minnesota Child Care Resource and Referral Network. This is a computerized service to help parents find and select quality child care. They can help you determine what is quality child care and they can tell you where child care openings exist.

Services are provided on a sliding fee scale. For more information about Child Care Resource and Referral, call 1-800-543-7382 or the Thief River Falls Early Childhood Family Education program at 681-8670.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Prepare your child for a new child care experience by talking about it. Tell him/her what to expect and where you will be.

City Council

Department budgets are still being studied. The council is expected to finalize the city's tax levy for 1992 between August 20 and 26. The council must certify the city's proposed 1992 tax levy, preliminary governmental budget totals, and public hearing dates to the county auditor by August 27.

DeLap said the city must set the levy by that time. After that time it can reduce the levy but not increase it. If the city chooses to reduce the levy it is possible that the state, which sets the city's levy, could continue to keep the levy low by the same amount in the future.

Preparing the city's budget for 1992 is not finished by a long shot. Many more meetings are planned.

Public radio plans second area station

Placement of a transmitter on the Euclid area tower of Minnesota public radio (MPR) took place Thursday, August 15, according to Bob Ekeren of Thief River Falls, MPR volunteer.

Ekeren said location of the transmitter to provide MPR's news and information service is "symbolic of recognition of northwestern Minnesota citizen effort to become a fully-served region just like Minneapolis, Rochester, Duluth and St. Cloud.

"It's quite an honor," Ekeren said, "to be chosen fifth in line for a full power station while 10 other cities remain totally unserved or supplied only with a lower power station. The dual service known as MPR will ultimately be two full-power stations broadcasting non-commercially."

The first MPR service—the arts and performance station—went on the air in November of 1990 at 91.5 on the FM dial. The second service—the news and information station—is expected to be on the air by the end of 1991 at 102.7 on the FM dial.

Both stations will operate 24 hours a day and the arts and performance service will drop some news programming which will be replaced by its classical music format. The news and information station will broadcast in-depth coverage of state, national and international issues.

"The non-commercial aspect of these stations means that music or issues can be fully broadcast in a manner not possible under commercial radio's normal time restrictions," Ekeren said.

"KQMN and KQNI are not designed to replace local radio stations which serve our northern communities well," Ekeren added. "The stations fill a void missed by many, particularly new residents to the area from localities which have been served by two MPR stations. Over a four to five-year period citizens will slowly but surely develop loyalty and demonstrate it by paying a nominal membership to maintain these two stations."

Ekeren, who has worked extensively on provision of MPR service to this area for a number of years, said that officials of Minnesota Public Radio did not expect local support in this area to be as strong as it has been—privately, politically and monetarily.

He said the idea of a second 100,000-watt MPR station was nearly unthinkable when cost of equipment and listener support were of major concern in this less highly populated area of the state. The $160,000 project was made more realistic when Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls carried a request for $75,000 to the state legislature and received approval, but the appropriation was removed by one of Gov. Arne Carlson's line item vetoes.

Additional private efforts were undertaken to replace the loss of the $75,000 state grant and a $20,000 foundation grant helped greatly in that effort, Ekeren said.

"The business plan for two stations involves considerable financial responsibility and northwestern Minnesotans need to rise to the challenge," he said. "Power costs alone are projected to run over $50,000 a year and additional expenses are anticipated to be a minimum of $10,000 annually.

"Thief River Falls and its neighbors need to provide these funds on an individual by individual basis and preliminary projections indicate this can happen if listeners turn into MPR members," Ekeren said.

"The capital campaign for the news and information station is headed down the home stretch. MPR has demonstrated its confidence in Thief River Falls and the upper Red River Valley. Reciprocity by the listener will ensure MPR's existence in the future."

Ekeren and Ron Stordahl of Thief River Falls recently attended the BBC Weekend, an event hosted by MPR in St. Paul. The weekend was the culmination of a month's work by 30 British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) personnel featuring various facets of Minnesota life. The 32-hour broadcast went back to the United Kingdom and to 120 million worldwide listeners through the BBC world service. It was available locally on KQMN, 91.5 FM.

Ekeren and Stordahl had an opportunity to talk to John Tusa of the BBC world service and John Drummond of BBC 3. The news and information station of MPR features BBC broadcasts from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. each day as well as segments throughout the day.

Many Century Farms are designated for this area of state

Northwest Minnesota has a number of Century farms designated this year by the Minnesota State Fair and The Farmer magazine. They are among 277 Century farms qualifying on a statewide basis.

Qualifying families, whose farms are at least 50 acres in size and have been in continuous family ownership for at least 100 years, receive a weather-proof sign signifying Century farm recognition and a certificate signed by the president of the state fair and Gov. Arne Carlson.

Farms designated as Century farms for northwestern Minnesota include the following with the date of origination noted in parentheses:

Pennington—Leonard and Margaret Geske, Thief River Falls (1891); Curtis and Morlene Johnson, Thief River Falls (1889); and Ida Ordahl, Thief River Falls (1890);

Marshall—Donald R. Benke, Stephen (1890); Marshall and Beverly Fulks, Warren (1888); and Laverne and Anna Thorson, Argyle (1884);

Red Lake—Grenier Family Farm, Red Lake Falls (1890); and R. V. Quick, Plummer (1891);

Kittson—George K. Anderson, Kennedy (1891); Everett A. Englund, Karlstad (1891); LaMar and Audrey Johnson, Kennedy (1887); and Budd Wennersten, Kennedy (1889);

Roseau—Herman T. Hedin, Roseau (1890);

Polk—Andrew and Dorothy Brule, Crookston (1891); Mrs. Clara Carl, Climax (1891); Donald B. and Florence Danielson, Fisher (1879); H. Robert Edwords, McIntosh (1883); Peter A. Hotvedt Form, East Grond Forks (1878); William and Edna Hunnicutt, Erskine (1891); The Kerestes Farm, Warren (1890); Benneth and Bertha Mathsen, Alvarado (1891); Gerald M. and Judy A. Nelson, East Grand Forks (1891); Chester and Elaine Olson, Fosston (1891); Melvin and Dorothy Piker, Angus (1888); Lawrence Torske, McIntosh (1888); and Richard and Roger Zejdlik, East Grand Forks (1889).

Interactive TV in courts aired

Interactive television in the courts?

Justice department officials met with Sheriff's department officials, public defenders, attorneys and other law enforcement officials from several counties Friday in Thief River Falls to discuss interactive television in the courts. Apparently, a pilot project that would involve putting interactive televisions in Mahnomen, Polk and Norman counties is being discussed.

Comments from officials on the subject indicate there are many concerns, although many are encouraged by the thought of saving valuable travel time.

More about this subject will appear in the next Times.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I was caught poaching approximately one year ago—a gross misdemeanor under state law. I was fined $750 plus court costs. I sat in jail for six days total. I lost a $500 gun. I can't hunt big game for three years. I'm on probation for three years and I'm still fighting to get my truck back!

The same type of violation took place in Marshall county about the same time. Three people involved there were each fined $336...... period! Why the difference?

A man in this same city embezzles approximately $6,000 to $7,000 from the federal government, a felony charge supposedly more serious than my state gross misdemeanor. Why did he only get two years probation and 50 hours of community service? The court wouldn't consider community service for me—I asked.

In summary: I'm not looking or asking for sympathy. I broke the law and should be subject to penalty. But isn't a law a law and the penalty guidelines set forth by these laws supposed to be followed regardless of what the offense is? A felony is a more serious offense than a misdemeanor under the law.

Where is the equity when a federal felony is treated much more leniently than a state misdemeanor? Something sure is strange, don't you think?

A puzzled citizen,
Tim Panek

"WHAT IS SALVATION?"

Salvation is the main message of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and in Luke chapter 4, we read about some of the things included in that salvation. Good news to the poor, recovery of sight to the blind, freedom to those who are downtrodden, and to proclaim the favorable year of the Lord. The part about the favorable year of the Lord corresponds to the Jewish law of Jubilee.

Now the good news to the poor is that you don't have to be poor anymore, to those who are blind, Jesus can heal you. To those who are downtrodden, Jesus has made a way of escape for you, and for those of you who are captive to destructive habits, Jesus can set you free. Salvation is not only for when you die, its for the needs you have right now, today. At Jesus Is King Ministries, we believe in such a salvation.

Another Hand In Boaters' Pockets

Yes, it is true that the U.S. government, through its Coast Guard, has joined the State of Minnesota in exacting tribute from many boaters who use their watercraft on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods. We had heard about some sort of fee, but were unaware of the actual law until we received a "Clip Sheet" from the U.S. Coast Guard in our August 15 mail.

The "Clip Sheet" was dated June 28 and marked "For Immediate Release." This dating is convenient on a notice for a government agency to place in its file for future reference or documentation, but doesn't help us much in getting the information out to the public in a timely manner.

A story containing information from the fact sheet is published in today's issue of the "Northern Watch." It should be of interest to everyone who owns a boat over 16 feet in length and uses it on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods.

Why Lake of the Woods? According to the Coast Guard information sheet, Lake of the Woods was included among the waters that didn't meet other standard criteria, "yet benefit from considerable Coast Guard presence." This puts Lake of the Woods in the same category with the Colorado river, Lake Roosevelt in Washington, Lake Tahoe in California and Nevada and Lake Havasu in California and Arizona.

Congress did the deed, not the Coast Guard. The fee assessment annually for a five-year period is part of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 which was passed by Congress. The Coast Guard simply was made the agency responsible by Congress to implement and enforce the law.

Congress was at least relatively honest in its stated purpose for the law. It was intended "to require recreational boaters to share in the cost of existing Coast Guard programs, including search and rescue, boating safety and aids to navigation."

We have never been particularly conscious of a "considerable Coast Guard presence" on Lake of the Woods during more than 30 years of fishing there, but we would presume such a presence exists if the Coast Guard says it does. We do know that if we had to depend on the Coast Guard for a speedy Lake of the Woods rescue on any given day we wouldn't like the odds of success.

As to boating safety and navigational aids we are in no position to judge, although we would imagine channel markers and reef buoys are Coast Guard responsibilities which are an important service to boaters. Why they would be more important to a person with a 17-foot boat than one with a 15-footer we don't know, but then we didn't get elected to Congress, either.

There may be some justification for the fee, although another annual expense and annoyance is certain to meet with disfavor among boaters. There is to be no notification of renewal and owners of boats which meet the criteria must remember to order (and pay for) the $25 to $100 decals each year at least through 1995.....and we would be surprised if the fee isn't extended beyond that point.

And if there hasn't been a considerable Coast Guard presence on Lake of the Woods prior to this time, you can bet there will be when the full penalty for not displaying the RVF decals goes into effect October 1 and thereafter—especially in the spring of 1992. The presence of another hand in boaters' pockets will surely be felt then.

What Is Your Community Newspaper?

As we have explained in these columns before, the newspaper is a business that depends on selling its advertising services to remain viable, and indeed it is a private business. But it has a community aspect as well that cannot be overlooked or, for that matter, overemphasized.

We don't talk about it or write about it a whole lot because we feel if we do a good job at it we won't have to call attention to our role—our readers will recognize it for themselves. But once in awhile we need to be reminded ourselves what we are all about to get a better perspective on what we should be doing. An article in the Old Bridge (VA) Observer recently points out some things that a community newspaper is—or should be:

The community newspaper is the institution that defines and sustains community identity amid individual diversity. Families live in different housing developments, work at different locations, attend different churches. Their children attend different schools, play different sports and are involved in different after school activities. But the one thing that they have in common is that they all read the same community newspaper to know what is happening where it matters most, in the community.

The community newspaper confers status and validity. How many community organizations rate their success by newspaper mention of their events and accomplishments? How does it feel when your neighbor says, "I read about your promotion in the newspaper?" How often do you begin a business inquiry with, "I've seen your ads in the community newspaper and I'm wondering...?"

The community newspaper helps to make the local economy work by assisting local businesses to achieve their goals. The community newspaper provides affordable basic advertising services and target marketing so local businesses can reach their many potential customers.

The community newspaper provides real-life lessons about people and places and things that you know.

The community newspaper has the ability to solve small problems such as locating a lost pet, selling miscellaneous items that you no longer need, finding workers and volunteers, and is the recognized forum for helping to solve the community's big dilemmas.

The community newspaper is the local historical chronicle—the permanent written record of events, a reference of dates, of people and places.

The community newspaper protects the public's right to know and freedom of speech.

The community newspaper is the community's voice and conscience and the forum that provides the widest audience for the exchange of ideas.

A newspaper's ability to truly serve the community, however, depends on the eyes and ears, support and criticism, of the community. The newspaper's staff cannot be everywhere, cannot know everything. Having an effective community newspaper is the responsibility of both the newspaper's management and staff and the community.

Wheat growers have concerns with vomitoxin

Concerns over this year's spring wheat crop quality have some Minnesota grain elevators testing wheat purchases for vomitoxin, a mycotoxin produce in scab-infected wheat, according to the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion council headquartered at Red Lake Falls.

While the vomitoxin has been found in isolated samples from Minnesota, Roger Jones, plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota, points out that not all scab-infected wheat will have the toxin.

Minnesota wheat farmers are accustomed to dealing with scab," Jones said. "The vomitoxin problem is not as common, however."

Jones has inspected the state crop on research trips throughout Minnesota this summer, and believes the occurrence of vomitoxin is an isolated problem in West Central Minnesota where wet growing conditions have prevailed.

Initial reaction from the Minnesota ASCS office was to suspend any 1991 farm-stored wheat loans, the wheat council office said. The office has since tempered its position and has reinstated the issuance of 1991 loans under one condition—farmers will be responsible if grain containing the toxin is delivered.

"There is a problem in the country, but it's not as severe as we initially thought," said Leslie Steppel, acting state director for ASCS. Steppel said that if farmers want to be certain of their grain quality, they should have it tested. The 24-hour test to determine if the toxin is present can be conducted by a private lab or by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Minnesota Wheat council officials are concerned about the broader implications the scab situation might have on the state's spring wheat industry.

"Since scab-infected wheat typically has a lighter test weight, we fear that grain buyers may assume that vomitoxin is present and unnecessarily discount for low test weight," says K. C. Kuznia of Stephen, chairman of the Minnesota Wheat council. "This could potentially put the integrity of our entire spring wheat crop at risk for no good reason."

"Minnesota wheat farmers should get their wheat into the bin and then determine their options for this year's crop," states David Torgerson, executive director of the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion council. "No final determinations have yet been made on how the entire situation will be handled."

In addition, University of Minnesota researchers urge farmers to check the quality of their grain if they keep any of it for next year's seed, since scab can affect seed quality.

The Minnesota Wheat council is funded by wheat growers through a one-cent-per-bushel check-off. These funds are used for research and market development. Finding scab-resistant wheat varieties is one of the projects the council is funding at the University of Minnesota.

Orientation at NCC for new students

Northland Community College will hold a student orientation for all new students on Tuesday, September 3. Schedule of events is as follows: 9 a.m. welcome, 9:15 a.m. overview of day's activities, 10 a.m. round robin introduction of staff members, policies and procedures, 11:10 a.m. tours of campus will begin, 12 noon picnic lunch served free of charge, 12:30 p.m. housing forum for students looking for a place or a roommate, 1 p.m. general meeting in the theater, and 1:10 p.m. volleyball.

"We are looking to make this an informative yet fun day for our students," said Sue Minnick, vice provost at Northland Community College. This year as an added incentive, points will be given for each event the students participate in. The student who accumulates the most points will receive "free books" for the fall quarter.

Northland community college student senate members will be hosting orientation activities. All new students are encouraged to attend.

Export market workshop set

Congressman Collin Peterson and the North Country Exporters Association are sponsoring a 7th Congressional District Exporters Conference entitled "How to Open New Export Markets."

This export conference will help potential exporters identify their markets and design marketing programs for sales outside the United States. Leading exporters from the region will share their expertise at the conference. Numerous support service companies such as couriers, shipping, documentation, banks, airlines, and legal assistance will be present. Participants will learn how to enter world markets and what it takes to deal with a changing world marketplace.

"As you know, there is no such thing anymore as a strictly national economy. Competition now crosses not just state and regional lines, but also international boundaries. An international market requires a global mind-set. That's why I am proud to be involved with a conference on export strategies for business in the 7th Congressional District," commented Congressman Peterson.

To request additional information call Terry Stollman, Congressman Peterson's Economic Development Officer at (218) 847-5056.

Swanson is Legion MVP

Mike Swanson was named the most valuable player on the 1991 Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team during Thursday's annual Post 117 season ending banquet.

Other special awards went to David Blazek, best offensive player; Kyle Evenson, best defensive player; Mike Rokke, best pitcher; Jeff Lutovsky, most dedicated; and Gimse Wedul, who received an an appreciation plaque for her work as the team statistician.

Thief River Falls finished the recently-completed season with a 19-21 overall record. Post 117 went 19-19 during the regular season, but lost to Fergus Falls 2-1 and Crookston 9-2 in the eight-team, double-elimination Ninth District tournament at Irv Wilson Field.

"It was a disappointing finish," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "We really felt going into the tournament we had a chance. We knew Fergus Falls would be tough, and we just didn't play very well the next day against Crookston."

Failure to come up with a victory in the Ninth District tournament ended a string of four straight 20-win seasons for Thief River Falls.

"It was kind of a let-down," admitted Dalager, who completed his third year as Thief River Falls head coach. "We were hoping the kids would have a good tournament and have something really nice to look back on. But you can't fault them. They put in the effort. It was just one of those years where it didn't work out."

Thief River Falls was the Ninth District tournament runner-up in 1990.

Blazek, who will be a junior at Middle River this year, led Post 117 with a .441 batting average. The left-handed hitting outfielder collected 41 hits in 93 at-bats.

Others with impressive batting averages included Evenson at .362 (34-94), Barry Dowers .351 (34-97), Swanson .345 (38-110) and Rokke .342 (27-79). Mitch Bernstein finished just shy of the .300 mark with a .293 average (34-116).

Evenson and Swanson were 1991 Thief River Falls high school graduates and Rokke graduated this spring from Marshall County Central in Newfolden. Dowers will be a senior in Thief River Falls this year and Bernstein will be a senior at Grygla.

Swanson and Dowers shared the team lead with 24 runs-batted-in and Rokke finished with 20 RBI. Swonson led the team with four home runs.

Thief River Falls hit .293 as a team.

Rokke was the top winner among the Thief River Falls pitchers with a 6-2 record, while Darin Wald went 4-3, Bernstein 4-4, Evenson 3-4, Lutovsky 1-1, Swanson 1-5 and Dowers 0-2.

Dalager, who was assisted by Chris Nelson, Joel Swanson and Corey Poole this summer, gave special thanks for sponsorship backing provided by the Legion, VFW and Eagles clubs of Thief River Falls, the St. Hilaire Lions and the Middle River American Legion Post. The VFW helped in its sponsorship of the Legion/VFW Tier II Bombers, and the Eagles covered the costs involved the the first Thief River Falls Legion Invitational held in 1991.

Bombers present awards during Thursday banquet

Marc Haugen was selected as the most valuable player on the 1990 Thief River Falls Legion/VFW Bombers baseball team, it was announced during the annual Legion Post 117 banquet Thursday.

Other special awards went to Carter Rogalla, best offensive player; Nathan Knutson, best defensive player; Rick Ostby, best pitcher; and Robert Nelson, most dedicated. Allison Peterson also received o plaque for her work as team statistician.

The Wayne Rahlf-coached Bombers finished the recently-completed 1991 season with an overall 41-18 record. The Thief River Falls 16-year-olds played against the area's smaller Legion Tier II programs for players 18-under, and completed o VFW schedule against area 16-year-olds.

Thief River Fall, after a disappointing showing in the VFW District 9 tournament and a runner-up finish to Red Lake Falls in the Tony Sipe League Legion playoffs, won the eight-team, double-elimination Ninth District Legion Tier II tournament – beating the Moorhead Vets 13-9, New York Mills 5-2 and Red Lake Falls 12-3 to reach the finals. Red Lake Falls squared the championship series at 1-1 with a 2-0 win before the Bombers came out a 9-8 winner in the title-deciding third meeting between the two teams.

The title advanced Thief River Falls into the third annual Legion Tier II state tournament, an eight-team, single-elimination event that started with four opening round quarterfinal games at various sites across the state. The winners moved on to the semifinals and finals in Mankato, where the ten-team, double-elimination Tier I tournament was taking place.

However, Thief River Falls' state tournament journey was a one-stop trip as the Bombers fell to Nashwauk-Keewatin 12-1 in a game played at Grand Rapids.

"I have to take my hats off to the kids," said Rahlf, who completed his second year as Bombers coach. "Obviously it was a very aggressive schedule, and at times it wore on us. But they hung in there, and wound up making the final eight in the state – against 18-year-olds. That's a real credit to their efforts and hard work, and a real credit to their potential."

Jerald Hagen served as Rahlf's assistant coach.

Conditioning contest opens football drills...

Kevin Johnson was the top overall scorer Monday as the Thief River Falls coaching staff conducted the annual Ironman conditioning competition for the first day of 1991 high school football drills.

The event tests all sophomores, juniors and seniors in strength and speed/quickness.

Top three scorers in each class were recognized Tuesday as head coach Jeff Mumm met with players and parents in the school cafeteria.

John Wallberg was the top-scoring senior, followed by Thane Espe and Matt Kaushagen.

Johnson led the juniors, followed by Marc Haugen and Jason Svir.

Jeff Twomey produced the highest score among the sophomores, followed by Jeff Lundgren and Eric Dahl.

A week of conditioning drills ended this morning for the Prowlers, who will practice with full pads for the first time Monday.

"We've been working on our timing and conditioning," said Mumm, "but it's been too hot. It doesn't take very long for the players to lose their concentration in heat like that."

A squad numbering about 50 is preparing for the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Pigskin Preview Saturday, Aug. 24. Varsity and junior varsity scrimmages and a barbecue picnic lunch will be featured that day at Prowler Field.

Enlarged scrimmage portion of the Pigskin Preview will find Thief River Falls being joined by Warroad, Grand Forks Central, Grand Forks Red River, Fargo Shanley, East Grand Forks, Devils Lake and three Winnipeg-area teams – Sturgeon Creek, Vo-Tech and Kelvin.

Thief River Falls opens its 1991 regular season Thursday, Aug. 29, at home against Park Rapids.

The Prowlers were 3-6 a year ago, which included a 27-0 loss to Fergus Falls in the Section 8A playoff quarterfinals.

Mumm looks for the Prowlers to make a marked improvement on that finish in 1991. "There are some high expectations for this year," he said, "but we've not over the hump yet. We're at the point were we can beat the teams we're expected to beat, but we have to pick it up a notch and beat some of the section leaders."

The 1991 Prowlers won't be big, warned Mumm, but they will be fast. "Overall, our team speed is outstanding," he said. "My main concern, though, is our physical size. We're not real big, and our section has a history of big, strong teams pushing the smaller teams around."

Men's Softball

Pepsi emerged with the Class D title and Highlanding took the Class E crown Thursday as the Thief River Falls Men's Slow Pitch Softball League completed its post-season playoffs.

Double-elimination ploy started last week, and resumed with games Thursday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The playoff results determined seeding positions for Thief River Falls District 7 tournament participants this weekend – Class D at Bemidji and Class E at Clearbrook.

Pepsi will head a seven-team Thief River Falls delegation to Bemidji, followed by Pizza Hut, Rusty Nail, Stone's Mobile Radio, Carquest Auto Parts, Hoglo Trucking and Amoco 24.

Highlanding will lead a group of four Thief River entries at Clearbrook, followed by Northwest Medical Center, Lantern and Best Western Inn.

Earlier this month, American Legion represented the Thief River Falls Men's Slow Pitch Softball League at the Class B District 7 tournament in St. Cloud, while Busch and the St. Hilaire Bears competed in the Class C event at Crookston.

Volleyball starts Monday

High school volleyball practice starts statewide Monday, and in Thief River Falls, head coach Helen Anderson said that because of scheduling conflicts, the Prowlers will be working in two groups for the first week of drills.

Juniors and seniors will be on the Lincoln High School court from 8 to 10 a.m., followed by the freshmen and sophomores from 10 a.m. to 12-noon, pointed out Anderson.

First competition of the year will occur at the Thief River Falls Jamboree Wednesday, Aug. 28, when varsity and junior varsity teams from Detroit Lakes, Marshall County Central, Cass Lake, Argyle, Blackduck, Fisher and Fosston will join the host Prowlers.

Purple loosestrife programs started

Purple loosestrife – that square-stemmed, hardy, purple perennial that has taken hold in wetlands and roadsides all across Minnesota in recent years – is under attack by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Section of Ecological Services.

Earlier this month, four commercial crews and one DNR crew from the Lac Qui Parle Wildlife Management Area began statewide effort to eradicate purple loosestrife on at least 100 priority sites from a list of 232 separate loosestrife infestations identified in 42 counties. The crews are expected to reach close to 150 of those sites by early September.

In 1989 and 1990, the DNR purple loosestrife program treated 331 sites, totaling nearly 1,500 acres.

The crews spray individual plants at each site with Rodeo, a general-use glyphosate herbicide approved for most applications, including wetland areas. The crews are licensed by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture for herbicide application. All treated areas will be posted with dated purple loosestrife control area signs advising people to stay out of the treated area for one day. The herbicide itself breaks down quickly and is not harmful to individuals, pets or wildlife.

DNR crew and two commercial crews began working in northwest Minnesota August 5, treating purple loosestrife on seven separate sites in Leech Lake. From there, plans had the crew moving to Blackduck to spray a site on Coburn Creek.

Treatments will also be carried out this summer in several other northwest counties, including Becker, Beltrami, Cass, Douglas, Hubbard, Kittson, Marshall and Roseau.

Problem with purple loosestrife is its ability to spread out once it becomes established on the edge of a lake, stream or marsh. A single plant can produce as many as 120,000 seeds in a season. It also spreads through the root system, and even broken-off parts of a plant can sprout roots and create a new plant.

Loosestrife has little or no value as food or habitat for wildlife. Birds do not eat its small, hard seed and it grows too thick to be useable cover for nesting ducks and most other wildlife. Once established, it quickly spreads and replaces native wetland vegetation such as cattail and wild rice that is useful to wildlife.

Purple loosestrife was introduced into North America from Europe. For many years, varieties of the plant were sold by florists and nurseries as a hardy, colorful, decorative flower. It is now growing in the wild throughout most of northeastern United States. In Minnesota, purple loosestrife is virtually a statewide problem.

Suspected loosestrife locations should be reported to the DNR Purple Loosestrife Program, 500 Lafayette Road, Box 25, St. Paul, MN 55155-4B25; telephone 612-296-2835.

Tribal council to open temporary casino

Mahnomen — The Reservation tribal council at White Earth has plans to open a temporary casino in early September in the old S & T building. The casino would provide 100 to 150 slot machines, a snack bar and possibly some black-jack tables. Students compose their own opera

Bemidji — The creative minds and talents of 18 Bemidji students combined recently in writing, composing, building sets, designing costumes and making a lighting system to put together an original opera-musical presentation. The students, ages, 9 to 15, are participating in a two-week summer opera workshop, spending a fast-paced seven hours a day to produce the opera, titled "Acceptance." The group calls itself "The Northland Effect." The performance will be an hour long. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Gentilly Days set for this weekend

Marijuana plants found in Red Lake county

Red Lake County — Two young men playing basketball near the Chateau Bottleau motel in Red Lake Falls recently found a marajuana plant. The sheriff's office was contacted and the plant positively identified by Deputy Steve Seng. It is believed that the plant may have grown from a seed brought in by an animal from "wild" marijuana plants which had been used for making rope in the western part of the county in the past. (Gazette)

Ag scavenger hunt slated for children

Crookston — An Ag scavenger hunt, sponsored by the West Polk county farm bureau and other agricultural groups, will be held during Ox Cart Days, on August 23. The dedication of the Naytahwaush elementary school addition will also be held at this time. (Mahnomen Pioneer)

Mushroom plant may be open by Oct. 1

Grafton, ND — A lease agreement has been approved between the city of Park Rapids and Northern Mushroom Farms, Inc. to reopen the former Midwest Mushroom plant there. The business would open Oct. 1 with a 15-renewal option for owners Don Dusek and Ron Monson. The city hopes that this move will allow it to recover $60,000 in expenses it has incurred from the plant. (Grafton Record)

Gentilly neighbors hold threshing bee

Gentilly — A threshing bee was held recently at the farm of Barb Hoefer, widow of Gerald Hoefer, who died August 3 in Grand Forks. About a dozen people, all volunteers, brought in five combines and four trucks to harvest about 100 acres of wheat. The work was done in four hours. Lucian Boll was credited with organizing the activity. (Crookston Daily Times)

Hallock — Don Sells, formerly a middle school teacher in Park Rapids, is the new principal for School District 2359 in Kittson county. This will be his first year as a principal, after teaching in Minnesota and Wisconsin for about 22 years. He graduated from the University of St. Thomas administration program in May. His wife, Gail, has been hired as principal in Red Lake Falls. (Kittson County Enterprise)

While most of the things are pictures, he has included some newspaper articles, which he says he can't read yet, "but my mom and dad read it to me." Jeremy is the son of Bob and Debbie Brault of Crookston. (Crookston Daily Times)

Deer and elk farming meet set in St. Cloud

Farmers and landowners interested in raising deer or elk as a business enterprise are invited to attend an informational program Saturday, September 28, at the Americana inn conference center in St. Cloud.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. at the inn, located off highway 10 just south of the intersection with highway 23 in St. Cloud. The program starts at 10 a.m. with adjournment set for 4:15 p.m. Registration fee is $30 in advance; $40 at the door.

The symposium is sponsored by the University of Minnesota's extension service and college of veterinary medicine. Speakers will be R. M. Jordan, Raleigh Buckmaster, Jeffrey Fritz, Chris Anfang and Norb Berg.

Jordan is professor emeritus and extension animal scientist at the University of Minnesota and a nationally-recognized expert on deer and elk farming. He will provide an overview of the elk, red and fallow deer industries and cover basic nutrition and reproductive behavior.

In a second presentation, Jordan will discuss budgeting a deer or elk farm, looking at the required investment, income and expense projections and profit potential.

Buckmaster, a fallow deer farmer and veterinarian from Lansing, IA, is a consultant for the owner of a 300-doe herd and president of the North American Deer Farmers association. First of his two presentations will be on health management and regulations, the second on the specifics of raising fallow deer.

Fritz and his father formed Fritzfair Game Farm at Owen, WI, and started elk farming in 1986. They now have 64 Rocky Mountain elk and five Siberian white elk on 80 fenced acres and 11 reindeer in pens. Half of the elk are bulls used to produce antler velvet. Fritz will discuss the specifics of raising elk and the harvesting and marketing of antler velvet.

Anfang is manager of Boyer Creek Deer Ranch at Barronett, WI. He manages 400 red deer in a rotational pasture system in northwestern Wisconsin and will discuss the specifics of raising red deer.

Berg is owner of Boyer Creek Deer Ranch and retired as a senior executive at Control Data corporation. He converted a run-down dairy farm into the deer operation three years ago and will discuss developing a market for venison.

Following the final presentation there will be a question and answer session involving all of the speakers.

For additional information or to obtain a registration form, contact Jan Swanson, College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Minnesota, 1365 Gortner Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55108, phone 612-624-2268.

Coast Guard fees appply to boats on Lake of the Woods

the above criteria, yet benefit from considerable Coast Guard presence," including Lake of the Woods, MN; Lake Roosevelt, WA; Lake Tahoe, CA and NV; and the Colorado river between Parker Dam and Davis Dam including Lake Havasu, AZ and CA.

The fee schedule is based upon the length of boat—the longer the boat, the larger the fee. The "A" decals cost $25 and are for boats over 16 feet but less than 20 feet; "B" decals cost $35 and are for boats 20 feet and over but less than 27 feet; "C" decals cost $50 and are for boats 27 feet and over but less than 40 feet; and "D" decals cost $100 and are for boats 40 feet and longer.

Exemptions to the law are vessels 16 feet and under, public vessels, certain Coast Guard Auxiliary vessels, kayaks, rowing sculls, sailboards, lifeboats, yacht tenders, rowboats, canoes, unpowered houseboats, foreign vessels temporarily operating in the U.S., vessels owned by certain non-profit, charitable youth organizations and used for training purposes and vessels used for public safety purposes such as by fire departments.

Also not subject to the fee, according to a Coast Guard spokesman, are boats owned in the United States but operated only on Canadian waters of Lake of the Woods.

Congress has stated that the purpose of the fee is "to require recreational boaters in share in the cost of existing Coast Guard programs, including search and rescue, boating safety and aids to navigation." The annual fee is scheduled at this point to be in effect from 1991 through 1995.

To be in compliance, boats greater than 16 feet in length operating on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods must display a pair of RVF decals securely attached within six inches of the location of the vessel registration or identification numbers on the forward half of the vessel. The decals are square in shape with a large letter A, B, C or D printed in the center to designate the size classification of the boat. Color of the decal designates its calendar year validity. Decals for 1991 are green.

The owner or operator of each vessel subject to the RVF must annually purchase a pair of RVF decals good for one calendar year. The decals may be purchased by calling 1-800-848-2100, providing information and making payment with Visa or MasterCard, or they may be purchased by mail. Mail orders must be made on a decal request form, available on request by calling the same toll-free number, and enclosing check, money order or Visa or MasterCard number. Phone orders are processed in about a week; mail orders are mailed in three to four weeks.

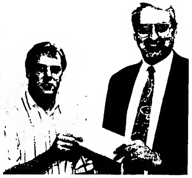
Anyone who is cited for not displaying the RVF decals may be assessed a civil penalty not to exceed $5,000.

Decals became available July 1, the Coast Guard said, and the rule became effective July 31. Until July 31 Coast Guard boarding officers were to provide recreational boaters with an RVF pamphlet and advise them of the new requirement, when the fee becomes effective and where in obtain the decals.

From July 31 through August 31 the Coast Guard will not issue citations. Coast Guardsmen will advise boaters that they are not in compliance with the law, provide an RVF pamphlet with a decal order form and tell boaters how to obtain the RVF decals.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1991, boaters will be cited for non-compliance. However, boaters cited before Oct. 1, 1991, will be able to avoid payment of civil penalties by showing evidence of fee payment to the district office within 30 days of the citation.

From Oct. 1, 1991 forward, normal enforcement procedures will apply.



Persons who intend to use boats subject in the Recreational Vessel Fee on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods for the remainder of 1991 are advised to call the Coast Guard at 1-800-848-2100 and order the decals by credit card or request the mail order form.

Those who will not be using their boats on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods for the remainder of 1991 but will need to be in compliance in 1992 may order 1992 decals after Nov. 1, 1991, using the same procedure outlined above.

The Recreational Vessel Fee is one of the provisions of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 adopted by the U.S. congress.

The Coast Guard, vested with the responsibility of implementing and enforcing this law, published a Notice of Rulemaking in the March 28 issue of the Federal Register that proposed which waters would be subject to the fee, which types of vessels might be exempted from paying the fee, and a method of collecting the fee. It also provided a 45-day period for interested persons or groups to comment on, and recommend changes to, the proposed rule.

By the time the comment period closed on May 13, the Coast Guard had received over 2,000 comments from boating enthusiasts, boating organizations and several members of Congress. After considering all the comments, the Coast Guard drafted a final rule and published it in the Federal Register on July 1, 1991, to become effective July 31.

Medical Careers students get experience at medical center

"I think the students have had a unique opportunity to view different aspects of the medical field in some depth through this program," Flesche said. "And I am sure it has helped to influence their career choices."

Jason Noel, who has been working in the central sterile supply area of the medical center, is the son of Tony and Barb Noel of Thief River Falls. He is considering a career field of either anesthesiology or physical therapy.

Billie Jo Hume, daughter of William and Kathy Hume of Thief River Falls, has been working in the radiology department admissions and office area. She has made application to attend the two-year radiology technician program at the East Grand Forks technical college in 1992.

Dawn DeCoteau, daughter of Kenneth and Patricia DeCoteau, has been spending her summer working in the medical records department at the center. She is planning a medical records career.

"Our regular staff members speak very highly of all three students and the contributions they have made to the medical center this summer," Parker added. "On the basis of this year's success, we will certainly be interested in continuing to participate in the program in the years to come."

Flesche said the program offers more than just training in the medical center setting. It involved making application for the positions (seven students from the medical careers program applied), taking part in an interview and learning the importance of job responsibility.

"Goal of the program is to create an interest among students in the medical care field with a view toward reducing shortages which exist in many areas of the field," Flesche added. "Students must be juniors who will be entering their senior year in the fall to participate in the program."

The students work up to 12 weeks on a 40 hours per week basis and are paid $5 per hour under the program.

Northwest Vocational Center offers two two-hour sections of the medical careers classes, one in the morning and one in the afternoon during the regular school year. The classes are open to students in 10th through 12th grade in the Thief River Falls, Plummer, Goodridge, Marshall County Central and Middle River public schools.

itself extremely short of qualified people to operate them.

"I heard about a year ago that retired merchant seamen were needed to operate ships in the war effort," Alvin said. "I went to school in Florida for seven weeks to get an update in training and take an exam to renew my license. The course included a week of fire-fighting school. I got my marine engineer's license back in April, issued by the Coast Guard. It is an unlimited license, meaning I am qualified for any horsepower ship on any waters."

Alvin's first job was on the U.S.N.S. Regulus, one of eight similar 950-foot cargo ships and operated by Bay Tanker, Inc. The ship is a RO-RO (roll on-roll off) model where equipment and vehicles can be driven directly on to the ship and taken by elevator for storage on various levels.

It is also one of the fastest cargo ships operating, its 60,000-horsepower steam engines driving twin screws that give the ship a top speed of 38 knots—well over 40 miles per hour. Its normal cruising speed is at 22 knots.

On that first job Alvin worked while the ship made a seven-week run to Saudi Arabia and returned to Beaumont, TX, with military equipment. A trip on the Regulus from the U.S. to Saudi Arabia involves about seven days on the Atlantic Ocean, three days in the Mediterranean Sea, a day in the Suez Canal, two days in the Red Sea, three days in the Arabian Sea, travel through the Straits of Hormuz and two days in the Persian Gulf to reach a Saudi port.

On his present assignment Alvin will serve as engineer on the SS Cape Farewell, a 930-foot ammunition ship with a single screw powered by a 32,000 horsepower engine and operated by International Marine Carrier, a management company operating under the Military Sea Command.

"Food and living conditions on ship are good," Alvin said. "We have a total crew of 32 to 36 people. You have to remember that for 24-hour operation you need three people for each job. I have my own room, private bath and shower, use of the officer's recreation room and all meals provided. There is even someone to make up the bed and do the laundry—all at no cost to me."

Alvin works the "eight to twelve watch," meaning he goes on the job at 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. and works until 12 noon and 12 midnight. Crew members normally work two four-hour "watches" a day on a regular basis. On the Regulus the engine room crew was short and Alvin worked six-hour shifts. All three of the other engineers were older than he was and two were over 70.

The Cape Farewell burns oil which is just a step away from raw crude oil in refining. It will use about 2,000 gallons of oil per hour—equivalent to one over-the-road tanker truck in a four-hour shift. The ship can carry 54,000 barrels of fuel. At 42 gallons per barrel, that computes to 2,268,000 gallons of fuel—about a month's supply. The boat will travel at 19 knots, taking it about three weeks to reach Saudi Arabia.

The ship draws 28 1/2 feet of water and the engine room is three stories below the waterline. Living quarters, however, are several stories above the main deck.

Base pay itself is quite good, Alvin said, but it is the "extras" that make the job attractive. Alvin has a full medical insurance policy provided for himself and his family. He also receives "imminent danger pay," a 10 per cent increase in base pay when the ship is loaded with over 50 tons or more of ammunition.

Bonuses on the base pay are also paid for watches served on Saturday and Sunday, holidays, extra shift hours, etc.

"The pay is good," Alvin said, "but it has to be good to interest people in being away from their homes and families in uncertain circumstances. Mail catches up to the ship only when it stops in port or is piloted through locks and canals. These stops will frequently be weeks apart."

Although Alvin had been away from the sea for 37 years, his service from 1945 to 1953 qualified him for a Coast Guard honorable discharge granted in 1988 to make merchant seamen eligible for military veteran status. In his present service the Veterans Administration considers him to be on active military duty.

And that's fine with Alvin who plans to sail quite extensively for the next year and gain the benefit of additional salary on his Social Security work records.

"Right now I'm feeling pretty good and think my legs are in pretty fair shape," he said. "We'll see later how I hold up....and how much demand there is for us older guys in the future."

Volume 1, Number 14 324 Main Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 Friday, August 23, 1991

Working near the highway 59 crossing about three miles south of Newfolden Thursday, the construction crew for the Great Lakes Gas Transmission company pipeline looping project was involved with a number of work operations. This ditch machine was cutting a 53-inch trench about six feet deep for laying of the second loop line on the pipeline right-of-way. One loop line has already been placed in the current construction project. This ditch machine is self-propelled and the digging wheel is powered from large roller chains on both sides of the unit. Earth cut and lifted by the wheel is deposited on a conveyor which carries it to the side of the trench. Topsoil has first been removed and piled separately and will be replaced on the right-of-way after the lines have been laid and other back-filling completed. The rock in the foreground at right was excavated by this machine. With good going the unit can trench about a mile a day.

Council approves intent to extend water to airport

Monday, Thief River Falls city council approved a resolution of intent to extend city water to the airport within 18 months after completion of the aviation hangar.

City Clerk Jerry Wigness, said the city's intent to extend city water to the airport after completion of the hangar depends on a number of factors. In his letter in the Minnesota Building Code and Standards Division, Wigness states, "The action is contingent upon arrangement of suitable financing, a favorable final feasibility report and cost studies, and mutually acceptable cost sharing between the city and Technical College.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the Technical College, met with the council to discuss the reasons for the request to extend water to the airport. As reported in a recent edition of The Times, the proposed hangar project was delayed because bids came in much higher than anticipated. In addition, building code restrictions added some addition requirements that would have further limited the size of the hangar because of the increased cost added by the additions. One of the additions called for extra equipment to support a sprinkler system. The cost savings to the college if that were removed from the requirements by providing city water in the airport would allow the airport hangar for the college to be constructed to a larger size.

Gunderson also explained there were some additional benefits. Provision of city water to the airport, he said, will make it possible for us to build the size of hangar that the college needs and also enable the college to start construction on the hangar this fall. It also will provide the services the college needs for the second hangar and the jet engine test cell that are contained on the long-range plan layout for the airport.

Gunderson pointed out that city water to the airport will also have a positive impact on industrial development and housing and commercial development. It could, he said, impact on future businesses that consider the airport for the creation and development of new aviation related businesses. City water will also be conducive to the needs of the fixed base operator and the terminal itself, he said. City water along the highway to the airport also would have a positive impact on a possible residential and commercial development, he suggested.

But Gunderson is not relying solely on the resolution of intent. Gunderson said he talked with Senator Stumpf about the problem and Stumpf indicated that if the city water plan becomes unfeasible, he would do all he could to help with the alternative. Gunderson said he also talked to Bob Madson from the State Board of Technical Colleges about the possibility of having him assist the college in acquiring addi-

Reservior study reveals solutions to river problem

Thief River Falls city council, Pennington County Commissioners and the Red Lake Watershed district board met Thursday to discuss a study of the Thief River Falls reservoir.

Kevin Adolfs, engineer for the Red Lake Watershed District board, presented the study at the request of the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington county board of commissioners. The study includes detailed information about the river, including cross sections. But most interestingly, presents 10 different options on how to handle the problem.

Problems identified by the report in the Thief River Falls Reservoir are tied to two phenomenon. These are dense weed growth and sediment deposition. According to the report, sediment deposition has reduced the storage volume of the reservoir by approximately 20 per cent. In addition, the growth of weeds and algae, in combination with sediment deposits, is restricting many of the recreational uses of the reservoir.

General characteristics pointed out in the report outline the problem. The reservoir volume was estimated at 1,133 acre feet. Current sediment was estimated at 332,000 cubic yards. The volume of the reservoir depleted by sediment was estimated at 18.2 per cent. Of the 135.2 acres of reservoir surface area, about 40.3 per cent is occupied by plants.

Adolfs said surprisingly, the rate at which the sediment deposit is occurring is lower than normal. The report estimates the annual reservoir depletion rate at about .54 per cent.

The report indicates that there are a number of possible solutions to the reservoir problems. In essence, he said, all of these solutions are temporary because none of the problems will be permanently solved. Erosion, sedimentation, and the growth of aquatic plants will continue.

Solutions offered in the report include weed harvesting, herbicides, rototilling, shading, sediment covers, drawdown to consolidate sediments, a drawdown over winter to control plants, a drawdown along with conventional tillage, a drawdown for conventional excavation, and hydraulic dredging. The report looks at each solution weighing the pros and cons and offering general cost estimates. The report makes the following estimates: that weed harvesting at a cost of $49,050 would last .66 years; that herbicides, which would restrict use of the reservoir for 0.5 months, would cost $15,200 and last about 0.66 years; that rototilling would cost about $22,072 and last about three years; shading would take about one year to complete, last one year and cost about $4,000; that sediment covers would last about four years and cost about $8,000.

Adolfs suggested that the next step should be for the city, county and Red Lake Watershed district to create a small committee. It would be the function of the small committee to gather input from the public and permitting agencies.

The following is a description of the solutions offered by Adolfs in the reservoir report:

Weed Harvesting or the mechanical removal of weeds would provide a generally acceptable short term effective control of plants that could be observed immediately. But, it would require annual or semi-annual use, would

Chippewa band looks at TRF for casino

When news hit the streets about a casino being located in Thief River Falls, tribal council members for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians decided to hold a press conference.

One of the first questions asked during a news conference held Thursday in Thief River Falls was whether the Band would be paying taxes.

Tribal Chairman "Butch" Brun said once the band purchases the land it becomes trust land and cannot be taxed. However — and that's a big however — Brun said the tribal council will sign an agreement to pay an equal amount to the city in lieu of taxes. The payment would be for utilities, fire, law enforcement and the infrastructure.

Brun said the formal offer on the former Red Owl building located on Highway 59 south near Kmart has not been accepted yet. The owners are an investment group from Minneapolis. Brun said before the offer is accepted the tribal council needs a resolution of support from the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington County board of commissioners. Brun said if they get a lot of negative comments about the proposal they'll just pull out. But the resolution of support is needed for a compact with the Governor of Minnesota for an expedited review and approval. Although the land is considered Trust land, state and federal agencies still regulate gambling.

> "I have never seen the businessmen in Thief River Falls so excited."— Don Stewart, community development director.

"We see this as a win-win situation for both parties," said Bill Hallett, economic developer for the Red Lake Band and former Commissioner of Indian Affairs (BIA). (He was the 42nd and last Commissioner of Indian Affairs.)

Thief River Falls Community Development Director Don Stewart, who met with members of the band and representatives from both the city council and county commissioners, said there are all kinds of spin-off business opportunities.

Stewart said he has known about the proposal for about two weeks. During that time he has talked with merchants and councilmen. He said he has never seen the businessmen in Thief River Falls so excited. He said he talked with all of the members of the city council and it seems that if they are assured that the facility would be one they could be proud of they would probably be in favor of it. The building itself has been vacant since 1988. He said he has had other people look at the building but no offers have ever been made on the building.

The Red Lake Band of Chippewa opened a casino in Warroad last week. The casino is located in the old Morey's Fishery and is open seven days a week year-round from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. It employs about 50 people — 39 full-time and 11 part-time. They provide their own security guard, of which there are 18. And, they offer only concession-type foods.

Brun said the 15,000 square foot facility in Thief River Falls would be substantially larger and could hire as many as 400 people — 200 of whom will probably be local people. He said they have talked about a small lunch counter, but it won't compete with other restaurants. It might serve alcohol, he said. It depends on the feelings of the tribal council, but he would like to see a split building — half serving alcohol and half not serving alcohol. (A liquor license from the city is not required because the city has no jurisdiction over Indian-owned property.)

Stewart said he spent the weeks before the news conference visiting with officials and looking into other similar operations. From what he could gather, he said, the clientele would be comprised mostly of retired individuals, "which isn't an unwelcome clientele." Hotels, restaurants and all kinds of businesses are likely to benefit, he said.

Hallett and Brun assured Stewart and the various representatives that they would finance the casino through bingo funds and a straight loan. Brun said they "won't deal with any shady characters". Hallett emphasized the fact that it will be totally owned and operated by the band.

Brun estimated start up costs to be about $2 million. That figure includes the purchase price, renovation, and machines. He said they will probably have a variety of machines. When asked how many, he said around 300 to 400 machines. He noted that each machine costs about $5,000. Black Jack tables would also be available.

Once the building and property are purchased by the band, it becomes reservation property. Because it is also located on what was once the reservation, the BIA would recognize it as the restored ceded area of the old 1904 Treaty, the boundary of which runs just about along Highway 59 south.

If all goes as planned the casino could be up and running in six months to a year. Stewart said the next step is getting a resolution of support from the city

the above criteria, yet benefit from considerable Coast Guard presence," including Lake of the Woods, MN; Lake Roosevelt, WA; Lake Tahoe, CA and NV; and the Colorado river between Parker Dam and Davis Dam including Lake Havasu, AZ and CA.

The fee schedule is based upon the length of boat—the longer the boat, the larger the fee. The "A" decals cost $25 and are for boats over 16 feet but less than 20 feet; "B" decals cost $35 and are for boats 20 feet and over but less than 27 feet; "C" decals cost $50 and are for boats 27 feet and over but less than 40 feet; and "O" decals cost $100 and are for boats 40 feet and longer.

Exemptions to the law are vessels 16 feet and under, public vessels, certain Coast Guard Auxiliary vessels, kayaks, rowing sculls, sailboards, lifeboats, yacht tenders, rowboats, canoes, unpowered houseboats, foreign vessels temporarily operating in the U.S., vessels owned by certain non-profit, charitable youth organizations and used for training purposes and vessels used for public safety purposes such as by fire departments.

Also not subject to the fee, according to a Coast Guard spokesman, are boats owned in the United States but operated only on Canadian waters of Lake of the Woods.

Congress has stated that the purpose of the fee is "to require recreational boaters to share in the cost of existing Coast Guard programs, including search and rescue, boating safety and aids to navigation." The annual fee is scheduled at this point to be in effect from 1991 through 1995.

To be in compliance, boats greater than 16 feet in length operating on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods must display a pair of RVF decals securely attached within six inches of the location of the vessel registration or identification numbers on the forward half of the vessel. The decals are square in shape with a large letter A, B, C or D printed in the center to designate the size classification of the boat. Color of the decal designates its calendar year validity. Decals for 1991 are green.

The owner or operator of each vessel subject to the RVF must annually purchase a pair of RVF decals good for one calendar year. The decals may be purchased by calling 1-800-848-2100, providing information and making payment with Visa or MasterCard, or they may be purchased by mail. Mail orders must be made on a decal request form, available on request by calling the same toll-free number, and enclosing check, money order or Visa or MasterCard number. Phone orders are processed in about a week; mail orders are mailed in three to four weeks.

Anyone who is cited for not displaying the RVF decals may be assessed a civil penalty not to exceed $5,000.

Decals became available July 1, the Coast Guard said, and the rule became effective July 31. Until July 31 Coast Guard boarding officers were to provide recreational boaters with an RVF pamphlet and advise them of the new requirement, when the fee becomes effective and where to obtain the decals.

From July 31 through August 31 the Coast Guard will not issue citations. Coast Guardsmen will advise boaters that they are not in compliance with the law, provide an RVF pamphlet with a decal order form and tell boaters how to obtain the RVF decals.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1991, boaters will be cited for non-compliance. However, boaters cited before Oct. 1, 1991, will be able to avoid payment of civil penalties by showing evidence of fee payment to the district office within 30 days of the citation.

From Oct. 1, 1991 forward, normal enforcement procedures will apply.

Persons who intend to use boats subject to the Recreational Vessel Fee on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods for the remainder of 1991 are advised to call the Coast Guard at 1-800-848-2100 and order the decals by credit card or request the mail order form.

Those who will not be using their boats on Minnesota waters of Lake of the Woods for the remainder of 1991 but will need to be in compliance in 1992 may order 1992 decals after Nov. 1, 1991, using the same procedure outlined above.

The Recreational Vessel Fee is one of the provisions of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 adopted by the U.S. congress.

The Coast Guard, vested with the responsibility of implementing and enforcing this law, published a Notice of Rulemaking in the March 28 issue of the Federal Register that proposed which waters would be subject to the fee, which types of vessels might be exempted from paying the fee, and a method of collecting the fee. It also provided a 45-day period for interested persons or groups to comment on, and recommend changes to, the proposed rule.

By the time the comment period closed on May 13, the Coast Guard had received over 2,000 comments from boating enthusiasts, boating organizations and several members of Congress. After considering all the comments, the Coast Guard drafted a final rule and published it in the Federal Register on July 1, 1991, to become effective July 31.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls recently received a check for $3,000 from Aid Association for Lutherans, a fraternal benefit society. The money is to be used to help pay the continuing education expenses of three teachers and provide tuition assistance for five students. Rev. James Molstre of Our Saviour's Lutheran church accepts the contribution from AAL representative Dave Hanson.

"I think the students have had a unique opportunity to view different aspects of the medical field in some depth through this program," Flesche said. "And I am sure it has helped to influence their career choices."

Jason Noel, who has been working in the central sterile supply area of the medical center, is the son of Tony and Barb Noel of Thief River Falls. He is considering a career field of either anesthesiology or physical therapy.

Billie Jo Hume, daughter of William and Kathy Hume of Thief River Falls, has been working in the radiology department admissions and office area. She has made application to attend the two-year radiology technician program at the East Grand Forks technical college in 1992.

Dawn DeCoteau, daughter of Kenneth and Patricia DeCoteau, has been spending her summer working in the medical records department at the center. She is planning a medical records career.

"Our regular staff members speak very highly of all three students and the contributions they have made to the medical center this summer," Parker added. "On the basis of this year's success, we will certainly be interested in continuing to participate in the program in the years to come."

Flesche said the program offers more than just training in the medical center setting. It involved making application for the positions (seven students from the medical careers program applied), taking part in an interview and learning the importance of job responsibility.

"Goal of the program is to create an interest among students in the medical care field with a view toward reducing shortages which exist in many areas of the field," Flesche added. "Students must be juniors who will be entering their senior year in the fall to participate in the program."

The students work up to 12 weeks on a 40 hours per week basis and are paid $5 per hour under the program.

Northwest Vocational Center offers two two-hour sections of the medical careers classes, one in the morning and one in the afternoon during the regular school year. The classes are open to students in 10th through 12th grade in the Thief River Falls, Plummer, Goodridge, Marshall County Central and Middle River public schools.

itself extremely short of qualified people to operate them.

"I heard about a year ago that retired merchant seamen were needed to operate ships in the war effort," Alvin said. "I went to school in Florida for seven weeks to get an update in training and take an exam to renew my license. The course included a week of fire-fighting school. I got my marine engineer's license back in April, issued by the Coast Guard. It is an unlimited license, meaning I am qualified for any horsepower ship on any waters."

Alvin's first job was on the U.S.N.S. Regulus, one of eight similar 950-foot cargo ships and operated by Bay Tanker, Inc. The ship is a RO-RO (roll on-roll off) model where equipment and vehicles can be driven directly on to the ship and taken by elevator for storage on various levels.

It is also one of the fastest cargo ships operating, its 60,000-horsepower steam engines driving twin screws that give the ship a top speed of 38 knots—well over 40 miles per hour. Its normal cruising speed is at 22 knots.

On that first job Alvin worked while the ship made a seven-week run to Saudi Arabia and returned to Beaumont, TX, with military equipment. A trip on the Regulus from the U.S. to Saudi Arabia involves about seven days on the Atlantic Ocean, three days in the Mediterranean Sea, a day in the Suez Canal, two days in the Red Sea, three days in the Arabian Sea, travel through the Straits of Hormuz and two days in the Persian Gulf to reach a Saudi port.

On his present assignment Alvin will serve as engineer on the SS Cape Farewell, a 930-foot ammunition ship with a single screw powered by a 32,000 horsepower engine and operated by International Marine Carrier, a management company operating under the Military Sea Command.

"Food and living conditions on ship are good," Alvin said. "We have a total crew of 32 to 36 people. You have to remember that for 24-hour operation you need three people for each job. I have my own room, private bath and shower, use of the officer's recreation room and all meals provided. There is even someone to make up the bed and do the laundry—all at no cost to me."

Alvin works the "eight to twelve watch," meaning he goes on the job at 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. and works until 12 noon and 12 midnight. Crew members normally work two four-hour "watches" a day on a regular basis. On the Regulus the engine room crew was short and Alvin worked six-hour thifts. All three of the other engineers were older than he was and two were over 70.

The Cape Farewell burns oil which is just a step away from raw crude oil in refining. It will use about 2,000 gallons of oil per hour —equivalent to one over-the-road tanker truck in a four-hour shift. The ship can carry 54,000 barrels of fuel. At 42 gallons per barrel, that computes to 2,268,000 gallons of fuel—about a month's supply. The boat will travel at 19 knots, taking it about three weeks to reach Saudi Arabia.

The ship draws 28 1/2 feet of water and the engine room is three stories below the waterline. Living quarters, however, are several stories above the main deck.

Base pay itself is quite good, Alvin said, but it is the "extras" that make the job attractive. Alvin has a full medical insurance policy provided for himself and his family. He also receives "imminent danger pay," a 10 per cent increase in base pay when the ship is loaded with over 50 tons or more of ammunition.

Bonuses on the base pay are also paid for watches served on Saturday and Sunday, holidays, extra shift hours, etc.

"The pay is good," Alvin said, "but it has to be good to interest people in being away from their homes and families in uncertain circumstances. Mail catches up to the ship only when it stops in port or is piloted through locks and canals. These stops will frequently be weeks apart."

Although Alvin had been away from the sea for 37 years, his service from 1945 to 1953 qualified him for a Coast Guard honorable discharge granted in 1988 to make merchant seamen eligible for military veteran status. In his present service the Veterans Administration considers him to be on active military duty.

And that's fine with Alvin who plans to sail quite extensively for the next year and gain the benefit of additional salary on his Social Security work records.

"Right now I'm feeling pretty good and think my legs are in pretty fair shape," he said. "We'll see later how I hold up....and how much demand there is for us older guys in the future."

Carrier Rte. Presort BULK RATE U S POSTAGE PAID PERMIT NO. 4 Thief River Falls, MN 56701

Volume 1, Number 14 | 324 Main Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 | Friday, August 23, 1991

Working near the highway 59 crossing about three miles south of Newfolden Thursday, the construction crew for the Great Lakes Gas Transmission company pipeline looping project was involved with a number of work operations. This ditch machine was cutting a 53-inch trench about six feet deep for laying of the second loop line on the pipeline right-of-way. One loop line has already been placed in the current construction project. This ditch machine is self-propelled and the digging wheel is powered from large roller chains on both sides of the unit. Earth cut and lifted by the wheel is deposited on a conveyor which carries it to the side of the trench. Topsoil has first been removed and piled separately and will be replaced on the right-of-way after the lines have been laid and other back-filling completed. The rock in the foreground at right was excavated by this machine. With good going the unit can trench about a mile a day.

Council approves intent to extend water to airport

Monday, Thief River Falls city council approved a resolution of intent to extend city water to the airport within 18 months after completion of the aviation hangar.

City Clerk Jerry Wigness, said the city's intent to extend city water to the airport after completion of the hangar depends on a number of factors. In his letter to the Minnesota Building Code and Standards Division, Wigness states, "The action is contingent upon arrangement of suitable financing, a favorable final feasibility report and cost studies, and mutually acceptable cost sharing between the city and Technical College.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the Technical College, met with the council to discuss the reasons for the request to extend water to the airport. As reported in a recent edition of The Times, the proposed hangar project was delayed because bids came in much higher than anticipated. In addition, building code restrictions added some addition requirements that would have further limited the size of the hangar because of the increased cost added by the additions. One of the additions called for extra equipment to support a sprinkler system. The cost savings to the college if that were removed from the requirements by providing city water to the airport would allow the airport hangar for the college to be constructed to a larger size.

Gunderson also explained there were some additional benefits. Provision of city water to the airport, he said, will make it possible for us to build the size of hangar that the college needs and also enable the college to start construction on the hangar this fall. It also will provide the services the college needs for the second hangar and the jet engine test cell that are contained on the long-range plan layout for the airport.

Gunderson pointed out that city water to the airport will also have a positive impact on industrial development and housing and commercial development. It could, he said, impact on future businesses that consider the airport for the creation and development of new aviation related businesses. City water will also be conducive to the needs of the fixed base operator and the terminal itself, he said. City water along the highway to the airport also would have a positive impact on a possible residential and commercial development, he suggested.

But Gunderson is not relying solely on the resolution of intent. Gunderson said he talked with Senator Stumpf about the problem and Stumpf indicated that if the city water plan becomes unfeasible, he would do all he could to help with the alternative. Gunderson said he also talked to Bob Madson from the State Board of Technical Colleges about the possibility of having him assist the college in acquiring addi-

Reservior study reveals solutions to river problem

Thief River Falls city council, Pennington County Commissioners and the Red Lake Watershed district board met Thursday to discuss a study of the Thief River Falls reservoir.

Kevin Adolfs, engineer for the Red Lake Watershed District board, presented the study at the request of the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington county board of commissioners. The study includes detailed information about the river, including cross sections. But most interestingly, presents 10 different options on how to handle the problem.

Problems identified by the report in the Thief River Falls Reservoir are tied to two phenomenon. These are dense weed growth and sediment deposition. According to the report, sediment deposition has reduced the storage volume of the reservoir by approximately 20 per cent. In addition, the growth of weeds and algae, in combination with sediment deposits, is restricting many of the recreational uses of the reservoir.

General characteristics pointed out in the report outline the problem. The reservoir volume was estimated at 1,133 acre feet. Current sediment was estimated at 332,000 cubic yards. The volume of the reservoir depleted by sediment was estimated at 18.2 per cent. Of the 135.2 acres of reservoir surface area, about 40.3 per cent is occupied by plants.

Adolfs said surprisingly, the rate at which the sediment deposit is occurring is lower than normal. The report estimates the annual reservoir depletion rate at about .54 per cent.

The report indicates that there are a number of possible solutions to the reservoir problems. In essence, he said, all of these solutions are temporary because none of the problems will be permanently solved. Erosion, sedimentation, and the growth of aquatic plants will continue.

Solutions offered in the report include weed harvesting, herbicides, rototilling, shading, sediment covers, drawdown to consolidate sediments, a drawdown over winter to control plants, a drawdown along with conventional tillage, a drawdown for conventional excavation, and hydraulic dredging. The report looks at each solution weighing the pros and cons and offering general cost estimates. The report makes the following estimates: that weed harvesting at a cost of $49,050 would last .66 years; that herbicides, which would restrict use of the reservoir for 0.5 months, would cost $15,200 and last about 0.66 years; that rototilling would cost about $22,072 and last about three years; shading would take about one year to complete, last one year and cost about $4,000; that sediment covers would last about four years and cost about $8,000.

Adolfs suggested that the next step should be for the city, county and Red Lake Watershed district to create a small committee. It would be the function of the small committee to gather input from the public and permitting agencies.

The following is a description of the solutions offered by Adolfs in the reservoir report:

Weed Harvesting or the mechanical removal of weeds would provide a generally acceptable short term effective control of plants that could be observed immediately. But, it would require annual or semi-annual use, would

Chippewa band looks at TRF for casino

When news hit the streets about a casino being located in Thief River Falls, tribal council members for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians decided to hold a press conference.

One of the first questions asked during a news conference held Thursday in Thief River Falls was whether the Band would be paying taxes.

Tribal Chairman "Butch" Brun said once the band purchases the land it becomes trust land and cannot be taxed. However — and that's a big however — Brun said the tribal council will sign an agreement to pay an equal amount to the city in lieu of taxes. The payment would be for utilities, fire, law enforcement and the infrastructure.

Brun said the formal offer on the former Red Owl building located on Highway 59 south near Kmart has not been accepted yet. The owners are an investment group from Minneapolis. Brun said before the offer is accepted the tribal council needs a resolution of support from the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington County board of commissioners. Brun said if they get a lot of negative comments about the proposal they'll just pull out. But the resolution of support is needed for a compact with the Governor of Minnesota for an expedited review and approval. Although the land is considered Trust land, state and federal agencies still regulate gambling.

> "I have never seen the businessmen in Thief River Falls so excited."— Don Stewart, community development director.

"We see this as a win-win situation for both parties," said Bill Hallett, economic developer for the Red Lake Band and former Commissioner of Indian Affairs (BIA). (He was the 42nd and last Commissioner of Indian Affairs.)

Thief River Falls Community Development Director Don Stewart, who met with members of the band and representatives from both the city council and county commissioners, said there are all kinds of spin-off business opportunities.

Stewart said he has known about the proposal for about two weeks. During that time he has talked with merchants and councilmen. He said he has never seen the businessmen in Thief River Falls so excited. He said he talked with all of the members of the city council and it seems that if they are assured that the facility would be one they could be proud of they would probably be in favor of it. The building itself has been vacant since 1988. He said he has had other people look at the building but no offers have ever been made on the building.

The Red Lake Band of Chippewa opened a casino in Warroad last week. The casino is located in the old Morey's Fishery and is open seven days a week year-round from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. It employs about 50 people — 39 full-time and 11 part-time. ACTIVITIES

Garden Food

Do you have problems getting children to eat vegetables? One fairly good method you can use in the summer is to have the child help harvest and prepare garden vegetables. As they become involved in the process, when eating time comes, they are frequently more eager and willing.

The activities that work well with young children are picking and snapping green beans, picking and husking corn, picking tomatoes, pulling carrots, etc.

As you involve the children we must be careful that we keep it interesting and fun. They should not be required to pick or prepare many containers of the produce. This becomes too long and to eat the produce may turn into a case of rebellion.

If you do not have access to a garden, this same concept can be used with fresh grocery produce also.

PARENTING TIPS

Foods

This is the time of year when we have many fresh fruits and vegetables available to use. Unfortunately this season passes all too quickly in northern Minnesota. Not only are these fruits and vegetables good to eat and good for us physically, but this is also a perfect opportunity for learning, too.

The young child is naturally curious. He wants to learn first hand, by that we mean he wants to touch, taste, smell, look and listen. Whenever possible give your child the opportunity to examine foods before and after you cut them up and cook them. Let the child be involved, within reason, in the whole process.

Your child can learn many science, math and language skills through food. Here are some possibilities:

Science
- Observation.
- At each step check color, feel, taste, smell.
- Note changes, similarities and differences.

Math
- More or less.
- Bigger or smaller.
- Counting.

Language
- Encourage the child's comments.
- Let them describe what they see, taste, etc.
- Help them develop language to describe.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Name the different foods: zucchini squash, nectarine, cucumber, plum, etc. Talk about their colors, shapes and sizes.

Gagner promoted to Sergeant Major in National Guard

Sgt. Clarence Gagner

Clarence Gagner of Brooks, a member of the Minnesota Army National Guard for 27 years, has been promoted to Command Sergeant Major for the Second Battalion of the 136th Mechanized Infantry, headquartered at Moorhead.

As senior enlisted soldier of the battalion, his responsibility extends to units located at Thief River Falls, Crookston, Bemidji, Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes, Wadena, Fergus Falls and Moorhead.

"A total of over 900 soldiers is authorized for the Second Battalion of the 136th, which at present is near 100 per cent in unit assigned strength," Gagner said.

Known as the "Bearcats," 2/136 has recently converted its systems to the tracked Bradley Fighting vehicle.

Having just returned from a 22-day annual training exercise where the emphasis was on gunnery, Gagner said, "Our mission was clear, our tasks were challenging, dedication of the soldiers was superb and our goals were met with superior accomplishment, summing up a tremendous training year."

Gagner enlisted into Company B in December of 1963. His promotion through the ranks allowed him to serve as the unit's First Sergeant from 1977 through 1986 when he became the battalion operations and training sergeant. He held that position until his recent promotion.

Clarence is married to the former Dionne Gunderson of Oklee and they have three children. Tim (an officer with the Fergus Falls National Guard unit), lives with his family in Fergus Falls. Steph lives at Elk river and Donny at home. Clarence has been postmaster in Red Lake Falls since December of 1986.

Home Reference Books Can Help Improve Student Literacy

Only a few years ago pit hulls, Lyme disease and compnet discs were unfamiliar to many people—and still aren't jotally familiar to everyone. To find out more about these topies, it is necessary to consult a reference book that is up to date and written to the reading level of those who would be expected lo use it.

As children are heading back to school for another year, parents are becoming more mindful of materials to have in the home to assist with their family's learning.

"A chiid who has on encyclopedia, a dictionary and plenty of reading materials around the home seems to do better in school than one who doesn't have these resources," says Dr. Alvin Granowski, an author and consultant who is considered a nationally-known reading expert.

"Reading only in school and not being able to look up interesting facts about what you've read is like studying music in school but never practicing at home in the evening; you don't learn."

Dr. Granowski doesn't cite any studies to support his contention, but it mokes sense. Students who have reference materials and other reading materials in the home not only have access to them but associate and identify with other family members who likely feel the materials are important, use them and encourage use by all family members. Children can learn by example perhaps better than in any other woy.

When considering acquiring home reference materials, it is usually true that you get about what you pay for. There are few great bargains to be had; cheop prices generally mean inferior materiols. It costs money to pmvide a quality product. For those thinking about buying a set of encyclopedias, here are some suggestions to keep in mind before making a decision. They have been compiled by one of the world's leading publishers of educational reference materials.

• Determine what the family's needs are.

Do you hove ebildren who need help with homework and preparing reports or do you and your family just want to satisfy your curiosity on diverse subjects—or both? Your encyclopedia should satisfy the needs of every family member and spark his or her interest to learn more.

• Determine if the encyclopedia is appropriate to the ages of the users.

Is the encyclopedia written on o level that the user will understand now and still be useful in five to 10 years? If not, chances are children won't use the books now and the family will outgrow them.

Consider a school-readiness pmgram for young children; a children's resource library as youngsters approach and enter school; and a comprehensive, easy-to-use encyclopedia that will help parents answer children's many questions.

• Is the encyclopedia easy to read?

If the potential user can't understand the materiol, the books will quickly gather dust. Research shows that younger students are more likely to look up "dog" while older users are more likely to look up "compact disc." The articles should be in clear, conciso language that recognizes the users' different reading levels.

The best encyclopedias also feature colorful photographs, mops, charts, diagrams and illustrations that pmvide additional information and reinforce key points.

• Is it accurate and up-to-date ?

A first rate encyclopedia keeps pace with the emerging world, both by continuously updating the information and by publishing yearbooks that chmnicle the year's significant developments and events.

• Is the encyclopedia easy to use?

An ideal encyclopedia should feature extensive cross-references at the end of articles to direct the user to related articles. The index should be clear and comprehensive and the best sets offer study questions and subject outlines to help students learn the most from each article.

• Is the encyclopedia comprehensive and authoritative?

Check the authorship of major articles. The best encyclopedias hire thousands of recognized experts to research and write entries. Top encyclopedias also check typical school courses of study to be sure the subjects students are learning are covered.

• Browse and compare.

Never buy an encyclopedia you haven't seen yourself. Visit your local library or school and bmwse through major articles in different sets. Check content, graphics and ease of use. Take your child along and see which set he or she finds easiest to use and likes the most.

And like in most other cases, buy the best you can possibly afford. In our opinion, you are better to spend the money and time taking a child to the public library to use good materials than buying poor materials for use in the home.

Plummer school to open September 3

Supt. Richard Lorenson said he is anticipating a "great school year" as the Plummer schools are preparing for opening Tuesday morning, September 3, for grades 1-12. Kindergarten classes will meet for the first time Wednesday, September 4.

Lorenson cited three reasons for his optimism in looking forward to the 1991-92 school year.

"First, our enrollment has held up very well," he said, "and we are expecting the same number of students to be enrolled this year as we had a year ago.

"Second, we have a veteran teaching staff returning and will be picking up some extra help in special education which will fill a very real need.

"And third," he said, "the district is moving ahead with interactive television which is expected to be ready by mid-year. The district has received a grant from the Garden Valley Education foundation which will be used to furnish an interactive television (ITV) room.

"The ITV system will enable us to provide the students, staff and community with educational programming. The system has the capability of providing a number of elective classes that otherwise would be impossible for our own district to provide.

"Linkage to colleges nearby is very probable and it will be only a matter of time before students have the opportunity to take college classes right in Plummer. We are very excited about the potential of ITV for the entire community."

Supt. Lorenson reminded parents to review materials sent to the homes in the district and to provide the required forms or inform the school office regarding free and reduced price lunches, views on a district-funded late bus and current immunization records of students.

"If you qualify or think you may qualify for the free or reduced price lunches, fill out the application carefully and return it as soon as possible," Supt. Lorenson said. "It is a good program and everyone who qualifies for it should take advantage of it."

He also noted that the State of Minnesota has cut off reimbursement for the late bus program, meaning that the district would have to come up with the funding for the entire cost of the late bus.

"We want to accommodate our students in every way possible," the superintendent said, "but running buses at district expense is very costly. We would appreciate the views of residents of the district."

He also urged parents of students and others in the district to inform the school as quickly as possible regarding concerns, misunderstandings and other things affecting students and the school district. "Everybody likes good news," he said, "but it's how quickly we get bad news that really counts."

Because the state department of education requires the school to keep records of immunizations received by students, Supt. Lorenson asked parents to call the district office with up-to-date information.

He also advised students and parents to review the bus route schedule and note changes as well as being alert and watching for the bus for the first few days of school.

"We have a great bunch of students and an excellent faculty in the Plummer school system," he added, "and that makes it easier to be optimistic for an exciting and productive school year ahead."

Green Thumb offers jobs

Job seekers who are 55 and older may now call toll-free, 1-800-450-JOBS (Extension A), to learn about jobs and training opportunities available through the Green Thumb Employment and Training Program.

Green Thumb has provided jobs to over 4,500 older workers in 62 rural Minnesota counties since 1966, according to State Director Paul Anderson. In 1990, over 1,000 persons were employed at community service organizations such as schools, parks, hospitals, museums, libraries, food shelves, and senior centers. Participants earn the federal minimum wage while working 20 hours a week. Green Thumb also provides classroom and on-the-job training for those persons wishing to develop new work skills or change careers. To be eligible, applicants must be 55 or older and meet an income criteria.

"These jobs help older men and women supplement their retirement earnings while helping to provide needed services in their communities," Anderson said. He noted that over 40 per cent of the participants are 70 or older, with many in their 80's.

Green Thumb Inc. is a non-profit, equal opportunity employer funded by the U.S. Department of Labor. No applicant will be denied consideration because of mental or physical disability or advanced age.

Interested persons may contact Green Thumb at Box 310, Wadena, MN 56482, or call toll-free at 1-800-450-JOBS (5627), and ask for extension "A".

ASCS reverses Aug. 12 decision to stop loans.

USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) has reversed its August 12 decision to stop the issuance of 1991 Farm-stored Wheat Loans.

Leslie Steppel, the ASCS acting state executive director, said, "the reversal was made because the problem of vomitoxin has been localized, and we have confidence in the Department of Agriculture's wheat testing procedures."

"HELP! HELP!"

A person who is in trouble, whether trapped or drowning, will cry out for help, which is a sensible thing to do. Then, your hope is that someone would hear your cry and try to save you.

Today with all of the problems that this generation is facing, many times we feel trapped plus drowning in different situations. Cry out to JESUS for help, and He will save you.

Acts 2:21 says, "And everyone who will call on the name of the Lord shall be saved". Makes good sense doesn't it?

Bemidji girls win TRF title

It was a near-sweep for Bemidji Thursday as the Lumberjacks took three of four singles titles and won all three doubles crowns en route to team honors at the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational girls high school tennis tournament.

Bemidji finished the day-long affair with 25 points, followed by Crookston with 14, Thief River Falls 12, Moorhead 10 and East Grand Forks 9.

Senior Shanna Rusten and sophomores Jene Brune and Erin Kraft were Bemidji winners at 1, 2 and 3 singles, respectively. The Bemidji sweep in doubles featured junior Kari Bowman and sophomore Andrea Vagle at No. 1, senior Shawn Quistgaard and junior Gina Allery at No. 2 and junior Kari Kantack and freshman Joy Halstead at No. 3.

Only non-Bemidji entry to win an individual title was Moorhead junior Theresa Groves at No. 4 singles. All the winners were 4-0 for the day.

The host Prowlers had a pair of second place 3-1 records – junior Jennifer Paggen at No. 1 singles; seniors Tarik Koivisto and Sara Tweet at No. 1 doubles.

Rest of the Thief River Falls line-up included sophomore Jami Oehnert, 0-4 at No. 2 singles; sophomore Kim Rupprecht, 0-4 at No. 3 singles; seventh grader Tiffany Brouse, 2-2 at No. 4 singles; sophomore Carly Dee and freshman Jami Fremstad, 2-2 at No. 2 doubles; eighth graders Anne Padilla and Shari Evenson, 2-2 at No. 3 doubles.

Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney was more than satisfied with the season-opening showing by his young, inexperienced line-up. "Last year we were fourth with 10 points; this year we finished third with 12 points," he pointed out. "We saw encouraging things from all of the kids. If they continue to improve, their game will develop and we'll become more and more competitive as a team."

The tournament was the first event of the 1991 Thief River Falls fall sports calendar. The Prowlers return to action Tuesday with a 1 p.m. dual at East Grand Forks.

Red Lake County Central programs expanded...

Volleyball is included in cooperative

First Red Lake County Central cooperative high school volleyball team will debut Friday, Aug. 30, when the Oklee/Plummer tandem takes part in the Polar Conference Jamboree at Warren.

The Mustangs open 1991 regular season play Tuesday, Sept. 3, at East Grand Forks.

Brad Borene, who served as head coach at Oklee the past six years, is the head coach of the cooperative, which follows a similar joint sports sponsorship in football, basketball, wrestling and track. Nancy Zimpel, who was head coach at Plummer last fall, along with Janet Halvorson and Melody Brustad, are the assistant coaches.

The cooperative will find the Mustangs competing against Plummer's old District 31A/Polar Conference foes instead of Oklee's former District 30A/Pine to Prairie Conference rivals.

"We hope it will all go smooth," said Borene. "There are lots of wrinkles to work out yet, but the kids are accustomed to being together in basketball and track, so it should be okay."

The cooperative has resulted in 36 girls in grades 9-12 out for the sport, including two returning starters from both communities – seniors Jenay Walter and Cheryl Greenwald from a 15-10 Plummer squad; juniors Dawn Bachand and Jill Radniecki off a 13-8 Oklee team.

Senior Dixie Koskela, along with juniors Lisa Larson and Kim Magers, also lettered last fall.

Joining them are sophomores Bobbi Berberich, Lisa Howard, Sheila Reindeau, Tracy Carriere, Michelle Jensen and Danielle Wicks, plus freshmen Karlene Jolly, Amy Arlt, Farrah Brantl, Angel Mickelson, Abby Chervestad, Jacki Bregier, Stacy Lambert, Rachel Kvasager and Samantha Paradis.

"I'm cautiously optimistic," said Borene. "Passing and setting are our strong points, and we've got some good hitters, too. We've not real big, but we're fairly quick. We should be competitive."

TRF volleyball under way

Graduation took eight senior letter winners and most of the starting line-up, leaving Thief River Falls head coach Helen Anderson with a rebuilding job heading into the 1991 high school volleyball season.

Preseason drills started Monday. The Prowlers will debut Wednesday when they host a seven-team jamboree that will also include Detroit Lakes, Marshall County Central, Cass Lake, Argyle, Blackduck, Fisher and Fosston.

Thief River Falls' regular season schedule starts Tuesday, Sept. 3, when the Prowlers host Warren.

Returning letter winners include seniors Kathy Kvick and Amy Eriksen, juniors Kristen Boughton and Nessa Anderson, along with sophomore Toni Chiodo.

Rest of the preseason roster includes seniors Pam Puppe and Maria Martinez, a foreign exchange student from Spain; juniors Amy Enge, Kara LeMoine, Alison Peterson, Angie Efta, Marie Lubitz and LuAnne Maslowski; sophomores Becky Hanson, Lori Erickson, Keri Holthusen, Jamie Martell, Dana McGeary, Anna Peterson, Traci Lindberg, Charity Federson, Allison Myers, Jennifer Blackberg, Sara Tyler, Gretchen Carlson, Tracy Jardet and Chris Soto, a student manager from Costa Rica; and freshmen Carrie Lawrence, Keri Schommer, Amber Peeples, Jenny Drury, Jaynae Stanina, Jana Johnson, Kelly Skeim, Andrea Moe, Krista Kees, Michelle Haugen and Kari Kirkeby.

Franklin Middle School seventh and eighth grade volleyball program will begin Monday.

Practices will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday in the Franklin gym.

Michelle Erickson will coach the seventh grade team and Amy Roche will coach the eighth graders.

All seventh and eighth grade volleyball players are reminded to have all required forms completed before the start of practice Monday. Forms can be obtained, and fees can be paid at the Lincoln activities office.

Pigskin Preview starts football season

High school football scrimmages will feature teams from Thief River Falls, Warroad, Grand Forks Central, Fargo Shanley, Winnipeg Sturgeon Creek, East Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Winnipeg Vo-Tech, Grand Forks Red River and Winnipeg Kelvin.

Junior varsity scrimmages start at 12-noon and varsity scrimmages get underway at 2 p.m. Two sets of scrimmages will be conducted simultaneously at each end of the field throughout the day.

Marshall County Central volleyball...

Nordics rebuilding

Marshall County Central will present a new look this year when the Nordics open their 1991 high school volleyball season September 5 at home against Middle River.

Gone are six seniors who played regularly in 1990. And gone, too, is the height and strong hitters that have been Marshall County Central trademarks over the years.

"It's going to be a lot different this year," acknowledged Mark Jorgenson, who begins his third year as Marshall County Central head volleyball coach. "I've been fortunate to have tall girls and good hitters in the past. This year we have no height, and we lost all of our hitters. We're really short on experience."

The Nordics were 19-6 a year ago, reaching the District 32A tournament finals before losing to Roseau.

Only varsity experience belongs to seniors Kim Davidson, who played regularly, and Stacy Anderson, who played frequently a year ago, along with sophomore Jill Fosholm, who saw some action as a setter last fall.

Seniors Karen Ness and Nicole Nelson, plus juniors Mary Rokke and Mandi Halvorson, round out the upperclassmen. Sara Lokstad and Shanon Magner head a large list of sophomores that also includes Jenny Taggart, Natasha Hirst, Keri Kayser, Tracy Olson, Erica Sandahl, Wendy Inman, Tara Underdahl, Tami Berggren and Kristi Harstad. Freshmen Missy Lund and Kandi Moose might also vie for playing time, according to Jorgenson.

"It might take a while to get going," noted Jorgenson, "but the kids are working hard and they have a real good attitude. I think we'll be right in there as the season goes along."

Jerald Hagen and Ron Ueland serve as Jorgenson's assistant coaches.

The Nordics will test the waters with their new line-up in preseason jamborees at Thief River Falls Wednesday and at Roseau Thursday.

Challenges await Wolverines

Grygla/Goodridge won just twice in 18 matches last year, and with only one full-time starter returning, the Wolverines' fortitude may be challenged again heading into the 1991 high school volleyball season.

"We're pretty thin in numbers in the upper grades," reported Wolverines head coach Tim Mostrom. "We're a little down right now, but we've got some good numbers and some pretty good talent at the younger levels."

Senior Kathy Smeby is the only player returning who played regularly last fall. Two other seniors – Stacey Dahlen and Lisa Verbout – were part-time starters. Seniors Dawn Hoganson and Nikki Bottem, along with juniors Jenny Ryan, Michelle Coan, Val Horachek and Tara Thorson complete the list of upperclassmen. Sophomores Kristi Benson, Sue Ann Verbout and Jenny Nordby, plus freshmen Jodi Manderud and Amber Wilkens could be in the line-up.

Smeby gives the Wolverines a proven varsity hitter, while Lisa Verbout and Dahlen cover the floor well, mentioned Mostrom. But that will still leave holes to fill.

The 1990 season was full of potential when the Wolverines started, but they never acquired the taste of winning. This time around the talent pool might be smaller, but Mostrom is hoping good attitude and work ethic will provide dividens in the won-loss column. "We had way more talent last year than what our record showed, but we just never got going," pointed out Mostrom. "We'd like to win one early this year to get our confidence going."

Mostrom begins his fourth year directing the Grygla/Goodridge cooperative program. Val Laidley, Avis Marquis and Beth OuHuox serve as assistant coaches.

Grygla/Goodridge will make a preseason jamboree appearance at Roseau Thursday before opening regular season play Tuesday, Sept. 3, at home against Middle River.

Ryan Haugen to play Juniors

Ryan Haugen, a 1991 Lincoln High School graduate, has been selected to play Junior hockey this winter with the Rochester Mustangs of the United States Hockey League (USHL).

Haugen, who attended Rochester try-out camps in June and August, will be one of three goalies on the Mustangs' 1991-92 roster. He will join the team Sunday when the Mustangs begin a week of preseason training/scrimmages in Brainerd before heading to Rochester to continue preparation for the upcoming season.

Haugen was a two-year letter winner with the Prowlers, sharing goaltending duties with Joy Lusignan.

Thief River Falls will have two 1991 graduates in the USHL this year, with Haugen joining John Seaverson in the Junior ranks. Seaverson, it was announced earlier, will skate at Sioux City, IA.

Black Bear Poster

A little black bear cub clings to a tree on a new full-color poster available at Minnesota's Bookstore. Text on both the front and back side of the poster dispels many myths about black bears, according to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which produced the poster.

The poster, which measures 18 inches by 24 inches, is the first in a new Wilderness Safari series produced by the DNR's State Parks Naturalist Program.

Wilderness Safari bear cub poster, which sells for $5, is available from Minnesota's Bookstore by mail, telephone or fax by ordering Stock Number 9-60 and sending $7.33 (including shipping, handling and tax) to Minnesota's Bookstore, 117 University Ave., St. Paul, MN 55155. Allow four to six weeks for delivery.

For express delivery, place a credit card order by telephone (612-297-3000) or fax (612-296-2265) on Discover, American Express, VISA or MasterCard. (Be sure to include the credit card number and expiration date on fax orders.) Orders may also be placed toll free by calling 1-800-657-3757 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Minnesota's Bookstore, operated by the Minnesota Department of Administration's Print Communications Division, offers books, posters, maps and other merchandise produced by state agencies such as the DNR. It is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays at 117 University Avenue in St. Paul.

For more information on the Wilderness Safari naturalist series call toll free in Minnesota 1-800-652-9747 (ask for the DNR).

Steelhead Survival Rates

Results of a recent study could mean better steelhead production on Minnesota's North Shore streams. According to Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fisheries researchers who conducted the study, steelhead (migratory rainbow trout) would be more likely to survive if they were stocked at sites throughout a stream, rather than in one location as is sometimes done.

Each spring, the DNR stocks hundreds of thousands of young steelhead, called fry, in North Shore streams. The fish are stocked a few days after hatching at the DNR French River Fish Hatchery near Duluth. In the past, the fish were often stocked at one or two sites on each stream under the assumption they would disperse uniformly downstream.

The study showed that the young steelhead don't spread out, but it also showed the fish would grow larger if they were dispersed throughout the stream. And the larger a young steelhead can grow, said DNR fisheries researcher Tracy Close, the better its chances of surviving the winter in a stream.

Limited access and steep canyons make the stocking of some North Shore streams difficult, requiring long trips with backpacks filled with water jugs and fry. Close said that this extra effort could be worthwhile, especially if the DNR can get help from local fishing groups.

"If we can increase the survival rate of stocked steelhead by dispersing the stocking, anglers will see more fish returning to their streams in the spring," he said. The problem now, added Close, is finding the time or the staff to do the extra work.

Old Mill Pool Closed

Officials with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Division of Parks and Recreation announced recently that the swimming beach at Old Mill State Park, located just east of Argyle in Marshall County, will be closed for the rest of the season.

Routine testing of the water in the swimming pond recently revealed increased levels of bacteria and heavy algal growth. On the advice of the Minnesota Department of Health, the swimming area was closed August 15 and will remain closed until the source of the problem is found and corrected.

Officials at the park plan to drain the swimming pond and check the lines in the septic system at the beach area for leaks and possible repairs. Because the problem has surfaced so late in the summer, the swimming area will not be reopened until next season.

Other park facilities, including the campground, picnic area and recreational trails, will remain open to the public for the rest of the regular season.

Old Mill Grinding Days event is scheduled for Sunday and Monday of Labor Day weekend, September 1 and 2, sponsored by the park and the Marshall County Historical Society. Historical Society volunteers will fire up the restored steam-powered flour mill for which the park is named and park visitors can witness first-hand how Red River Valley wheat was ground into flour nearly 100 years ago.

For more information, contact the park office at 437-8174.

Court Settlement

A civil suit brought by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Division of Waters has resulted in a $10,302 judgement against a Beltrami County resident. According to a court order and memorandum issued August 1 by Ninth District Court Judge Jay D. Mondry, Fred Lahman of Tenstrike was found guilty of bulldozing about 2,400 feet of river bed in the Gull River, the outlet stream from Erickson Lake in Beltrami County.

The court ordered Lahman to pay the state of Minnesota $9,211.50 in restoration costs, plus $1,091.28 for state inspection costs. The repair work will involve regrading and restoring the river bed and the construction of a steel, sheet-piling dam to raise the water level in Erickson Lake.

Destruction of the river bed occurred in late August or early September of last year on properties owned by Lahman's brother-in-law, Carl Adams, and a neighboring landowner. The bulldozing removed logs, beaver dams, aquatic vegetation and soil; lowered the level of the stream bed; and lowered the run-out elevation of Erickson Lake and adjacent wetlands upstream by approximately 18 inches. Most of the 100-acre lake and the first half-mile of river are located within the city limits of Tenstrike.

Both the Gull River and Erickson Lake are designated protected waters under Minnesota statute. Any excavation work carried out at or below the ordinary high-water level, or any action that alters the course, current or cross section of protected waters requires a permit from the DNR Division of Waters.

According to the complaint filed against him, Lahman did not apply for a permit. In addition, the second landowner involved did not give Lahman permission to bulldoze the stream on his property.

According to the DNR Waters Division officials at Bemidji, the project would not have been approved because of wide-ranging ecological effects – including the permanent lowering of Erickson Lake and the loss of adjacent wetlands, increased erosion and siltation problems downstream and adverse effects on fish and wildlife habitat.

Flood Insurance

Many residents of Stockton now regret that they did not have flood insurance policies following a severe flash flood Sunday night, July 21. Flooding affected many of the homes and businesses in that southeastern Minnesota community of 500 residents. Of approximately 200 structures in Stockton, only five had flood insurance to help cover losses. Approximately 50 homes were severely damaged in the storm.

"Stockton is very similar to a lot of other communities in Minnesota from the standpoint that there are a lot of homes susceptible to flood damage, but very few residents carry flood insurance coverage on their homes," said Joe Gibson, supervisor of the state's Floodplain Management Program in the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). "Stockton has been participating in the National Flood Insurance Program since 1982, but there were still only five policies in place when the storm hit," Gibson said.

Flood insurance is available for almost every home and business in communities that participate in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). In Minnesota, this includes 475 communities and counties. If a structure was built before the community joined the NFIP, the rates are subsidized by the federal government. If a structure was built after the community joined the NFIP, the rates are "actuarial" and are based on how high the lowest floor is elevated above the 100-year flood level. Homes and businesses located outside of mapped floodplain areas can purchase flood insurance at very reasonable rates, Gibson said.

Average insurance premium for flood insurance in Minnesota is $279 and the average coverage amount is $55,000, Gibson said. Insurance can be obtained for structural damage and for the contents of a home or business. All structural damage to walls and floors caused by flooding are covered by flood insurance. Contents coverage will cover most contents on first or higher floors. Coverage for contents located in basements is limited to basic utilities that are usually located in basements. Wall coverings, floor coverings and furniture are examples of basement contents that are not covered.

Banks and other lending institutions now require that prospective buyers purchase flood insurance for mortgages on homes in mapped floodplain areas. Most major insurance companies now write flood insurance policies, so persons interested in flood insurance should contact their insurance agents, Gibson said.

"There are about 5,000 flood insurance policies in effect at any given time throughout Minnesota," Gibson said, "but there are also an estimated 17,000 structures located in floodplain areas that could benefit from flood insurance protection."

Gibson said surveys taken following the 1987 Twin Cities "superstorm" and the 1989 Red River Valley flood indicate that a vast majority of claims for assistance come from homeowners and businesses that are located outside of floodplain areas. "Each individual has to evaluate the amount of risk that he or she is willing to accept when it comes to flooding," Gibson said. "But most people do not think about it until it is too late. Unfortunately, some of those people live in Stockton."

For more information about the National Flood Insurance Program, call the DNR Floodplain Management Program staff at (612) 296-4800. For specific information about insurance rates and coverage, call an insurance agent.

Ginseng Season

Ginseng, an herb that grows wild in Minnesota and is cherished in the Orient for its purported medicinal qualities, may be sought in the state beginning Sept. 1. The annual season will continue through Dec. 31.

Wild ginseng is a medicinal herb that has been harvested in Minnesota since the state was first settled by pioneers, but it is relatively rare in the state today. American Indians also prized ginseng for its healing properties. In this country, ginseng is used today in bottled drinks, tea and extracts offered for sale in health food stores. Most of the Minnesota harvest is exported to the Orient, however, where it is used as a treatment for a wide variety of human ailments.

The plant is most prominent in the hardwood forests of southeastern Minnesota with lesser amounts in the central and southern regions, according to Welby Smith, a botanist for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

About 95 percent of the ginseng harvested in Minnesota is exported to other countries. It takes experienced diggers up to a month to harvest two or three pounds per season, with about 150 dried roots making up one pound.

Mature ginseng plants have three or four leaf stalks branching from one stem, with each prong terminating in five leaves. Green berries, each holding two to three seeds, turn red by late August. It is the root that is cherished, however, leading to harvesting pressure. Since the early 1900s, ginseng has become very rare in Minnesota. To prevent over harvesting, the plant is not regulated by the DNR.

Immediately after digging up wild ginseng plants, harvesters are required to remove all seeds from the plant's berries and plant them in the area where the ginseng was dug, thus replenishing the stand.

Ginseng diggers who sell their roots to Minnesota residents or businesses do not need a license. However, diggers who sell to out-of-state residents or businesses are required to purchase a dealer's license from the DNR, which will also issue export papers required by federal regulations.

Any Minnesota resident or business buying ginseng is required to purchase a $5 license obtainable from the DNR License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026.

Ginseng may be harvested in wildlife management areas, but a digger must first obtain a free permit from the area wildlife manager. Ginseng may be harvested in state forest lands without additional permits. No one may harvest ginseng in state parks.

Lowering in of 36-inch pipe for the Great Lakes Gas Transmission company's pipeline looping project northwest of Thief River Falls is accomplished with this crawler tractor equipped with a side boom. The pipe shows an amazing amount of flexibility as it is lowered into place. Work on the 17.8 miles of looping between Thief River Falls and a point northwest of Newfolden is part of a total of 77 miles in Minnesota and 372 miles overall in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. This is the third and final phase of a three-phase project to add a total of 460 miles of pipeline loop on the Great Lakes Gas Transmission line. The completed line looping is scheduled to be in service by November. Another 21.3 mile segment of line looping in Clearwater county is part of the area project.

Reduced yields are expected

Reduced yields are expected for small grain crops and soybeans in Minnesota this fall with increases expected in corn, dry beans and sugarbeets and about the same yield as last year for potatoes.

On a national basis, bushels per acre production shows a decline in every crop listed, including drops of 10.7 bushels for corn, 2.2 bushels for soybeans, 7.9 bushels for oats, nine-tenths of a bushel for spring wheat, five-tenths of a bushel for durum wheat and one-tenth of a bushels for barley.

In Minnesota, oats were the hardest hit among small grain crops, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. The crop is expected to be about half of last year's output at only 27 million bushels. Yields are expected to be 21 bushels per acre short of last year at 45 bushels per acre.

Minnesota's spring wheat crop shows a potential 44 per cent decline from last year. Yields are down 13 bushels to 36 bushels per acre, but much of the decline can be attributed to a 25 per cent cutback in acres planted. Total crop is expected to be about 75.1 million bushels. Durum wheat output of 1.1 million bushels would be down 20 per cent.

Barley growers say their crop will come in 13 per cent short of last year, the ag statistics service reports. That would total 43.8 million bushels with yields at 50 bushels per acre—down 13 bushels an acre from the 1990 crop.

The state's corn crop is expected to hit a record production of 128 bushels per acre, on the other hand, up four bushels per acre from a year ago. Total production of 755.2 million bushels would be one per cent below last year.

A record crop of soybeans and 201.7 million bushels is also predicted, a 12 per cent increase from 1990. Yields are expected to be two bushels per acre below last year, however, at 37 bushels per acre.

Dry bean production at 1,500 pounds per acre would be a 200 pounds per acre increase over last year. Total production of 1.8 million hundredweight is anticipated.

Sugarbeet growers are expecting a total crop of 5.96 million tons—an increase of 11 per cent from 1990—with yields of 16.5 tons per acre being 1.7 tons higher than last year.

Summer potato crop at 2.2 million hundredweight would be a 20 per cent increase from a year ago with yield's matching last year's average at 300 hundredweight per acre.

"The small grain harvest this year has been a disappointment for many farmers," commented Carroll Rock, state statistician for the ag statistics service. "Yields and quality are below normal for a number of reasons—excess moisture and severe infestation of rust and other diseases being a couple of the main ones."

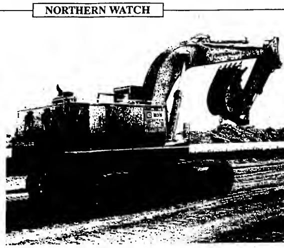
leave the root system in place and plants could spread in some instances. The total cost to harvest 90 per cent of the weed area is $49,050. It would have a project life of .66. The annual cost was estimated at $73,000.

Herbicides or the chemical control of weeds has general agency acceptance and is short term effective control of plants. However, it would require annual or semi-annual use, the plants would die and decay in place, there would be a lag period before results could be observed and there would be public concern over the chemical use. The estimated cost to treat 90 per cent of the weed area was $15,200. It would cost about $22,809 annually and would have a project life of .66 years.

Rototilling or the mechanical control of weeds by aquatic tillage equipment, would provide effective control of plants for several seasons, remove plant stems and roots and is used by agencies in some areas. It is also generally accepted by the public. On the other hand, it is a slower process than harvesting or herbicides, would create a lot of turbidity, may transplant cuttings, and plant parts would be left in the reservoir to decay. The cost to rototill 90 per cent of the weed area was estimated at $22,072.

Shading or limiting plant growth by an artificial restriction of light is another option. During a two to four week period, opaque floating mats would be used to limit light. It is considered an effective control technique, has a low environmental risk and may be suitable for beaches and landings. On the other hand, it is not practical for large areas and is expensive and labor intensive. The cost of shading was estimated at $4,000 per acre. It would have a project life of one year. Materials would last five years and it would take one year of labor to complete.

Sediment covers involves the placement of plastic mats under a clay sand or gravel blanket to seal nutrients in the sediment. It may be an effective control of aquatic plants and has a low environmental risk. On the other hand, installation is difficult, expensive and it isn't practical for large areas. The estimated cost of mineral soil blankets was at $4,000 per acre. The estimated cost of plastic mats was $4,000 per acre. The blankets would last from three to five years.



Drawdown to consolidate sediments involves allowing the reservoir to be lower and the bottom to dry out to consolidate sediments. It may significantly reduce sediment volume, provide plant control if depth increares beyond pbotle depth. It also allows access for maintenance of docks, walls, dams and other equipment. It is inexpensive. On the other hand, the use of the reservoir is lost during work, and it may release nutrients. It will also reduce water supply storage temporarily, and require pumping at the water supply intake. The estimated cost was $4,000 and it would have a project life of 10 to 20 years.

Drawdown over winter to control plants is another option. Similar to other drawdown techniques, it would take place during winter and could provide an effective control of aquatic plants, may consolidate sediments, allows access for maintenance and is inexpensive. On the other hand, it would mean the loss of reservoir use, may release nutrients, and would temporarily reduce the water supply storage. It may also require pumping of water supply intakes. It has an estimated cost of $4,000 and would last three to five years.

Drawdown for conventional tillage is another option. The reservoir would be lowered to expose sediments and allow conventional tillage for control of aquatic plants. Tillage of plants and roots can be an effective control method. It may consolidate sediments, and allows for access for maintenance. On the other hand, the use of the reservoir would be lost temporarily, there would be a temporary water supply storage reduction problem, and pumping at the water supply intake may be required. The drawdown would cost about $4,000, and the estimated cost of conventional tillage would be $6,000. The project life war estimated at between three and five years.

Drawdown and conventional excavation means lowering the reservoir to expose sediments and allowing conventional excavation to remove sediments. It allows for excavation of dry material, may remove the need for dike disposal areas, may consolidate sediments, allows for access for maintenance, sediment might be sold for topsoil, is an effective plant control method and excavation would restore reservoir volume. On the other hand, the use of the reservoir is temporarily lost, it may release nutrients, and may temporarily reduce water supply. It may require pumping at the water supply intake and excavation is expensive. The estimated cost of the drawdown was $4,000. The estimated cost of conventional excavation and hauling was $3.50 per cubic yard. The cost to remove 90 per cent of the reservoir sediment would be about $784,350. The project life was estimated at 25 years.

Hydraulic dredging would loosen sediment then pump a slurry of sediment and water to a "diked" disposal area. It is an effective method of sediment removal, restores reservoir volume, provides effective plant control since the dredge removes sediment, nutrients, roots, stems and increases depth and has general agency and public acceptance. On the other hand, it is expensive. The total estimated cost is $1,010,544. It may cause turbidity and algae blooms, and it would restrict reservoir use during dredging.

Rumbling along the Great Lakes Gas Transmission company pipeline right-of-way south of Newfolden Thursday, this large backhoe was ready for use in backfilling the trench after the 36-inch pipe had been lowered in. The backhoes are used for a number of tasks along the line, including removal of rocks too large to be handled by the ditch machine and to create room for welders to work when pipe sections are connected at road crossings.

council and county board. A joint meeting has been scheduled for September 17 at 7 p.m. to discuss the issues. The meeting is open to the public.

Hallett and Brun want to emphasize that the Red Lake Band wants to and is willing to be a good neighbor. Brun said if some residents are bothered by lights or cars they'll put up a barrier.

Stewart said the band and city have agreed to sit down and work out some of the zoning issues and concerns involved.

Brun said they might have a problem with parking but they will be looking into some kind of arrangement or agreement with neighboring businesses.

Everybody's market in TRF

Everybody's market will be conducted in Thief River Falls Saturday, September 14. Everybody's market and outdoor craft fair will include sales of hand made and home-grown products from throughout the area. Participants will be located outside Thief River Falls business places and at the Floyd B. Olson park.

Deadline to reserve a display space is September 7. Applicants may contact the Chamber of Commerce office at 681-3720 to discuss arrangements.

Space is allocated on a first come, first-served basis with participants invited to indicate a location preference. If the preferred location had already been awarded, an alternate location would be assigned. A fee of $10 is to be included with each application.

Local seniors attend meeting of federation

Four representatives of the Northwest region of the Minnesota Senior Federation attended the state delegate assembly last Wednesday, August 14, in St. Cloud.

Items of interest discussed at the assembly included promotion of a universal health care system, approval of a proposal to permit affiliation of the Retired Educators association of Minnesota with the senior federation and a program of reduced drug costs with the state's pharmacies.

Attending from this area were Dr. David Brown, president of the Northwest region; Helen Tri, first vice president; Olga Engevik, treasurer; and Myra Nesland, office manager.

Power fades in downtown TRF Monday

Many residents and merchants were without power several times Monday in Thief River Falls.

Arlo Rude, director of utilities, explained that the first problem arose Monday morning when a cable burned off inside a transformer near Falls Clinic. Once they located and fixed that problem, a fault developed in a cable in Countryside trailer court.

As of Wednesday, Rude said they were still trying to identify the cause of that problem. The problem, he said, appears to be in an underground cable.

Monday night and Tuesday morning, power went out on the East side near the Chaparral apartments. Rude said Wednesday that they had located the cause of the problem. He said it was a splice that went bad.

Repairmen were busy all day and night fixing the problems. Rude worked on the transformer near the Chaparral apartment all night.

He said there's really no explanation for why the problems happened when they did. Defects can appear any time. "It's just coincidence that they happened at the same time."

Hopefully, he said, it won't happen again for some time.

While repairmen are completing repairs on the cables, residents should not expect power outages.

tional state money if something should happen that would prevent the city from actually carrying through on a commitment to provide city water services to the airport.

Ron Lindberg, city engineering and technical services director, said he will begin study of the proposal this fall. By spring he said he will be able to answer some of the many questions now being asked.

Lindberg clarified an issue of confusion by saying the city's consulting engineer actually said the city doesn't need to know all of the answers today because there is time to study the problem. The resolution of intent gives the city 18 months from the completion of the hangar.

Lake Bronson draw-down will allow repair of Dam

Reduced pool area at Lake Bronson will also permit chemical removal of rough fish from reservoir

Repair work on the Lake Bronson dam is underway and the level of the lake has been in drawdown for about the past week, according to officials of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Lake level reduction will permit chemical elimination of rough fish as well as facilitate repair of the dam.

The leak in the dam was discovered in October of 1989. Water level was drawn down to relieve pressure and to allow evaluation of the leak, but repair work didn't begin until this summer.

Plans are to reduce the lake surface from its normal 350 acres to about 50 acres, then treat the water with a chemical called rotenone to kill all fish in the lake. Restocking of walleye, bass and sunfish, including some of catchable size, will take place this fall or next spring.

Fisheries personnel from the state DNR fisheries headquarters in Baudette said that black bullheads are the primary fish problem in the lake. Park personnel said that carp are also present in some numbers. Fishing has been continuing throughout the summer at the park although spring fishing success for walleyes and panfish has not continued into the summer months. Some people are catching some fish, park personnel said.

In advance of chemically treating the lake for fish removal, the DNR plans to announce a brief period of unlimited fishing to give anglers additional fishing opportunities and hopefully further reduce the remaining game fish population. An announcement of the unlimited fishing period, open only to Minnesota residents, is expected to be made soon.

Draw-down, which has reduced the lake level by about two feet in the first week, is being accomplished by opening the three control gates in the dam at night after repair personnel stop their work. A six-inch pipe at the bottom of the dam is also being opened at night to assist with the water release. If it is feasible, the discharge pipe may be replaced with a larger pipe while the water level is lowered to allow more rapid and complete draw-down in the future.

Repair project at the dam—which was built in 1936, the year before the park was established—includes hydraulically pumping concrete into openings in the dam, driving reinforcing pilings on the downstream side of the dam and drilling test wells into the river bed to monitor conditions. The dam is located on the South Fork of the Two Rivers.

Deepest part of the lake is about 32 feet, park personnel said, and the deeper holes are below the level of the base of the dam. The DNR expects to use pumps soon to move water over the dam and reduce the pool size.

Fisheries personnel said that rotenone is costly and is applied on an acre foot basis. Reduction of water area is therefore desirable to concentrate the fish population and reduce the overall treatment cost.

Rotenone kills fish by inhibiting their oxygen intake. While the chemical is eventually fatal to all fish life, those species which have a higher tolerance to low oxygen levels—including the bullheads and carp—will be the last to die. By U.S. standards, fish killed by

Recruiters accept Medical students to fill needs

Recruiting good medical help to the armed services has been what Lt. Col. Robert Dicken of Thief River Falls, calls a chronic problem. But Lt. Col. Dicken believes he has found an answer.

The problem has always been how to recruit and keep good medical help. How do you entice a doctor or surgeon when you can't afford to pay them what they could earn on their own; and, how do you keep surgeons with highly developed skills from losing those skills during peace-time.

Lt. Col. Dicken preaches his sermon with missionary zeal. He believes he has found the ultimate concept — a new and novel approach — to recruiting. After recruiting 38 medical students into the North Dakota National Guard, many are beginning to believe him.

In the past, the answer has been to recruit as many as possible and then use the draft. "That's how they got characters like Hawkeye Pierce," Lt. Col. Dicken said.

Although a highly fictionalized character, Pierce portrays the essence and result of the policy to draft medical doctors into the armed forces when needed. They are drafted, Dicken said and given a uniform they don't even know how to put on.

Although the draft has been successful in the past, it may not be as successful in the future. Dicken said in short-term conflicts like Operation Desert Storm they didn't have time to implement the draft and the operation had the potential of a disaster. Most medical units were undermanned, he said. It wasn't a disaster because there were so few casualties.

The draft may no longer be a politically tenable solution to the problem in any event. Peace time

Members of a new Medical Officers Training Company participated in advanced life support training workshop held at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls last weekend. Training was provided in cooperation with Falls Clinic/Dakota Clinic and by Lois Wang and Pat Buckta. Training includes how to take care of life threatening medical problems. It includes mostly how to handle cardiac arrest, intubation, difibulation, medications and other special skills needed to handle life-threatening situations. While in Thief River Falls, the group had some fun. A pool party, picnic and other activities were held for the group. The new group is under the command of Lt. Col. Dicken of Thief River Falls.

County jail receives 100 per cent rating

Pennington County Law Enforcement Center has maintained a 100 per cent for the fourth year in a row.

Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold announced Wednesday the results of an inspection conducted by the Minnesota Department of Corrections. Sheriff Wold said the jail passed all of the requirements in the inspections and received a 100 per cent rating. This is the fourth year in a row that the law enforcement center has received a 100 per cent rating.

Sheriff Wold said the inspectors look at just about everything when conducting their inspection. He said they look at such things at medical record logs, doors, windows, locks and time spent monitoring inmates. Wold said the inspector had one concern. The one concern, he said, had to do with staffing. Because of the number of people in jail and the amount of calls the office was receiving he was worried that there might not be enough people to monitor the inmates. That situation, Wold said, will be addressed. He said he first has to make sure he understands the concern. Wold said the day of the inspection, June 28, was a very busy day at the center.

TRF city council approves changes to skate ordinance

Changes to the Thief River Falls skateboard and rollerskating ordinance came about as a result of a citizens' complaint to the Thief River Falls city council.

Tuesday night in Thief River Falls the city council approved changes to the newly implemented ordinance. The new ordinance which restricts use of rollerskates, rollerblades, and skateboards, from a downtown business district and during certain hours, was implemented only last month.

When a local man was stopped for violating the ordinances restricting use of rollerblades between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. he protested and said he would rather have a ticket instead of a warning so that he could challenge the law. A number of meetings followed and Tuesday night the council adopted some changes.

The first changes to the ordinance redefined the definition of business district, which is off limits to rollerblades, rollerskates and skateboards. The new definition reads: "Business district" — that part of the city bounded on the North by the South curbline of Fourth street, on the South by the North line of the North sidewalk of First street, on the West by the West curbline of Knight avenue, and on the East by the West curbline of Atlantic avenue from Fourth street to Second street and by the North curbline of Second Street from Atlantic avenue to Horace Avenue and by the West curbline of Horace avenue from Second street to First street."

One of the complaints received about the new ordinance is why the time restriction didn't apply to bicycle riders. City Attorney Paul Ihle said the provision was put in the ordinance for safety, for both the rider and public. Bicycle riders have been allowed to ride at night when they comply with state safety regulations requiring the operator to wear reflective surfaces (a minimum of 40 square inches is required). Ihle said most bikes fulfill that requirement because they have reflectorized surfaces.

Running for research. Dr. Jim Grindley of Thief River Falls, a radiologist at Northwest Medical Center, will run in Megan's Run, an event to raise money for the research into SIDS (sudden infant death syndrome). The 24-hour race is in Portland, OR. Grindley, an ultramathoner, expects to run 100 miles.

Local man takes on challenge for charity

There are many ways to raise money for worthy causes. One was that definitely ranks among the unusual will be attempted by Dr. James Grindley of Thief River Falls.

Grindley, a radiologist at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, has decided to enter Megan's Run, September 28 in Portland Oregon. Megan's Run is a 24-hour race and also the site of the National TAC/USA Championship race.

It is named for the daughter of Phil and Kathy Edmunds who died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) in 1984. Although it is not a requirement, runners are asked to collect pledges for the miles they run. Money raised from the event is used to support research into prevention of SIDS.

For the 56-year-old radiologist, 100 miles is a realistic goal. Dr. Grindley is an accomplished ultramarathoner. For those readers unaccustomed to pain and excessive exercise, an ultramarathoner is an individual who runs races longer than 26-mile marathons.

Dr. Grindley started running in 1975 for what he called a minor health crises. He said he needed to do something positive for his health. He wasn't quite sure when he slipped into the category of "Ultramarathoner", but thought it had to be a 40 mile race in 1979. To date, he has been in 45 marathons and 17 ultramarathons. Mast of those ultramarathons have been 50 miles long.

Grindley believes he can run about 100 miles in the 24-hour period. The race is around a track and Grindley, a former Montana resident who enjoys the outdoors and is accustomed to great scenery, said he would never do the race except for the worthy cause. He said he has collected pledges for many people who also believe it's a worthy cause. Most have pledged about 10 cents per mile, which would be about $10 if he runs 100 miles.

Grindley runs further than many people drive during a week. In an average week he'll run between 60 and 70 miles. He supplements the running with some cross-training that includes bicycling and sculling (rowing). During the cold winter months he likes to cross country ski.

Running mile after mile, day after day, can be a strain on anyone. Grindley says he really enjoys running. But on days when the weather is bad or he's upset, he just thinks of someone who has a physical impediment and despite the impediment they're out there running. "It keeps me going," Grindley said.

Successful completion of any long distance race is due to a combination of many factors — training, preparation, weather, food, nutrition, fluid and support. Sylvia Grindley is just as active as her husband although she has not slipped into the category of "Ultramarathoner". She's more sensible, Jim said, she just runs marathons.

Jim said she doesn't give him a hard time, has always been very supportive and is always a part of his crew.

"He gets cranky sometimes," Sylvia said, to a slightly embarrassed husband. She then gave a few examples. She said she straightens him out by saying he can just complete the race on his own if he's going to be that way. "You definitely have to have a sense of humour," she said.

Sylvia said watching Jim complete in tough ultramarathon events don't scare her anymore. She knows that even if he looks tough he might get through it. She's seen it happen before. She said she doesn't like to encourage him to drop out unless she believes it's a life threatening situation.

The Grindleys believe they have

What is SIDS ?

SIDS (sudden infant death syndrome), commonly known as "crib death," is a recognized, unpredictable medical disorder. It is the sudden and unexpected death of an apparently healthy infant; the death remains unexplained after the performance of an adequate autopsy.

- SIDS is the number one cause of death among infants between the ages of one week and one year.
- 6,000 to 7,000 babies die of SIDS every year in the United States.
- Babies between 2 and 4 months of age are most often the victims of SIDS, but older and younger babies also die of SIDS.
- Death occurs within seconds, usually during sleep, and the baby does not suffer.
- Cases of SIDS have been reported throughout history, as far back as the time of the Old Testament.
- SIDS is not caused by suffocation or aspiration although sometimes death certificates bear such terms in error.
- Most SIDS victims have appeared to be healthy before death.
- SIDS is not caused by child abuse.
- SIDS is not caused by an immunization.
- SIDS is not contagious.
- SIDS is not hereditary.
- SIDS occurs in families of all social and economic levels.
- Researchers believe that SIDS probably has more than one cause although the final process appears to be similar in most cases.
- Since the cause or mechanism of death in SIDS is not yet known, there is no specific means of preventing it.

School

Playing school seems to be an interesting pastime for many children. An interesting trip to take with children is to go to Pioneer Village and explore the school house.

The children can sit in the wooden seats. Be sure to discuss things that your child will take for granted. Where did they go to the bathroom? How did they get to school? How was the school heated? What happened when the weather got bad? What was the school bell for? What did they eat for lunch? What about a drink of water? How were children disciplined? How many different ages and grades were in a room?

If you do not know the answer, discuss it with the personnel at Pioneer Village. Then watch your children play school.

PARENTING TIPS

Change Can Be Stressful

The end of summer signals the beginning of fall and new activities. Older children pack up their backpacks and head for school. Younger children may see changes in their daycare situation or activities. While most of these changes will be positive in nature, they can also be stressful for parents and for children.

Changes can be stressful for children, and children under stress are more likely to misbehave. Here are some tips for helping children cope more effectively with change.

- Talk with your child about what changes are going to take place. Try to anticipate all that will or could take place. Who will he/she see there, what will they do, etc.
- Talk about the feelings your child may experience, for example, he/she may miss children who no longer attend the same daycare. He/she may be scared and nervous about going to a new activity (Sunday school, ECFE, daycare).
- Even with all this preparation, remember your child may still misbehave or act out for several days. This is a normal reaction to stress for young children. This does not mean however that you allow the misbehavior "because your child is experiencing stress." But as a parent, your attitude toward the misbehavior should be different when you know it is stress related. Be supportive of your child during this adjustment period.

Gas prices now average $1.187 gallon

AAA Minnesota reports the average price of self-serve unleaded gasoline in Minnesota is $1.187, up nearly five cents from one month ago on July 16, when the average price was $1.139. Average price in northern Minnesota is $1.277. In the metro area it was $1.176.

Continued modest retail increases are expected as we near the Labor Day weekend.

Of the 193 stations surveyed, 89 per cent plan to be open on Labor Day. However, the majority of these are in the metro area, so people traveling in other sections of the state should fill up before September 2

Maurices to open in TRF

Maurices has announced it is opening a store in Thief River Falls.

A spokesperson for headquarters of Maurices in Duluth said Wednesday morning that the company plans to open a store in Thief River Falls. Beth Liden said the store will open sometime early or mid November in the old Bostwicks building in Thief River Falls. Maurices primarily carries women's sports and casual wear, but this store will also have a men's department.

Liden said that as the date for the opening nears, more information will be released. She said Maurices is looking forward to opening the new store in Thief River Falls.

Havo Inc., created by Sammy Haj and Dave Voelk of Thief River Falls, own the building in Thief River Falls.

Voelk said the opening of Maurices, a specialty store with 500 outlets in the United States, is a real good thing for the town. Voelk said Maurices will take up about three-quarters of the main floor of the building. Voelk said plans for the remainder of the first floor and the second floor are being developed for other retail stores.

Drains Run Slow?
You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.
Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.
gook
Ordinary drain products run here.
Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.
In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.
Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!
Saves Money. A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.
Safe Too. Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course, all plumbing.
So, if your drains are giving you a SIGNAL, act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today!

"THE LOVE OF MONEY"
The main object of gambling is to get someone else's money through deception and greed. It also means that every time someone wins, everyone loses, even the "so-called winner!" Why? Because the Word of God says that "What you sow, you will reap!" There is a better way. The Bible says, "The Lord makes rich, and He adds no sorrow!" God has promised to bless the work of our hands not the deception of our hearts.
There is a sorrow associated with gambling that the industry and the people behind it don't want to talk about. It comes from the shame of losing money in a moment of weakness, and then having to lie or deceive others about what really happened. We at Jesus Is King Ministries believe that gambling, especially Casino gambling, is not only against God's Word, it is against the people of Thief River Falls.

Labor Day warning:

by David Hill
Times Associate Editor

I don't know what makes me angrier — innocent victims or youth lost.

Everytime I go to an accident I get the feeling that I shouldn't be there. Whether or not I am an intruder or a nuisance is not at issue. I get the feeling I shouldn't be there because the accident probably could have been avoided.

Forty-one per cent of the fatalities and 43 per cent of those injured in all crashes in Minnesota during 1990 were between the ages of 15 and 29. So it makes sense that younger drivers be targeted for education efforts.

I told a state patrol officer that I would like to drag every high school student out to one of the many accidents I see every year. It's so frustrating that I would do anything to shake a little sense into them. But the officer didn't seem to think it would make any difference. He's been around a lot longer than I have and he's probably right. The students who don't have to listen would and the ones who need to listen won't.

The officer also made another point. He said more people are killed by cars every year than by guns, but when someone kills a few people with an automatic or semi-automatic rifle there's a nationwide revolt against guns. His point is that everyone should be just as outraged when someone is killed with a car.

Why don't people get more excited over the number of deaths on our highways? Death doesn't have to be a risk faced by motorists everytime they turn the ignition on and head out onto our highways. Such risks should be unacceptable because every life is sacred.

As one who has seen accidents too numerous to count, I advocate tougher penalties for driving violations. Violators should not be coddled. Violators should be punished first and above all else, for being a threat to all of society.

Repeat offenses, especially where alcohol is involved should not even be tolerated. Unfortunately, it's not unusual to get reports of individuals with more than one DWI being picked up for the same offense. It seems America still allows the "harmless drunk and Good Ol' boy" attitude to prevail. That philosophy has resulted in numerous "second chances" because no one can decide where to draw the line. It's time that philosophy is dumped.

I will be working this holiday weekend and I'd rather not. I'm also sure you'd rather not appear in an unflattering front page accident photo. So please drive safely, buckle up and use a little common sense out there.

Chamber offers TRF leadership course

Community Awareness '91, a course designed to provide participants with skills confidence and contacts to meet the community's needs.

"With their acquired understanding of our community and its potential, the participants can put their skills to work for the future of Thief River Falls," said Jean Heinrichs, chairperson of the education committee for the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce.

The course, which is being offered by the chamber of commerce examines six activities and institutions that enhance the environment of the community.

The goals of this program include: to identify and motivate potential leaders; to acquaint potential leaders with community strengths, needs and problems; to give potential leaders an opportunity to meet community leaders and to associate in a meaningful way with their peers; to enhance the contributions of these potential leaders to their sponsoring organizations and the community; and to motivate participants to be involved in the future of the community.

The goals are tought in the following methods: six weekly sessions every Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m. beginning October 9 and ending November 13; teaching separate subjects relating to the community; teaching the subject matter by using community leaders and experts; limiting class size, mixing participants' background to assure exposure to a cross section of view points; and developing a leadership skill each session.

The first session called Lifestyles will explore the activities and institutions that enhance the environment of our community and current status and future condition.

The second session, Health and Human Services, will discuss health care and human services available in Thief River Falls.

The third session, Agribusiness, will discuss the impact of agriculture on our community.

The fourth session, Education, will discuss and review current and future issues of education in our community.

The fifth session, Government Issues/Finance, will discuss and review the overall system of government, its changing role in our community and the finances that support it.

The sixth session, Economic Focus, will identify the forces that shape the economy of Thief River Falls. The role played by the public and private sectors in providing a climate that encourages continued economic growth.

For more information contact the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720. Register early because class size is limited.

Warren man faces criminal sex charges

Charges of criminal sexual abuse have been filed against a Warren man.

Don Loeslie, 52, Warren, has plead innocent to charges that he sexually abused a juvenile boy in 1986. Loeslie appeared in a Norman county court Tuesday and denied the charges.

Charges stem from an investigation by the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension into an allegation that Loeslie sexually abused a juvenile boy during a weekend trip to the Twin Cities in October of 1986.

The prosecution is being handled by Mary Theisen, special assistant attorney general with the Minnesota attorney general's office in Minneapolis. Theisen said Thursday that Loeslie had appeared in court in Ada on Tuesday where he was charged with two counts of second-degree criminal sexual contact with a minor. An omnibus hearing has been set for 9 a.m. September 13. Loeslie was released on his own recognizance.

Loeslie has served as a member of the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion Council since 1986. He has been an active member and has served as president, vice president and secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Wheat Growers.

Repeater group plans "hamfest" September 14

Fifth annual Lake of the Woods Repeater Association "hamfest," is expected to bring amateur radio operators from a wide area of the United States and Canada to Roseau, September 14, according to officials of the amateur radio group.

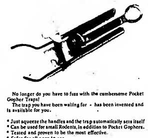
The family-fun event will feature a number of drawing prizes with the top prize being a Yaesu hand-held transceiver.

The program, scheduled as part of the 6 p.m. banquet in the school cafeteria, will feature amateur radio topics highlighted by a talk by Woody Linton, VE3JJA, who is an Ontario Provincial Policeman. He will tell how amateur radio communications aided in the capture of a man wanted for allegedly shooting and killing a provincial policeman.

Drawings for the hand-held and other prizes will begin following the program.

Registration begins at 2 p.m. at the Roseau High School. Swap tables and dealer booths can be set up beginning at 1 p.m. in the elementary gymnasium with no charge to participants.

Amateur radio license tests will be given beginning at 3:30 p.m. for aspiring hams. All classes of licensing, from no-code to the top license, the extra class, will be included in the testing program.



Total cost of attendance, including registration and the banquet dinner, is $10 USA funds for adults, $5.50 for those under 12 years of age.

Reservations should be made in advance and may be called in by calling (218) 463-1653; by letter to W.S. Adams, Box 295, Roseau, MN 56751 or by calling on the LOWRA two-meter repeater on the frequency of 147.090 with a plus offset. The repeater will be monitored as much as possible from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

High school football...

Rebels lose 7-0 contest to start year

Middle River/Marshall County Central is still looking for that elusive first win. The high school football cooperative made its debut with an 0-8 record in 1990, and Thursday lost a 7-0 nonconference decision to Lake Park/Audubon to start the 1991 season.

The challenge to claim win No. 1 will be resumed Friday when the Rebels take on a first-year Glyndon-Felton/Dilworth cooperative in a Valley Plains Conference match-up at Newfolden.

"We didn't win, again, but I felt we played as well as we did any time last year," reported Middle River/Marshall County Central coach Eldon Sparby. "We were pleased with the effort."

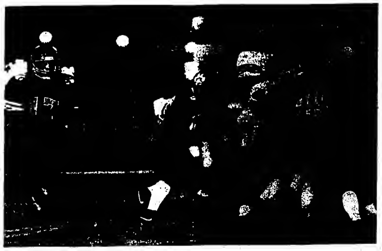
The Rebels were shorthanded for the opener, going with a squad of 13 after seven players were forced to sit out because of grades dating back to last spring.

Only scoring came on a 5-yard Shane Husarik touchdown run to finish off a 50-yard third quarter drive.

Middle River/Marshall County Central was able to stop the host Lake Park/Audubon squad on two other fourth quarter scoring threats, but the Rebels couldn't come up with an offensive attack.

"Most of the game was played in the middle of the field," pointed out Sparby. "Defensively we were pretty well pleased. Offensively we had some breakdowns; we weren't able to sustain any drives."

Middle River/Marshall County Central reached the Lake Park/Audubon 20-yard line on two occasions – on an interception and return by Tal Elseth in the second quarter and on a third quarter drive. But both scoring opportunities were turned back by the winners.



Defensively, safety David Blazek, nose guard Dan Kochmstedt and cornerback Chad Bjorgaard all turned in strong games, said Sparby. Blazek finished with nine tackles, assisted on three stops and had a fumble recovery. Kochmstedt was credited with 10 tackles, three assists and a quarterback sack. Bjorgaard came up with two fumble recoveries and a pass interception.

The game was played at Lake Park.

Blue Devils to begin season shorthanded

Grygla/Goodridge coach Darwin Hagen thinks the Blue Devils could be a Top of the State Conference challenger this fall – when all the pieces are in place.

Unfortunately, Grygla/Goodridge starts the 1991 high school football season at less than full strength because of rules violations that will sideline a half-dozen players for the first two games - today (Friday) vs. Badger/Greenbush and September 6 against Kittson County North.

After back-to-back unbeaten Top of the State Conference seasons in 1988 and 1989, the Blue Devils wound up 5-3 a year ago, and saw their Section 8 championship reign end with a 25-12 first round playoff loss at the hands of Argyle.

There were just four seniors on the 1990 team, resulting in a batch of experience for this year's outfit, which includes 14 seniors, seven juniors and 11 sophomores.

"On paper it looks good," noted Hagen. "We should be pretty competitive. We hope to be toward the top, but the conference will be up this year – there were a lot of good juniors last year."

Graduation might not have taken quantity from the Blue Devils, but it did take quality, particularly in Chris Aune, a big fullback who rushed for 1,160 yards and scored 12 touchdowns.

After back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons from Craig Berndt in 1988 and 1989, followed by Aune's numbers last year, the Blue Devils' history of success on the ground will be tested this fall when the ball-carrying duties will probably go to senior Justin Lunsetter and junior Scott Rindahl. However, Hagen said the 175-pound Lunsetter might be needed up front. "We're a little short in the line," he pointed out.

Senior quarterback Mitch Bernstein was 36-for-66 passing for 437 yards and five touchdowns last fall. Junior Jeremy Engelstad is also slated for quarterback duties.

Shane Wilkens led the 1990 Blue Devils in receiving with 14 catches for 243 yards, while Brandon Blaine led last year's defensive charts with 103 tackles. Both are seniors.

Park Rapids spoils Thief River Falls' 1991 high school football season opener...

Panthers stop Prowlers 16-6

Park Rapids slowed down Thief River Falls' speedy backfield by controlling the line of scrimmage Thursday as the Panthers stopped the host Prowlers 16-6 in season-opening Section 8A high school football.

Thief River Falls moved the ball in the first half and had a 6-0 lead at intermission, but stalled offensively in the second half. Park Rapids, meanwhile, went ahead with a touchdown/conversion on the first possession of the second half and then controlled play the rest of the night to beat the Prowlers for the third time in the four years of season-opening match-ups for the two teams.

The Prowlers rushed for 228 yards, but netted only 74 of those yards in the second half. The Panthers, after rushing for just 36 first half yards, wound up with 207.

"They were better up front," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "They caused us so many problems up front. They controlled the line. Offensively we did some nice things the first quarter-and-a-half, but after that we just didn't get the job done. We were waiting for the big play from somebody, and it just didn't happen. The capability is there, but it didn't happen."

Thief River Falls did come up with the big play early when the Prowlers' second possession of the night produced a 41-yard Marc Haugen touchdown run. Haugen, a 5-11, 150-pound junior halfback, bolted through the right side and used his speed to get through the Panthers' secondary with 2:59 left in the first quarter. A five-yard delay of game penalty on the conversion wound up costing the Prowlers as Barry Rhineberger missed the extra-point kick.

Only other first half scoring opportunity for either side came when a 21-yard run by junior wingback Kevin Johnson and a 17-yard pick-up by Haugen set the Prowlers up with a first down at the Park Rapids 33 late in the second quarter. They wound up running out of downs, however, at the 35 with 2:02 left.

Park Rapids never got past the Thief River Falls 44-yard line in the first half, but the Panthers made up for lost time by starting the second half with a 10-play, 72-yard scoring drive. There were runs of 11 and 10 yards by halfback Michael Kenney, followed by a 22-yard tackle-breaking effort by fullback Shawn May before quarterback Ryan McFarren cut into the end zone on a 5-yard keeper to tie the game with 4:06 gone in the third quarter. The tie was broken when McFarren hooked up with receiver Ryan Weinzierl in the end zone for the two-point conversion.

A 44-yard run by quarterback Jason Svir sparked the ensuing Thief River Falls possession that carried to the Park Rapids 9-yard line. But a fourth-and-six call from that point brought out the field goal unit, and Rhineberger was wide left from the 15.

Another big play put the Prowlers right back in scoring range when Carter Rogalla turned a short pass from Svir into a 44-yard gain and a first down at the Park Rapids 23. But a fumbled option pitch lost five yards and procedure penalty cost the Prowlers five more. The threat ended on the first play of the fourth quarter when Weinzierl intercepted Svir at the Park Rapids 17 and returned it all the way to the Thief River Falls 39.

Six plays later the Panthers had a 10-point cushion as May, a hard-running 5-10, 195-pound senior, charged through the middle for a five-yard touchdown run. May also

Tennis team falls 6-1

East Grand Forks swept all four singles matches en route to a 6-1 girls high school tennis win over visiting Thief River Falls Tuesday.

It was the first dual meet outing of the 1991 season for the Prowlers, who began play the previous week with the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational.

Lone Thief River Falls win at East Grand Forks came at No. 1 doubles, where senior Sara Tweet and sophomore Jami Dehnert beat a similar senior-sophomore combination – Nicole Callahan and Shelly Burton – 6-2, 6-4.

"Actually, it was a lot closer than the score showed," said Thief River Falls coach Jay Porney. "There were some close matches. It could have easily been 4-3 either way. We just had too many un-forced errors, and we have to work on our mental toughness."

Temperatures nearing the 100-degree mark took its toll on players from both teams, pointed out Porney, whose line-up included junior Jennifer Paggen, senior Tarik Koivisto, sophomore Carly Dee and freshman Jami Premstad in 1-through-4 singles, respectively. Joining Tweet and Dehnert in doubles were eighth graders Anne Padilla and Shari Evenson at No. 2, along with sophomore Kim Rupprecht and seventh grader Tiffany Brouse at No. 3.

Thief River Falls will be idle until the Prowlers head to the Brainerd area for the September 6-7 Lake Hubert Invitational.

Cross county schedule will start Tuesday

Roseau Invitational on Tuesday will open the 1991 Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country schedule.

The 4:30 p.m. meet will include varsity, junior varsity and junior high races.

Thief River Falls head coach Lynn Dyer recently announced that senior Joel Davis and junior Jim Olson have been elected captains for the Thief River Falls boys this fall, while seniors Jodi Kruta and Stephanie Vigen were selected to serve as captains of the Thief River Falls girls.

picked up the two-point conversion for a 16-6 spread with 9:01 remaining.

Final three Thief River Falls possessions ended with a punt and two interceptions.

"That drive to start the second half set the tempo," noted Mumm. "That turned things around for them. They really came off the ball. You have to give them credit; they beat us up front."

Thief River Falls fullback Matt Kanshagen, a 5-10, 178-pound senior, led all ball carriers with 88 yards on 19 carries. Haugen wound up with 63 yards on seven attempts, while May netted 77 on 12 tries.

The Prowlers return to action Friday with a 7:30 p.m. game against defending Section 8A champion Detroit Lakes at Prowler Field.

The day is coming when all hunters in Minnesota will need a firearms safety certificate or equivalent to hunt wild animals. The 1991 Minnesota Legislature took a step in that direction when it passed a law placing that restriction on all people born after December 31, 1979.

It's a move toward even safer hunting in the future, said Department of Natural Resources Enforcement Director Leo Haseman. "Firearms Safety Training is a logical requirement for hunters," Haseman said. "The new law will help ensure that upcoming hunters will be well versed in the safe and ethical use of firearms."

Under existing law, those youths born before December 31, 1979, but who are under the age of 16, also must possess a firearms safety certificate in order to hunt big game in Minnesota.

The new law has not pre-empted the existing law, Haseman noted. "That has caused some confusion," he said.

The new law states that "a person born after December 31, 1979, may not obtain a license to take wild animals unless the person has a firearms safety certificate (or equivalent), a previous hunting license, or other evidence indicating the person has completed a hunter safety course."

The previous law, which is still in effect, states that "a person under the age of 16 may not obtain a license to take big game unless the person possesses a firearms safety certificate. A certificate may not be issued to a person under age 12. A person under the age of 14 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian to hunt big game."

Information about firearms safety training class offerings may be obtained from local DNR conservation officers, or by calling the DNR Firearms Safety Training Program office toll free in Minnesota at 1-800-652-9747 (ask for the DNR).

Maple Lake Order

After a legal battle that lasted more than eight years, a Polk County resident has until September 15 to remove a road he constructed in the mid-1980s to an island in Maple Lake, located near Erskine in central Polk County.

Dennis Lindberg of rural Fertile purchased the lakeshore property in 1982. In 1983, Lindberg started building a road out to an island on his property. The work progressed in stages for approximately four years, with portions of the soft lake bed removed and replaced by several thousand cubic feet of earth and rock, above and below water level.

Minnesota law requires landowners or developers to apply for a permit from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Waters Division before undertaking work that will alter the course, current or cross section of any protected waters, below the ordinary high-water level. Lindberg did not apply for a permit, and DNR officials said a permit would not have been issued because administrative rules prohibit the building of private roads to islands. Despite repeated warnings by DNR hydrologists and two citations issued by DNR conservation officers, Lindberg continued to build the road. Extensive excavation and filling of the lake bed occurred.

The case seesawed its way through the legal system for the next several years, requiring land surveys, hearings before state administrative law judges and subsequent reviews by the DNR commissioner, a civil court case, and three DNR commissioner's orders to cease construction and/or restore the lake bed.

In 1986, Lindberg was convicted of violating state protected waters statutes. A 30-day sentence to a regional treatment center was stayed on the condition that he remove the fill and restore the property to the condition that existed prior to June 4, 1985. Lindberg did not comply.

The case came to a hearing before State Administrative Law Judge Phyllis Reha, and on March 13, 1991, Judge Reha upheld the state's position. That report was reviewed by new DNR Commissioner Rod Sando. On June 19 he signed a letter of "Findings, Conclusions and Order" upholding the findings and recommendations of Judge Rhea and ordering Lindberg to remove the fill and restore that lake bed below the ordinary high water level by September 15, 1991, and to pay $1,218 for state inspection costs.

Roseau Sheriff offers safety tips for parents

Roseau County Sheriff Patrick Novacek is reminding parents to follow some safety tips for those youngsters who will be walking back and forth to school this year.

Sheriff Novacek says parents can teach their children the following safety tips which will inform the youngsters of the danger signs to watch for and avoid in walking back and forth to school.

Drivers should be cautious of children walking back and forth to school. We can all learn from the safety tips below and abide by them to make Roseau County and area counties safer for all.

• While walking, remember to always travel with a friend. Two heads are better than one, especially in case there is an emergency.

• A stranger is anyone you or your parents don't know well.

• You or your friend must never take candy, money, medicine or anything else from a stranger.

• If a stranger in a car asks you questions, don't get close to the car (you could get pulled in) — and never get in the car.

• Strangers can be very tricky — they can ask you to walk with them to "show" them something; they can offer to pay for your video game, or ask you to help them find a lost dog or cat. Don't be fooled.

• Don't tell anyone your name or address when you're walking and don't think that because someone knows your name that they know you — they may just be looking at your name printed on your lunch box, school bag or t-shirt.

• If you think you're in any danger, yell, and run to the nearest store or back to school.

• Always tell your parents or teacher if a stranger has approached you.

By taking the time to carefully prepare your child on how to handle these situations, you can insure your child's safety whether they are walking to or from school, playing in a playground or riding their bikes.

Swimming area closed at Old Mill state park

Argyle — Officials with the Minnesota department of natural resources, division of parks and recreation, announced recently that the swimming beach at Old Mill state park will be closed for the rest of the season. The park is located just east of Argyle. Routine testing of the water in the swimming pond recently revealed increased levels of bacteria and heavy algal growth. Officials at the park plan to drain the swimming pond to try to find the problem. (North Star News)

Plummer superintendent uses ingenuity

Plummer — Plummer school district's superintendent wanted his staff to participate in a statewide teleconference on the new education method-outcome based education. The problem was the lack of a down link site close enough to Plummer. So Mr. Lorenson found some old TV cable and hooked it onto his satellite dish at his home; across the street from the school. He said the teleconference would then be picked up by the dish and shown on his set. He adds that questions from the group can be faxed and phoned into the discussion. (Gazette)

Industrial contaminant closes supper club

Grafton, ND — The T & H Dakota supper club in Grafton has been shut down temporarily because of an industrial contaminant spread throughout the building while a contracted janitorial service was cleaning. Apparently a member of the cleaning service accidentally set off the three-step process that disseminates a blue powder to put out grease fires into the air conditioning system which then spread the powder throughout the building, forcing the closure of the lounge, restaurant and pizza shop. (Grafton Record)

Classic rowboat restored

Bemidji — It was a golden moment for the Endres family recently when they welcomed back an old friend in the form of a two-person rowboat, purchased by Otto and Helen Endres in the 1930's and named after the couple's four children, Bob, Dick, Miriam and John (Bodimija). The 17-foot boat was restored during the winter of 1990-91 with some replacement but with the original hull intact. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Mayme Meyers picked as Minnesota poppy queen

Bagley — Mayme Meyers of Bagley has been announced as the new department of Minnesota poppy queen for the American Legion auxiliary. She has been a member of the Irvin Blix American Legion auxiliary for 10 years and served as poppy and Americanism chairman. She has blended the two positions, working with the school and community to promote the importance of the programs. (Farmers Independent)

Badger Enterprise newspaper is closed

Badger — The last Badger newspaper was printed this week, after 95 years of journalism in that community. The Badger Enterprise and Greenbush Tribune merged recently and the first Tribune, serving Badger, Greenbush and Strathcona will be in print next week, September 5. The first Badger newspaper, the Herald, was begun in 1896 by James W. Novotny. (Badger Enterprise)

Ground broken for new manufacturing plant

Bagley — Months of behind-the-scenes legwork were rewarded recently when ground was broken in the Bagley industrial park for a new engineering and manufacturing plant, which will be home to the Product Research and Development, now located in Roy Lake and Audubon. Donald Ricke, chairman of the board, says he expects to begin production in the new plant in early February. (Farmers Independent)

4-H agent wanted by club members in Bemidji

Bemidji — An onslaught of 4-H members and their supporters assembled recently on the Beltrami county courthouse lawn with signs supporting 4-H to urge county board members to reverse an earlier decision not to hire a 4-H youth development leader. There are about 350 4-H club members in the county. The demonstration was apparently effective, as the board voted 3-2 to change their minds about the position. (Bemidji Pioneer)

The American sold to Park Newspapers

Blackduck — Park Newspapers of Minnesota Inc., which publishes the Pioneer and The Advertiser, has purchased The American, the 2,000 circulation weekly newspaper serving the Blackduck and Kelliher areas, the company announced. Former owners Bernie and Kathy Elhard will continue to publish the Northome Record. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Stephen student receives Drew Creative award

Stephen — In recognition of outstanding creative ability, Brian Safranski of Stephen has been awards the Richard G. Drew creativity award. He was one of the select group from Minnesota and Wisconsin students chosen by their science instructors for this recognition. A student who has demonstrated creative flair and persistence in technical or scientific activities is eligible for the honor. Brian is the son of Bob and Jean Safranski. (Messenger)

County votes approval of park plans

Lake of the Woods County — The issue of upgrading a piece of lakeshore property to a useable county park has been decided by the Lake of the Woods county board; which will now apply for a $15,000 grant to make improvements to the land, commonly refered to as Graceton Beach. The project was supported by scout groups and local citizens who are interested in having a free public access to the lake. (Williams Northern Light)

St. Stephen's Catholic church gets face lift

Stephen — St. Stephen's Catholic church in Stephen is receiving a face lift, as crews from Fergus Falls work at tuck pointing, cleaning and repairing the mortar between the bricks. Workers will also paint the roof of the bell tower and the cross and do other repairs in the four to five week project. The church was built in 1918. (Messenger)

Fosston graduate plans television documentary

Fosston — A Fosston high school graduate, Ozzie Tollefson, is making plans to film a documentary on one-room schools including interviews with people who attended and worked in them. He himself attended the Moen school in Rosebud township for eight years and hopes to use that school for a number of scenes. He will be in Fosston at the Heritage center in Molland park Tuesday, September 10 from 1 to 9 p.m. and is asking people who went to one-room schools to stop in for a visit. He emphasizes that he is looking for ideas and would like to see old photos, scrap books and mementos. (Thirteen Towns)

Dan Tatum
Gospel Singer

Gospel singer presents concert in TRF Sept. 8

Gospel singer, Dan Tatum, will present a concert of Christian music 7 p.m. Sunday, September 8, at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls.

Tatum, a former night-club singer, has been featured nationally on the Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason shows, and is a former member of the Page Five Singers. He has performed with music industry giants like Judy Garland, Johnny Mathis, and Teresa Brewer. In 1975 he made his commitment to Christ and began a full-time music ministry, resulting in seven gospel albums and live performances nation-wide. Tatum's rich, easy style is combined with a strong message of faith and life in Christ.

In addition to the evening concert, Tatum will also be featured at the U.M.C. Rally for Christian Education, during regular worship services, 9:45 a.m. September 8. Everyone is welcome to share in this delightful music ministry for adults and children. Both concerts are free and open to the public.

Missionaries visit Assembly of God Church in TRF

Pastors Sandy and Cathy Stevenson and the congregation of the Assembly of God Church in Thief River Falls invite the public to attend the Sunday morning service September 1 at 10 a.m. to hear Tim and Renee Nordquist, missionaries to the Muslim people.

Tim and Renee spent their first term as missionaries-in-training in Burkina Faso, West Africa. Their work involved teaching and discipleship as well as evangelism among the Muslim people.

Their next term was to be spent in the country of Turkey, but because of the unrest in Turkey, and other circumstances, Tim and Renee have been given a new assignment. It will be to continue to reach the Muslim population, only it will be to those who have come to the United States.

Many Muslims have come to the United States for education or other business and will eventually be returning to their homeland. Tim and Renee are going to work to reach them in their Muslim culture and then send them home as born again Christians to evangelize their own people.

Graduation at UND includes area students

Summer commencement at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks was held Friday, Aug. 2, at the Chester Fritz auditorium in Grand Forks. Nicholas Spaeth, North Dakota Attorney General, was the commencement speaker.

UND awards more than 2,000 degrees each year. Candidates for degrees are announced at the end of the fall and spring semesters and the summer session. This summer, 375 students are eligible for degrees, 45 less than in the summer of 1990 (420). There were 415 summer candidates for degrees in 1989, 290 in 1988, 333 in 1987 and 314 in 1986.

Area students to graduate include the following: Lisa Ann Arnold (MA), and Kari Jo Hanson (BA).

Warmer weather helps harvest

Warmer and drier weather has helped the small grain harvest, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

In a report issued August 19, the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service reported a week of above-normal temperatures followed three weeks of cooler than normal weather and allowed farmers to nearly wrap up small grain harvest. Spring wheat harvest now stands at 83 per cent complete while oats and barley are 96 per cent and 98 per cent harvested, respectively. Corn and soybean development advanced with the warmer temperatures. Corn in the dough or dent stage and soybeans in the yellowing stage are near the five-year average.

Topsoil moisture is variable this week with moisture shortages reported in an increasing area of the state. One-third of the respondents reported short to very short topsoil moisture conditions as of August 16. Meanwhile, southeast Minnesota remains wet as does the western Minnesota River region.

Small grain harvest reports on yield and quality are as disappointing this week as previous weeks. Reports of a "fair" crop is about as good as it gets. A mycotoxin suspected in spring wheat adds further to the problems encountered with this year's small grains. Corn and soybean conditions also slipped for the third week in a row. However, two-thirds of the corn and soybeans remain in good to excellent condition.

Potato harvest is nine per cent complete, well ahead of schedule. Sweet corn harvest has also been progressing faster than normal. Second and third crop alfalfa and other hay are reported to be good to excellent.

Invention of TRF man displayed at MN state fair

Glenn Erickson's load liner is being manufactured and marketed by Pawnee Rotational Molding Inc. of Maple Plain.

Glenn Erickson, a Thief River Falls native, has developed a product in cooperation with a Minnesota based plastics manufacturer for national distribution.

Pawnee Rotational Molding and Erickson developed the "Load Liner" over the course of the past year. The "Load Liner" is a highly versatile, new product, in the category of pickup truck accessories. It combines all the features of a tool chest, side utility boxes, a bed liner, plus many other add-value features all in one. The most intriguing feature of all is the load liner's ability to be easily removed from the back of a pickup truck while fully loaded with supplies.

The load liner will be on display at two different locations on the state fairgrounds. The first location is in the Progress Center at booth number 13 (Ryan Sales company). The second is on machinery hill in the LaHass booth at the corner of Commonwealth and Underwood.

Any inquiries concerning the load liner or any questions should be directed to Paul M. West at Pawnee Rotational Molding, 5370 W. Highway Twelve, P.O. Box 147, Maple Plain, MN 55359-0147.

TRF men receive instruction from Kiwanis Lt. Gov.

New Kiwanis Lt. Governor, Rev. Alford E. Setness of Grand Forks, ND, trained new Kiwanis officers to provide for "Young Children: Priority One" when they met to consider new community services projects August 27, 6:30 p.m. at Somebody's Family Restaurant in Grand Forks.

Rev. Setness was officially installed this month as the 1991-92 Lieutenant Governor for Division 12 of Kiwanis International's Minn.-Dak. District located in the Northern Red River Valley by District Governor Designate, the Honorable Judge James Bekken of New Rockford, ND.

Setness, a 32-year member of Kiwanis and past president of the Kiwanis club of Grand Forks Golden K, trained leaders for the seven clubs in Division 12, with an emphasis on growth, club operations, and community service activities. Clubs heard about the needs of young children from Marc Olson of Grand Forks Rehabilitation Hospital, a report from Mary Ann Berg of Fargo's Trauma Center, and about a fund-raising opportunity with Kiwanis Little Buffalo Gold Books from author Earl R. Trude.

New President elects include Don Jorstad of the Kiwanis Club of Thief River Falls and James Solsten of the Thief River Falls Golden K. Officers of the Northern Red River Valley clubs considered a $15,000 project to provide equipment for child evaluation and treatment program at the Grand Forks Rehabilitation hospital.

Kiwanis clubs are currently conducting a major, three-year service emphasis called "Young Children: Priority One." Kiwanis encourages every club to sponsor at least one substantial project that addresses the most urgent needs of children from pre-natal development to age five. Last year Kiwanis clubs directed more than $10 million for this purpose.

The ordinance pertaining to the restriction of use reads as follows: "It is unlawful for any person to use roller blades, roller skates, or a skateboard upon a public street, sidewalk, or other roadway from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. except on private property with express permission of owner, and except if the roller blades, roller skates, skateboard, or operator are equipped with reflective surfaces that shall be visible during the hours of darkness from 600 feet when viewed in front of lawful lower beams of head lamps on a motor vehicle. The reflective material shall be a minimum of 40 square inches. All reflective materials used in compliance with this subdivision shall meet the requirements as prescribed by the Commissioner of Public Safety."

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser said his officers have had relatively few problems since the adoption of the ordinance. When officers make a stop, current policy requires that they issue three warnings to the individual before issuing the individual a citation. A card explaining why and how to comply with the ordinance is presented to the individual upon receipt of a warning.

Mayor Bob Carlson noted recent national news stories noting the number of communities attempting to address the problem created by the number of people taking up the sport of roller blading. He noted that example to point out that Thief River Falls is not alone in writing an ordinance to address the problems.

The council approved the amendments to the ordinance.

Chief Froschheiser said officers will attend the Roller Blade Fun Roll scheduled Saturday in Thief River Falls to explain the ordinance.

IRS needs more volunteers to help

Over 80,000 Americans gave something to the IRS this year, and they can't wait until next year to do it again.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, what they gave wasn't money; it was time. They did it through VITA and TCE, two IRS-sponsored volunteer programs which provide free tax assistance to people who can't afford professional tax help. VITA - Volunteer Income Tax Assistance - primarily helps people who are elderly, low income, handicapped, or have difficulty with English. TCE - Tax Counseling for the Elderly - is a companion program co-sponsored by organizations such as the American Association of Retired Persons.

The IRS is now recruiting volunteers for next year's VITA and TCE programs. The most important qualification is a desire to help others by answering tax questions and filling out basic income tax returns. Though some volunteers are accountants, many more come from other walks of life such as students, business people, teachers and retired people.

The IRS provides free training to all volunteers. Then volunteers offer help at churches, schools, shopping centers, and other convenient neighborhood locations.

If you'd like to volunteer or have questions about these programs, call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-829-1040 and ask for the Taxpayer Education Office.

rotenone are considered unfit for human consumption and probably will be disposed of in a landfill.

Rotenone is a naturally occurring substance approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. It is obtained from certain tropical plants and has been used for years by natives in Central and South America to help collect fish for food purposes.

The chemical has long been safely used as a garden insecticide and on cattle, dogs and sheep. It is readily absorbed through the gills of fish, thus allowing use of low concentrations that are not harmful to most other aquatic life. It breaks down rapidly to non-toxic substances (and ultimately to carbon dioxide and water), can be neutralized if necessary and does not leach into groundwater supplies since it binds to the organic materials in the top few inches of soils, then quickly degrades to non-toxic substances.

Extensive testing has shown that rotenone does not provide a health risk in laboratory animals, even at high concentrations.

In the case of Lake Bronson, where the fish will be concentrated to a small amount of water, very little of the chemical will be needed. No endangered species—fish or otherwise—were found in an evaluation of the lake.

"In recent years the number of game fish in Lake Bronson has declined," a report on the Lake Bronson fisheries resource states, "and the lake is now dominated by fish species that are undesirable to the angler. Despite annual stocking, angling success has declined.

"One way to return fishing quality is to totally eliminate the rough fish before restocking with game fish. Overall lake quality would improve, since species like bullheads tent to stir up sediments when feeding which reduce light penetration, thus inhibiting plant growth. Eliminating these species would actually improve water clarity and return natural vegetation to the lake.

"....Indeed, the leak that has caused great concern may prove to be most beneficial to Lake Bronson and to the area residents and visitors who enjoy fishing."

For further information contact Lake Bronson State Park, Box 9, Lake Bronson, MN 56734 (phone 754-2200) or DNR Area Fisheries Headquarters, Route 1, Box 1001, Baudette, MN 56623 (phone 634-2522).

benefited in many ways because they exercise regularly. Jim said he can virtually hike, backpack and do just about anything without worrying about having a heart attack. He said they hiked up Mt. Whitney one year carrying 45-pound back packs.

In addition to health, there is a tremendous feeling of accomplishment whenever he completes a race. There's the comraderie of other racers and a tremendous psychological benefit.

The Grindley's advise others to exercise regularly. Jim advises those who are over 40 and out of shape to start slowly. Build time and mileage slowly and comfortably. Anyone over 40, he said, should consult a physician before beginning. "By starting out slowly you'll enjoy it more," he said.

Jim expects that there will be about 50 runners in the event. Last year, the winner ran 164 miles. The female winner ran 135 miles. Anyone interested in supporting Jim on Megan's Run can contact him by calling 681-4881.

Dr. Jim Drindley of Thief River Falls, a radiologist at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, will compete in Megan's Run, a 24-hour race in Portland, OR. The event raises money for research of SIDS (sudden infant death syndrome).

recruitment and the concept of national guard units have been highly effective. Now, the public doesn't support a draft, Dicken said.

Despite the chronic shortage, and the difficulties involved, every soldier in the field hopes that there is a surgeon behind them like Hawkeye Pierce — ready if need be, to put them back together. So how do the armed forces find ways to recruit professional and qualified medical personnel.

Medical Officers from a new unit formed by Dicken in North Dakota completed advanced life support training at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls last weekend.

They are young medical students who have agreed to enlist for six to eight years and in return they receive a tuition waiver from the state of North Dakota to attend the University of North Dakota. The amount waived is based on need, Dicken said.

The recruiting was easy, Dicken said. The difficult job is protecting his young protege. They have no military experience when they sign on Dicken said. So if some higher ranking officer comes along and reams them out for doing something wrong like not putting their uniform on right it becomes counterproductive to the esprit de corps that he's trying to create. He wants these students to stay on in the armed forces. Not protecting them and allowing them to be harassed would be like shooting ourselves in the foot, he said. "I want to create a positive attitude so they stay in when the financial benefits are no longer important," Dicken said.

Because the students are getting all the medical training they need, Dicken and his corps staff work hard on regular military training.

"Our guys know how to march and everything," Dicken said. They are trained in all aspects of regular military training. They know how to shoot, dig ditches, follow maps and lay land mines. They have short hair cuts, are physically fit and know how to shoot an M-16.

They guys are smart, Dicken said. Most military manuals are written at an eighth grade level so they don't pose much a challenge to these medical students. Some even have parts of the training manuals memorized, Dicken said.

The program has worked well, Dicken said. The students enjoy getting away from their medical training every once in a while, are intelligent and aren't bored by peace time medical activities yet.

Dicken and another recruiter came up with the idea in 1988. Since then, Dicken has been preaching the idea and plans to visit the Pentagon in Washington, DC., next week. "Guys who used to look down on us are now looking up at us," Dicken said.

At this stage in his career, the money is not an incentive. Dicken says he gets out of it what many get out of community service projects — a sense of satisfaction.

Record enrollment is expected for Northland Community college during the fall quarter of 1991, surpassing the record of 606 full time equivalent (FTE) students set in the winter quarter of 1989. Opening day enrollment this year was 630 FTE, compared with 585 a year ago, and an increase in that number is expected in the next few days, according to registrar Dennis Bendickson. Head count on opening day this year was 869 compared with 778 a year ago. Some of the students among the record enrollment are shown with Kelsy Richards, financial aids director, during orientation held this week at the college. Of the 869 students registered on opening day, 485 are carrying 12 or more credits to be considered full-time students. Last year there were 445 full-time students for fall quarter.

Chamber endorses proposed casino

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the addition of a casino to the business community.

Thursday night at the Best Western, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce held a meeting to discuss whether it should endorse a casino to the business community. Larry Rohlf, chamber of commerce president, said he was pleased with the turnout which included about 120 chamber of commerce members. There were so many people at the meeting that another room had to be opened to accommodate the crowd.

During the meeting information collected by the media was introduced. Representatives of the media in Thief River Falls, The Times, KKAQ and Niche 99, and KTRF/KSNR, took time last week to visit several communities where a casino had an impact on the communities. The Times reported on a trip to Mahnomen, Walker and Cass Lake. KKAQ and Niche 99, represented by Dale Olmstead, reported on a trip to Duluth. KTRF/KSNR, represented by Todd McDonald and Joel Swanson, reported on a trip to Jackpot Junction. Following the reports a question and answer period relating to the reports was held.

Rohlf then opened the floor to questions and answers about the proposed casino.

Tom Dreelis of the Family Bowl said he had called bowling centers near the casinos and was told that the facilities are hurting because people are spending more of their spendable income at the casinos and not bowling. He encouraged people to think about how they cast their vote.

Don Goodrich said he appreciated the chamber of commerce's effort to collect information and allow members to vote. He said he hopes the city council will allow the citizens of Thief River Falls to vote on the issue. Goodrich said he personally believes the casino will hurt the community.

David Grothe said he had checked on whether the land would become permanently a part of the reservation. He said he was told that it would stay reservation property even if the casino left. He said such information should be a major point to consider. He also said he doesn't believe the community is dying. The community doesn't need it he said, and it will drain the local economy and send money east.

Bill O'Keefe wondered whether this was a situation where the band would go ahead and locate a casino somewhere even if the city didn't approve it.

Don Stewart, community development director, said he would hate to speculate, but he thinks they have decided to open a casino somewhere.

O'Keefe, owner of McDonald's in Thief River Falls and Grand Forks, said North Dakota recently went through the decision to open on Sunday. As a result of it going through it has raised a lot of revenue for the state. He said if Thief River Falls allows the casino to open, Canadian traffic to the city will increase tremendously. He also said he has heard people in Grand Forks ask when the casino in Thief River Falls is going to open so they can go to the casino.

Emery Lee said he has trouble considering this simply a moral issue. He said if any other business was coming to the community and promising to bring as much money and employ as many people, how would the community react?

Chuck Kimbrough said he didn't expect the casino to profit his business. He said he believes, as was evident in the video presentation by KTRF/KSNR, that there will be some benefits to everyone.

Discussion was closed at 8:20 p.m. and a vote was held. Chamber members were asked to vote on the following: "Should the Chamber endorse the addition of a casino to the business community?" Ballots counted indicated that 103 votes were cast, 71 yes, 29 no, two abstentions, and one blank vote. Officially, there were 121 people at the meeting.

Mayor Bob Carlson decides not to run

Thief River Falls Mayor Bob Carlson has announced that he will not run for re-election in November.

Carlson is 65 now and has been in public office for 34 years or more than half of his life. He said his decision not to run was not because of the controversy surrounding the recent change in the mayor's term of office from four years to two years. Carlson said he made his decision when he did so that "individuals out there who might be interested in running for office won't hold back because he hasn't announced his intentions."

Mayor Carlson said it was a tough decision and a decision he discussed with his family. Carlson said he will miss the work. Over the years he has had an opportunity to be a part of the many changes that have taken place in Thief River Falls.

Mayor Carlson said he has received the support of many individuals, but decided not to run anyway. He said he knows that over the years he has alienated a faction of the public. He said there's a faction out there that does not agree with him. That's fine, he said. There's also a faction of the public out there that doesn't hate him, but is just tired of him and that's fine too, he said. For every one of these comments he has received, there's three who say they aren't tired of him.

Carlson has served as mayor of Thief River Falls for 18 years. Carlson was elected to the council as alderman at large in the fall of 1953. He was elected to the position again in 1954, 1956, and 1958. He was defeated in the fall of 1959 and was out of office between 1960 and 1963. In the fall of 1963 he was elected as alderman of the first ward and served that position until he was elected as Mayor in the fall of 1973.

Mayor Carlson said one of the most frequent questions asked of him while visiting with school children is what was the toughest day he has had in office. Carlson said the toughest ordeal he has gone through while in office was when Thief River Falls lost four people, including two city councilmen and the Chief of Police, in a plane crash in 1974.

Mayor Carlson believes his appeal has been to the younger generations and the older generations. He said he enjoys working with these people and he has a good rapport with them.

Mayor Carlson said Thief River Falls is blessed with good people in administration. He said their support and work has largely contributed to what Thief River Falls is today. He said Thief River Falls has good people working for it and residents should be proud of them.

He said he has worked with an assortment of representatives on city councils. Some haven't been so experienced, but some have had good business sense.

He hopes the council will continue to improve working relations with the school district and county board. He said he has observed an improvement. A prime example would be the cooperation exhibited between the city and school district to improve the school facility at the airport. He said he has also observed a willingness on the county board to work together with the council.

Mayor Carlson said the future for Thief River Falls will probably face some trying times before the year 2,000 — economic and political.

Wojahn pleads guilty to one count of theft

At a special session of Pennington county district court late Thursday afternoon, September 5, Dennis Wojahn of Thief River Falls entered a plea of guilty to one count of felony theft over $2,500 in a case involving theft of funds from Thune-Upham & Associates, Inc. Official sentencing was set for Thursday, October 3, at 10:30 a.m.

Under terms of a plea agreement reached yesterday pending sentencing, Wojahn agreed to plead guilty to the single theft count and is to pay restitution of $25,200 to Thune-Upham & Associates and be sentenced to serve jail time of one year and one day. Six months and one day of the jail term will be stayed if conditions of probation are met and six months will be served in the Pennington county jail beginning after sentencing October 3. The 18-month probation will extend 12 months past the end of the jail time.

Alan Rogalla, assistant Pennington county attorney who prosecuted the case, also reserved the right to argue at the sentencing hearing for having the defendant pay costs of prosecution in preparing for trial. He said those costs are $5,000.

Rogalla said he believed terms of the plea agreement to be appropriate in that the defendant had no prior offense. He added that the victim—Thune-Upham & Associates—had been contacted by him during the the plea bargaining and was satisfied with the outcome.

Wojahn, a former accountant with Thune-Upham & Associates, had originally been charged Jan. 9, 1991, following an investigation which began Dec. 26, 1990.

An amended complaint was filed May 28 in which Wojahn was charged with five counts of theft of more than $2,500 but less than $35,000 occurring Jan. 1-June 30, 1988; July 1-Dec. 31, 1988; Jan. 1-June 30, 1989; July 1-Dec. 31,

Hurrah!/Traits store to enter Northland Plaza

A combined Hurrah!/Traits retail outlet offering women's and men's fashions will be open before Thanksgiving in the former Sear's store location in the Northland Plaza on highway 59 south in Thief River Falls.

Greg Kilgore of Retail Holdings, the company headquartered in Eden Prairie which operates the Hurrah! and Traits stores, said the Thief River Falls store will have separate signs for Hurrah! and Traits which will share a common entrance.

Hurrah! handles ladies' fashions and Traits has men's fashions. Outerwear and leather coats are carried for both men and women.

Kilgore said the stores feature brand name goods at low prices. The company has had good success with its stores in rural Minnesota, he said, adding that response to a 5,500 square foot store in Wadena which opened recently has been "phenomenal."

Everett Kompelien, president of Hartz Foods, Inc., which owns the building, said the lease involves nearly 6,100 square feet of space. He said lease terms have been agreed upon and initialed by Retail Holdings and that Hartz Foods will sign the lease as soon as the minor language changes also agreed upon have been written into it.

Local radio station compiles story on casino in Duluth

The following is a copy of a report compiled by Dale Olmstead of KKAQ and Niche 99 of Thief River Falls and presented to the chamber of commerce on Wednesday, September 4.

The Fond Du Luth Casino is owned an operated under a joint venture of the Fond Du Lac Tribe and the city of Duluth. A joint agreement was entered into in 1986 that sets forth the agreement between the city and the tribe.

The ownership is of the "Commission" set up similar to a utilities commission in a city. The "Commission" has complete ownership and control of the casino. The commission is made up of seven members, four of which are selected by the tribe and three by the Duluth City Council. For any matter or item to receive approval of the commission, six of the seven members must vote in favor. (This formula has caused some problems as any two members can cause the defeat of any proposal.)

The agreement that established the Commission set up the following distribution of profits from the casino: The commission receives 50 per cent of the profit and is spent in any manner the commission decides. It could be for city projects or reservation projects. The city of Duluth receives 24.5 per cent of the profits and is earmarked for economic development. The Fond Du Lac Tribe receives 25.5 per cent of the profits for its own use.

It should be pointed out that this formula for sharing of profits is in litigation at this time as the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (1988) passed by Congress, sets forth the requirement that a minimum of 70 per cent of any profits must go to the Tribe. The city of Duluth is contending that this law should not apply to them as their agreement should be "grandfathered" in, as it was signed before the law evolved.

Two representatives of the Commission told Olmstead that they have been told by the Tribe that if they were presented with that same agreement to sign today, the Tribe would not agree to it.

The city of Duluth financed the construction of the five floor parking ramp adjacent to the casino. The casino is paying the city to retire the debt and it is expected that the ramp will be fully paid for by next March. The cost of the ramp was 3.5 million dollars.

All debts of the casino must be paid before any "profit" can be declared. Thus, all loans that the Commission has for the purchase of land, building, equipment, etc...., plus the city's debt on the parking ramp must be fully paid off before any profit is declared or even distributed.

The parking ramp is a public ramp and is not restricted to customers of the casino.

The casino did not do well in the first couple of years of operation, however the addition of slot machines and the parking ramp drastically improved the financial situation.

The casino does not stick out like a sore thumb. If you were traveling down Superior street in Duluth and were paying attention to traffic, you may not even see the casino. It has large neon lights on the face of the building saying "Fond Du Luth". These letters are about three feet high. Painted

Fall Change

Notice those caterpillars all over? How about making one out of an egg carton? Simply cut the egg carton in half and turn it over. Use markers and color in the stripes, eyes, etc. to simulate the caterpillar.

This is an excellent opportunity to talk about metamorphosis and how caterpillars turn into butterflies. Go on a nature hunt and find caterpillars. Put them in a jar with holes in the lid and watch them spin their cocoon and then watch longer and maybe you will get your butterfly.

The library has a wonderful book called "The Hungry Caterpillar" by Eric Carle. Read it and enjoy it with your children.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need paper plate, paper, crayons and yarn.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library recommends this book on school safety:

Baker, Eugene. Safety First: School. This book presents instructions for safety in school and on the playground.

PARENTING TIPS

Too Many Toys?

Eventually almost every child will have more toys than he/she can use or more than you have room for. When this happens your child may drift from one toy to another for only brief or superficial play. One solution to this problem is to put some of the toys away for a while.

When you pack some of the toys away for a while several things can happen.

•Fewer toys are easier to pick up and put away.

•Fewer toys encourage your child to be more resourceful and inventive in looking for ways to play with the available toys.

•When you rotate the toys, the "new" toys that are coming out of storage will be interesting and fun.

If your child is old enough, he/she can help decide which toys to put away and which ones to bring out.

These periodic switches also offer a good opportunity for you to examine the toys. If repairs are needed, make them. If the toy is damaged beyond repair, discard it or salvage whatever may be reusable. A "junk" box of old toy parts can be a treasure chest to an older child who likes to tinker with construction projects.

(Contributed by the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Name the toys you are taking out of storage. Ask your child what he/she might do with it.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

This is the moist zucchini bread you have tasted before. Make one to eat now and freeze one for later:

Crunchy Zucchini Bread

3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup oil
2 cups grated zucchini
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Beat eggs until frothy. Stir in sugar, oil, zucchini and vanilla. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Pour batter into two well-greased loaf pans. Bake 1 hour at 325 degrees. Cool 10 minutes in pan before turning out on racks.

Here is a tasty treat you will enjoy making often. It's a good way to use up your leftover squash, too:

Squash Bread

6 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 cups brown sugar
3 cups mashed cooked squash
1 cup salad oil
4 eggs
1 cup chopped walnuts

In large bowl, mix flour, baking powder, salt, soda, cinnamon and cloves.

In another bowl, beat brown sugar, squash, oil and eggs. Add to flour mixture and stir with spoon just until flour is moistened. Batter will be slightly stiff and lumpy.

Spread in 2 greased and floured loaf pans and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until done. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pan.

Today I'm going to give you some recipes from my grandmother's old cookbook. Since the front pages are missing, I have no idea how old it is. I think it must be pretty old, though, because the telephone numbers for advertisers are one and two digit numbers.

Maybe someone can figure out the age, since the ad for J.C. Penney says the store is 27 years old. Some of the ads in this old cookbook are from:

J. Borry, photographer.

Lyceum Theatre, "Showing Nothing But First Class Talking Pictures."

Bredeson's Grocery, "Where Your Dollar Has the Most Food Value."

Lake's Drug Co., Roy Lake and Walter Lake, Prescriptions Druggists, "Accurate and Dependable."

Jung's Quality Bakery, Makers of Big Ben and Victory Bread, "In Quality We Trust," and Thelma Holm Erickson, Teacher - Pianist - Accompanist.

Anyway, here are some of the recipes, exactly the way they were printed.

Kittson county school district says students must pay tuition in ND

Hallock — Students from District 2359 can attend school in Pembina, ND, but only if they pay their own tuition, according to a school board decision recently. With the consolidation of the St. Vincent and Humboldt schools and the Hallock school district, some families feel that it would be more convenient to send children to Pembina. Parents argued that they would be able to send their children to Lancaster, which, like Hallock, is in Minnesota and not be required to pay tuition there. But the move across state lines is a different situation, according to school board members. (Kittson County Enterprise)

Playground goes up this week at Blackduck

Blackduck — Children's dreams will become reality this week, when the construction of Blackduck's long-awaited and unique playground begins this week on the school grounds. Mayor Carlson decides not to run/cont.

He said be hopes Thief River Falls will continue to have a strong downtown. He said he dreads the day when things will come in to hinder the downtown business district.

Mayor Carlson isn't sure what the future holds for himself. Deciding not to run for office was difficult especially when he knows there's support out there for him. He did say be might run for office sometime in the future.

The one important thing Thief River Falls has going for it, Mayor Carlson said, is the type of people in Thief River Falls. He said they are the type that make things happen and get things done.

Mayor Carlson, a dedicated public servant

by David Hill
Associate Editor

The Mayor of Thief River Falls for the past 18 years has decided to step down and not run for office this fall. Almost everyone in Northwest Minnesota can name that person — "Mayor Bob".

He doesn't need much of an introduction. He has dedicated 34 years of his 65 years to public service. One way or another, anyone remotely connected to polities has heard of Mayor Bob Carlson.

As a reporter for only a "few" of those years, I can say that I have never seen anyone work so hard at representing Thief River Falls. I can't think of anyone who would shake as many hands, speak publicly as often or kiss as many babies. Whenever someone needed the mayor, no matter the promotion, he would be there if asked.

Fellow journalists in the region have often referred to Mayor Carlson as our "quotable mayor". They simply meant that if there was an issue being discussed he would have something to say that could be quoted. Quite frequently that got him into hot water, but he didn't mind the heat.

In all, it seemed that he thrived in such an atmosphere. Same people seem predestined to public office.

In journalism there's a symbol for the end of a story. It's "--30--". Since I don't believe there's an end to this story I'll refrain from using"--30--", and just wish an honorable public servant the best. Good Luck, Mayor Carlson, and Thank You.

An Unfortunate set of circumstances

The Times received the following story recently. We doo't know the author but it is such on amusing story we thought we'd share it with you.

In response to your request for additional information in block number three of the claim form, I put "Poor Planning" as the cause of my accident. You said in your letter that I should explain more fully and I trust that the following details will be sufficient.

I am a bricklayer by trade. On the day of the accident I was working alone on the roof of a new six-story building. When I completed my work, I discovered that I had about 500 pounds of brick left over. Rather than carry the bricks down by hand, I decided to lower them in a barrel by using a pulley which fortunately was attached to the side of the building at the sixth floor.

Securing the rope at ground level, I went up on the roof, swung the barrel out and loaded the brick into it. Then I went back to the ground and untied the rope, holding it tightly to insure a slow descent of the 500 pounds of bricks. You will note in block eleven of the accident reporting form that I weigh 135 pounds.

Due to my surprise at being jerked off the ground so suddenly, I lost my presence of mind and forgot to let go of the rope. Needless to say, I proceeded at a rather rapid rate up the side of the building.

In the vicinity of the third floor, I met the barrel coming down. This explains the fractured skull and broken collarbone.

Slowed only slightly, I continued my rapid ascent, not stopping until the fingers of my right hand were two-knuckles deep into the pulley.

Fortunately, by that time I had regained my presence of mind and was able to hold tightly to the rope in spite of my pain.

Approximately the same time, however, the barrel of bricks hit the ground, and the bottom fell out of the barrel. Devoid of the weight of the bricks, the barrel now weighed approximately 50 pounds.

I refer you again to my weight in block number eleven. As you might imagine, I began a rapid descent down the side of the building.

In the vicinity of the third floor, I met the barrel coming up. This accounts for the two fractured ankles and the lacerations of my legs and lower body.

The encounter with the barrel slowed me enough to lessen my injuries when I fell into the pile of bricks and fortunately only three vertebrae were cracked.

I am sorry to report, however, that as I lay there on the bricks — in pain, unable to stand and watching the empty barrel six stories above me — I again lost my presence of mind.

I let go of the rope.

"KNOWING GOD"
Phil 3:10 gives us four points in knowing Him, and living for Him, here are the four points: 1. That I may know Him, 2. In the power of His resurrection, 3. And the fellowship of His suffering; 4. Being made conformed unto His death.
We need to get to know Jesus in the power of His resurrection. This will take laying aside of our desires and conform to what Jesus is saying to us. As we pray and read His Word, He will show us how to walk in Resurrected Life. Are you sick of the old life you are living? Trade your old life in and get the NEW LIFE Jesus gives.

Tuesday volleyball openers...

Mustangs, Skippers start with wins

Red Lake County Central and Middle River were season-opening winners Tuesday in area high school volleyball.

The Mustangs outlasted East Grand Forks 3-2 in a 2 1/2-hour marathon match at East Grand Forks, while the Skippers swept Grygla/Goodridge 3-0 at Grygla.

RLCC vs. EGF

First-ever outing for the new Oklee/Plummer volleyball cooperative produced a 17-15, 10-15, 15-7, 11-15, 15-11 Red Lake County Central win over East Grand Forks.

"It was a battle," said Mustangs coach Brad Borene. "It was fun, but it was tiring. The kids really worked hard. I thought we were going to run out of gas."

Red Lake County Central was ready to finally wrap things up with a 14-2 cushion in Game 5 before East Grand Forks came back to make it close down the stretch.

Jenny Walter (26 kills; 20 last-touch points), Dawn Bachand (22 kills; 16 last-touch points) and Jill Radniecki (13 last-touch points) came up with big numbers for the winners, while setter Cheryl Greenwald directed the Mustangs' 5-1 offense and Dixie Koskela had a perfect 18-for-18 night at the service line. Bobbi Berberich and Lisa Larson also performed well as role performers, said Borene.

"For the most part, we played together," pointed out Borene. "At times it went pretty well."

Middle River vs. G/G

It was a successful debut for Middle River rookie head coach Debbie Johnson as the visiting Skippers beat Grygla/Goodridge 15-7, 15-7, 15-11.

An injury kept Grygla/Goodridge hitter Kathy Smeby on the sidelines for the opener, limiting the Wolverines' attack the was led by Sue Ann Verbout with six service points.

"It was typical season-easy, sloppy volleyball," acknowledged Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. "There was a lot of bumping over the net."

Steve Burslie scored on runs of 10 and 80 yards for the winners, while Eric Bjorgaard scored the game-winner on a one-yard run with 40 seconds left to play. Bjorgaard had earlier produced a two-point conversion to give Thief River Falls an 8-0 first quarter lead.

The winners lost the service of Jason Hruby in the first quarter to a broken finger.

Thief River Falls freshmen will be in Bemidji Monday for a 5:15 p.m. game.

Ponies edge Prowlers 3-2

Warren outlasted Thief River Falls 3-2 Tuesday in season-opening high school volleyball.

There was never more than a three-point final in any of the five see-saw games as the visiting Ponies emerged with a 15-13, 14-16, 15-12, 12-15, 15-12 victory.

It was close throughout the night. Warren overcame a 9-4 deficit to win the first game 15-13; Thief River Falls trailed 14-9 before winning the second game 16-14; the Ponies broke away from a 12-12 tie to take the third game 15-12; and the Prowlers snapped an 11-11 deadlock in winning the fourth game 15-12 to square the match at 2-2.

Game 5 also feature at tie at 11-11 before Warren finally gained the upper hand.

"I was pleased with the overall effort from everyone," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "We have a lot of things to work on yet, but we are going to take one match at a time. The inexperience showed at times, but that's okay. Once we get used to each other on the court, we hopefully won't have so much confusion as to who is going to take the ball. We need to hit more and work on blocking, but that will all come, too."

Senior Kathy Kvick and sophomore Toni Chiodo led the Prowlers with 16 and 13 last-touch points, respectively, while freshman Kelly Skeim picked up 9, junior Nessa Andersen and sophomore Jamie Martell had 7 each and senior Amy Eriksen finished with 6.

Skeim had a team-high 13 service points, while Chiodo wound up with 9 and Martell had 8.

Kvick earned the Prowlers' Player of the Week honors from the coaching staff for her first-match efforts.

Everyone on the team saw playing time, pointed out Anderson, except for senior Pam Puppe, who was sidelined by an ankle injury suffered in the warm-ups. "I was happy that I was able to use three of the B squad players to help us out," she said Anderson.

Chiodo, plus juniors LuAnne Maslowski and Ali Peterson all took turns working at the setting positions. "They put up some nice sets," pointed out Anderson.

Warren won the junior varsity match 15-11, 13-15, 15-10 and Thief River Falls took the freshman contest 15-10, 15-13. There was no C squad match. Peterson was named Thief River Falls' Player of the Week at the junior varsity level and Keri Schommer received similar honors for the freshmen.

Thief River Falls varsity will be at the Roseau Invitational Saturday. The eight-team, two-division format features Roseau, Kittson County North, Tri-County and Steinbach, Manitoba in Pool A; Warroad, Middle River, Badger/Greenbush and Thief River Falls in Pool B. The round-robin schedule starts at 9 a.m.

Third place match is set for 3 p.m., followed by the championship match at 4.

The Prowlers host Detroit Lakes Tuesday starting at 6 p.m.

Sophomore Lisa Ulrich handled the freestyle portion of the first place Thief River Falls 200-yard individual medley relay during Thursday's high school swim meet against Park Rapids. The Prowlers beat the Panthers 108-77.

Thursday high school volleyball...

Nordics win opener

Thursday area high school volleyball produced a season-opening win for Marshall County Central, but Red Lake County Central, Middle River and Grygla/Goodridge were all handed setbacks in their second starts of 1991.

The Nordics beat the Skippers 3-1, the Mustangs were beaten by Fosston 3-2 and the Wolverines fell to Badger/Greenbush 3-0.

RLCC vs. Fosston

Second five-game match in three days left Red Lake County Central with a 1-1 first-week record. The Mustangs outlasted East Grand Forks in a Tuesday marathon, but a Thursday contest at Oklee produced a 3-2 Fosston win – 7-15, 15-3, 15-underneath in four inch letters are the words "Gambling Casino".

The following is a personal account of the trip prepared by Olmstead:

On Monday, September 2, I traveled to Duluth for the purpose of interviewing people in the community of Duluth to determine the effects that the Fond Du Luth Casino has had on the people and businesses of Duluth.

On Monday evening, I spent about two hours at the casino observing the clientele and employees.

The casino is located in a former Sears building in downtown Duluth. The casino has been open for five years. A five floor parking ramp is located next door along with several other retail businesses. It was interesting to note that the adjacent businesses were small retail shops, electrical wholesale; lighting fixture retail, muffler shop and others. There was one restaurant across the street.

Since Sears left the location and moved to a mall, a lot of other businesses have done the same.

The Fond Du Luth Casino uses three floors of the building now. The first floor is 15,000 square feet and has 153 slot machines, the casino vault, a small concession stand, and a large area set up for overflow bingo players. The bingo tables on the first floor takes up about 40 per cent of the first floor space.

The second floor is entirely dedicated to bingo and has no slot machines. The third floor contains the offices and employee break room.

Uniformed security was very conspicuous in all areas of both floors. There were security people at each of the doors entering the casino. Some of the security people were armed.

On Tuesday morning, I interviewed Officer Joe Sinnott of the Duluth Police Department. Officer Sinnott is the officer that works with the license department and gambling establishments within the city of Duluth.

I asked Officer Sinnot "What affect has the casino had on crime and law enforcement in Duluth?"

He replied "There hasn't been a great amount. We have not had to add any personnel to the force and no great affect on traffic."

He went on to say that, "Charitable gambling has been horrendous. We have had far more problems with charitable gambling than we ever haveever had with the casino."

I asked if I could examine the police records over a period of time that would describe what amount and kind of calls the Duluth police department have been involved with at the casino. In the period from January 1, 1991, through August 29, 1991, there were a total of 21 actions that they were involved with (less than tree a month). These were actions by the Duluth Police Department in which a report had to be given to the State of Minnesota. Most of the police calls were for break-ins in cars in the parking ramp. Others consisted of assault, forger and one terroristic threat called into the casino.

Officer Sinnot oversees 40 charitable gaming sites that hold 65 charitable gambling licenses. Personally, Officer Sinnott is not in favor of any form of gambling, but was very supportive of the Fond Du Luth Casino.

I interviewed Michael Bolen, marketing director for the Duluth Enterprise Initiative and Duluth Chamber of Commerce. I asked him to tell me the most negative aspect of the casino in Duluth. He said the most negative things he could think of was that "some people are against it". He said that the casino is an acceptable piece of tourism and that the casino is promoted by the Convention and Tourism office of Duluth. He commented, "Don't worry about it. It's running so well now that even the newspaper doesn't find much bad to write about it anymore."

I interviewed John Snee, vice president and General Manager of KDAL AM/FM radio in Duluth. Mr. Snee said that the negative comments before the start of the casino were minimal. He could not think of any outstanding negative aspect of the casino being in Duluth and that it did improve the revenue sources for the town.

Les Bass is the city of Duluth's auditor. He is an ex-officio officer of the commission that owns and operates the casino. He has to approve all expenses that have to be paid by the casino operation. He cited that the payroll for the past two weeks was $105,000 (net). Their original operating budget for 1991 was 4.3 million dollars. It has now been revised to about 5 million dollars due to the addition of more slot machines and black jack this fall.

He told us that the first two years of operation of the casino were below what was projected and that there had been bad management in the first years. The casino is now managed by Dennis Urchill. Mr. Urchill is not a member of the Tribe and is a former banker with First Bank systems.

Mr. Bass explained in brief the structure of the ownership, management, operation and division of profits that exists between the city of Duluth and the Fond Du Lac Tribe. (I summarized this earlier.)

Mr. Bass told us that the most opposition to the casino came from the charitable gambling people. The commission (owners/operators of the casino) made an offer to all of the charitable gambling organizations that the commission would pay them any amount of loss that may suffer that could be attributed to the establishment of the casino, upon substantiation by a claiming organization. To date, there has only been one claim and he was not aware that any money had been paid out on the claim since the only one claim received had not been substantiated. By agreement with the city, the casino will go through normal liquor license application procedures as would any other business, and that the casino has filed for a liquor license. When the casino opened up five years ago they did sell beer and wine but took it out as it was not selling well enough and the players did not consume much. At that time, the casino had only pull tabs and bingo.

Tuesday afternoon, we met with Mr. Jackie Basset, operations manager for the casino, and Ms. Heather McNab, commission administrator. They gave me a walking tour of the casino and were very candid and openly answered any questions and concerns that I presented to them. Some important information that they provided includes the following:

• The parking ramp will hold 354 cars and has never been filled up.
• They employ 253 people and will be adding at least 50 more when they open the blackjack tables in October.
• Approximately half of the employees are part-time.
• A lot of students are employed.
• There is an employee turnover of 3 to 5 per week.
• Most floor employees such as beverage waiters, change people earn minimum wage but receive a lot of tips. Some have earned up to $2,000 in a month when wage and tips are added together.
• Twenty-five per cent of the employees are Native American and the casino recruits outside the reservation for employees.
• They average 1,300 people in the casino per day.
• The largest number of people through the casino in one day was 2,500, which was August 31, 1991.
• The casino has been deemed the "number one tourist attraction in Duluth," by the Chamber of Commerce.
• All security people are licensed Minnesota Peace officers.
• All security people are CPR trained, and most have had advance first aid training.
• About 25 per cent of the traffic is from Canada.
• Over half of the traffic is tourist traffic in the summer.
• They urged any casino operator to set up for medical emergencies for customers. They have had customers have heart attacks, strokes, accidents and falls. (A lot of the customers are elderly).
• The average age of their typical customer is 45. They expect this age to lower when blackjack is offered this fall.
• They do not tolerate any profanity, misuse of drugs or alcohol. "Bums" are not welcome and are promptly escorted out of the building.
• By agreement, all Duluth Law Enforcement and Fire department people have authority in the casino.
• The building must conform to all fire/safety codes.

Ms. McNab, commission administrator, says they feel that this type of gambling will have a 10 year window of opportunity and that things will be "rosey" during that period, but after that, things may change.

All of the people I interviewed were most cooperative and gave me all the time I needed.

1989; and Jan. 1, 1990-June 30, 1990; and a sixth count of theft over $500 but less than $2,500 during the period of July 1 to Dec. 31, 1990. Total loss during that time had been placed in excess of $62,000.

Maximum sentence on the first five counts was listed at 10 years in jail, a $20,000 fine, or both. Maximum sentence on the sixth count was five years in jail, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Under the plea agreement reached Thursday, the last five counts of the amended complaint were dismissed conditionally. The $25,200 restitution is to be paid on Monday, September 9, according to Rogalla.

MCC girls begin season with win

6, 10-15, 15-5.

"It was a game of peaks and valleys for us," said Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene. "We had some good moments, but we didn't do so well in the games we lost. Fosston is probably one of the best teams in the region right now. They're so doggone quick. They keep you off balance."

Jenny Walter had a team-high 16 kills and was 13-for-13 at the service line for the Mustangs. Dawn Bachand finished with 14 kills, and setter Cheryl Greenwald played well in directing the Red Lake County Central attack, said Borene.

The Mustangs will compete in the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational Saturday before meeting East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Tuesday at Plummer and Climax Thursday at Oklee.

G/C vs. Badger/Greenbush

It was the second straight 3-0 loss for Grygla/Goodridge, but the 15-3, 15-6, 15-12 defeat at the hands of Badger/Greenbush at Goodridge Thursday produced improved play for the Wolverines over a Tuesday decision against Middle River.

"We did play better volleyball," pointed out Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. "Our younger girls got over some of their nervousness."

Nikki Bottem played an aggressive match at the net, said Mostrom, and freshman Jodi Manderud performed well as the Wolverines' setter, he mentioned.

Grygla/Goodridge will play Warroad Tuesday in Goodridge and will meet Lake of the Woods Thursday at Baudette.

MCC vs. Middle River

Marshall County Central opened its season with a 15-8, 15-5, 15-17, 15-11 home court victory over Middle River.

The Nordics will wait unit their own Marshall County Central Invitational September 14 to return to play.

The Skippers fell to 1-1 for the year.

BIG MONEY
BIG TIMES
BIG TROUBLE

Sure, gambling casinos are big money operations. Sure, some businesses boom. But a casino on reservation property in Thief River Falls? Are we serious? Think of the implications for our children and our community:

1. What example would we be giving our children by accepting a gambling casino?
Every perent and leeder has the responsibility to set en example for their children, to teach them honest work ethics end that getting more money is not the most important thing in life.

2. Gambling casinos have always been illegal for the general public to establish because they have always been classified as vice businesses.
The strength of e community is the moral values of its citizens. Good moral values are worth more than money. Vice has the long-term effect of collectivaly lowaring the moral standards of people. Thet meens more greed, more leziness, more stealing, end everyone suffers.

3. Former reservation land purchased by the Indians becomes permanent reservation land.
Think of permanently seceding out of local jurisdiction a centrel business area in our city for a vice businessl Local officials would heve no authority over it. Lew enforcement officials cannot enter reservation property unless given permission by the Indians owning it. Thet parcel of ground would become theirs to do with es they wish for as long es you live, free from the taxes end ordinances the rest of the city is under.

4. Think of the fact that gambling itself is motivated by raw greed.
It is recorded in the Bible that "the love of money is the root of all evil." This means that those who love monay are willing to make morally wrong decisions in order to get more of it. It is also written that, "righteousness lifts up e nation, but evil is e disgrece to any people."

5. Would an accessible gambling casino help to further ruin our families?
One leading ceuse of divorce is financial problems. So if money is tight because Dad or Mom spent it et the casino, thet means more erguments in the home. How meny divorces would be encouraged by e casino in our city? Strong families mean strong churches, schools and communities.

6. Think of the fact that people have only so much money to spend.
Most people living in our area are not overly wealthy. So if our people gamble eway their money et a vary available casino, it simply means they will have less money to spend on new shoes, e new cer, new furniture, housa improvements, etc. It means more money for the Red Lake band of Chippewa and less money for our local businesses.

7. Could this casino become a financial parasite, siphoning far more money out of the area than it ever returned?
The jobs created by e casino would not come close to returning the money siphoned out of the area. Some say tourism will meke up the difference. But with casinos in Warroad, Mahnomen, Leech Lake, Mille Lacs, etc. end who knows where else in the future, could we reasonably expect long-term tourism to be a great factor in resupplying the locel finances that heve been dreined ewey?

8. How much more of your taxes will go to pay for increased welfare costs?
If Mom and Dad gemble away their eernings how will they feed their kids? By food stamps, AFDC, emergency assistance, etc. And who peys for that? You do!

Compulsive gambling hotline noted

Minnesota Department of Human Services Commissioner Natalie Haas Steffen has announced a stepped up publicity effort for the Minnesota Compulsive Gambling hotline. A brochure, a poster, a sticker, and a phone file card bearing the hotline number — 1-800-541-4557 — will be distributed throughout the state this month and next in an effort to provide assistance and referrals to problem gamblers and other interested individuals.

The 1991 Minnesota Legislature approved a measure that requires the posting of the Minnesota Compulsive Gambling Hotline number at all locations where state-authorized gambling takes place. The location list includes wherever pari-mutuel betting tickets are sold, points of sale for all lawful (charitable) gambling, and retail outlets where lottery tickets are sold.

The State Lottery volunteered additional funding — beyond the $200,000 annual budget provided for compulsive gambling treatment programs — for the printing of the signs, cards, stickers, and brochures, which bear the slogan: "Help is just a phone call away." Carmichael-Lynch Advertising provided design services at no cost.

The State Lottery, the Pari-Mutuel Racing Division, and the Gambling Control Division each are handling distribution for their respective gambling outlets. The phone file cards will be distributed to mental health and human service agencies and other community resources throughout the state.

DHS's Mental Health Division provides under contract the hotline service and facilitates development of treatment programs for compulsive gamblers and their families.

Northland holds auditions

Auditions for Northland Community College's fall production, The Good Doctor by Neil Simon, will be held Monday and Tuesday, September 9 and 10 at 7 p.m. in the theatre auditorium. Roles are available for three men and two women. Performances are scheduled for October 24 to 27.

The play is a comic blend of the writings of Neil Simon and Anton Chekhov, combining any characters and situations into an evening of farcical fun. Community members as well as NCC and Technical College students are welcome to audition. For more information call 681-2181, ext. 129.

Number of full time workers in families falls

The number of families with a member working full time fell by nearly 600,000 between the second quarters of 1990 and 1991, reflecting the impact of the recession, the U.S. department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. Over the same period, the median wage and salary earnings of families rose by 1.7 per cent to $664. Other second quarter 1991 highlights were:

• The total number of families with at least one member working (either full or part time) fell by 320,000 to 52.9 million. Black families were less likely to have an employed member than either white or Hispanic families.

• The proportion of families with an unemployed member rose to 9.0 per cent in the second quarter, up from 7.3 per cent a year earlier. Overall, about 7 out of 10 of these families also had one or more employed members, but there were notable differences depending on the type of family. For instance, about 80 per cent of married couple families with an unemployed member also had an employed member, compared with 47 per cent of families maintained by women and 58 per cent of families maintained by men.

• Among families with children, the proportion with at least one unemployed parent rose to 7 per cent in the second quarter, up from 5.4 per cent a year earlier. Families with pre-schoolers remained more likely to have an unemployed member than did families with older children.

• Among all families, about 11.2 million had no member in the labor force, an increase of 350,000 over the year. About three-fifth of these families had no members under the age of 60.

• Median weekly earnings of all married couple families with wage and salary workers were $745 in the second quarter, 2.5 per cent higher than a year earlier. Earnings for families maintained by women rose more than twice as fast but, at $390, remained about half those of married couples. An important reason for this gap is the fact that married-couple families are twice as likely as families maintained by women to contain multiple earners.

Governor talks about attitudes towards violence

Changing our attitudes about violence
by Gov. Arne Carlson

In recent weeks, the headlines have brought us a series of sad tales: A young woman is kidnapped and killed; a husband takes his wife's life; several women undergo sexual assaults.

There is no doubt that we as a society have become more violent, and more accepting of the violence we see around us. That violence take a particularly heavy toll on women.

For many women in Minnesota, and around the country, the fear of violence is a daily experience. Women are afraid to walk alone, to walk through parking ramps or to go out at night. The feeling of fear simply becomes part of their everyday lives.

That has to change. We cannot continue to function as a society when half of our population spends much of their time in fear. Things will not improve, however, simply because laws are passed, or because more police are put on the street. The single most important thing we can do to eliminate violence and reduce fear is to change our attitudes.

A good example of what attitudes can do is the battle against drunk driving. For years, thousands of people were killed on our roads because drunk driving was quietly tolerated. Often, when someone took the wheel after a few drinks, people would sort of smirk and say, "It's OK, he can hold his liquor."

Now, through the efforts of Mothers Against Drunk Driving and others, we no longer look the other way when someone drinks and drives. It is no longer a laughing matter, and it is no longer socially acceptable to drink and drive.

That is just the kind of change we need to make in our attitudes towards violence. I was startled recently to see survey data showing that roughly half of our young men feel that if a woman walks alone at night, she is inviting rape. An alarmingly high number also felt that if they dated a woman for more than six months, they were entitled to rape her.

As the parent of a young daughter, I find those numbers frightening. And as a Governor, I want to do what I can to help reshape our attitudes. As a society, we must learn that violence is never acceptable in a relationship. We must teach our children to respect one another, and to treat others the same way they would like to be treated. And we can no longer joke or smirk about sexual violence — it must be condemned whenever we see it.

I have set aside the week of September 29 to draw attention to the problems of violence, and to get our state thinking about ways to eradicate it. But the battle will not be won with proclamations, speeches or public service announcements. It will be won by teaching our children that every other person is special, and deserves to be treated with love and respect. Only with those new attitudes will we put an end to the hurting. Only then can we hope for a violence free society.

Fargo VA to participate in study

U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Medical and Regional Office Center in Fargo, ND, is one of over 200 hospitals in the United States that will participate in a major international study designed to improve survival for patients with heart attacks. The Fourth International Study of Infarct Survival (ISIS - 4) will be carried out in over 20 countries and the study directors expect to enroll over 50,000 patients worldwide.

Each of the previous three ISIS trials has tested a different group of medicines in the treatment of patients with a definite or suspected heart attack. ISIS - 2 demonstrated the benefits of the clot dissolving medicine streptokinase as well as aspirin for treatment of heart attacks and as a result these drugs are becoming more widely used. ISIS - 3 compared three different clot dissolving medicines and found them all to be equally effective in saving lives. In ISIS - 4, three entirely different types of medicine already used to treat other forms of heart disease will be tested for their effectiveness in treating patients suffering a heart attack.

Young Minn. wheat farmers essay contest

Young Minnesota wheat farmers are eligible to enter an essay contest in which two $750 leadership development awards will be given away. The program, sponsored by Monsanto Agricultural Products Company and the Minnesota and National Associations of Wheat Growers, is designed to acquaint younger wheat farmers with the wheat associations' organizational structure, leadership development, policy development, and the educational aspects of wheat organizational meetings.

The $750 awards will help defray the costs for winners to participate in their choice of either the National convention to be held in Reno, Nevada, in January or the NAWG Summer Leadership Conference to be held in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, next July.

Any Minnesota wheat farmer between the age of 20 and 35, who has not previously participated in either of the NAWG meetings mentioned above is eligible to enter. The entries are judged by an unbiased committee, including representatives from the University of Minnesota and the Extension Service, and winners are selected based upon the content of their brief 50-word essays explaining why they would like to participate in a NAWG meeting.

Entry forms can be obtained by either writing or calling the MAWG office. The deadline for entering is October 30.

City Council, County Board to meet Tuesday on casino

Public meeting planned for 5 p.m. in city auditorium basement meeting room

Meeting time remains scheduled for 5 p.m. Tuesday, September 17, for a combined meeting of the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington county board of commissioners to discuss the gambling casino proposed for Thief River Falls by the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians. Meeting place is the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

The meeting—which is not a formal public hearing—is open to the public and appears to be the proper time for citizens to present testimony regarding location of a casino in Thief River Falls. Format for the meeting has not yet been fully developed and procedure for taking public comment may not be determined until a meeting of board and council representatives with Red Lake Band representatives Monday afternoon.

The Red Lake Band is considering purchase of the former Red Owl supermarket building and certain adjoining properties to permit establishment and operation of a gambling casino. A 1987 Supreme Court decision ruled that Indian reservations are exempt from state and local gambling laws and the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act of 1988 creates the mechanism through which Indian tribal governments may allocate jurisdiction and control of gaming activity which occurs on their lands.

For the compact between the State and the Band to become effective, the Governor must agree to the terms and it must be ratified by the Secretary of the Interior. The Governor requires that the city and county invite the Band to operate a casino within the city limits, according to information provided to the news media.

Although the casino has been a subject of community discussion for several weeks, neither the county board nor the city council has met directly with the Red Lake Tribal Council. Representatives of all three governing bodies have been meeting, however, and the session Monday at 1:30 p.m. is intended to obtain answers to a number of questions prior to the Tuesday evening public session.

Ten general areas in question have been defined by Paul Ihle, city attorney, and Don Stewart, community development director. These include parking, performance standards, zoning, compliance with codes, liquor, streets, utilities, law enforcement, fire protection and payment in lieu of taxes.

Since land purchased by the Red Lake Band would become reservation property, it would be accorded the same conditions as other reservation lands. This would include exemption from taxation, city ordinances and state regulations, and law enforcement on the property. Many of these exemptions could be alleviated by prior agreements which will be discussed by representatives of the City, County and Red Lake Band.

It is expected that the concerns mentioned for discussion on Monday would be presented as information at the Tuesday public meeting, either in report form from the representatives handling negotiations or in answer to specific questions from city or county officials at the meeting.

Candidates asked to take stand

Thief River Falls Mayor Bob Carlson has challenged candidates running for election in November to state their position on the casino prior to the election.

Tuesday night during the Thief River Falls city council meeting, Mayor Carlson told members of the council running for office that they had better identify themselves on the issue of the proposed casino before November 5. Mayor Carlson is afraid the council will attempt to sidestep the issue if a vote on the issue is delayed until the election.

But Third Ward Alderman Dale Wennberg didn't see it the way Mayor Carlson did. Wennberg said he didn't know why Mayor Carlson needed to know his position or any other candidate's position. His vote is only one vote and what should matter is the consensus of the voting public.

Jean Heinrichs, and J.J. Womack, aldermen at large, said they hadn't heard the presentation from the tribal council yet and didn't have the information needed to make an informed decision.

The issue that sparked the short debate was of course, the proposed casino. The council discussed how they want to conduct the meeting on September 17. At that meeting, representatives of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa will give a presentation on the proposed casino. Mayor Carlson and others are concerned that if there isn't any structure to the meeting, it has the potential of getting out of hand.

Jerry Wigness, city clerk, suggested that members of the council sit down and discuss how the meeting will be conducted, when it will be conducted and for how long, with representatives of the county board.

Currently, the meeting, sponsored by the city and county, is scheduled for 5 p.m. on September 17 in the city auditorium. There is some debate, however, as to the time of the meeting. Alderman Don Barron suggested the meeting be held at 7 p.m. instead of 5 p.m. because he believes a 5 p.m. meeting is poor planning. He believes fewer people will be able to attend if the meeting is held at 5 p.m. and the 5 p.m. meeting time was set at that time simply to accommodate the county board which has planned a welfare board meeting at 7 p.m.

Jean Heinrichs, believes the people will come regardless of the time and that the 7 p.m. deadline gives the city and county and opportunity to close down the meeting.

Barron and Alderman Dale Wennberg presented a motion to request a change in time from 5 to 7 p.m. to accommodate the general public. The council agreed to present the request to the county board.

Another issue of major concern Tuesday night was when the council will decide on whether to invite the Red Lake Band of Chippewa to build a casino in Thief River Falls. The issue arose when Don Goodrich addressed the council about the number of petitions circulating and what influence they will have with the council.

Each person looks at petitions differently, said Mayor Carlson.

Jobs Inc. endorses gambling casino

At its monthly meeting held Wednesday, September 11, the board of directors of Thief River Falls Jobs Incorporated, the local, non-profit economic development corporation, unanimously endorsed the addition of a casino to the business community.

Jobs' President Cecil Anderson indicated that, based on the information available to the Board of Directors and the public as of this date, the endorsement was made for the following reasons:

1) The proposed casino could create an estimated 150 to 200 full-time equivalent jobs, further reducing unemployment in the area, which is the primary goal of this economic development corporation;

2) The proposed casino will further diversify the economic base of the Community by creating a number of "spin-off" opportunities; and,

3) The addition of the casino and related facilities, which should result, will further enhance and expand the community's commercial, retail and service sectors and promote tourism.

Water problems, solutions shown on tour Tuesday

Tour conducted Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. by the Pennington County Water Resources Advisory committee will show local and area officials some of the problems and solutions relating to water and erosion that exist in this area.

Invited to participate in the bus tour conducted by Carpenter Charter service are county board members, city council members, Red Lake watershed district board members, Water Resources Advisory committee members, state legislators and personnel from the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation district, county extension office, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service and the news media.

"This tour has not been arranged to provide for other public participation," states Sandy Warner, coordinator for the Pennington County Water Plan. "Space on the bus is limited and we were uncertain as to the number of participants to expect. We do plan to conduct a future tour of a similar nature for the public, but that will probably not take place until next year."

Warner said the tour is being conducted to show area officials both the detrimental affects of wind and water erosion and how projects aimed at preventing or reducing these problems have proved to be effective.

Included on the tour itinerary will be stops at several sites to view problems or projects and hear presentations by the tour facilitators. They are Gary Lane of the Pennington SWCD, Lowell Enerson of the Red Lake Watershed District and Ken Murphy, chairman of the Pennington County Water Resources Advisory committee.

Among items to be viewed on the tour will be an erosion problem on new construction of CSAH 7; bank stabilization project below the power plant dam on the Red Lake river in Thief River Falls; proposed bank stabilization project on the river bank in Centennial park; water inlet structures on side water inlets on Branch 1 of Pennington County Ditch 39; the Good Lake water storage and flood control project on the Red Lake Indian Reservation; and proposed connection channel between the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers for flow balance and flood control.

Convention and Visitors Bureau endorses casino

Board of directors of the Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau has endorsed the addition of a casino to the Thief River Falls business community.

"The addition of a casino would increase tourism and the economic base in the Thief River Falls area—which is the overall mission and purpose of the Convention and Visitors Bureau," according to the statement released by Julie Olson of the organization.

Thirty-seven students and graduates of the Thief River Falls technical college aviation mechanics program were interviewed Wednesday by representatives of Tramco, a commercial aircraft repair and maintenance facility in Everett, WA. Twenty-seven of those interviewed were offered employment with the company. In the top photo, students and graduates listened to a presentation by Larry Nordby, director of personnel, in one of the classrooms at the college's aviation facility at the Thief River Falls regional airport. In the bottom photo are Nordby (center) along with David Kalmig, second shift supervisor, and Frank Owens, shift supervisor for aircraft maintenance. Tramco, a division of B.F. Goodrich, presently has 170 positions open in airframe and powerplant and sheetmetal departments. It expects to increase its employment from 1,200 at the present time to 2,000 by 1995 and to 2,500 by the year 2000. Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

How about this specific recipe for a meat at 12:00, on the button:

Boiled Dinner

A good ham bone with about 1 pound ham on it, 1/2 pound salt pork. Put on in boil in cold water and skim thoroughly. Put on in cook at nine thirty; at nine forty-five add one head of cabbage; at ten thirty add turnips and carrots; at eleven add parsnips; at eleven ten add potatoes. Will be ready to serve at Twelve. (Mrs. W.L. Carlisle)

This is an interesting way to have your pork chops:

Baked Pork Chops

Fry pork chops slightly in butter; add one tablespoon uncooked rice on top of each pork chop and one or two slices of onion. Pour over all one can of tomato soup and bake in oven. (Mrs. G.W. Stanton)

You might like to try these for breakfast now that school has started:

Graham Griddle Cakes

1 egg well beaten, 1 tablespoon melted lard or butter, 2 cups sour milk, 2 level teaspoons soda, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, graham flour to make pancake batter. Mix egg, butter, sour milk, soda and sugar, then add flour and salt. (Sarah E. Bower)

This might make an interesting breakfast dish, too:

Potatoes and Eggs a la Suisse

Fry 1/4 pound bacon cut in dice until crisp. Add tablespoon chopped onion, tablespoon chopped green pepper and a cupful cold boiled potatoes cut in cubes. When brown add 1 cup cheese cut in bits. Beat two eggs and fold into the other ingredients. Stir until browned. Turn out on hot platter and garnish with parsley. (Mrs. A.W. Sitz)

Try these next time you have leftover mashed potatoes:

Potato Puffs

To 2 cups mashed potatoes, add 3 tablespoons melted butter. Beat 2 egg yolks with 1 cup cream. Season to taste. Mix above ingredients and add beaten whites of eggs. Bake in quick oven. (Mrs. A. Headley)

One more quick meal. I would think that hamburger could be substituted for the pork and beef:

One Piece Meal

1/2 pound pork, 1/2 pound beef, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 onion, cut in small pieces; season with salt and pepper. Mix in a little flour, and put the mixture in a baking dish. Slice raw potatoes, seasoned with salt on meat. Over this put 2 cups boiled rice. Pour over 1 can tomatoes. Bake 2 hours in moderate oven. (Mrs. R.O. Spurbeck)

Here are more recipes from Grandma's old cookbook, this time for some sweet goodies. Some of those cookie, cake and pie recipes handed down from generation to generation are the very best, too. I've printed them exactly as they appear in the cookbook, for your enjoyment.

What better time than now for (go ahead, try it—it tastes like pumpkin):

Squash Pie

1 1/2 cups cooked squash, 1 cup white sugar, 3 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter. Steam and strain fresh squash. Add remaining ingredients in order given. Pour into pan lined with crust and bake in hot oven at first to bake crust and then reduce the heat. The filling should not boil. (Mrs. G. W. Johnson)

Try your hand at these when you're in a real "Suzie Homemaker" mood:

Apple Fritters

1 cup sifted pastry flour, 1 level teaspoon baking powder, 1 level teaspoon powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg beaten light, 1/4 cup milk, 2 apples, pared and cup in small pieces, hot fat for frying. Sift together three times the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add the milk to the beaten egg and stir in the dry ingredients. Then stir in the bits of apple. Drop the batter into the fat by spoonfuls and let fry until delicately browned. Drain on soft paper. Serve with jelly sauce or any canned fruit may be used in the same way. (Mrs. M. Bothun)

Oh, remember Grandma's homemade doughnuts?

Doughnuts

2 eggs beaten lightly, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter (recipe says 2 tablespoons, but Grandma has put "1" there), 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and a little cinnamon or nutmeg. (Mrs. O.G. Winger)

Why use a box when this chocolate cake is just as easy and so good:

Boston Devils Food

Melt 2 squares of chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter together, then add without stirring 2 cups sugar, 2 cups sour milk, 2 teaspoons soda, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 3 cups flour. Beat well. (Mrs. H. Holzknecht)

Try this on your cake:

Chocolate Frosting

1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 2 squares chocolate, 6 tablespoons sweet cream. Stir all together, cook until thick, beat well. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. (Mrs. Fred Dablow)

Or try this white frosting that is said to be "Fine on Devils Food":

One cup brown sugar and one fourth cup sour cream. Boil until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from fire. Beat in 1/2 teaspoon baking powder and a tablespoon butter and a little vanilla. (Mrs. Frank L. Christenson)

This one might be fun to try now at apple time:

Upside Down Apple Cake

1/4 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 2 to 4 firm apples, 2 teaspoons cinnamon mixed with 1/4 cup sugar. Make a batter of the first 8 ingredients. Line a baking dish or cake pan with melted butter, and a layer of sliced apples. Sprinkle half of the cinnamon mixture over this and put in another layer of apples. Sprinkle with remainder of cinnamon and sugar and pour batter over all. Bake in a moderate oven and while hot turn out in a plate, cut into serving pieces and serve with whipped cream. (Mrs. Palmer)

This dessert has been around for a long time, but still tastes good:

Caramel Bread Pudding

Put 4 tablespoons butter, 3 cups bread crumbs and a little salt in a basin, add 1 quart of hot milk and soak 10 minutes. Melt 1 cup sugar and brown it lightly in a small pan over fire, then add it to the bread, with 2 eggs well beaten and 1 teaspoon flavoring and a little grated nutmeg. Pour into buttered pudding dish and bake in moderate oven till firm. Serve with cream. (Mrs. K.O. Standy, Mahnomen, Minn.)

Next week, Grandma's cookies!

CORRECTION: I hope you haven't tried the recipe for Whole Wheat Carrot Nut Bread in the August 31 Northern Watch. The recipe contained a typographical error. Use 1 1/2 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 teaspoon baking soda, not 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon baking powder, too. Sorry about that.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Duck Mobile

"Make Way For Ducklings" is a delightful story about a family of ducks - children love to say all the ducklings' names - Quack, Nack, Mack, etc.

A fun activity to do with this book is to make a duck mobile. Cut small pieces of paper and let the children each draw a picture of each little duckling. Cut the duck out and tape to a piece of yarn. Attach these by tape to a paper plate. Now you have a neat duck mobile to play with and remember the story.

PARENTING TIPS

Nurture Children With Attention

Good parents spend quality time with their children. They put down the newspaper, turn off the television and they listen. Richard Daley, the late mayor of Chicago, had a young family when he was mayor of the city in the 1950's and 1960's. Even though his schedule was full and hectic with speeches to deliver and meetings to attend almost every night of the week, the mayor was home each evening, promptly at 6 p.m. to have dinner with his family. There, over the dinner table, he could hear from his children the events of the day and what brought them happiness or disappointment.

Not every family is able to achieve this kind of togetherness, but opportunities to listen to children are available every day.

Chief Bemidji statue in limbo

Bemidji — Two weeks ago, the Bemidji city council threw its support behind a plan to put a new bronze plaque next to the Chief Bemidji statue in Library park. The plaque would have given the "historically correct" description of the statue's beginnings and the history of Chief Bemidji. But a hoped-for source of funding for the project has not come through, so the project is now in limbo. Several other possible funding sources are being considered at this time. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Northern State Bank Of Thief River Falls, MN Rated Five-Stars For Ten Consecutive Quarters

Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, MN, has been awarded a Five-Star Rating by Bauer Financial Reports of Coral Gables, FL, for the 10th consecutive quarter. This prestigious award identifies this institution as one of the safest, most creditworthy commercial banks in the United States.

The award is based on a zero to five-star rating assigned by BFR based on its analysis of the March 31, 1991 financial data as filed with federal regulators.

A five-star rating, for the safest commercial banks in the country, indicates that the bank's adjusted tangible capital exceeds 9.0% of tangible assets, its risk-based capital ratio exceeds 9.25%, delinquencies and repossessed assets are manageable, the institution is soundly invested and that it earned a profit or suffered an insignificant loss for the quarter ended March 31, 1991. Paul A. Bauer, President, said, "Although the total number of commercial banks nationwide decreased by 92 during the first quarter 1991; the total number of 5-star rated institutions increased by 4871 As expected, stronger banks are growing stronger and consequently safer."

"Our five-star rating", continued Mr. Bauer, "is primarily concerned with an institution's capital (net worth) - not its return on investment. Consequently, it is most often awarded to conservatively run, strongly capitalized, federally insured, community oriented commercial banks that concentrate on traditional business and consumer needs."

"Out of 12,250 commercial banks, reporting for the period ended March 31, 1991, 3,559 commercial banks, slightly over one out of four, 29.05%, received our five-star rating."

Fifty-seven classmates attended the 50-year reunion of the Lincoln high school class of 1941 held August 16-18 at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. Classmates came from 15 states and as far away as California and Florida. Events included armchair socializing, golf and religious services at the Pioneer Village church where Rev. John Perbst delivered the sermon, tribute was paid to the 38 members of the class who are deceased and special music was provided by three members of the original girls' sextet—Ardith Burrell Erickson, Marilyn Noper Harding and Ardith Thompson Borry. Bailey McMahon sang "The Lord's Prayer." During a tour of the village, attention was focused on the Noper cabin, which was the core of Marilyn Noper Harding's childhood home. Sunday afternoon picnic was held at the Si and Marge Hanson farm, with arrangements by Elfie Hanson Erickson. Classmates voted to hold another reunion in 1996 and expressed gratitude to Alverda Lund Noel and Hildegarde Green Hemre for their work as reunion chairpersons. Class members attending included the following: TOP PHOTO—Front Row, Verda Jelle Maldment, Dorothy Bergstrom Laberee, Herbert Wilson, Paul Roep, Ed Flasch, Chester Jorde, John Perbst, Carol Guttu and Marion Thompson Rustvold; Middle Row, Laurie Hermenson Weddy, Ruby Hegrenes Smith, Hazel Hegrenes Oden, Dolores Landobeja Hoff, Ardith Thompson Borry, Ardith Schultz Force, Barbara Jacobson Pykles, Ardith Burrell Erickson; Elfie Hanson Erickson and Joyce Meyer Kron; Back Row, Adelaide Peterson Perbst, Violet Anderson Mohn, Marilyn Noper Harding, Cleo Mae Engelstad Groelle, Mildred Breiland Harlleben, Elsie Skaar Fairbank, Hildegarde Green Hemre, Alverda Lund Noel and Grace Haugen Mayte; BOTTOM PHOTO—Front row, Mary Hetland Roskos, Elaine Helgeson Hammam, Aileen Johnston Grehn, Kay Grenum Anderson, Martha Rullen Johnson, Doris Moeleth Prenevost, Camille Aasland Ross, Lois Ander Vigen and Mavis Olson Peterson; Middle Row, Reuben Lockrem, Jim Ferguson, Lloyd Arhart, James Skarstad, Russell Williams, Otto Olson, Bailey McMahon, Tom Carlisle and Eldon Larson; Back Row, Delbert Harbott, George Werstlein, Willie Wright, Roscoe Stenerud, Charles Gustafson, Jim Conner, Donald Mathewson and Bob Rose.

St. Ann's Court 855 of the National Catholic Society of Foresters in Thief River Falls observed the 100th anniversary of the society when it hosted the 35th annual Red River Valley Diocesan conference Sunday at St. Bernard's church. A banquet was served to over 100 members and guests with members of the junior court as waitresses. Local president Virginia Carriere (right) is shown with honored guests Bishop Victor Balke of the Crookston Diocese and Mary Terrien, national Foresters president. Bishop Balke was presented with a check for $350 for the seminarian burse, which was matched by the national society. Entertainment was provided by the Arctic Lights gymnastics club and a vocal solo by Derryl Tveitbakk, accompanied by Christie LaSalle on the piano and signed by Meagen Browning. Cake and coffee were served.

Laws Intended To Stop Abuse And Harassment

Crime of any type is upsetting but crimes of abuse—particularly physical abuse—are the most aggravating, maddening and probably frustrating of all. This is because they are a magnified version of what we used to call "bullying," using a physical advantage of size or strength to impose a person's will on someone else. Our sense of fair play is violated by this type of abuse.

We feel great sadness for the victims of physical abuse, especially the children who are virtually defenseless against it and certainly most vulnerable to it. And we have the utmost contempt for the abusers who we feel are deserving of no leniency regardless of personal background or experience.

When we hear of children who have been sexually molested or assaulted, beaten or killed, we have to wonder at the type of people who would commit these acts. They must be among the lowest of animals. When one considers the innocence of a little child and its dependency on adults, those who use that trust and respect to commit acts of abuse are the most offensive of criminals.

Minnesota has recently strengthened its laws that aid victims of domestic abuse or harassment, according to the Community Legal Education Program of the Legal Aid Society of Minneapolis. Advocates of these laws believe that the law is a first and important step in stopping continuing abuse, although they acknowledge the laws do not offer complete protection.

Ask any person who has had an attacker defy a restraining order or order for protection and you will get a strong opinion of the effect of law as a deterrent to violence. On the other hand, laws which result in the separation of people who are in an abusive situation have to provide at least initial relief and an opportunity for some reflection free from immediate threat and stress.

The new revised Order for Protection law includes such offenses as slapping, kicking, pushing, unwanted sexual contact, verbal abuse and threats. The new Restraining Order for Protection from Harassment law defines harassment as repeated, intrusive or unwanted acts, words or gestures which are intended to harm the safety, security or privacy of another person.

To get an Order for Protection from domestic abuse, the two people involved must have been married, divorced, be parents or expectant parents of a child, be past or present housemates or blood relatives. However, anyone who is being harassed can petition for the Restraining Order for Protection from Harassment. Either type of order can be used to protect a child from another person.

One plus factor is that both laws were written so that individuals can go to court and get an order without an attorney. There is no longer a fee to file a petition asking for an Order for Protection and the small fee required to get a Restraining Order for Protection from Harassment can be waived for low-income people.

Most clerks of district court should have all the necessary forms and assist in filling out the petition and sworn affidavit. These forms are then filed and a court date set, no later than 14 days from the time of filing.

In a domestic abuse situation where the victim feels the abuser might retaliate violently if he or she knows a petition has been filed, the temporary order can be granted before the abusing party knows about the filing and it can be served on the abuser at the same time the sheriff evicts him or her from the home. The temporary order is valid only until a formal court hearing is held.

These laws are not a direct help to young children who are being abused except when an adult will intercede for them. Perhaps they will encourage more parents in families where one parent is abusive to seek help and protect the children. We would hope that they will.

Persons who have reason to find out more about these legal changes and what they have to offer may call toll-free 1-800-452-3625.

Are We Running Out Of Trees?

If the controversy over cutting of pine in the western United States leads the public to believe that this country is running out of trees, that belief is unfounded, according to Bob Egan, vice president of Great Plains Supply, Inc.

Egan correctly points out that America's forests are abundant and renewable. The U.S. Forest Service says there are 8.2 million acres of old-growth timber in Washington and Oregon and that 4.7 million of those acres have been preserved in wilderness areas. That amount is equivalent to a band of forest two miles wide and stretching from Portland, OR to Portland, ME.

How publicly-owned land is managed depends on how it is classified. National parks have 76 million acres which are managed for recreational purposes only with no timber harvesting or reforestation permitted. Wilderness areas have 91 million acres which are roadless, unmanaged and of limited recreational use. Timber harvesting and reforestation are not allowed, even if the forest is destroyed by fire, disease or insects.

There are 191 million acres of national forests which are managed for multiple uses, including timber production as well as recreation, wildlife habitat, clean air and water. Timber harvesting is allowed on only 57 million of those 191 million acres, and then only subject to stringent environmental conditions.

Privately-owned forest land accounts for 72 percent of the timber harvest in the United States. Healthy and well-managed forests provide food and shelter for wildlife, clean water, building materials, wood and paper products and produce oxygen while removing carbon dioxide from the air. There are many items in our lives that do not come from renewable resources. It makes sense to utilize those resources which can be used and replaced. Trees are in that category—and with continued planning and planting we can always have lots of them.

Captains named this fall for the 1991 Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country teams include, left to right, Joel Davis, Stephanie Vigen, Jim Olson and Jodi Kruta. Annual Thief River Falls Invitational will be held Tuesday, Oct. 1.

Tennis team splits double dual matches

Thief River Falls girls beat Moorhead 5-2 for their first win of the year, but lost to host Crookston 6-1 Tuesday in double-dual high school tennis action.

Results left the Prowlers at 1-3 in dual meet play. They were scheduled to be in Roseau today (Friday) for a 4 p.m. dual, with the Rams making a return visit to Thief River Falls Monday for a 3:30 p.m. match.

Winning three of four singles matches and two of three doubles encounters produced the Thief River Falls win over Moorhead. Jennifer Paggen, Tiffany Brouse and Kim Rupprecht were the Prowlers' singles winners; Jami Dehnert-Carly Deo and Anno Padilla-Shari Evenson were the Prowlers' winning doubles combinations.

Lone Thief River Falls win against Crookston came from Tarik Koivisto and Sara Tweet at No. 1 doubles.

"Tarik and Sara lost to Moorhead, but they turned around and played their best tennis of the year against Crookston," reported Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney, "and I was really pleased with Anne and Shari at No. 3 doubles – they played very well."

Thief River Falls cross country...

Davis wins Crookston race

Thief River Falls' Joel Davis edged Chris Larson of Grand Forks Red River 16:26-16:27 Thursday for first place honors in the boys' portion of the Crookston Invitational high school cross country meet.

Team-wise, it was an East Grand Forks sweep as the Green Wave boys edged Red River by a single point and the Green Wave girls finished with a two-point victory margin over runner-up Bagley-Fosston.

"Joel ran really well," said Thief River Falls coach Lynn Dyer. "He won that race on sheer determination and athletic ability."

Davis ran fourth much of the race before finally passing Larson for the lead on a hill heading into the last half-mile. The two runners battled for the lead down the stretch before Davis won out on the sprint at the end.

"Joel has god-given speed at the end of a race," explained Dyer. "He has a heck of a finish."

Jennifer Diedrich of Warren joined Davis in the winners circle with a 25-second spread over runner-up Sarah Hutton of Grand Forks Central in the girls' race. Top Thief River Falls finish among the girls was a 13th place effort by Stephanie Vigen, who ran her first race of the year after battling back problems.

Thief River Falls wound up with two individual winners for the day when eighth grader Leah Helgenset won the girls junior high race. Teammates Lisa Swanson (fifth) and Angela Klinker (eighth) were also top ten finishers.

"Our younger girls really ran well," noted Dyer. "We're really pleased with the way they ran."

RLCC drops 3-0 match

Red Lake County Central let an 11-4 first-game lead slip away Tuesday and the Mustangs paid the price in a 3-0 high school volleyball loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at Plummer.

The Eagles' Game 1 rally led to a 15-13, 15-9, 15-10 sweep over the first-year Oklee/ Plummer cooperative.

"We're trying to come together as a team," offered Red Lake County Central head coach Brad Borene. "We're working at it, but it might take a while. We didn't play that badly; we just had a hard time putting the ball away on them. Sacred Heart has a real scrappy team. It's hard to score against them because they seem to pick up everything you hit at them."

Dawn Bachand led the Mustangs with 18 kills and 13 last-touch points. Jenny Walter contributed 14 kills and seven last-touch points. Borene said Lisa Larson turned in a solid back-row performance, and setter Cheryl Greenwald also played well.

G/G vs. Warroad

Grygla/Goodridge lost a 3-0 match to Warroad Tuesday at Goodridge – the Warriors winning 15-5, 15-11, 15-4.

"We did show a little life in the second game," said Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom, "but we had a whole lot of trouble serving."

Junior Jenny Ryan played well at the net, pointed out Mostrom, who also cited eighth graders Jamie Berndt and Shauana Thomas for their efforts.

Lakers down Prowlers 3-0

Detroit Lakes turned a height/ experience advantage into a 3-0 Section 8A high school volleyball win over host Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Led by senior Jenni and junior Jodi Jost, the Lakers breezed past the Prowlers 15-6, 15-3, 15-4.

Trying to fill the holes left by heavy graduation losses, the Prowlers started a unit that included just one senior – Kathy Kvick. She was joined by juniors Nessa Anderson and Alison Peterson, sophomores Toni Chiodo and Jamie Martell, plus freshman Kelly Skeim.

"Detroit Lakes has experience and size over us," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "But we're not offering excuses. We just have to get some playing experience, and try to learn from our mistakes as we go along."

The two Josts, along with senior Anne Schiller, dominated play at the net, both offensively and defensively with their intimidating size. "That's bound to be a factor," acknowledged Anderson.

It was all-Detroit Lakes right from the start. Two sets of back-to-back ace serves by Jill Mack and Schiller helped stake the Lakers to a 10-0 head start in Game 1. Chiodo was at the service line for a string of four straight points as the Prowlers pulled within 11-6, but the Lakers finished it off when a top by Jill White hit the net and crawled over for the 15th point.

The Lakers came back with a 13-0 start for an easy Game 2 win.

Aces by Anderson and junior Kristi Lindberg cut into a 4-0 Detroit Lakes lead opening Game 3, but the Lakers collected six unanswered points before Lindberg came up again to serve another point-producing ace.

Jill White of the Lakers scored four straight points at the service line to close it out.

"The girls tried. They put in the effort," mentioned Anderson, "but I was disappointed in our serving. We should be serving much better than that."

Chiodo, said Anderson, played "consistent" volleyball throughout the night. She led the Prowlers with six service points and had four last-touch points.

Earlier in the night, Detroit Lakes posted a 15-13, 15-11 win in the junior varsity match, while the two teams split C squad matches – Thief River Falls taking the C-I event 14-16, 15-13, 16-14 and Detroit Lakes winning the C-II contest 15-5, 13-15, 15-13.

Thief River Falls girls set a Franklin Middle School pool record in the 200 freestyle relay, but visiting Bemidji defeated the Prowlers 106-80 Thursday in high school swimming.

The loss evened the Prowlers' dual meet season record at 1-1. They will compete in the Park Rapids Invitational Saturday starting at 12-noon and will be back in the Franklin pool Tuesday for a 5 p.m. match-up with Grand Forks Central, Grand Forks Red River and Crookston.

Senior Linnea Dimich, junior Amy Adams, sophomore Lisa Ulrich and freshman Theresa Giauque turned in a pool-record 1:50.10 in the 200 freestyle.

Adams also won the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke; Giauque took the 200 freestyle and the 100 butterfly; Dimich claimed the 50 freestyle; and Ulrich won the 500 freestyle.

Wolverines fall to 0-4 in loss to LOW

Grygla-Goodridge is still looking for its first volleyball win of the 1991 season, but the Wolverines did break a string of three straight shutout losses Thursday with a 3-1 loss to Lake of the Woods at Baudette.

The Bears won 15-8, 15-2, 8-15, 15-6.

"Better," was the way Grygla-Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom described the Wolverines' performance. "Instead of playing 10-15 quality points, we played 25-30 quality points. We set it up and spiked it a few times, and we served much better."

SueAnn Verbout, Lisa Verbout and Stacy Dahlen turned in solid performances, said Mostrom.

The Wolverines are scheduled to compete in the Marshall County Central Invitational Saturday. They will host Roseau Thursday at Goodridge.

The Wolverines continue to play without the services of injured starter Kathy Smeby. She may be in the line-up at the end of the month.

RLCC vs. Climax

A strong Climax team, featuring most of the players from last year's District 31A championship team, swept Red Lake County Central 15-13, 15-11, 15-11 Thursday at Oklee.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 2-5 for the year, but Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene wasn't displeased with the performance. "We hustled; we worked hard," he said. "We were into the match pretty well. We had our chances."

A strong 96 percent night at the service line highlighted the Mustangs' showing. "We served real well, but we still have to get stronger in our attack," mentioned Borene.

Jenny Walter and Dawn Bachand led the Mustangs with 17 and 10 kills, respectively. Cheryl Greenwald was 18-for-18 at the service line, and was kept busy as a setter in running the Red Lake County Central 5-1 offense. Dixie Koskela contributed a 13-for-13 service night, and Lisa Larson had a strong night passing, pointed out Borene.

Red Lake County Central will meet Valley North Tuesday at Oslo.

State Fishing Records

Minnesota anglers broke two state fishing records in August, including one that had stood for 24 years. The new state record fish have now been certified by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

William Tulla of Winton broke a record established in 1967 when he caught a 6-pound, 4.48-ounce brook trout from High Lake in St. Louis County August 10. Tulla's fish measured 23.8 inches, with a 15-inch girth. It was caught using a spinner/worm combination. The previous record weighed 6-pounds, 2-ounces and was caught from Pine Mountain Lake in Cook County.

A 33-pound, 8-ounce tiger muskellunge caught by Christopher Sager of Minneapolis from Lake Calhoun in Hennepin County August 14 broke a 12-year-old record. Sager's fish measured 47 inches, with a 25-inch girth. It was caught with a sucker minnow. The previous tiger muskie record of 30-pounds, 4-ounces was set in 1979 by a fish taken from Deer Lake in Itasca County.

New state records occur virtually every year, noted Tim Schlagenhaft of the DNR Section of Fisheries. "These records are excellent examples of the potential Minnesota anglers have of catching a trophy-size fish," Schlagenhaft said. "While state record catches are uncommon, they can occur even with old, long-established records such as the brook trout state record broken by Mr. Tulla."

Pheasant Numbers Increase

Annual roadside counts of ring-necked pheasants conducted by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) during the first two weeks of August were about one-third higher than last year, it was announced. The counts were improved despite a cool wet spring that resulted in flooded nests and the loss of chicks.

While offering good news, Al Berner, DNR pheasant expert from Madelia, cautioned hunters that they won't necessarily see one-third more birds than late hatch that showed up in the hunters' bags, and that counting conditions were generally better this year.

Nevertheless, Berner said, Minnesota pheasant hunters will see good hunting again this fall. He is predicting a harvest above that of 1990, when 477,000 birds were taken. If there is another large and successful late hatch, the harvest could even go as high as 600,000, he added. The last time that many birds were taken in one season was in 1964, when 758,000 roosters were bagged in Minnesota.

Number of birds observed per 100 miles was lowest in the southeast survey area (52), but was relatively similar in all other areas surveyed. Counts in other areas ranged from 78 in the west-central to 88 in the east-central area of the state. Changes in pheasant roadside counts for different areas in the state ranged from an increase of 71 percent in the west-central area to a decline of 4 percent in the southeast. Other changes were 40 percent increase in the southwest, 30 percent increase in the central, 22 percent increase in the east-central and 16 percent increase in the south-central area.

This year's pheasant season will open Saturday, Oct. 12, and run through Sunday, Dec. 8, lasting 58 days. The daily bag is two roosters, with the possession limit increased to six, compared to four last year.

While pheasant counts were up, the number of gray partridge spotted by the DNR was down about 40 percent from counts in 1990. Berner explained that gray partridge, also called Hungarian partridge, are more vulnerable to rain and cold weather during the nesting season. The only survey area showing an increase was the west-central, where counts were up 4 percent.

Mineral Leases

A sale of state metallic minerals leases, to be conducted Thursday, Oct. 10, has been announced by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Minerals Division. The sale will be conducted beginning at 9 a.m. at Ironworld U.S.A. on Highway 169 in Chisholm, in conjunction with the eighth annual Current Minerals Activities Forum.

The leases are for land located in portions of Beltrami, Itasca, Koochiching, Lake, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Morrison, Roseau, St. Louis and Todd counties.

Leases are to prospect for, mine and remove metallic minerals in trust fund lands, lands and minerals forfeited for nonpayment of taxes, lands and minerals otherwise acquired, and other state-owned lands under the jurisdiction of the DNR commissioner.

Each application and sealed bid, together with a $100 certified check, cashier's check or bank money order payable to the State Treasurer, must be submitted in a bid envelope obtained from the DNR commissioner. All bids must be received before 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 9, by the DNR commissioner, c/o Division of Minerals, fourth floor, DNR Building, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4045. The right is reserved to the state, through the Executive Council, to reject any or all bids.

In absence of satisfactorily demonstrated past technical and financial competence to perform under similar circumstances, a bid-

Counties receive funds from DNR

A total of $4,552,354 has been distributed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources to 66 Minnesota counties, according to DNR Commissioner Red Sando.

"Each year, the DNR makes a significant contribution to the budgets of counties throughout the state through the in-lieu-of-tax payments," Sando said. "Our partnership with the counties and local governments are important to the DNR."

Sixty-six of Minnesota's 87 counties received the current in-lieu-of-tax payments. The remaining 21 counties have already received payments from other funds for eligible DNR lands. The in-lieu-of-tax payments ranged in size up to the $912,082 sent to St. Louis County in northeastern Minnesota.

Pennington County received $11,220. Neighboring Marshall county received $89,552.

This is the 12th year that the DNR has made in-lieu-of-tax payments. This results in tax reductions for Minnesota citizens and increased local resource development for the counties, Sando noted.

When added to funds distributed earlier this year from taxes paid on public hunting lands, consolidated conservation lands, state park lands, goose lands and sale of state timber, the DNR's in-lieu-of-tax payments total over $6,199,700.

By law, counties are required to deposit 40 percent of the funds received in the county general fund. Another portion must be deposited in a county resource development fund for use in forest management, game and fish habitat improvement, recreational development, and maintenance of county administered natural resources land. However, any county receiving less than $5,000 annually for the resource development fund may elect to deposit that amount in the county general revenue fund. Organized townships also receive funds for road and bridge projects.

Our seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum; the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used, and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew... saving on labor costs. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

State's lottery players claim $242 million prizes

Lottery players have won nearly $242 million in total instant and on-line prizes since the Lottery's debut April 1990. This breaks down into $52 per Minnesotan, or enough to buy each state resident a duffel bag packed with a submarine sandwich, chips, plastic water bottle, mosquito spray and suntan lotion.

Lakes and Loons, the newest instant ticket game dubbed August 20 with total sales to date of $1.8 million. With a top prize of $5,000, Lakes and Loons offers overall odds of winning of 1:4.15.

Instant ticket players have claimed an estimated $201 million since April 1990 when the Lottery began. Treasure Hunt players have netted more than $6.1 million in prizes since the game's debut July 2. To date, players have uncovered 33 $5,000 and 337 $250 prizes. Black Jack players beat the dealer by winning 20 $21,000 and 156 $2,100 prizes. Lottery officials estimate Black Jack's total sales to date at more than $20 million.

Lottery officials estimate on-line game players have won a combined total of more than $41 million. Lotto Minnesota/Lotto America has awarded more than $25 million to Lotto Minnesota players. More than 74,000 players have correctly matched four of six numbers to win an average of $40, while 1,325 Minnesotans have correctly matched five of six numbers to win an average of $962. Three players have become the state's newest millionaires by correctly matching six of six numbers. Daily 3 players have won more than $12 million in prizes.

Players have won more than $4 million in prizes since Gopher 5's debut May 22. Six winners have correctly matched all five numbers to win the all-cash jackpot. An Edina couple became the most recent winners to match correctly all five numbers in the August 27 Gopher 5 drawing worth $127,919. Since Gopher 5 began, nearly 70,000 players have matched three of five numbers correctly to each win $10, and 1,945 have matched four of five numbers correctly to each win $250.

Sunflower market loan topic of meet

New market loan concept for northern sunflower producers will be discussed at an information meeting to be conducted Wednesday, September 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Lon's Restaurant in Thief River Falls.

National Sunflower association has arranged a series of information meetings, including the one in Thief River Falls. The 1990 farm bill made market loans available for most oilseeds.

Rod Soderstrom, district director with the Minnesota Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, will discuss the rules and eligibility requirements of the loan program. Mike Krueger, a market analyst with the Agri-Mark marketing firm, will discuss the sunflower market and marketing options which the market loan provides.

"It is important that farmers learn as much about the market loan as possible before they harvest and begin marketing their sunflower crop," states Larry Kleingartner, executive director of the sunflower association.

"There are very specific rules and requirements that producers must follow to qualify," he said. "There may be some unique marketing opportunities that farmers need to consider as they develop their marketing plans. The information session will include an in-depth discussion on the eligibility requirements and other rules and regulations affecting the market loans."

All sunflower growers are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Benefit for Fehr family

Potluck dinner will be served as a benefit for the Rev. Roger Fehr family Sunday, September 15, from noon to 2 p.m. at Oak Park Lutheran church northeast of Oklee.

All family members received substantial injuries in an automobile accident. The benefit is sponsored by Branch 7093 of Aid Association for Lutherans and a free-will offering will be received with proceeds to be matched by AAL.

"GAMBLING"

John 10:10, "The Thief cometh not, but for to steal and to kill and to destroy."
When you hear the word GAMBLING, what comes to your mind. Drinking, drugs, pornography, prostitution, and organized crime. OR do you think of a person jumping up and down saying, I won, I won.
The truth is if we allow a casino into Thief River Falls, we will be promoting a fast and loose life style, and encouraging our children to do the same. Let's stand up and be responsible for the actions done in our community.

Open house at model home Sept. 21 & 22

Persons interested in home construction and decorating trends and ideas are invited to attend the open house of Cathy Belmont Interiors model home Saturday and Sunday, September 21 and 22, at 137 Fern Road in Thief River Falls. Open house hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

As the future home of Mark and Kathi Jenkins, this model home has been a decorating project of Cathy Belmont Interiors and involved the cooperation of a number of area craftsmen and contractors. They include Kalinowski Construction, Ken's Electric, Tapco Heating, Swenson Plumbing, AA Carpets, Konickson Drywall, Walseth Construction and Dave's Landscaping.

"This home has been in the planning stages for almost two years," Cathy Belmont said, "and actual construction of the four bedroom home began May 15. The house has approximately 2,350 square feet on two floors with a full basement and is located on a 150x200 lot. Except for basement finishing, which is being deferred by the owners, it will be completed by the open house date."

Belmont said that model homes are common in metropolitan areas where there is a demand for new homes and developers can successfully speculate in real estate. Recent economic conditions in this area have made such speculation risky. The next best thing has been working with a family that is building a new home and willing to show decorating items and ideas in that new home to the public. The Jenkins' have a son and two daughters.

Belmont said the home showcases what homeowners have available to them in the immediate area. All materials and furnishings have been obtained and installed through these area businesses.

The house has been designed for energy efficiency with 2x6 exterior walls and heavy insulation, insulated Marvin Windows and pleated shades with reflective backs which have the insulating efficiency of a double pane of glass.

Ceramic tile with the illusion of marble has been used in the foyer, downstairs bathroom and upstairs master bathroom. "Tile adds a small cost," Cathy said, "but adds much interest and is more durable than other flooring. Cost is comparable to a good grade of inlaid floor covering."

Wood trim has been stained on the first floor. The stair railing is both stained and painted, making a transition to the painted wood trim upstairs.

The large kitchen has an island counter and sink and the cabinets are white, giving a contemporary look to a very traditional style, Belmont said.

"The master bedroom and bath are completely papered and bordered for the most dramatic effect," she added. "But to reduce cost while retaining atmosphere, we have used only borders and minimal paper on painted walls."

She called the home transitional in design, meaning the contemporary design has been decorated to provide a traditional flair.

"The result is a beautiful but moderately priced home with many features that add interest without a great deal of additional cost and give full value for the dollar," she added.

"Eliminating interior walls on the first floor has created a spacious look. There are only 70 feet of interior wall, compared with 140 feet in the normal rambler. Other features like the tall window near the entry, a wall cut-out in an upstairs bedroom and mirrored bi-fold doors on bedroom closets create special effects at little or no extra cost."

Belmont said she hopes those who visit the home during the open house will enjoy seeing some of the things that have been done and be inspired to visualize what can be done in their own homes."

Future home of Mark and Kathi Jenkins of Thief River Falls will be site of an open house sponsored by Cathy Belmont Interiors Saturday and Sunday, September 21 and 22. The four-bedroom house is located at 137 Fern Road and construction started May 15. Open house is intended to show the public a number of decorating ideas and treatments which have been incorporated into the transitional style of the home.

Master bedroom in the home being built by Mark and Kathi Jenkins is fully wallpapered and features special window treatment, brass furnishings and a large adjacent bathroom. The house has been decorated by Cathy Belmont Interiors as a model home and will be open for public viewing Saturday and Sunday, September 21 and 22. Open house hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

He said he will personally put a great deal of importance in them.

Goodrich said he was at the chamber of commerce meeting last week and appreciated the fact that the chamber allowed their members to vote. He wondered whether a referendum could be held.

DelRay Sparby, representing the city attorney's office, said a referendum could be held but as a special election only and the results would not be binding on the city council. The results would serve only as an advisory vote. He also said he didn't think the city could pay for the election. The money would have to come from some other source.

Councilmen also viewed two tapes about gambling in Minnesota. One of the tapes was of interviews conducted by Joel Swanson of KTRF when he went to Jackpot Junction. The second tape was an eight-minute presentation by an independent contractor.

Construction at the Thief River Falls water treatment plant is behind schedule, said Bob Pieper, resident engineer from Black and Veatch for the city of Thief River Falls. Pieper said construction was behind schedule because the contractor's preliminary contract schedule did not take into account some problems. Although it is behind schedule, Pieper said he is confident that the project will be completed by August of 1993, which is within the allotted time for completion.

In other business, the council: decided to have the city attorney and clerk meet later with Tom Greelia who has requested that Family Bowl be given a permit for Sunday on-sale 3.2 beer and wine; approved a motion advertise the city in the Trade and Commerce Magazine; approved a request to have beer in Oakland park on September 11, 18, and 25 by Arctco; approved a letter to Soo Line notifying them that the current maximum speed over railroad crossings in Thief River Falls is 20 miles per hour not 10 miles per hour as thought by Soo Line; approved a permit allowing on-sale liquor at the Library Ball on October 5 by the Best Western; approved a dance permit request from the Rotary club; approved replacement of two part-time category II employees for the liquor store.

Proposed Casino pits morality vs. economics

Paul Ihle, TRF City Attorney Meeting Moderator

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Over 500 people packed the Thief River Falls city auditorium Tuesday night to discuss and debate a proposed $2 million casino for the community.

Red Lake Band of Chippewa recently proposed to open a casino in the former Red Owl building on Highway 59 south in Thief River Falls. The proposal has sparked debate of issues which range from moral indignation to economic necessity. It is a proposal that is pitting many of the community's business leaders against many of the community's ministerial leaders. David Grothe called it "a choice between money and values."

Despite the fact that no one had heard the proposal from the Band before Tuesday, the issue has been the topic of conversation ever since the proposal became public a couple of weeks ago. Tuesday night, William Hallett, economic development director for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa presented the tribal council's proposal. (A complete transcript of Hallett's discussion is in this issue of The Times.)

Briefly, the proposal calls for the $2 million casino to employ as many as 300 people, with 70 per cent coming from the community of Thief River Falls. Hallett also indicated that the casino would not serve alcohol, or offer pull tabs or bingo. The casino would be open from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m., but wouldn't be open until noon on Sundays. It would have a buffer strip around it and the tribe would pay the city in lieu of taxes what the property is valued at.

Several petitions were presented Tuesday night. Don Goodrich of Thief River Falls said he conducted interviews in the fifth ward of the city. In summary, Goodrich found that 90 per cent of the persons he interviewed want a citywide vote. Of the 132 people interviewed in the fifth ward, 82 said they were against opening of a casino, nine were for a casino and 47 did not wish to disclose their preference.

Minnesota law specifies when the city can put an item to vote. This issue is not covered by the statutes therefore the city council does not have the authority to spend any money for a vote on a casino, according to City Attorney Paul Ihle. Ihle explained a vote could be held but it would be an advisory vote only and would not be legally binding on the council. He also said state law would not permit the city or county to pay for the cost of the vote. He also suggested that it not be held on the same day as the general election because there seems to be some legal argument arising that it could taint the general election.

Yet, it seemed the clear consensus of the crowd and those who spoke, whether they were in favor of the casino or not, that an election should be held on the issue.

Several ministers in the community spoke against the proposed casino. Rev. Del Palmer of Our Saviour's church in Thief River Falls, presented a petition and said that "all the people who signed the petition expressed a grave desire that the casino that is proposed would not go through and the reason is on moral grounds and they just feel that it is not God's will for us to have a casino here in Thief River Falls."

Pastor Sandy Stevenson of the Assembly of God church in Thief River Falls presented a petition opposed the casino on moral and spiritual reasons.

Cathy Stevenson, also of Assembly of God church, said the ministerial association had met and by unanimous vote are against the casino in Thief River Falls.

Many questions answered about proposed casino

The following is a compilation of many of the questions asked at the meeting Tuesday night in Thief River Falls. The questions were answered either by City Attorney Paul Ihle or Red Lake Band of Chippewa representative Bill Hallett.

Q. Will the casino ever apply for a liquor license?

A. No.

Q. Do they even have to apply for a liquor license?

A. The answer to that depends on how the land is acquired. Whether it is in fee, which means held by the tribe or if it put in Trust. If it is held by the tribe there is a gray area but they probably would be looking at operating under state law, requiring a state license. If the land is in Trust they would issue their own license.

Q. Will the fee in lieu of taxes ever increase?

A. The payment in lieu of taxes will be the same for the casino as it is for other businesses.

Q. How much would it cost to put the issue to a vote?

A. The city council does not have the authority to spend any money for a vote on the casino, according to state law. The cost of putting the issue to a vote depends on whether it is held during the general election and/or how many polling places and judges are needed.

Q. Is a contract between the city and the Band enforceable?

A. As it relates to gambling it is strictly enforced by the state. The compact specifies what can and cannot take place. The city or county can contract with the Band just as any individuals and it is enforceable in the courts.

Q. Have any agreements been reached yet?

A. The county and city has met with the band but there has been no decision or agreement reached.

Q. Will outside management be brought in to manage the casino?

A. The Red Lake Band wants to be a good neighbor. There's an assumption that gambling is a vice and ... the community to a number of band things. The Red lake Band does not nor will they enter into outside management arrangements with organizations to manage the facility.

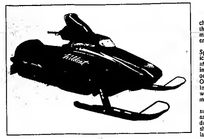
Red Lake Band proposes casino

The following is the text of the proposal from the Red Lake Band of Chippewa as presented by William Hallett, economic development director for the tribe.

"During this past year, the Red Lake Band has created an economic development commission. The focus is enterprise development and creation at the reservation. The economic development commission is a delegate agency of the Red Lake Band with separate legal standing.



"The focus of the commission is economic development creation but the realities are such that resources for the creation of enterprises or expansion of enterprises by tribal members on the reservation are nearly non-existent — reasons being insufficient requirements for education, experience and equity as well as the political environment in which business exist on the reservation. Their access to capital off the reservation markets is basically non-existent. There are, however resources, available to the tribe and to the tribes capability to mobilize resources. We are intending to build on that capability to mobilize resources through the tribe to create partnerships with tribal members so that they may eventually acquire all or most of the tribe's interest in that particular business that is created. That may be a bait shop. It may be a small engine repair shop, a restaurant or some other area of manufacturing worth looking at, such as cable TV or wireless cable on the reservation. But in addition to those scenarios that we have developed, the economic development commission has a business work component with it to help provide financial management, legal, marketing and sales technical services. In addition to working with enterprises and the creation of enterprises on the reservation, I have been involved with the tribe in the development of the gaming casino in Warroad — somewhat on Johnny come lately basis. Harlan Beaulieu and others with the tribe probably have been working on it for the past five years... in the development of the casino in Warroad.

"Indian gaming across the country has grown probably ten fold within the last five years. Previously, gaming at the reservation was limited to bingo. Our reservation expanded its bingo operation back in 1982. And it's from the proceeds of that operation that the tribe has invested in the development of the casino at Warroad. The casino at Warroad is a relatively small facility in comparison with other facilities that are in the state... Little 6, Jackpot Junction etc.... We have 150 video games in the Warroad facility, employ 50 people, and it will have eventually four black jack tables. The facility hasn't been extensively advertised and our market initially was focusing on the Warroad market itself. We are finding that the majority of our market is the Canadian market. I'm told by our manager of the casino that in excess of 50 per cent of the clients at the casino are from Canada.

"Several weeks ago, our chairman and Harlan Beaulieu, our real estate specialist, were looking at sites for expansion. Thief River is a very ideal location. We then proceeded with discussion with people from the business community, as well as representatives from the

Arctco models key another banner year

Production will start in about 10 days on the new Wildcat model being produced by Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls. The Wildcat has an all new aerodynamic design look and features an Arctic Wishbone Suspension (AWS) chassis, 700cc liquid-cooled twin cylinder Suzuki engine and lighter weight.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Crisp autumn mornings with a chill in the air turn thoughts toward the approaching winter and, for many people, the thought of another snowmobiling season.

With production of the EXT Special with its sporty flame graphics on the hood starting last week and with a view toward the strikingly aerodynamic Wildcat going on the production line about October 1, management at Arctco, Inc., is excited about what appears will be another banner year in the making.

Stockpile of snowmobiles outside the local plant is diminishing as sufficient models have been produced to make up mixed lots for shipment to dealers. That accumulation of new snowmobiles over the past several months, however, apparently has had some tongues wagging.

"I don't know how many people have asked about that inventory of sleds and if we are having trouble selling them," notes Ole Tweet, vice president of marketing for Arctco. "We appreciate their concern, but all of those machines are destined for dealer showrooms in the near future."

Tweet said that the large number of machines which had been stacked outside the building results from several circumstances, nearly all of which are good from a company standpoint.

This year Arctco is producing 23 models of snowmobiles for the domestic market plus a number of other international models for overseas shipment. The production line is geared up to build just one of those models at any given time.

Since many dealers also sell summer recreational equipment and would rather not have new snowmobiles on hand until fall, and because most dealers have ordered a number of different models, it is impractical to ship each model as it comes off the line. Stockpiling until models can be grouped for shipment is a cost-effective method of operation.

"We are also shipping much more in covered trailers," Tweet said, "so people don't see as many flatbeds loaded with Arctic Cats as they used to. Covered trailers make it easier for truckers to pick up products for a back haul and our machines arrive with a cleaner, nicer appearance when they aren't exposed to the elements on the road."

The stockpile of machines awaiting shipment has also given rise to rumors around the community and country that Arctco is having financial difficulties. According to Tweet, nothing could be further from the truth.

"Our year-end results for the fiscal 1991 year which ended March 31 showed record sales and earnings," he said, "and the first quarter results for fiscal 1992 also look very good. Because this is a seasonal business, there is a wide variation in operations from one quarter to the next."

During the first quarter of fiscal 1992 which ended June 30, Arctco had nearly a million dollar increase in sales from $12,426,000 a year ago to $13,411,000 this year. In comparison with a year ago, the company has gone from owing about $16 million in short-term borrowing to having more than $10 million in cash and short-term investments—a strengthening in financial condition of about $25 million.

In fiscal 1991 the company had net sales of $151,855,000—an increase of nearly $13 million from the $138,778,000 in fiscal 1990. Net earnings rose from $12,490,000 to $13,384,000 although assistance to dealers in shared sales promotions resulted in a slight decline in operating profit from $22,234,000 in fiscal 1990 to $21,853,000 in fiscal 1991. Total assets of the company soared from $56,150,000 in fiscal 1990 to $90,818,000 at the end of fiscal 1991.

Last year's EXT Special was named "Snowmobile of the Year"

Grandma's cookies need a special section and here it is. These recipes are from Grandma's old cookbook and I have printed them just as they were in the book. Maybe you know some of these ladies!

I think these are old-fashioned refrigerator cookies, but who am I to quibble? Whatever they are, this is a huge recipe.

Olive Ana Cookies

1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup butter, 1 cup lard, 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Cream this all together, then add 3 beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon soda, 6 cups flour and 1 cup chopped nuts. Mix batter well and put into a loaf. Let stand over night in a cool place. In the morning, slice real thin and bake. (Mrs. A. Gibson, Mrs. D.F. White)

What about these oatmeal cookies? Bet you've never baked them this way.

Oatmeal Cookies

On two cups of oatmeal pour 1 cup hot lard, let stand until cool. Add 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup raisins, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 1/4 cups flour. Drop on greased tins by spoonfuls. Bake in hot oven. (Agnes Norby)

This is a bar cookie that could double as a dessert:

Walnut Slices

2 cups flour and 1 cup butter, mix well and spread in a small buttered tin and bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven. Mix together 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup walnuts, 1/2 cup coconut, 2 beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon flour, and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Place on top of first mixture and bake 25 to 30 minutes. Serve with or without whipped cream. (Mrs. Harold Eide)

I remember these date-filled cookies and they are delicious:

Date Cookies

1/2 cup butter, 1 large egg (not beaten), 2 teaspoons cream of tartar (scant), 1 teaspoon soda in cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons sour cream, pinch of salt. Roll and cut with cutter. Filling: 1 box dates, mashed and cut, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon flour, 1/2 cup water. Boil a little while and put filling on half and fold over. (Mrs. J.M. Bishop)

These will make your kitchen smell good:

Ginger Ice Box Cookies

1 cup butter, 2 cups white sugar, 2 eggs, 4 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 cup molasses, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Cream butter and sugar, add well beaten eggs, molasses, salt, ginger. Sift flour and soda, add gradually. Roll in a long roll, place in ice box until hard, slice and bake. (Mrs. B.J. Fall)

What's a bunch of cookie recipes without these:

White Cookies

1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup butter, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in warm water, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Add flour until it makes a soft dough. Roll carefully (Mrs. O.G. Winger)

Or these, for you chocolate lovers:

Chocolate Drop Cookies

1 cup light brown sugar, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup chopped nuts, 2 squares chocolate, 1/2 teaspoon soda. Drop with spoon on buttered tins and ice with chocolate icing. (Mrs. O.G. Storholm)

And what will these be like and how do we bake them?

Cookies

2 cups sugar, 1 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 5 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon lemon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg (Mrs. Robert Nelson)

What good Thief River Falls cookbook would be without these Norwegian favorites:

Sprits

1 cup sugar, 1 pound butter, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 5 cups flour, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sweet cream, almond meats chopped fine, vanilla to taste. Form with a sprit-iron and bake (Mrs. C.B. Larson)

Sandbakkelse

1/2 cup butter, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lard, vanilla or nutmeg, flour to make a stiff dough. Press into individual tart tins and bake. (Mrs. G. Granum)

Krum Kager

1 cup butter, 1 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 6 eggs, 3/4 cup sweet cream. Drop by spoonful in iron. (Mrs. A.C. Matheson)

Fattigmand

6 eggs, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 pinch salt. Beat all together. Flour enough to roll. Cook in deep fat. (Mrs. M.V. Evenson)

Free vision tests given

Free vision screening tests will be offered to persons 60 years of age and older Wednesday, October 2, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Heritage Community center in Thief River Falls.

Visually impaired individuals are also welcome to take the free tests being provided by Low Vision Resources, a division of the Minneapolis Society for the Blind through a grant from the U S West foundation.

Thorough vision tests will be conducted by staff optometrists and by local optometrists and ophthalmologists who will be donating their services.

Society instructors will also be on hand to demonstrate low vision aids and compensatory skills to people who are visually impaired. The site will be equipped with state-of-the-art instruments and educational materials.

"Many people believe that a decrease in vision due to aging is a normal, unpreventable progression which must be accepted," states Joy Schultz, director of Low Vision Resources. "If detected early enough, visual impairment can be prevented or treated to reduce the severity and extent of visual loss."

Mike Gau, customer services representative for U S West in Thief River Falls, says his company supports 31 community service teams in Minnesota. Special emphasis is given to activities aiding the elderly, disabled and youth.

"EAGER FOR THE TRUTH"

Luke 21:38, and the people came early in the morning to Him in the temple, for to hear Him.
These people were excited to learn the truth about God, and a higher way of life.
Are you excited about what Jesus has to say? To seek Him early and find out the truth, that will give you wisdom to live a godly life. Remember, sometimes the truth hurts, but it will set you free.

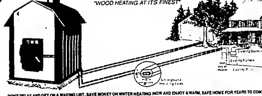
Blood drive in TR Falls Sept. 25-26

Under local sponsorship of the Eagles Auxiliary, United Blood Services will conduct a blood drive Wednesday and Thursday, September 25 and 26, at the Northwest Medical center chapel. Hours will be from noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

To make an appointment to donate blood, call Kay Nelson at 681-4760 evenings or Helen Brandt at 681-2377. Goal is to schedule 75 donors with appointments.

"Giving blood is one of the most important acts of service you can ever do," Nelson and Brandt said. "While most people will need to receive blood at some time in their lives, less than 10 per cent of the people in this area donate blood."



"Doctors use blood for only one reason, to sustain life," added Janet Gallagher, director of community relations for United Blood Services in Fargo, ND. "Without blood for transfusion, the life of the patient would be endangered.

"Some people believe they can wait until they know someone needs blood before they donate. This was true years ago," Gallagher adds. "Blood was collected only as it was needed, but it was often transfused before some very important tests could be run.

"United Blood Services collects blood every day so that it is available every day to meet patients' needs. Before your donation is usable for a patient, it must be fully tested, which takes more than six hours."

She believes the reason most people don't donate blood is because no one has asked them. "Please consider yourself asked," she said.

Opinions

Marvin Lundin
Editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

We Were Impressed....

In the personal view of the Times editor, we were impressed by Tuesday's meeting at which members of the Thief River Falls city council, county board of commissioners and other interested public heard information and expressed comments on a proposed gambling casino in Thief River Falls.

First of all we were impressed by the orderly manner of the overflow crowd, given the emotional and controversial nature of the subject matter. The tone was set by City Attorney Paul Ihle who presided at the meeting and requested respect for the speakers as well as setting forth the procedure for the meeting. But the credit for a general attitude of courtesy and restraint goes to the people who could well have behaved in a less appropriate fashion. They are deserving of commendation for their patience and consideration.

We have been at public meetings—most notably the recent scoping meetings held by the U.S. Air Force on the now defunct OTH-B radar project—where the actions of those attending were disgraceful. It was embarrassing to be among the audience when speakers were loudly scoffed at and rudely interrupted by people opposed to the project. They did themselves and their position no good by their actions.

To the contrary at Tuesday's meeting, people were permitted to make their comments free of jeers and interruptions. The audience listened attentively to what was being said and for the most part—with the exception of a couple of comments involving personalities—confined their comments to the question in a polite and dignified manner. In our opinion it was a classic and model example of public participation in governmental operations.

We were impressed by the presentation made by Bill Hallett, director of economic development for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians— the entity which proposes to locate a casino in Thief River Falls under Indian gaming laws. Mr. Hallett was articulate, organized and informative and certainly conveyed an attitude of cooperation and compromise on behalf of the Red Lake Tribal Council in its dealings with local government and local residents.

We were impressed by the comments presented by most of the speakers who obviously had given a good deal of thought to what they wanted to say and how they wanted to say it—both in support of and in opposition to establishment of a casino in this city.

As a result of the meeting we have formed a few personal opinions regarding the question:

(1) Most residents of the city and county would feel more comfortable if an advisory vote of some kind could be held to let everyone express his or her opinion and the public know in which direction public sentiment lies.

(2) It is much too early for our local governing bodies to make an informed decision in favor of or opposition to locating a casino here. Agreements among the city, county and Red Lake band would have to be specifically detailed and carefully written so that expectations and responsibilities are clear and defined and understood by all, and the intent at the time of any agreement would be preserved and not subject to change at some future date.

(3) If there is a "silent majority" in regard to the casino question, we are not at all sure on which side of the question it exists. We give little validity to polls and surveys which involve only segments of the community, although they make for interesting discussion. We do know that the Constitutional Amendment which established the state lottery in 1988 was approved in Pennington county by a vote of 3,250 to 2,674—a margin of 576 votes or 54.86 per cent to 45.13 per cent. The public's viewpoint in this county on the morality of gambling versus its economic impact has already been established.

(4) We would expect that the presence of a gambling casino here would increase "car count," result in increased sales of gasoline, food and lodging and perhaps stimulate increased volume for at least some other retail businesses. We also expect it would provide a certain segment of the population—present or future—with moderate paying jobs that could cause other wages in the community to rise.

(5) Regardless of the methods and circumstances of operation and the best and most sincere efforts of the tribal council to be concerned, attentive and cooperative neighbors, we remain unconvinced that the operation would have a substantial NET positive impact on the total Thief River Falls community, its economic standing, its people and its quality of life. Properly used, however, the revenue going to the Red Lake Band could well improve the economic development situation on the reservation.

(6) We do fear that the convenience factor of a casino located here would contribute to greater addictive gambling by area people and to social and economic hardships of a personal nature that would be less likely to occur in the absence of such a facility.

(7) We hope that much more investigation, research and study will be concentrated in the next few weeks so that informed decisions can be made by the public if an advisory referendum is forthcoming and by the city council and county board whether or not an advisory vote is held. Decisions made in haste and under duress are not always the wisest ones.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Gambling now seems to be the talk of the town and maybe it should be and maybe it shouldn't be. It is really beyond my comprehension how one group of individuals can state an opinion over another. In this majestic country of ours, why should it be the right of one group of people over another; after all, is it not the position of the Indian people only to better themselves through the opening of a casino? Is this not their God-given right to pursue better lives for themselves and probably others through jobs in the casino and who knows how many other spinoff jobs in the future.

Gambling is the betting on the outcome of a game, event or chance happening. Nothing more. Why all of a sudden does it become a church issue or a moral issue or, most of all, why a RACIAL issue?

Since I happen to be one of the so-called lower middle class of people, I know that it is like not to be able to put the kinds of food you would like on the table, or send the kids to school with new things, and to let them participate in sporting events because the money is not there.

This (the casino) is the kind of shot in the arm some people in this town have waited a lifetime for and now it could all be taken away. That is why I write today. I want the people of Thief River to stand up and speak their aspiration for a good job, a steady job, a clean job, and for many people, any job. These are the populace who are to be most affected by the opening of a casino. Don't let those who already have forced you out force you out any longer; permit yourself to be heard and say yes to a finer tomorrow for you and your children.

For those who are opposed to this issue, I am mortified to think that people today would not want the casino on the basis that the owners would be Indian. To those and others like them all you need to do is stay out of the casino and not be burdened by bigotry.

To those who like to look at this religiously, I must state that if gambling is a sin and the betting on an outcome is a sin, then the putting in of a crop or the operating of a business must undoubtedly be a sin. After all, is that not also a chance happening or an event?

Thank you for your time, and go support your position.

To The Editor:

Concerned citizens, I believe the city of Thief River Falls has a great opportunity before it. I am for the proposed casino.

You know the people opposed to the casino are writing the city council and the county board about this issue.

If you believe as I do, the casino would be a great asset to Thief River Falls. Take the time to write a letter to the city council and the county board.

Don't let this opportunity move to another city.

WE WILL NOT GET A SECOND CHANCE!

Sincerely,
Denal Grahn

Speaking in fovor of the casino Russ Christianson of Thief River Falls stated that "as an individual who served as chamber president, Jobs board member and citizen of Thief River Falls, I have always felt that this town is not going forward, It's taking a step backwards." Christianson stated he was in fovor of the casino for economic reasons, reason that included job creatioo, money in lieu of toxes, reduced unemployment, increased Canadian traffic, and increosed economic development in Thief River Falls.

Roger Reuter of Thief River Falls said he was in fovor of the proposal and welcomed the casino to the business community of Thief River Falls. He said he had examined the business plan as presented so far and challenged those who had signed the petition against the casino to say why they were against the casino when Tuesday was the first time any had heard the proposal.

Christianson and Reuter were joined io their support of the proposed casino by Bob Bergan, executive director of the chamber, and Julie Olson of the convention and visitors bureau, who reiterated the chamber's decision and the decision of the convention and visitar's bureau to endorse and welcome the proposed casino to tho business community.

"If we're looking to keep this community growing, wo've got to go and take a gamble on this casino," said Roger Shaffer, past chamber of commerce president.

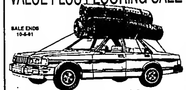
Other businessmen sited spin aff businesses and more job creation. Of the 300 jobs that would be created about 70 per cent would be filled by area residents. In addition, ane businessman said a Perkins restourant might move to Thief River Falls if the casino opens because it would bring increased traffic to the area.

An ad thet appeared in Tho Times and Northern Watch, however, claimed the casino would be a "financial parasite, siphooing far more money out of the area than it ever returned." The ad asks, "could we reasonably expcct loog-term tourism to be a great fsctor in resupplying the local finances thot havo been drained awoy?" Tho od was paid for by Concerned Families aad Citizens Against Gombling.

Mayor Bob Carlson admitted he hed changed his mind about the casino. He said he heard his phono ringing off tho hook against gambling. After reading comments of the Attomey Oeneral in a recent news article, ho said he would like to see the state place o moratorium on gambiing until thoy could address what path the stole is taking.

Not everyone agreed that the issue should involve moral issues. Douglas Dehnert from near St. Hilaire said he was quite surprised at the emotional level of the debate. "The other thing that really surprises me is this mareiity thing that keeps coming into a business venture that will quite obviously bo quite good for the town in terms of economic development, but this maral issue. . . . it makes reaily kind of wonder where this giont hoie comes up in the middle of Thief River Falls and everybody automatically falls into moral turpitude on the day a casino is built."

One ciderly man, however, questioned why the city needs a casino and said whot this community needs is more spiritual things. "We need Christ in our town. We don't need any of this corruption that we've gat today!"



Not everyone agreed that the morolity issue included oll it should. County Commissioner Ken Murphy raised the issuo of racism. Murphy ogreed that one of the issuos is morals ond morality of gambling ond drinking. But some af the peaple who collod him expressed racist eamments. Murphy said he was shocked at how many started with o moral objection and ended with a racist comment. In pointing out this underlying issue, Murphy challenged ministers who spoke so much obout morality to teach their followers obout brotherly love.

Post high planning at NCC

Post high school planning program for all high school students and their parents will be held at Northland Community College on Monday, September 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This program gives students and parents an opportunity to explore a variety of options for continued education or military service after high school. Representatives from more than 60 educational institutions and other organizations will be available to answer questions and provide important information for post-high school planning. Structure like a fair, students and parents will be free to look at various material and speak to those schools, colleges and organizations that interest them.

Sponsored by the same group that hosts the successful National College Fair held in the Twin Cities each fall, this program offers an excellent chance for high school students to begin planning for life after graduation. Admission is free. Students should contact their high school counselor for further information.

Q. How many employees will come from the community?

A. About 70 per cent of the employees for the facility are expected to come from the community. The Red Lake Band is a small community. It has about 5,500 people on the reservation. Although 50 per cent of the work force is unemployed. We're looking at a work force of about 1,300 people. Now we have a number of jobs that can be created and we plan on using some of the revenues from the casino in job creation.

Q. Does the Red Lake Band seek support of the community?

A. Yes, the Red Lake Band seeks support from the Thief River Falls community to establish a gaming facility.

Q. Does the Red Lake Band want resolutions from the city and county?

A. Yes, we would like the resolutions from the city and the county. However, upon examination of the compact and Indian Gaming Act, we find that isn't necessary legally, but is a desirable aspect from the standpoint of the Governor's office.

Q. Where is your primary market?

A. Our primary market is Canada. About 50 per cent of the people in Warroad are from Canada. Yet, another percentage come from the Red River Valley and nearby areas. Initially, we were looking at Marvin Windows employees as being one of their stable markets. That's not the case. People in Warroad are supporting it and I don't think you'll find any negative responses about how the facility is run. A number of the clients are older people they aren't kids.

Q. What will be the wages of the employees at the casino?

A. No specific wage schedule has been established, however, in Warroad, employees on the floor is about $5.50 per hour or more. Cashiers get between $7 and $8 per hour. Dealers also get between $7 and $8 per hour plus tips.

Q. Who pays workman's compensation, insurance and other costs?

A. The tribe is responsible for Federal withholding taxes for non-enrolled tribal employees. Workman's comp., insurance and fringe benefits are similar to what is paid by other businesses in the area.

Q. Explain the two types of reservation, a reservation in trust and in fee?

A. Indian Trust land is in two categories. One tribal trust land that is acquired by the tribe and converted to Trust. Hallett explained that they have two treaties, the treaty of 1863 and the treaty of 1889. The treaty of 1863 extends well into the Dakotas and covers this area as well. In that treaty the Indians ceded 13 million acres of land to the government. The second agreement, the Treaty of 1889 involves 2.9 acres and covers the east side of the river to the Canadian border, south of the diminished reservation to north of Bemidji and up to the Canadian border. In that agreement the band ceded land for homestead. When homesteaders met the requirement for homestead, the government issued a fee patent title to that land. The role of the federal government was that of a broker. Land not entered onto at that time were eventually returned to the band. Currently, the band has approximately 300,000 acres of land which they call the Nelson agreement area which is the 1889 treaty area already described. In addition, in 1904 there were 11 townships that were ceded to the federal government, including land east of Thief River Falls.

There is also allotted trust land. The Red Lake Band never accepted the allotment. As a consequence, the diminished reservation is owned by the tribe. It is one of the few reservations in the county that are called closed reservations where all of the land in the reservation is owned by the tribe.

The band also has the opportunity to own property in fee and does own property in fee. The land has not been converted to property to trust. After reading the compact and meeting with solicitor from the department of interior, it appears unnecessary to convert the property to Trust status, although that was the initial belief.

Q. If the land is put in Trust can it ever be removed?

A. Yes.

Q. If the casino fails or moves, will the band continue to abide by zoning regulations at the site?

A. Yes.

Scientist warns of Lyme diesease risk

Closing of summer does not mean the disappearance of dangerous Ixodes dammini ticks or deer ticks, according to Charles Koval, extension entomologist and professor in the department of entomology at the University of Wisconsin—Madison.

"We actually see a resurgence of deer ticks, known transmitters of Lyme disease, in the middle of September," Koval said. "These ticks are active and feeding well into November in most parts of the country. As a result, Lyme disease can be actively transmitted in the fall."

Ticks will cluster and cling to the remaining vegetation to warm themselves in colder temperatures, exposing them to high levels of contact with humans and animals, the professor added.

"The fall season becomes even more dangerous because people tend to get careless and relax their tick protection safeguards," he said. "People should definitely be adhering to Lyme disease precautions for themselves and their pets during the fall because the threat of disease transmission is still present."

The following Lyme disease precautions are recommended by the federal Centers for Disease Control:

- Be aware of and try to avoid tick habitats such as tall grass, bushes and woods.
- Wear appropriate clothing such as a hat; tucked-in shirt with tight collar and cuffs; and long pants tucked into socks.
- Use a personal repellent.
- Check frequently for ticks while you are outside and immediately after coming inside; remove any attached ticks with a tweezers.
- Inspect pets for ticks and use veterinarian-recommended tick control products.

While there is no Lyme disease vaccine for humans, a vaccine has been developed for dogs and is available through veterinarians. The vaccine can be given to dogs any time of the year, followed by an annual booster.

Pioneers playing at Vermilion

Trying to break into the win column for the first time this fall, the Northland Community College football team faces a formidable task Saturday when the Pioneers head to Ely for a 1:30 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference assignment against Vermilion.

Northland dropped a 28-7 season-opening nonconference game to the Moorhead State University junior varsity, then fell to Itasca 27-20 in their MCCC opener last Saturday in Grand Rapids.

Vermilion, figured to be an MCCC title contender this fall, is 2-0 with a 34-24 nonconference win over NDSSS-Wahpeton and a 20-7 MCCC decision over the University of Minnesota-Crookston last week.

Northland's first MCCC home game will be Saturday, Sept. 28, vs. Hibbing. The Cardinals are expected to challenge Vermilion for the 1991 Northeast Division title.

It was a clean Northeast Division sweep over the Northwest in first-week MCCC play, with Hibbing beating Brainerd 28-0 and Mesabi stopping Fergus Falls 24-7 in addition to the Itasca victory over Northland and the Vermilion win over UMC.

Elsewhere Saturday, Mesabi will be at Brainerd, UMC visits Hibbing and Itasca drives to Fergus Falls.

Prowlers heading to Belcourt tonight for first road game

First road trip of the 1991 high school football season for Thief River Falls had the Prowlers heading to Belcourt, ND today (Friday) for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

The two teams were meeting each other for the first time. Thief River Falls left town with a 1-2 record, losing to Park Rapids 16-6 and Detroit lakes 24-14 before beating Staples last week 26-6 to close out a season-opening three-game home stand. Belcourt is 0-3 following losses to Bismarck Century 21-12, Valley City 21-8 and Williston 34-13 last Friday.

Thief River Falls will be on the road again next week with a Sept. 27 trip to Crookston before the Prowlers close out their 1991 regular season home schedule with a Friday, Oct. 4, homecoming game against Morris. The schedule ends with games at Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks.

Belcourt and and Morris are the only non-Section 8A foes on Thief River Falls' 1991 schedule.

Thief River Falls' Kathy Kvick (right) slapped the ball past East Grand Forks blocker Robyn Egeland for a point Tuesday in the second game of the 3-out-of-5 high school volleyball match in the Lincoln gym. The Green Wave won 3-1.

EGF rally topples TRF 3-1

Inconsistency cost Thief River Falls Tuesday in a 3-1 high school volleyball loss to East Grand Forks.

The visiting Green Wave dropped the Prowlers to 2-6 with a 13-15, 15-3, 15-10, 15-2.

Thief River Falls started strong, with a string of seven consecutive service points by freshman Kelly Skeim helping produce a 10-3 Game 1 lead. But the Prowlers watched the Green Wave pull within 14-13 before Thief River Falls sophomore Toni Chiedo won out on a tie-up at the net with East Grand Forks' Erin Gonsorowski for the final point.

The momentum from that first-game rally carried over as East Grand Forks rolled to a one-sided 15-3 second-game win and a 1-1 tie.

Maybe the biggest turning point of the night came in Game 3 when East Grand Forks rattled off 11 straight points to wipe out a 10-4 Thief River Falls lead.

Skeim had back-to-back point-producing blocks, plus a kill, and junior Kristen Boughton came off the bench to serve four straight points as the Prowlers jumped to a 7-1 lead. A deep-corner placement by senior Kathy Kvick and a hit by Skeim made it 10-4 before the Green Wave came back behind the play of Jenny Loeck, Robyn Egeland and Katie Hjelle.

Down 11-10, the Prowlers went

Marshall County Central volleyball...

Rams, Warriors hand Nordics two setbacks

Marshall County Central fell to 2-4 for the year following back-to-back high school volleyball losses to Roseau Tuesday and Warroad Thursday.

The Nordics lost a 3-2 decision to the Rams at Newfolden and fell to the Warriors 3-1 at Warroad.

Marshall County Central had a 2-0 Tuesday night lead, but Roseau came back to beat the Nordics 4-15, 13-15, 15-9, 15-7, 15-3.

"We had a nice, strong start, but then we lost some intensity," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson.

After opening with a pair of wins, the Nordics had a shot at a sweep with a 7-7 third-game tie, but were out-scored 38-12 the rest of the way.

"We started playing not to lose," mentioned Jorgenson. "They got the momentum and we couldn't get it back. We forgot to concentrate. We were letting the ball fall in on us, and they (Rams) were picking up everything we hit."

Sophomore hitter Sara Lokstad played well at the net, said Jorgenson.

There weren't many good things to say after the trip to Warroad, according to Jorgenson, who watched the Warriors rack up a 13-15, 15-9, 15-4, 15-3 victory.

The Nordics came back from an 8-0 first-game deficit for the match-opening first-game win, and played the Warriors to an 8-8 second-game draw before hitting a wall.

"We started slow, but had a nice comeback and I thought we were going to be all right," offered Jorgenson. "But we fell apart. The last two games was the worst vol-

Thief River Falls, Grand Forks, Crookston...

Swimmers host triangular

Grand Forks Central/Red River out-pointed Thief River Falls and Crookston Tuesday in a triangular girls high school swim meet at the Franklin Middle School pool.

The Grand Forks cooperative finished with 134 points, while the Prowlers collected 101 and the Pirates netted 70.

Thief River Falls was not at full strength, pointed out Prowlers coach Ryan Lokken, with Amy Adams, Leslie Ammerman, Sana Torgerson, Maja Turenne and Lisa DeLap all missing the meet because of health or family-related reasons. Those who were on hand found themselves swimming events they wouldn't normally enter to fill out the Thief River Falls list of entries.

"Having those kids in the line-up would have made a big difference," said Lokken, "but the kids who did swim for us did a really nice job."

Freshman Theresa Glauque won a pair of individual events to lead the Prowlers, turning in a 27.94 in the 50 freestyle and a 1:00.40 in the 100 freestyle.

Senior Gimse Wedul supplied the Prowlers with a first place performance in the diving competition, and Thief River Falls won both the 200 and 400 freestyle relays using senior Linnea Olmich, junior Ingrid Morken, sophomore Lisa Ulrich and Glauque.

Grand Forks also won the junior varsity portion of the meet with 117 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 93 and Crookston 64.

East Grand Forks hitter Robyn Egeland tapped the ball over the double-block effort by Thief River Falls defenders Toni Chiodo (12) and Jamie Martell during Tuesday's high school volleyball match in the Lincoln gym. Kelly Moe of the Green Wave looked on. East Grand Forks won the match 3-1.

through four service rotations without picking up a point. East Grand Forks then completed the come-from-behind effort when Egeland drilled a spike through a blocker and followed with a kill for a 14-10 game that ended on a Thief River Falls error at the net.

Thief River Falls wasn't able to regroup, netting just two points in the final game that ended on a match-completing ace serve by Gonsorowski.

"It wasn't a very consistent night for us," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "You have momentum going, but it's like when a mistake is made, it's hard for them to get going again."

Andersen wasn't satisfied with the Prowlers' overall performance. "We're better than what we showed," she said. "I didn't think it was a very good team effort. At times some individuals played hard, but we didn't do it as a team. We have to work on setting things up. We can't just keep bumping the ball over the net."

Only double-figure scoring production for the Prowlers were the 10 last-touch points by Skeim. For the Green Wave, Egeland wound up with 19 service points and Gonsorowski had 14.

Thief River Falls will compete in the Bemidji Invitational Saturday.

Earlier Tuesday, East Grand Forks dropped the Thief River Falls junior varsity record to 1-3 with a 15-2, 3-15, 15-13 decision, and the Green Wave posted a pair of 2-0 wins in C squad play – 15-13, 15-11 in C-1 and 15-4, 15-11 in C-II. The Thief River Falls C-1 team is 2-1 for the year; the C-2 squad fell to 1-2.

Thief River Falls freshmen played at Valley Junior High in Grand Forks that afternoon, losing a 15-8, 15-8 match that dropped the Prowlers to 1-1.

TRF Scoring

Northland volleyball...

Pioneers edge Itasca

Northland Community College evened its 1991 volleyball record at 4-4 Wednesday with a 3-2 win over Minnesota Community College Conference foe Itasca in Thief River Falls.

The Pioneers started slow, but came back to win 1-15, 15-11, 12-15, 15-12, 15-5.

"Except for the first game, we played some pretty good volleyball," said Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We started a little slow; we just couldn't get the ball over the net."

Northland fell behind 2-1 when the Pioneers let a 12-7 Game 3 lead slip away, but played well in winning the final two games, pointed out Jacobson.

Cheri Bjorgaard and Jill Brant gave Northland a strong 1-2 punch at the net, and Rhonda Srnsky had a strong net setting, mentioned Jacobson, who also cited the play of Aliec Dunning and Janice Helm off the bench.

Northland will compete in the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. The Pioneers host NDSCS-Wahpeton and the Moorhead State University junior varsity in a Wednesday triangular starting at 5 p.m.

Grygla-Goodridge drops 3-0 decision

Grygla-Goodridge remains winless in high school volleyball following a 3-0 loss to Roseau Thursday at Grygla.

It was a quick one as the Rams blitzed the Wolverines 15-0, 15-6, 15-1.

"We got rocked," acknowledged Grygla-Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. "It was a shooting gallery for them."

The Rams' Sue Roadfelt dominated play, pointed out Mostrom.

The 0-6 Wolverines will meet Kittson County North Tuesday and Argyle Thursday – both at Grygla.

Tennis postponed

Wet weather Tuesday forced postponement of a scheduled Thief River Falls girls high school tennis match at Detroit Lakes, where the Prowlers were planning to meet both the Lakers and Fergus Falls, while cold weather Thursday prompted the postponement of a planned dual meet at Bemidji.

A string of three straight postponements for the Prowlers started with a Monday dual vs. Roseau.

The Thursday dual at Bemidji was reset for today (Friday) at 2 p.m. as the Prowlers stop en route to the Brainerd Invitational on Saturday. The Roseau was rescheduled for Oct. 1. No new date was listed for the Detroit Lakes triangular.

Freshmen fall 24-18

Crookston held off Thief River Falls 24-18 Thursday in freshman high school football action.

Thief River Falls, down 18-6 at halftime and 24-12 after three quarters, scored on Eric Bjorgaard passes to Steve Burslie covering 50 and 60 yards, and on an 8-yard Bjorgaard run.

The 1-2 Thief River Falls freshmen host Grand Forks Schroeder Junior High Thursday at 5 p.m.

by Snowmobile magazine, the fourth Arctic model to win that honor and the second in a row. This is the second year the EXT Special is being built on the Arctic Wishbone Suspension (AWS) and the first year it will feature flame graphics on the stylish hood—the first snowmobile to have that decoration on factory production.

Tweet describes the machine as "light and zippy," noting that it is a "great consumer machine" with light weight, liquid-cooled 550cc engine, gas shocks, wide front end, long travel track and "high tech" features.

The Wildcat model which will go into production in about 10 days is an all new design for 1992. Tweet says it has a "radical new look—an aerodynamic, aggressive look—with lighter weight, AWS chassis, and 700cc twin cylinder liquid-cooled engine."

Some changes have been made since the Wildcat was shown to dealers in prototype form last spring, he added, and flyers are being sent to dealers noting those changes.

Dealer shows are held in about 10 locations across the United States and another 10 places in Canada in February and March each year. Distributors in Alaska, Norway, Sweden and Finland conduct the dealer shows in those areas.

One-day or two-day service schools are held in Thief River Falls and also in a number of U.S. and Canadian cities to update mechanics on new models and changes each year. At the present time five-day factory schools are being conducted in Thief River Falls for beginning and less experienced mechanics to learn about snowmobile maintenance and repair. The classes started this month and will continue into November with about 20 people in each class.

Arctco provides the instruction at the service and factory schools at no charge to representatives of its dealers.

Tweet also said that the dealer network is increasing in numbers. He said the 1992 model year is being helped by company-sponsored programs to assist dealers in selling 1991 model machines late last season. Interest rates, the Persian Gulf war, general economic conditions and other factors adversely affected last year's snowmobile sales.

Production on 1992 models began March 28 and is continuing about on schedule, Tweet said. Dealers are advised of the production schedule so they know when the models they ordered will be produced.

Work is also continuing on the personal watercraft that was announced by Arctco earlier this year but is yet to be named. The company also modifies and markets through its dealer organization a line of portable generators ranging from 750 to 4,000 watts. These are marketed under the Arctic Power name.

The company has also turned to primarily domestic production of its clothing line with many of the items being made by Arctco in Thief River Falls or purchased from a commercial clothing firm in Chisholm. A new computer-controlled cutting machine has been installed in the local sewing department which has been relocated to another building in the Arctco complex.

EXT Special snowmobiles, featuring flame graphics on the hood in a distinctive new design, are coming off the assembly line at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls this week. The company has stepped up its shipment of stockpiled machines to dealers as more of its 23 models of 1992 machines have been manufactured and mixed shipments can be arranged. The EXT Special was the 1991 "Snowmobile of the Year" as selected by Snowmobiler magazine.

Mystery stalks theatre stage at Middle River

One of Sherlock Holmes' greatest adventures, "The Hound of the Baskervilles" by Tim Kelly, will be presented in a spine-tingling play by the Middle River Community Theatre next week as part of the 17th annual Goose Festival.

Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 25, and Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 27, 28 and 29 at Ye Olde Depot in Middle River. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students and children.

Sir Henry (David Nelson) has become heir to the vast Baskerville fortune, a legacy that comes complete with a family curse—death at the fangs of a living horror prowling the English moor. Only Sherlock Holmes (Paul Tandberg) and his trusted companion Dr. Watson (Mark Allen Stromsodt) can stop the beast from striking again.

Suspicion falls on sinister servants (Jerome Henning, Renee Ness and LeeAnn Ruud), a butterfly collector (Jason Simmons), ladies in distress (Connie Leach and Barb Geer) and an escaped convict (Donovan Ruud).

Play-goers will be confronted with questions: Who wrote the letter that summoned the hound? Why do its eyes emit flame? What is the significance of the prehistoric huts dotting the moor? Is Sir Henry's romance with the lovely Kathy (KayDell Super) doomed? Is the supernatural at work?

Director of the production is Julie Helgeson with Karen Beito as assistant and Rev. Paul Johnson as technical director.

National POW/MIA recognition day

National POW-MIA Recognition Day will be observed September 20, 1991 at Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) facilities across the nation with special observances and ceremonies to honor and remember those who were prisoners of war or are missing in action.

Since 1979, POW-MIA Recognition Day has been proclaimed each year by Congress and the President. Many VA ceremonies will be conducted with Department of Defense (DOD) installations, local governments and veterans service organizations.

"All former prisoners of war are owed a debt of gratitude, while the families of those missing in action deserve our support," said Secretary of Veterans Affairs Edward J. Derwinski.

In recognition of this special day, VA is distributing a POW-MIA Recognition Day poster to all VA and DOD installations, Coast Guard facilities, Postal Service facilities, state veterans offices, veterans organizations and private organizations to publicize ceremonies and promote the observance.

Library plans computer use for book check out

Thief River Falls public library will begin checking out books by computer Monday, September 23, according to library officials.

Library patrons will be assigned their own individual barcodes, and this process will require some extra time as each person checks out items for the first time.

The computer will allow no more than three items to be checked out unless the borrower provides his or her social security number, so library staff suggests that borrowers bring their social security number with them for first time check-out on or after September 23.

Quilter's Guild meets Tuesday

Thief River Falls Quilter's Guild will meet Tuesday, September 24, at 7 p.m. in room 133 at the Thief River Falls technical college.

Marian Gigstad and Dorothy Hanson will demonstrate hand-embroidering crazy-quilts with fancy stitches. Members should bring embroidery floss, needles and scissors.

Sheriff Wold urges citizens to join ass'n.

Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold has announced that citizens who would like to join law enforcement officials in the fight against crime now have a way to show their support of that fight. Sheriff Wold is asking citizens to become Honorary members of the Minnesota State Sheriffs Association.

The Association is a professional and educational organization dedicated to the preservation of peace and the protection of the lives and property of the citizens of Minnesota. Annual dues are $20.

Residents of Pennington County will soon be receiving membership applications in the mail. (The association does not contact citizens at their personal residence.) Joining the association is voluntary and Sheriff Wold encourages as many citizens as possible to join his association.

"It is difficult to get an application to everyone who might want to join the Minnesota State Sheriffs Association as an Honorary Member," said Sheriff Wold. "Anyone who does not receive an application by mail, may come by the sheriff's office at the law enforcement center, or send your name, address and check to the Minnesota State Sheriffs Association, Box 623, South St. Paul, Minnesota, 55075.

Funds generated by membership dues are used to support crime prevention and awareness programs, promote public safety, and provide more and improved training for sheriffs and their deputies. The association uses statewide resources to help local sheriffs and deputies better protect the men, women and children of Minnesota.

Sheriff Wold would like to see tougher laws for criminals, more meaningful punishment and an overall improvement in the criminal justice system.

Individuals receive a membership card, a membership emblem for their vehicle, and a year's subscription to our publication, The North Star Sheriff, a safety booklet and special accidental death and dismemberment insurance.

PARENTING TIPS

Introducing New Foods to Children

Children can have fears about eating new or different foods. Because of this, eating at a friend's house or at a day care could be a tramatic experience. As children grow older it is increasingly important for them to feel comfortable with new or strange foods.

Developmentally, children's curiosity will lead them to explore new food in much the same way they will explore the rest of their environment. Allowing children to "play" with a food without having to swallow it is a good way to introduce it. Remember that children learn and explore with all their senses. We are not suggesting that you let children play with their food on a regular basis. But rather that you should be sensitive to your child's developmental level. Give them the opportunity to check out this food before you expect them to put it into their mouth. Forcing a child to try new foods only creates a negative situation and can discourage future exploration.

It is best to remain calm and relaxed at meal time. Allow your children to not like a food. Don't make a big issue of it. Simply try it again at a later time. Children are more likely to take risks in a safe and familiar environment, and trying a new food can be a risk!

Well water screening is offered

Rural well owners concerned about the quality of their water supply can have it tested through sponsorship of the Pennington county extension service and the county comprehensive water planning committee.

A water screening clinic will be held at the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls beginning at 1 p.m. Thursday, September 26 and at the senior citizen center in Grygla beginning at 1 p.m. on Friday, September 27.

Testing will be done for nitrates, iron, hardness and pH with an optional test for bacteria on request.

The screening clinic is free with the exception of a $1 charge for the optional bacteria test. Water samples may be brought to the screening clinic and tested on site in about 10 minutes. Samples should be brought in a clean glass or plastic container and should be taken so that the water has not gone through any filters or softening equipment.

Samples brought for the optional bacteria test need to be brought in a sterilized glass container and refrigerated or drawn just before it is brought to the clinic. Bacteria tests require 48 hours to culture and results of these tests will be mailed to the well owner.

Water from municipal sources should not be brought to the clinic as it is tested monthly by the State Department of Health. The testing clinic is open to all well owners and questions regarding the clinic can be directed to the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116.

Benefit held for Harold and Agnes Geske

A pig roast and dance were held recently by Plummer American Legion Post 623 to assist Harold and Agnes Geske with some of their medical expenses. Both are members of the Plummer post.

Meat for the pig roast was donated by the St. Hilaire and Plummer elevators and cooked by Louis Lallier. From 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. music for dancing was played by the Wagon Wheelers from Minneapolis with St. Hilaire Lions providing money for the band.

All labor was donated by Legion and auxiliary members. Many donations were received and all proceeds donated to the Geske family. Appreciation for the volunteer effort was expressed by chairman Roger Skjerven, Legion commander Paul Wilkens and Auxiliary president Ruth.

Scouts may be forced to stop paper drives

Crookston — A snag in recycling plans may put an end to the annual Crookston Boy Scout project of collecting newspapers for sale to a recycling business in West Fargo. The dealer has indicated that there is a limited market for the paper and he may not be able to take any more for a while. According to scout executives, if a solution isn't found by October 5, the collections will be suspended. Finding a new market may be difficult because most dealers want the paper bailed before they will take it. (Crookston Daily Times)

Grafton purchases industrial park

Grafton, ND — Grafton officially has a new industrial park, thanks to the city's approval of a purchase of 160 acres west of the Development center. The city will pay $105,000 for a 78-acre tract that borders highway 17 west, which is currently owned by the state. The city will also pay $5,000 for another tract north of the first one. The remaining $90,000 due on the property will be paid in 1993. (Grafton Record)

Lake of the Woods casino has grand opening

Warroad — The grand opening of the Lake of the Woods casino, held August 31, was a tremendous success, according to manager Adrian Oman, with more than 1,500 people attending the event. A number of prizes were awarded and there were many winners on the slot machines, according to Oman. (Warroad Pioneer)

Plummer might run late bus

Plummer — The Plummer school board decided in its August meeting to cancel the late bus which provided transportation for students involved in extracurricular activities. At the last meeting, however, Superintendent Rick Lorenson told the board that a number of parents were concerned that cancelling the late bus would eliminate rural students from the activities, with the main concern for 7th, 8th and 9th graders who could not drive themselves. The school board agreed that if Lorenson could get an agreement from someone to handle the cost of the late bus, it would start operating immediately. (Gazette)

Outages in EGF caused by Sherlock park tree

East Grand Forks — A burning tree in Sherlock park tangled with both East Grand Forks' and NSP's electric lines on Tuesday afternoon, causing lights to flicker off and on for a short time in 60 percent of the city and part of Grand Forks. Water and light department line foreman Jim King said that the tree touched the NSP's 69,000-volt line and caught fire shortly before 3 p.m. It then connected with East Grand Forks' 4,160-volt line, tripping a city breaker and also the breaker at the Minnkota substation in Grand Forks. (Exponent)

Mahnomen receives Star City designation

Mahnomen — When the Mahnomen city council met recently, it announced that the city of Mahnomen has received the Star City designation it has been seeking from the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development. The Star City program allows cities to take an active role in economic planning and requires video presentations, marketing studies and brochures about the community. Mahnomen achieved the status over a 20-month process. (Mahnomen Pioneer)

RLF school board to have write-in election

Red Lake Falls — No one filed, including the incumbents, for two Red Lake Falls school board seats that are up for election this fall. This means that anyone may run as a write-in candidate, according to Superintendent Russel Sethre. There is apparently discussion in the area to plan for write-in campaigns. (Gazette)

Crookston men research history of horses in RRV

Crookston — Gene Miller and Charlie Malarkey are heading up a search for all the information they can find on "Horses along the Red River Valley" under the auspices of the Polk County Historical society. Once the project is finished both the Minnesota Historical society and North Dakota Historical society will be notified of the collection. Histories of the two major riding clubs in the Crookston area and show books, clippings and pictures of 40 major horse shows held in Crookston will be included. Information on draft horse and breeding will also be gathered. (Crookston Daily Times)

Roseau school board has youngest member ever

Roseau — Roseau board of education's youngest board member, Mike Hulst, an 18-year-old senior at Roseau high school, has joined the board as a result of a 1991 legislative requirement to let students participate in school government as either a non-voting board member or youth advisory council. Mike, who is involved in student council and sports, is the son of Morris and Jean Hulst. (Rosean Times-Region)

Antique car show at Argyle museum

Argyle — There will be an antique car show at the Argyle museum on September 22 from noon to 5 p.m. President Willard Johnson has been busy contacting owners of antique cars and trucks from the Argyle community and is anticipating a good display. There will be entertainment and coffee and bars will be served. (Messenger)

Public service dump site becomes public nuisance

Hallock — Hallock's new diseased tree dump and compost sites have been well used since being established in May. Lately, though, they've been used for the wrong things, such as shingles, bagged grass clippings, wooden pallets and even a couch. Only trees and branches should be disposed of at the site because it is burned off as needed and the remains of other items, such as nails will make the site dangerous for other used. (Kittson County Enterprise)

Rural well owners concerned about the quality of their water supply can have it tested through sponsorship of the Pennington county extension service and the county comprehensive water planning committee.

A water screening clinic will be held at the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls beginning at 1 p.m. Thursday, September 26 and at the senior citizen center in Grygla beginning at 1 p.m. on Friday, September 27.

Testing will be done for nitrates, iron, hardness and pH with an optional test for bacteria on request.

The screening clinic is free with the exception of a $1 charge for the optional bacteria test. Water samples may be brought to the screening clinic and tested on site in about 10 minutes. Samples should be brought in a clean glass or plastic container and should be taken so that the water has not gone through any filters or softening equipment.

Samples brought for the optional bacteria test need to be brought in a sterilized glass container and refrigerated or drawn just before it is brought to the clinic. Bacteria tests require 48 hours to culture and results of these tests will be mailed to the well owner.

Water from municipal sources should not be brought to the clinic as it is tested monthly by the State Department of Health. The testing clinic is open to all well owners and questions regarding the clinic can be directed to the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Thief River Falls city auditorium was packed to capacity Tuesday at 5 p.m. for the joint meeting of the city council and Pennington county board of commissioners regarding establishment of a proposed gambling casino in Thief River Falls by the Red Lake Bank of Chippewa Indians. Attendance was placed in excess of 600 people.

city and county commission. We designated four individuals to participate at discussions of issues surrounding the casino; and, to give a whole background on the type of casino being proposed for Thief River.

"We are proposing:

• Video games and black jack tables.

• There will be no pull tabs, no bingo and no liquor served in the facility.

• We're looking at hours of operation during the week and closing hours of operation of 11 to 1 o'clock with noon on Sunday opening through 1 o'clock in the morning.

• There were other issues that were raised by representatives of the city and county which included department issues. We've estimated, in round terms, the need of roughly 400 parking spaces. The facility would need more and we're prepared to lease or acquire additional property to accommodate the parking requirements for the community. In addition to that, we have met with our neighbors, and at this point, I might also like to point out a philosophy of the tribal council and that is of being a good neighbor.

• We're looking at complying with codes and standards that are required of every business in the community. We're looking at the use of a buffer strip between commercially zoned and residentially zoned property.

• We're looking at positioning lighting away from residential areas.

• We would limit street access to to the parking lot to designated areas for best traffic flow.

• The property will remain in your C-2 zoning category.

• Any renovations proposed for the facility would comply with state building and fire codes, in particular as it relates to access and capacity et cetera.

• As I indicated, we had previous discussions and yesterday, it was concluded that it would be best that we not pursue the one remaining liquor license that the city has. Thus questions involving liquor sales on Sunday are moot, and off sale liquor are moot.

"In addition, and a very important item which we have last on our list, which I think is appropriate, that the Band is prepared to pay payments in lieu of taxes — payments that are equal to what the value of the property is valued at. In addition to those payments, our payments for special assessments include the streets etc.... We're looking at utilizing city water, sewer, and electric.

• In terms of law enforcement, we're proposing that the facility provide for the security and that we develop an arrangement with the county and city in handling — one, in regard to Red Lake members that may be there, they would under the jurisdiction of the Red Lake Band. Non-members of the Red Lake Band would be under the jurisdiction of the county and city.

• Fire protection again, would be another item that would be provided for as part of the contract. In discussions yesterday before tribal council and staff meeting with the chairman and executive committee of the tribal council, they made it clear for me to indicate that one, there would be no pull tabs, no bingo and it would not be open before noon on Sunday and there would be no alcohol. That we're finding, as a special note, that the majority of the clients at the Warroad facility are from Canada and we're expecting that to be the case here at Thief River. The focus of the casino is one, increasing tourism to the area. This we'll all benefit from that.

"In the summary of the facility, under the Indian Gaming Act of 1988, Indian tribes across the country, in order to establish a gaming facility are required to enter into a compact the with the governor of the state. In the Warroad facility the compact took approximately 11 months to get signed. Part of it due to the transition that took place. The compact primarily regulates and provides access to the state to the facility to review how the casino is being operated. Much of the function and sections of the compact deal with the operation of the casino. In other words, every person, that works for the casino has a background check.

• What we're proposing here at Thief River would involve a facility that would employ up to 300 people, of which we're looking at 70 per cent or more of those people coming from this community. We're looking at our security complying with, and working closely with, law enforcement of this community.

"In terms of parking we're prepared to acquire or lease space that's needed We're proposing to provide shuttle service to the hotels and motels in the area. We're attempting to negotiate with our neighbors, Kmart, for use of off hour parking. In addition to paying in lieu of taxes, the department council and in particular the Tribal Chairman, want it to be made known that it is important the facility be a good neighbor to the community and that would include being sensitive and responsive to the needs of the community. And the position is that if we can help we will help, because it is an opportunity that benefits the tribe from the stand point that it creates for the tribe a source of income for us to expand and develop enterprise on the reservation. In addition to that it provides economic benefit to this community and as a good neighbor we're not proposing to compete with liquor sales or the type of gaming carried on here, particularly pull tabs and bingo."

Other communities offer sites for proposed casino

If the representative of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa failed to answer where they would locate the casino other than Thief River Falls Tuesday night, there was no question Wednesday.

Don Stewart, community development director in Thief River Falls, said Wednesday that sites in Grand Forks and Bagley have been proposed to the Red Lake Band of Chippewa.

Rumors of other proposed sites abound. But Bill Hallett, the tribe's economic development director, said the tribe won't make any decisions until Thief River Falls officials act on the casino proposal.

Hallett said they had received a number of calls from individuals asking them to consider their communities if the proposal in Thief River Falls fails. Hallet said they were not serious about looking elsewhere, at this point.

To Hallett, three issues dominate this proposal. There is the moral issue, the economics issue and "some racism".

The next step in the process is expected to take place at board and council meetings in Thief River Falls. Pennington county and Thief River Falls officials are expected to discuss the proposal at their next meetings. The city council and county board of commissioners will meet on Tuesday, September 24, in Thief River Falls.

Council instructs attorney to draw up legal contract

Legal counsel instructed to draw up contract on casino

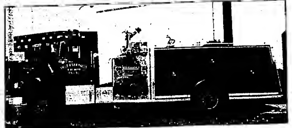
Thief River Falls city council has instructed City Attorney Paul Ihle to work out a legal agreement with the Red Lake Band of Chippewa regarding the proposed casino. And, the council took no action in regard to a request to have an advisory vote.

Alderwoman Jean Heinrichs recommended to the council that a legal contract be prepared to review before a final vote is taken on a proposed casino for Thief River Falls. Heinrichs motion was seconded by Alderman Dale Wennberg and unanimously approved by the council. Heinrichs has been appointed to fill the position on the negotiating team held by Alderman J. J. Womack. Heinrich's motion also calls for the negotiating team, which includes two members from the city council and two members of the county board, and city staff to work with Ihle on preparing a legal contract.

The motion approved by the council Tuesday night is not an endorsement of the casino.

Although many people who attended the informational meeting regarding the proposed casino recently were in favor of having a vote on the issue, it appears the city council cannot legally participate in the advisory vote. City Attorney Paul Ihle prepared a memorandum on the issue of whether the city can participate in an advisory vote.

A copy of Ihle's memorandum along with a similar memorandum prepared for the Pennington County board by County Attorney Dave Olin appear in this issue of the Northern Watch.



According to City Clerk Jerry Wigness, the council did not take any action on an advisory vote. Wigness said there was some discussion about if an advisory vote is held, would they want it done before or after an agreement is presented to the council. Wigness said it seemed that it made sense that an advisory vote should come after the council has had time to review a legal agreement.

David Grothe, Thief River Falls, presented a request to the council to have an advisory vote on October 29.

Wigness said the council would like to have an agreement before the council meets on October 22.

The city currently has a 1992

Fire engine 91 was added to the Thief River Falls fire department this week. The fire department has been setting aside money for the last five or six years to purchase the engine. Total cost — $156,570. It was built by General Safety Equipment Co. of North Branch, MN. It can pump 1,500 gallons of water per minute, has a 300 hp Cummins diesel engine, nine hose line discharges, a top mounted deluge gun, carries 1,500 feet of hose, has a 6,500 watt auxiliary power plant, has more compartment space than the other engines, is 30 feet long and weighs 2,300 pounds empty. One feature the firemen are sure to enjoy is the automatic transmission. Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said it doesn't have all the options, but is very functional. This engine will eventually replace the 1965 engine. Volunteer firefighters will begin training on the engine next week.

Citizens group plans advisory vote on proposed casino

Citizens Advisory Vote Committee has proposed a county-wide vote on the casino issue for Saturday, October 19.

County residents will have an opportunity to cast their advisory vote on a proposed casino on October 19. David Grothe, representative of Citizens Advisory Vote Committee, has announced that polling places for the vote include the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls, the Community Center in Goodridge, and the Senior Center in St. Hilaire. Votes may be cast on Saturday, October 19 from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The committee's advertisement and news release states that on one point did all agree: that the people want a vote on the issue. The Committee's release also states that while county commissioners and city council members could not officially support a vote, they did, unofficially, encourage a privately-funded advisory vote. "We share a common belief in government by representation," he states.

The committee is looking for volunteer election judges. Anyone interested in being a volunteer election judge is asked to contact one of six members of the committee including: Tim Rittenour at 681-8543; David Grothe at 681-3776; Dan Tronvet at 681-4028; Rod Johnson at 681-7690; Mark Kelley at 681-4027; and Dennis Pederson at 681-1266.

If you would like to assist with expenses, send all support to the Citizens Advisory Vote Committee. Projected expenses are estimated at $955.

The purpose of the committee is solely to organize as impartial and objective a vote of the people as possible. Every effort will be taken to conduct as open and fair voting process as possible. All activities will be open to examination by whoever wishes to do so at all times.

Committee membership is open to anyone who wants to be a member, regardless of position on the casino. Whoever would like to volunteer as an election judge may do so.

Grothe stated in his news release, that since the job of elected officials is to represent the wishes of the people, the committee believes that they will be very interested in seeing what the outcome of an advisory vote would be before taking any binding action on inviting a casino.

Chamber and Jobs do not support vote

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has responded negatively to a request from the Citizens Advisory Vote Committee to support a vote on the proposed casino.

The chamber released the following statement: "To clearly state and define our position on the proposed casino, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, Jobs Incorporated, and the Convention and Visitors Bureau will only endorse the vote made by the city council and the Pennington County Commissioners.

"The goal of each of these organizations is to promote economic development within Pennington county, the city of Thief River Falls and the surrounding area.

"We respect the citizens opinions, however we recognize the proposed casino as a "legitimate business" and do not feel, that any "legitimate business venture" should be discriminated against."

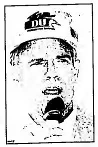
Attorneys shoot down vote

Requests for an advisory vote on the proposed casino failed to receive the blessing of either the Thief River Falls city council or Pennington county board of commissioners.

David Grothe of Thief River Falls appeared before the Thief River Falls city council and Pennington County Board of Commissioners Tuesday to request an advisory vote. In his request, Grothe said, "the decision is far-reaching and the potential impact upon the people of this area too great to conjecture at where lies the majority of public opinion. An advisory vote would answer the question once and for all, 'what do the people themselves want?'"

Grothe's request was met with memorandums from counsel for the county and city. As a result of those memorandums, no action was taken.

Grothe's request called for the county and city allow the use of the city auditorium for a public advisory vote. Grothe states in his proposal that "since such a vote is advisory only and the county not large, one central location would serve very well. The proposed times and date would be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on October 29."



Grothe also suggested that the county chairman and mayor appoint a volunteer coordinating committee of four to implement and oversee such a vote.

"The coordinating committee

Dedication held for Robert E. Farmes Pool

Approximately 275 people were in attendance on a sunny, windswept afternoon Saturday, September 21, for the dedication of Robert E. Farmes Pool on the Elm Lake Wildlife Management area in eastern Marshall county.

Ceremonies were held from a stage and bleachers located atop the dike near the outlet control structure of a $1.8 million Ducks Unlimited project which will restore the original Elm Lake wetlands area.

Robert E. Farmes was a Thief River Falls resident for many years while an area game manager with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Among his many career accomplishments were the establishment of 33,000 acres of northwest Minnesota public lands into state Wildlife Management Areas, open to public hunting. Included in that total is the 15,560-acre Elm Lake WMA located just south of the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge.

Saturday's dedication program included unveiling of a six-ton granite cairn, purchased with private donations, and engraved with a tribute to Farmes and his accomplishments for wildlife. Unveiling of the cairn, which had been draped with waterfowler camouflage material, was done by his widow Adeline, son Richard and daughter Rochelle.

Speakers at the dedication program where Jerry Maertens, Northwest Regional wildlife supervisor, served as master of ceremonies included the following:

U.S. Seventh District Congressman Collin Peterson; James Gritman, Region 3 director for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; Robert Sundberg, chairman of the Minnesota Ducks Unlimited organization; Lowell Enerson, administrator of the Red Lake Watershed District; Roger Holmes, director of the Minnesota DNR division of fish and wildlife; and Dave Vesall, retired director of the DNR fish and wildlife division.

Jane Mattson of Thief River Falls led in singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" to open the program following presentation of the colors by a combined color guard from American Legion Post 117 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793.

Making an acknowledgment for the family following the dedication and unveiling of the cairn was Al Farmes, Robert's brother. A number of other family members in attendance were introduced.

Elm Lake was drained in 1912 as part of the Judicial Ditch 11 drainage system which was intended to drain the area for farming. Planning process for the restoration, although proposed by Farmes 30

SHOP AND SAVE IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Key club members at Lincoln high school decided they wanted to assist with the 90th anniversary celebration for the Thief River Falls public library and made a cash contribution toward purchase of library materials. ACTIVITIES

Butter Making

Children enjoy making and creating their own things. An entertaining yet educational activity is for children to make their own butter. The only things you will need is a pint of whipping cream and a jar that will seal tight. Put the cream in the jar and shake vigorously. Continue to shake until the butter forms. It will start to separate and form a ball as it is shaken. The butter will be very light in color, almost white. You may want to add a little salt. Use it immediately on crackers and enjoy. As you do this activity, it is wise to explain that people made butter like this many years ago.

PARENTING TIPS

Books or Television?

Today's world is clearly different from the world that most of us grew up in. Today's children are growing up with television and video cassettes. This can make storytime a real challenge for parents. Some children may actually say that they prefer television and tapes to books. Some parents may feel that because their child has already seen the tape, he or she won't enjoy the same story read to them. So what can we do? We know that reading to children is important, but how can we compete with television and video cassettes?

According to Parenting Magazine, September 1991, parents can easily do many things. In reality children's books contain many of the same elements that draw kids to movies and television: action, drama, rhythm and dialogue, but it's up to the person reading the story to bring these qualities to life. Following are some ways to do that:

- Be aware of your reading speed. Either too fast or too slow can lose your listener. Also be sure to vary the speed according to the story, sometimes reading slower and sometimes reading faster. Do the same with your volume.
- Try to use a different voice for each character so your child can tell them apart.
- Try adding "texture" and character to your reading. It's the difference between reading "Look at the snake slide through the grass," and "Look! at the snaaaaake sliiiiiide through the grasssss." Use expression and you'll find your children will truly enjoy listening to you.

Council asks legal contract budget balance of about $32,000, and has reduced its estimated levy increase from 6.8 per cent to 4.4 per cent. Roger DeLap, city finance officer, presented an amended city budget to the council Tuesday. The city's budget balance is a pleasant surprise in view of the budget deficit of $212,966 anticipated in August. A drop in the levy increase should also come as an unexpected and pleasant surprise to residents of Thief River Falls.

In his status report to the council, DeLap explained that the current 1992 general fund budget balance of $31,326 is partially the result of using $85,000 in general liability insurance reserves to reduce the general fund subsidy to the airport, and using $69,000 of the $100,000 revolving capital fund grant to cover the cost of the police and fire equipment, and a proposed river weed cutter.

The good news for taxpayers in Thief River Falls, however, should be tempered by the fact that labor contracts with the Teamster and police federation employees expire at the end of 1991 and must be renegotiated.

Although the state permits the city to increase its levy by 6.8 per cent, under the proposed budget levy, the city will increase the levy by only 4.4 per cent.

Instead of raising $1,589,022, the levy, which includes special levies, will raise $1,551,022 or $37,300 less. The city also reduced the amount of bonded indebtedness it will retire in 1992 from $269,273 to $233,973.

DeLap explained the levy decrease by stating that the required Truth and Taxation publication and generic notices sent to property owners would have shown a 9 per cent increase in the proposed levy when the city actually increased it by 6.8 per cent. By reducing the levy increase to 4.4 per cent, citizens will see a levy increase of 5 per cent representing a $38,709 increase over the 1991 levy.

The city approved a change in the Utility department Winter Disconnect Policy. Wigness said Barry Froland of the utilities department explained that for the most part, the change involved excess paper work and that it is not far off from what the city has already been doing. He said Froland believes it seems to be fair to both the customer and utility. The change involves providing the customer with seven schedules, which include an annual notice, notice of proposed disconnect, notice of customer rights, protection form, income guidelines, third party notice and an appeals procedure.

The council has accepted the findings of the Planning Commission. The planning commission presented the council with its findings which conclude that the proposed casino falls within the definition of a C-2 general business district and is a permitted use.

Proposed construction of student housing near the Technical College in Thief River Falls is moving forward. Don Stewart, community development director, informed members of the planning commission Monday and the council Tuesday, that the city attorney and Stewart will travel to the Twin Cities this week to begin working out the financial details of the proposed project. Stewart said the project will be owned by HRA but managed by a professional management group.

Tuesday night, the city council also approved a recommendation to proceed with a River Bank Stabilization project along Centennial Drive extending from Eighth street boat landing east about 800 feet. The city is proposing to use Gabion baskets in the stabilization process. The estimated project cost is $25,000 of which $9,870 will be paid for by the Soil and Water Conservation District.

Dedication held Saturday for Robert E. Farmes Pool years ago, officially began in 1986 and the construction was completed in 1990. There were eight construction phases and contracts with a project cost of $1.8 million, nearly entirely paid for by Ducks Unlimited.

Cooperating with DU in the project—which has multiple use objectives for downstream flood control, upstream drainage improvement for removal of surface water, and wildlife benefit from marsh habitat enhancement—were the Red Lake Watershed district, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Drainage area upstream from Elm Lake is 63 square miles and is located in Agder, Moylan and Grand Plain townships. Project size of the restoration is 2,360 acres, most of which is in the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge. The main Elm Lake basin is approximately 700 acres. The restoration project involved 7.5 miles of dike, an outlet structure on Ditch 200 with 20 bays, and three concrete bridges.

Ditch 200 was enlarged for more than eight miles upstream of the project. In addition, the project included extension of the state-managed Lost River Pool inlet ditch to a point 1.5 miles further upstream to enhance upstream drainage and provide an improved inlet to the Lost River Pool.

Spring flood storage capacity has been placed at 7,500 acre feet with 4,500 acre feet of additional storage provided from the Lost River Pool. This combination of storage will provide 3.6 inches of spring run-off control.

Summer flood storage will be 5,500 acre feet which along with the Lost river storage will provide about three inches of summer run-off control.

In order to keep the upstream water levels in Ditch 200 at or below their existing levels, ditch improvements were required. The eight miles of Ditch 200 were improved upstream to a point where the Lost River enters Ditch 200. The channel was deepened an average of three feet below existing grade, making the average depth about nine feet. Bottom width is 12 feet on the downstream end and eight feet on the last mile upstream. Sideslopes are at a ratio of three feet of width for each foot of elevation.

Because of the improvements to Ditch 200, the water levels at the inlet to the Lost River Pool impoundment would be lower. To compensate for this reduced inflow, the new outlet was built 1.5 miles upstream with an 8x8 foot box culvert inlet. This new ditch has an eight-foot bottom with an average depth of 7.5 feet and 4:1 sideslopes.

In preparation for the dedication ceremonies, representatives of Melvie Trucking of Viking and Dave Wilson Landscaping of Goodridge donated many hours of labor on placing rock and gravel and making other improvements on the site.

"GAMBLING FEVER (POINTS TO THINK ABOUT)"
1. Where is this silent majority? They didn't show up at the informational meeting on Sept. 17th. 2. Where are the petitions for the Casino? The silent majority that was spoke of, did not present a petition at the meeting. 3. Not one person mentioned that we did not want the Red Lake Indian Band in our town, but the ministers were called racists, and showed lack of brotherly love. 4. The ministerial association, representing thousands of people, voted against a casino. Are they going to be heard? 5. I think the love of money, and gambling fever, was at the meeting on Sept. 17th, but they didn't dare to speak, because they wouldn't have represented the people.
Proverbs 16:25. There is a way that seems right to a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Speaking of cookies, as we were last week, I found some more recipes for those after-school treats in an old St. Bernard's Church cookbook. The telephone numbers of the advertisers in this book start with MU 1, so it is from a few years ago, too. I have printed the names of ladies who contributed these recipes, and I would bet you recognize some of them.

These filled date cookies are much easier and faster to bake than the rolled kind, and just as good:

Easy Filled Cookies

1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix shortening, brown sugar and eggs. Stir in water and vanilla. Add sifted flour, soda, salt and cinnamon.

Drop with teaspoon on baking sheet. Add 1/2 teaspoon date filling and cover with 1/2 teaspoon cookie dough. Bake at 375 until lightly browned.

Date Filling

2 cups cut dates
3/4 cup water
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Cook dates, water and sugar together slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add nuts last. Cool.

(Mrs. John Kotaska, Mrs. Clarence Lynch)

These oatmeal cookies are made a little differently:

Oatmeal Cookies

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup sour milk
3 cups sifted flour
2 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, shortening and sugar. Dissolve soda in milk and add to creamed mixture. Add vanilla, then oatmeal, salt and flour, and mix well.

Roll out and cut into squares. Place on greased cookie sheet, sprinkle with sugar, and bake at 350 degrees about 8 minutes.

(Mrs. Art Lund)

These sound like good after-school cookies for your kids:

Angel Cookies

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup Crisco
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening, butter and sugar. Add other ingredients in order given.

Roll into ball the size of a walnut. Dip top half in cold water and then in sugar. Place on greased cookie sheet, sugar up. Bake at 425 degrees for about 8 minutes.

(Mrs. Jake O'Hara, M.M.S.)

This is a recipe for a big batch of quickie chocolate bars for you to fix:

Fudgies

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup plus two tablespoons shortening
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/3 cup cocoa
2 cups flour
1/2 cup nuts

Beat sugar, shortening, salt and eggs. Add rest of ingredients.

Pour into greased jelly roll pan and bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

(Mrs. A. Haefer)

These sound like something good:

Toffee Bars

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 beaten egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix together and put on cookie sheet. Bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees.

Melt 1/2 pound chocolate bar over hot water and spread over baked mixture. Top with grated nuts. Cut into squares.

(Mrs. John Kotaska)

This cookie is a little more substantial than plain old chocolate chip:

Cowboy Cookies

2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening
2 eggs
2 cups oats
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package chocolate chips

Sift together flour, soda, salt and baking powder. Set aside.

Blend together shortening and sugars, add eggs and beat until light and fluffy.

Add flour mixture and mix well. Add oats, vanilla and chocolate chips. (Dough is crumbly.)

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees.

(Jean Travis)

Referendum Needs Help

Advisory vote through a volunteer effort to determine how people in Thief River Falls and the remainder of Pennington county feel about the gambling casino proposed to be built by the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians is planned for Saturday, October 19. The effort has been organized and is being promoted primarily by people who are opposed to the casino, although they are urging all persons of voting age in Pennington county to vote.

To have any appreciable value as an accurate indicator of public opinion, the referendum must draw a large turn-out of voters. There is little time to publicize the vote and it carries on official support from either the Thief River Falls city council or the Pennington county board of commissioners. Neither of these governing bodies is permitted by law—at least as it has been explained to us—to conduct an advisory referendum on the casino question nor to delegate any other individual or group to do so in their behalf.

Given these restraints, the only avenue open to those who would like to see an expression of public sentiment via a secret ballot is a privately conducted, privately financed election with votes to be cast somewhere other than a regular polling place. That is what is being arranged by the group calling itself Citizens Advisory Vote Committee. An advertisement sponsored by the committee appears in today's issue of the Northern Watch.

Members of the committee have invited anyone interested, whether for or against the casino or undecided, to become a member of the committee. They have also invited organizations which have made public endorsements of the casino to join in promotion and support of the public vote so that the results can be as complete and unbiased as possible.

While we can't predict what effect, if any effect at all, such a referendum would have on the future actions of the county board or city council, we are sure the members of those groups would be greatly interested in the results, especially if a large percentage of the electorate expressed its opinion. And although it is unauthorized and non-binding, the referendum would give those who wanted to have a public vote on the casino question a chance to do that very thing.

We would hope that at least some of the groups or individuals who have openly supported the casino location here will join in supporting and perhaps financing the referendum. It would be great to see a non-partisan effort to attempt to obtain information that really is not available in any other way.

We commend the people who have taken the initiative to form a group, set a date, arrange for polling places in Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire, promote a non-partisan voter turnout, staff the voting places, count the ballots and pay for the expenses. It is an exercise in public-spirited citizen involvement—interested and concerned people doing what they can to provide information that governing bodies are prevented by law from getting for themselves.

If we were represented by one or more of the organizations which have promoted the casino, we would encourage participation in getting out the voters as invited by the Citizens Advisory Vote committee. It would show enough faith in our position that we are willing to have its strength tested in an all-out election.

And if we were one of the local elected public officials aware of the vote that is going to be held, we would be more than a little reluctant to act on the casino question until the votes were counted and the results made public.

Seven Steps To Success In School

"There are many things students can do to be successful in school this year," states Robert E. Astrup, president of the Minnesota Education association. "Some they can do alone; others require the assistance of friends, family or teachers. But all are worthwhile."

Astrup suggests the following seven steps which students can use in their approach to education in order to get the most out of it:

(1) Get to know your teachers. Talk with them, and don't be afraid to ask questions if you don't understand something.

(2) Set goals and share them with your parents and teachers so they can help you reach them.

(3) Take time every day to talk with your family about school.

(4) Read—every day. Visit your library and select books on topics that interest you. Ask a librarian for help.

(5) Set aside a quiet, well-lit location in your home for reading and studying.

(6) Be organized. Have a notebook with folders for each class. Keep track of your assignments and deadlines—and follow through!

(7) Be on time for school and attend classes regularly. If you are ill and unable to do schoolwork, talk with your teachers about making up assignments you've missed.

Astrup also encourages all students to anticipate the best and to have a great year.

Brother of TRF man serves on Romania panel

U.S. Judge Richard Nygaard, brother of Don B. Nygaard of Thief River Falls and son of Amanda and the late Leo B. Nygaard (Amanda now lives in Lancaster, CA), was part of an eight-member panel that went to Bucharest, Romania for eight days earlier this year to assist the Romanian government in drafting a Bill of Rights and judicial code.

The new leadership in Romania overthrew its communist dictator, Nicolae Ceausescu, and executed him and his wife on Christmas Day in 1989. The declared democracy has had one successful election.

"They've exercised their first governmental human right—to control their own destiny," Judge Nygaard said on his return from Bucharest. He said the government is made up of people with no government experience at all and low to mid-level office holders from the days when Ceausescu banished or killed all rivals.

"I'm not certain the civilian government has full control," Judge Nygaard said, noting that the military and police-prosecutor apparatus are the two most powerful surviving institutions.

But he said that Romanians are speaking, publishing, broadcasting and attending church freely, and the early versions of their bill of rights include most of the cornerstone freedoms—speech, worship, assembly, voting, independent labor unions and the presumption of innocence for anyone accused of a crime.

Judge Nygaard serves on the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia, PA, and believes he was named to the panel because of his experience in 1982 in the Conference on Free Elections. This conference studied how to re-establish democracies after non-democratic intervention, how to establish democracy in countries that do not know it, and how to help countries having difficulty with democracy.

The panel also included two judges of state courts (one each from Minnesota and Tennessee), two professors of law at U.S. colleges, two attorneys and a professor from the Augsburg, Germany, law school.

Belmont attends mortician course

Larry Belmont, owner of Belmont Funeral Home in Thief River Falls, recently completed a post-graduate course on how to effectively offer assistance to families who have experienced a death.

He was one of 34 license holders in North America to receive a competitive scholarship to attend the National Foundation of Funeral Service's School of Successful Funeral Service Management in Des Plaines, IL. The scholarship was from the Batesville Casket company, one of many donors toward the foundation's scholarship fund.

"The formal learning process never stops in our profession," Belmont said, "and much more than a mortuary science degree is required to meet today's challenges."

The National Foundation of Funeral Service is a not-for-profit, charitable organization which provides progressive continuing education programs for funeral service to improve the vocational skills for the nearly 50,000 licensees serving U.S. and Canadian families.

Mrs. Maude Buchholz, 81, is surrounded by quilts and teddy bears she made for a craft and bake sale to be held October 3 and 4 at Seventh-day Adventist church. The proceeds will support foreign missions.

Mrs. Helen Juhl created this 20-foot decorative display for a bake and craft sale at Seventh-day Adventist church on October 3 and 4. Proceeds from the sale support foreign missions. The display illustrates the sales theme — "Now Thank We All Our God."

Bake and craft sale to support foreign missions

by Marilyne Sayler

Seventh-day Adventist will hold a craft and bake sale for foreign missions October 2 and 3.

A craft and bake sale will be held at the Seventh-day Adventist School Auditorium, 1004 S. Rindolph on Wednesday, October 2 from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Thursday, October 3, from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds of this annual event go toward foreign missions.

The theme of the sale, "Now thank we all our God" has been captured by sale decorator Helen Juhl in a 20-foot long display of home-grown foods and kitchen antiques. Over two dozen antiques are included in the artistic display along with bursts of harvest color.

The nostalgic scene created by Mrs. Juhl captures the tone of the whole sale: there are times when we can have the good ole days back. Co-organizers 81-year-old Maude Buchholz and 84-year-old Mae Howes made sure of that.

"Besides homemade pies, buns, cookies and bars, we will have some of the freshest bread in town," says Mrs. Howes.

"Our old-fashioned donuts are always a big hit," comments Mrs. Buchholz. "We start making them at 6 a.m. both days of the sale and find it very hard to keep up with the demand."

Lefse is pretty much Mrs. Buchholz's personal project. She has rolled 600 so far, using sweet farm cream and potatoes grown on her grandson's farm near Middle River.

Fresh garden produce, including onions, tomatoes, carrots, pumpkins and squash will also be sold. In addition, there will be preserves such as homemade pickles, jams and jellies.

But food won't be the only commodity available. Many homemade items including crafts and the 60 pair of mittens that "Grandma" Howes knit will also be for sale. "It takes me six hours to knit each pair of mittens," admits Mrs. Howes. "My mittens are anything but disposable ... sometimes I think I ought to include a lifetime guarantee with them. . . they're almost impossible to wear out!"

Homemade patchwork quilts in full and queen size, baby quilts and decorative pillows have kept Mrs. Buchholz stitching for many months. Tea towels, Christmas decorations and many other homemade items will also be included in the sale.

Howes and Buchholz are quick to give credit to the many church members who donate goods and time for the sale.. "It takes a lot of people working together to pull this thing off," they admit. "We appreciate each and every one."

Both ladies claim that their lives are enriched and vitalized by having a philanthropic purpose. "By looking at our ages you may think that we should be included in that antique display," quips Mrs. Howes. "But neither of us is ready to sit around and collect dust. We've dedicated our lives to serving the Lord and our fellow man. And we thank Him for giving us the time, know-how and strength to raise money for spreading the gospel."

In this modern, throw-away, fast-food generation the example of these ladies is sobering. Their dedication makes this sale more than a sale. It's an event to be experienced and relished.

Erosion control along the public boat landing by the Highlanding bridge on the Red Lake river is provided by rock placed along the bank. Grass which has grown among the rocks adds to the stability of the bank despite the fluctuating flow of the river. This was one of the sites visited on a tour last week of erosion problems and controls in Pennington county.

$536,000 grant to Red Lake indian reservation for water system

A grant of $536,000 to the Red Lake Indian reservation to upgrade its water system is included in a $12 million funding package for natural resource and Indian projects in Minnesota contained in the Interior Department appropriations bill passed recently by the U.S. Senate.

Also included is $55,000 for White Earth Chippewa natural resource projects for enhancement of a fishery and renovation of a park in Elbow Lake.

The appropriations bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee, according to U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone, who announced the action.

"Continued funding of these projects is important to environmental protection, land acquisition for wilderness areas and water quality and conservation codes on several reservations," Wellstone said.

He said he worked closely with Sen. David Durenberger and other members of Minnesota's congressional delegation on the legislation.

Dick King Band to play for TRF library ball

Music of Glenn Miller, Duke Ellington, the Dorsey Brothers, Count Basie and Woody Herman will be presented by the Dick King's Classic Swing Band at the Library Ball Saturday, October 5, at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Tickets for the fund-raising event celebrating the 90th anniversary of the Thief River Falls public library cost $50 per couple. The ball is being sponsored by the Thief River Falls Rotary club as a public service project with all proceeds going to the public library. Tickets are available from Rotary club members or by contacting the library.

Dick King is an attorney in Grand Forks, ND, and his band consists of 16 musicians (eight brass, five saxophone and three rhythm players) from around the area and from a variety of backgrounds.

"People of all ages love to dance to the music of this wonderful band," one reviewer wrote. "If you've ever heard a live big band, you know what we're talking about; if you haven't, you've missed a rare treat. This is pure music, live and exciting. The range of dynamics and the variety of sound combinations a big band can produce is like nothing else you've ever heard."

The band has recorded one album ("Puts You In the Mood") and has another album ("The Cadillac of Big Bands) available on cassette tape.

King is particularly pleased with the many local regulars who stay in the band year after year. He also appreciates having former members return to the band during the summer to perform as special guests. Among a dozen summer concerts this year were Summerthing closing concerts at University Park, the second annual Winnipeg Jazz Festival, several concerts at Turtle River State Park and the Bismarck Jazz Festival.

When John Moum was Lincoln high school band instructor, he played with the Dick King band from its organization in 1976 until he moved to Arizona in 1980. He returned in the summers of 1981 and 1982 and played with the band while visiting with friends in Thief River Falls.

"John was one of the best musicians ever to play in the Classic Swing Band," King says. "I had known and played in band with John before World War II. He started playing with my band shortly after it was organized in 1976 and played first tenor sax with us regularly until he left for Arizona. I was in the hospital in late summer of 1982 and learned my best friend had died in Mesa.

"He is still missed in the band and remembered by all who played with him. He set musical standards for the band that have not been forgotten. John Moum was an educator and he loved young people. He was abrupt and sometimes caustic with the newer members in the band. Even so, he was well-liked. He had a great sense of humor. His playing style was like his golf game —big and bold."

John Moum, former band instructor in the Thief River Falls school system, played saxophone for four years with the Dick King Classic Swing Band. King, a Grand Forks attorney, is shown at right. The Dick King band will play at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls Saturday, October 5, for the library ball marking the 90th anniversary of the Thief River Falls public library. Tickets for the fund-raiser are $50 per couple.

". . . . . That Government Of The People By The People For The People Shall Not Perish . . . . ."

On Tuesday, September 17, 1991, over 500 people packed the city auditorium in an unprecedented meeting to hear the Red Lake Band of Chippewa present their proposal for a Gambling Casino in Thief River Falls, and to voice support or opposition to it.

On one point did all agree: that the people want to vote on the issue. This was restated in the Northern Watch: "Most residents of the city and county would feel more comfortable if an advisory vote of some kind could be held . . . . ."; and also in the Grand Forks Herald: "The only clear consensus was that residents wanted to vote on the issue."

Both the County Commissioners and the City Council at their respective meetings on September 24, 1991, unofficially encouraged that if a privately-funded advisory vote of the people is to be held, it be held as soon as possible. We share a common belief in government by representation.

Therefore, the eligible voters of Pennington County and Thief River Falls will have the opportunity to cast their advisory vote either for or against the proposed gambling casino on Saturday, October 19, 1991. To insure that the voting procedure be as fair, impartial and open as possible, all activities and voting procedures will be carried out openly, in a forthright manner, open to the examination of all who wish to do so. The Chamber of Commerce has been invited to participate. Members of the media, and any other interested persons are invited to witness the voting and ballot count.

VOTING PLACES ARE

The Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls
The Community Center in Goodridge
The Senior Center in St. Hilaire

Voting Date Is Saturday, October 19, 1991

Voting Times Are From 8:00 A.M. to 7:00 P.M.

The arguments pro and con have already been voiced. The purpose of the committee is solely to organize as impartial and objective a vote of the people as possible.

If you would like to assist with expenses, send all support to the Citizens Advisory Vote Committee. If any additional finances are received they will be returned.

Projected expenses for facilities rental, printing, advertising and miscellaneous materials are $950.00.

A public meeting will be held Thursday, October 10, 1991 at 7:00 p.m. at the city auditorium basement meeting room for all interested persons and volunteers to attend. If you would like to become a committee member or a volunteer election judge regardless of your position on the casino, attend the public meeting or call one of the members listed below.

Skating clinic and exchange are scheduled

Board of directors of the Thief River Falls Recreational Skating association has announced a skate exchange and skating clinic registration for Thursday, October 3, and the skating clinic October 28 and 29, November 4 and 5, 11 and 12 and 18 and 19.

Persons who have been a part of the program in the past as well as those who have not participated or even been on ice skates before are encouraged to participate in this program sponsored by the Thief River Falls Park and Recreation department, according to Ila Anderson, program director.

As in previous years, the skating program will sponsor a skate exchange and clinic registration. This is scheduled for Thursday, October 3, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Thief River Falls sports arena. Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey association (TRFAHA) will hold its skate exchange during the same hours.

Persons may bring figure or hockey skates to the exchange to be sold. The skating board requests, however, that skates be brought to the arena prior to 5 p.m. and that the money for skates sold as well as the unsold skates be picked up by 7:30 p.m. The board will not be responsible for skates left at the arena. Persons selling skates should also indicate the sizes and prices of the skates they want to sell.

The recreational skating program is divided into three sessions: Session I, clinic skating; Session II, regular season skating; and Session III, ice show.

This year the skating clinic will take place on Mondays and Tuesdays, October 28-29, November 4-5, 11-12 and 18-19.

"The clinic is designed to give the students more concentrated skating practice before the actual season begins," Mrs. Anderson said. "Testing will be held November 18 and 19. Registration for Session II, the regular season skating, will begin November 19 and 20. Skaters may participate in both sessions or just one. Session II lessons start the week of December 2.

"This is the first year of having the clinic registration only during the exchange," Mrs. Anderson added. "If unable to register then, skaters may register at the park and recreation department office. Season registration will be at the Old Arena the last two nights of the clinic."

Persons with questions regarding the skate exchange or other aspects of the recreational skating program may contact Mrs. Anderson at 681-2056.

Listening to the presentation following their introduction Saturday at dedication ceremonies for the Robert E. Fermes Pool on the Elm Lake Wildlife Management area were members of the Fermes family. Left to right are Robert's widow Adeline, son Richard, daughter Rochelle and brother Al Fermes. Robert E. Fermes was an area game manager for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources at Thief River Falls for many years and later regional game manager in the Bemidji office. His work resulted in many wetlands preservation and restoration projects in northwestern Minnesota.

Flags placed by the combined color guard from American Legion Post 117 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 flew beside the speakers' platform Saturday afternoon at dedication ceremonies for the Robert E. Fermes Pool on the Elm Lake Wildlife Management area. About 275 people attended the event at which the Elm Lake name was officially changed to Robert E. Fermes Pool in memory of the long-time conservationist.

Siltation in the ditch along County Road 7 two miles south of Thief River Falls on highway 32 and four miles west was observed during a tour of erosion problems and solutions last week. Gary Lane of the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation district is shown standing on the accumulated silt which is compacted enough to carry his weight and scarcely leave a track. The silt results from a lateral ditch running into the lower level of the main ditch without a culvert, grass or rock to prevent cutting away of soil by the flowing water.

To The Editor:

I attended the meeting on the casino held at the city auditorium. I was very disappointed with the response to the public's questions. If it made the casino sound good the answers were expounded on, but if it made the casino look bad we got grey answers, never quite sure what the answer was.

There were many people who gave their feelings on the casino and I felt so proud that we have so many people who know right from wrong. There were a few who felt the casino was okay, and spoke of money. You could see the word greed all over these people. There was no concern for their fellow man. They don't care that there will be more broken homes, more hungry kids, more kids being left alone, more lights, heat and phones being turned off, more house and rent payments not being made.

We hear our town will benefit; just think about who is going to benefit—it's not going to be the man on the street. The Indians are going to be carrying bucketsful of your money to their reservation while they laugh at you for being so foolish.

Don Goodrich, our hats are off to you; it took a lot, being a businessman in town, to publicly take a stand. Also to Mayor Bob Carlson—we thank you for what you did. It takes a man to stand up and say he's made a mistake and change his stand on the casino. I'm sure you did it because you found your people were against it and you represent your people.

I sat and listened to the Red Lake Band representative tell why they built the casino in Warroad, hoping to get business from Marvin Windows. People, do not some of you have sons, daughters and grandchildren making their living at Marvin's? Do you want your loved ones giving their money to people who choose to make their living by taking from someone else?

If they build a casino in Thief River Falls they are hoping to get 50 per cent of their money from Canada. You business people who are pushing this should be ashamed. You sit and cry because some of our people take their money and shop out of town, and yet you are willing to help a group that is going to fleece our neighbors from Canada. I hope we never hear you complain again. Don't you believe money made in Canada should be spent in Canada?

If we have so much money to just throw away, let's make a worthwhile investment; let's invest in our children, our young people. Let's give them a youth center. Wouldn't the Red Owl building make a nice youth center? Give this town and our kids something to be proud of. I can just hear all the comments.

That's our problem, people. Our hearts are not in the right place. We'd throw our money into a casino with very little return and allow our children to go without before we'd invest in them. What a shame.

I hope every person who wants the casino will really think about what they're doing to our town. Once it's in it can't be changed and we will have nothing to say about what goes on there.

I pray God will have His way and He will if every person that names the name of Jesus will rise up and let your voice be heard—and if we get a chance to vote, get out and vote.

Thank-you.
Mrs. Margie Nelson
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

I don't live in Pennington county, however, living so close, Thief River Falls is where we do most of our shopping. I attended the meeting at the city auditorium with very high interest to see how this meeting would go.

I heard several say they were confused. Well, now I'm the one confused!

I address my confusion to those from Thief River Falls who have put so much time, money and energy into going to various cities to visit many casinos, making videos, interviewing business people and police—no ordinary people on the street. Then you come back to Thief River Falls showing your video around town, being interviewed on the radio and in the local paper, etc. It's like you're saying, "Here we come to save the town!"

My confusion is: Why don't you or haven't you put such vim and vigor into wining and dining a good productive factory to come to Thief River Falls? There are several good factories in town that make Thief River Falls proud—they unite the community, give employment, keep the profits here. And they don't turn neighbor against neighbor or divide communities! We need more of these kind only!

This is not a racist issue and to accuse those who are against the casino as being racist is ludicrous. Whether you know it or not, there are people who have a genuine concern for others.

To you who push the casino I give you Luke 17: 1-2. Jesus is speaking: "It is inevitable that stumbling blocks should come, but woe to him through whom they come. It would be better that a millstone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea, than he should cause one of these little ones to stumble."

There is, of course, no doubt a casino would be a big stumbling block to many—otherwise why is there an 800 number for addicted ones to call Gamblers Anonymous?

Think wisely! I'm sure there's lucrative factories to be found—let's see you put this much energy and re-focus on them.

I heard someone on the radio say Mayor Carlson was wishy washy because first he was for the casino, then changed his mind. I say thumbs up for Mayor Bob—any man in his position who has the courage to stand against this bunch has to be a man of valor.

No more weight guessing at Oklee elevator

Oklee — The Oklee elevator is in the process of installing a new feature. It is a weigh hopper machine which is computer controlled and operated in a new control room which is located between the two railroad tracks. With this new weight hopper, it will be possible to determine exactly how many bushels of any commody is being loaded into a railroad car. Prior to the installation of this machine, grain loading was estimated as closely as possible, but the actual weight wasn't determined until after the railroad cars left the elevator and was weighed enroute to its destination of Duluth or Minneapolis. (Oklee Herald)

Mayor pardons "criminal" 28 years later

Blackduck — A full pardon was granted recently by Blackduck Mayor Milton Beck to William Lane for his heinous crime of 28 years ago when Lane and two accomplices were caught red-handed whitewashing the old duck statue in front of the Blackduck Veterinary clinic. Mayor Beck not only noted that by now, Lane has surely had feelings of remorse over his actions, but also proclaimed November 18 as William Lane Day for citizens to gather before the statue "in reverent silence in memory of unspeakable deeds. The citizens shall then, in union, gnash their teeth, strike their fists in anger and then return to their homes to patiently wait for something else to happen." The pardon is given on condition that Lane is truly penitent for his crime. The mayor added that "after nearly 30 years of constant scrubbing and re-painting we have finally elimiated all traces of white-wash from our beloved duck." (American)

Paved road brings celebration to Buffalo Point

(Warroad Pioneer)

Northern Lights Invitational volleyball...

Prowlers host tournament

Thief River Falls' 14th annual Northern Lights Invitational girls high school volleyball tournament will be held Saturday.

An eight team field will be featured at three levels at three sites tomorrow – varsity in the Lincoln High School main gym, junior varsity in the Lincoln auxiliary gym and C squad in the Franklin Middle School gym.

First round draws will be identical at each site, except that Steinbach, Manitoba will be supplanted by a Thief River Falls II entry at the junior varsity level.

Quarterfinal matches include Thief River Falls vs. Badger-Greenbush at 9 a.m. and Marshall County Central vs. East Grand Forks at 10 a.m. in the Upper Bracket; Steinbach vs. Warroad at 11 a.m. and Roseau vs. Bemidji at 12-noon in the Lower Bracket.

Upper Bracket semifinals will be played at 1 (championship round) and 2 p.m. (consolation round). Lower Bracket semifinals will be played at 3 (championship round) and 4 p.m. (consolation round).

Final round includes the third place match at 5 p.m., consolation championship at 6 p.m. and title contest at 7.

Admission will be $3 for adults and $2 for students K-through-12. The ticket price is good for the entire tournament.

Concordia College senior...

Kelly Cornell is keeping busy

by Bob Landblad, Concordia College SID Office

Sometimes you don't get what you want in life. Come to think of it, that maybe happens more often than not. A Concordia senior had to face this reality two years ago when she found she could not play the game she loved most.

Kelly Cornell, a Phy Ed and Health major from Thief River Falls, with a 3.30 GPA, is in her fourth year as a successful multi-sport athlete at Concordia. She has been an all-conference tennis player, a two-time all-MIAC golfer and a member of the Lady Cobber basketball team.

Of the three, she loved basketball the most. Of the three, well, she was better at golf and tennis.

"My dad was a coach, and he also reffed basketball," said Cornell. "I was always at the gym. As a freshman (at Concordia), I decided that I wanted to concentrate on basketball. That's what I did in high school – I just lived for playing basketball. Before my sophomore year I had a big slump, and I lost my confidence. At that time, I decided that I'd had enough."

This didn't end her career as an athlete by any means. Cornell had an outstanding sophomore year with the women's golf team, earning medalist honors at the unofficial MIAC team championship. The following spring she earned all-MIAC honors in both singles and doubles for the Cobber tennis team.

As a junior, she repeated as an all-MIAC golfer in the fall and was headed for another good spring season with the tennis team when a conflict arose. Cornell was invited to play in the spring NCAA Division III national golf tournament. She ended missing the MIAC tennis tournament in order to play golf. She placed tenth at that Division III tournament.

"Playing in the national golf tournament was exciting," she said. "There wasn't much time to practice, though. We didn't find out until two weeks before the tournament who was going to get invited."

Cornell is playing golf again this fall – shooting a two-day 167 to tie teammate Cathy Johnson for second place in the medal standings at the recent Mankato State University invitational won by the Cobbers, but she has decided not to play tennis this spring.

"First of all, I have to student teach," she said. "But last year I had to leave my (tennis) teammates for golf, and I didn't really like that. I wouldn't want to do that again."

One thing she did want to do again was get back to basketball. And she will be back with the Lady Cobbers this winter – as a student assistant coach for head coach Jerry Pyle.

"Kelly has a great eye and feel for the game, especially in assessing personnel," said Pyle. "And she doesn't confuse a person's limitations as a player with who they are as a person. She is going to be a very fine coach."

"I'm really excited about coaching," said Cornell, who is back with the game she loves most.

Northland Community College sophomore Gina Peterson pulled back, hoping a block by the Moorhead State University junior varsity would go out of bounds during Wednesday's volleyball action in Thief River Falls. Jim Brantl of the Pioneers (13) looked on.

NCC football...

Pioneers will host Cardinals

Burned by the pass in Minnesota Community College Conference losses at Itasca (27-20) and Vermilion (40-7) the past two weeks, Northland is gearing for yet another aerial bombardment Saturday when the Pioneers host Hibbing in a 1:30 p.m. Northwest/Northwest Division MCCC match-up at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls.

It'll might be like the old, "jumping from the frying pan into the fire," situation for the Pioneers as they prepare to defense the Cardinals' passing game that has produced wins over St. Paul Bible College 81-6, Brainerd 28-0 and the University of Minnesota-Crookston 38-0.

Hibbing uses two quarterbacks in its pass-happy attack, rotating sophomore Jim Bergstedt and freshman Eric Stockton. Their favorite target has been Reggie Britton.

The Cardinals' offense made immediate news when Hibbing passed for 764 yards in the first-game rout of St. Paul Bible College.

"We know we have a stiff challenge ahead of us," offered Northland coach Rick Nelson. "We definitely have to work on our pass defense. We'll have our hands full."

Hibbing struggled for years to pick up wins, but an expanded recruiting effort has transformed the Cardinals into a title contender. In fact, Northeast Division rivals Hibbing and Vermilion may rank as the top MCCC teams this fall. "They both have nice teams," acknowledged Nelson.

In other Northwest/Northeast Division draws Saturday, Brainerd (2-1) will be at Itasca (2-1), UMC (1-2) visits Mesabi (2-1) and Vermilion (3-0) heads to Fergus Falls (2-1).

In addition to the Hibbing win over UMC and the Vermilion victory over Northland, last week's results found Brainerd beating Mesabi 34-12 and Fergus Falls tripping Itasca 12-6.

It'll be Parent's Day for the Pioneers, with Northland Provost Dr. James Haviland welcoming the parents of the football players to an 11 a.m. program at the student center.

Northland splits triangular match

Northland Community College volleyball team beat the Moorhead State University junior varsity 2-1, but lost to NDSCS-Wahpeton 2-0 Wednesday in a volleyball triangular hosted by the Pioneers.

Unbeaten NDSCS, the No. 1-rated team in NJCAA Region 13, added a 2-0 decision over Moorhead State to complete the slate.

"We had our moments," noted Northland coach Deb Jacobson, whose team took an 8-6 overall record into another triangular today (Friday) at International Falls, where the Pioneers were to face host Rainy River and Vermilion. "We played well at times, but we were working on a new offense that we just put in, so there were a few times when things didn't always go right."

Northland outlasted Moorhead State 15-12, 9-15, 15-10.

NDSCS turned back Moorhead State 15-12, 15-9 in the second match of the evening, and the Wildcats added a 15-12, 15-1 triangular-ending decision over the Pioneers, who battled back from a 10-4 first-game deficit to gain a 12-12 tie.

"I think we showed we can compete with them," said Jacobson. "We played well at times, but we were working on a new offense that we just put in, so there were a few times when things didn't always go right."

Northland will host UND-Lake Region Monday at 6 p.m.

TRF is 3-0 winner over Fisher

Wins have been hard to come by this fall, so Thursday's 15-8, 15-6, 15-8 Thief River Falls high school volleyball sweep at Fisher was most appreciated by the Prowlers, who are 4-8 for the year.

"It was our first 3-0 win of the season, and it was great," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "We were all very pleased with the win. With everyone playing and contributing – that's an accomplishment in itself. I was proud of the girls."

Thief River Falls started the night with an 11-0 first-game lead.

It was more of the same in Game 2 when the Prowlers grabbed a 10-3 lead. Fisher kept it close in Game 3, with the Flyers owning an 8-5 lead before surrendering 10 straight match-ending points.

Fisher won the junior varsity match 15-11, 15-10, while Thief River Falls took the C squad encounter 15-1, 15-8. Thief River Falls JV is 2-6 for the year. The Thief River Falls C squad, which generally splits its schedule between C-I and C-II matches, is 4-3 overall.

JV gains first win

Kyle Boman scored three touchdowns on runs of 20, 44 and 39 yards Tuesday to lead Thief River Falls past visiting Roseau 34-0 in junior varsity high school football. It was 14-0 at halftime.

Mike Moreno added a 7-yard touchdown run and Eric Dahl scored on a one-yard dive as Thief River Falls snapped a three-game season-opening losing streak.

But the win streak was cut short Thursday when Thief River Falls fell behind 20-0 at halftime and lost a 26-0 JV decision at Crookston.

Thief River Falls had a chance to cut into the lead in the third quarter, but lost a fumble at the Crookston 1-yard line, and the Pirates promptly broke off a 95-yard scoring run to ice it.

Next start for the Thief River Falls junior varsity will be a 4 p.m. match-up Monday against Warroad at Prowler Field.

Blue Line meeting

Thief River Falls Blue Line Club will meet Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School choir room.

All those interested in joining the group are invited to attend the meeting.

Freshmen win 22-18

Eric Bjorgaard and Steve Burslie did the scoring Thursday as the Thief River Falls freshman football team edged Grand Forks Schroeder 22-18 at Prowler Field.

Bjorgaard scored on a 4-yard run and Burslie broke away on a 30-yard touchdown run as Thief River Falls took a 16-12 halftime lead. Bjorgaard added a 5-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls added two-point conversions on a Bjorgaard pass to Burslie and a Burslie run.

The 2-2 freshmen will be in Bemidji Tuesday for a 4:30 p.m. game and will host Grand Forks South Thursday at 5.

Freshman girls 4-0

Wins over two Grand Forks junior high schools put the Thief River Falls freshman high school volleyball team at 4-0 for the year.

Thief River Falls swept Schroeder 15-6, 15-4 Tuesday and added a 17-15, 4-15, 15-2 victory over South Thursday.

Babe Ruth meeting

Parent meeting for the Thief River Falls Babe Ruth baseball program will be held Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the city auditorium.

Team structure for the 1992 season will be discussed.

Prowlers tackle Pirates

An opportunity to go above .500 and the chance to pick up a rare win over a keen rival were the incentives for Thief River Falls when the Prowlers boarded the bus today (Friday) for a 7:30 p.m. Section 8A high school football game at Crookston.

Thief River Falls started the 1991 season with 10-point losses at the hands of Park Rapids 16-6 and Detroit Lakes 24-14, but the Prowlers came back to beat Staples 26-6 and Belcourt, ND 30-14 the past two weeks.

But to go 3-2 the Prowlers would have to pick up their first win at Crookston since 1976. The Prowlers have beaten the Pirates just once in their last 14 meetings, with Crookston currently working on a six-game win streak in the series. A year ago it was Crookston 39, Thief River Falls 0.

Crookston went 1-3 through the first month of the 1991 season, beating Park Rapids 20-0 while losing to Grand Forks Red River 20-0, Detroit Lakes 13-12 and Fergus Falls 14-13.

The Prowlers will play their final regular season home game next week, an Oct. 4, homecoming contest against Morris Area. Special game time will be 6 p.m.

Nordics win 3-1 match

A third-game comeback sparked Marshall County Central to a 3-1 high school volleyball win over host Badger-Greenbush Tuesday.

The Nordics won 15-10, 9-15, 16-14, 15-2 to reach 3-4 for the year. They were scheduled to be in Middle River tonight (Friday) before heading to Thief River Falls' Northern Lights Invitational Saturday.

With the match tied at 1-1, the Nordics faced an 11-5 third-game deficit before pulling out the 16-14 victory. And they carried the momentum through the 15-2 match-clinching fourth-game romp.

"We played pretty well in the first game, then we let up a little," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "But the kids came back at the end. It was a good team effort."

The play of Mary Rokke off the bench – both her serving and overall play – helped spark the Nordics' efforts down the stretch, said Jorgenson. Jill Fosholm was also a key contributor with eight aces in 20 serves, including a string of eight straight service points in the Game 4 finish.

Blue Devils host Eagles

Grygla-Goodridge takes on East Grand Forks Sacred Heart tonight (Friday) in a 7 p.m. Top of the State Conference nine-man high school football game at Goodridge.

The Blue Devils went to 3-1 for the year following a 22-20 come-from-behind victory over Tri-County last week. Sacred Heart started the year 1-2 with a win over Valley North 26-15, but losses to Kittson County North 50-8 and Stephen 44-14. The Eagles were idle last week.

In other Top of the State Conference games tonight, Tri-County takes on Badger-Greenbush in Badger, Valley North tackles Hallock-Kennedy in Hallock and Argyle visits Stephen.

Elsewhere last week, Valley North picked up its first-ever Top of the State Conference win with a 34-28 overtime decision against Badger-Greenbush, Kittson County North was a surprisingly easy 52-6 winner over Argyle and Stephen handled Hallock-Kennedy 39-14.

Wolverines pick up first volleyball win

A string of seven straight season-opening Grygla-Goodridge losses ended Tuesday when the Wolverines knocked off Kittson County North 3-1 in high school volleyball.

"It was a pleasant surprise," said Grygla-Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. What he called the Wolverines' best volleyball of the season produced the 15-3, 4-15, 15-4, 15-7 win.

The win streak was short-lived, but the Wolverines' improved play continued into Thursday in a 3-2

Cross country team competes at Staples Invitational...

TRF individuals do well

Strong individual performances highlighted Thief River Falls' appearance at the Staples Invitational high school cross country meet Tuesday.

The Prowlers' Joel Davis won the boys race, and teammate Leah Helgenset was fifth in the girls portion of the event.

It was the second victory of the year for Davis, a senior who was champion at Crookston Sept. 13, and had runner-up finishes at Roseau Sept. 3 and at Bagley Sept. 17.

Girls high school swim dual...

Prowlers beat Pirates

Both sides won six events, but Thief River Falls, despite missing several top regulars, still out-pointed host Crookston 94-70 Tuesday in a girls dual meet high school swimming match-up.

It was the second win in three dual meet starts for the Prowlers, who will compete in the Fergus Falls Invitational Saturday starting at 10 a.m. The Prowlers will be back in Crookston Tuesday for a 5 p.m. quadrangular that will also involve Park Rapids and Grand Forks Central/Red River.

Freshman Theresa Giauque was a double-event winner for the Prowlers, taking the 50-meter freestyle and 100 breaststroke.

Seniors Linnea Dimich (200 individual medley) and Lisa Dicken (diving) were also individual winners for the Prowlers, who added first place finishes in two of the three relays – freshman Mandy Johnson, sophomore Jane Bentson, Giauque and Dimich in the 200 medley; Dimich, Bentson, junior Leslie Ammerman and freshman Sarah Harger in the 200 freestyle.

Anna Noel paced the Pirates with wins in the 200 and 500-meter freestyle races.

Thief River Falls was without the service of Amy Adams, Sonna Torgerson, Lisa Ulrich, Ingrid Morken and Gimse Wedul – all proven point-producers – because of medical reasons.

"The kids we had swam real well for us," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken, who had many of the varsity swimmers competing in "off" events. "Our JV kids did a real nice job; they're really coming on fast," he added.

Crookston won the junior varsity portion of the event 82-78.

Wolverines win

loss to Argyle.

Both matches were played at Grygla.

Grygla-Goodridge received a boost Tuesday with the appearance of Kathy Smeby. The Wolverines' top performer has been sidelined from the start of the year by a knee problem. She was limited to front row duty, but her presence sparked the team, said Mostrom. "It was a big mental lift for the other five girls on the court," he noted.

Lisa Verbout led the winners with 18 service points on a 22-for-23 night at the line. She started the Wolverines going with a string of 10 straight service points in Game 1.

Aggressive play by Nikki Bounm produced her best outing of the season, according to Mostrom, who also praised the shot-blocking efforts by Jenny Ryan.

Argyle won the Thursday match 13-15, 15-5, 15-8, 12-15, 15-13.

"We had our (good) streaks," pointed out Mostrom. "We didn't play all that well in the second and third games, but overall the kids did a nice job. We're playing much, much better. I think that's the most improvement I've ever seen a team make over one week. They're hustling, covering the floor, passing the ball, hitting the ball and putting their serves in play."

Smeby was slightly injured midway through the Argyle match, but freshman Amber Wilkens stepped in and played strong volleyball down the stretch, mentioned Mostrom.

A busy week for the Wolverines includes a Monday match at Warroad, a Tuesday meeting with Marshall County Central in Goodridge and a Thursday contest against Badger-Greenbush.

Attorneys shoot down vote on casino would consist of those who have made a visible stand either for or against the proposed casino. Two members of the committee would be in favor of the proposed casino and two would be opposed to it. Their responsibilities would be to enlist volunteer election judges; oversee the printing of ballots, the setting up of tables, voting booths and ballot boxes; counting votes, raising finances to cover incurred expenses; and further to ensure that all activities be carried out in a forthright manner.

"Registers would be prepared for each ward and township on which each voter would list their name and address. Each township and ward would then be assigned a number.

"Responsibilities of the volunteer election judges would be to direct each voter to sign the required information on the appropriate register, write the corresponding number of each voter's ward or township on the ballot and to assist in the counting of votes.

"As voters enter the auditorium, they would write their name and address on the appropriate register for their township or ward. An election judge would then write the corresponding number of that ward or township on the ballot. Each voter would then cast their vote and place it in the ballot box. Votes would be counted by the coordinating committee and election judges at the close of the election. Total votes cast would be separated by township and ward. Ballots could be cross-checked if necessary with the signatures on the register to verify that the number of ballots in each township or ward did not exceed the names listed for each.

"All incurred expenses, such as the printing of ballots and rent of the auditorium, if any, would be paid for with private funds. The Times, KTRF and KKAQ would be asked to provide, as a service to the community, information and notification as to the time and place of such a vote.

"Eligibility requirements would be those over 18 years of age who have resided in the county for at least two months, with the exception of those students who live in the county solely for the purpose of attending school and whose principle residency is elsewhere."

■ Why the city council and county board backed away from the advisory vote proposal.

The following is a copy of the memorandum from County Attorney Dave Olin:

"As indicated earlier to chairman Don Jensen, it is my opinion that there is not statutory authority for an advisory ballot on the casino issue. To explain briefly how I arrive at this opinion, I shall set forth the general principals of law involved.

"The authority of the County Board to act is set by law and is generally considered a limited authority. It is limited because the County Board can do only actions authorized by statutes and has no authority to act beyond the authority granted in the statutes.

"The only opinions relating to advisory ballots occurred in 1972 and 1969. In 1972 an Attorney General's opinion specifically indicated an advisory ballot proposition may be submitted to the voters in political subdivisions if authorized by statute. In 1969, County voters were authorized to proceed on a Zoning Ordinance referendum because it dealt with care and management of the county funds and business within the meaning of Subd. 2 of the enabling statute. While allowing a vote on zoning, the 1969 opinion indicated that there is no general referendum statute enabling the County Board to call a referendum whenever it should choose to do so. In our situation, whether to allow a casino or not would not be related to managing county funds or any other authority granted to the County Board and thus, there is no authority for an advisory vote in the county.

"I must caution the county against being involved at all in an advisory vote because it is clearly outside the authority the County Board has. Our involvement in an action beyond the authority of our Board could result in potential liability caused by someone who does not like the results of the advisory vote. Much as I would like to see an advisory vote, I must advise the County Board to stay out of the issue."

The following is a copy of the statement submitted to the city council by City Attorney Paul Ihle:

"The general rule regarding advisory votes is stated in Muehring v. School District No. 31 of Sterns County, 224 Minn. 432, 28 N.W. 2d 655, wherein the court stated:

'It is elementary that a public corporation, agency, or officer to whom governmental power has been delegated by statute cannot redelegate such delegated power.

"Where there is no statutory authorization for submission of a question to the voters for their decision, such a submission by a public authority clothed with power with respect to the question submitted constitutes an unauthorized redelegation of delegated power.'

"This case has been referred to by numerous Attorney General's opinions in their responses to inquiries concerning advisory votes.

"Minnesota Attorney Generals have also indicated that public funds may not be spent on an advisory election:

'There being no specific authority for holding an election on this question... it was ruled that the village council could not order such an election, and further, that if an election were held it would be without effect and the council would not be justified in expending public funds for such purpose.' Opinion of Attorney General, May 13, 1932.

'Neither the county nor the townships are empowered to spend public money for the holding of an unauthorized election.' Opinion of Attorney General, April 6, 1962.

However, the city has no right to defray the cost of printing the informal ballots or other costs incurred in and about the taking of such a referendum. The city would have no right to pay the election officials for time spent in counting and tallying the referendum ballots. The duties of judges and other election officials with respect to the polling places and conduct of the election are specified in the election laws. Their duties do not require them to pass out, count, and tally such unofficial ballots and they could not be compelled to do so.' Opinion of Attorney General, October 12, 1942.

"The Attorney General has ruled that a purely private poll could be conducted:

'A private group, paying all of the expenses and adopting its own procedures therefore, may conduct an opinion poll or plebescite for the purpose of ascertaining public sentiment on a proposition... however, we find no authority for the use of regular election judges and the use of the official ballot boxes by private groups in the conduct of such a poll or referendum.' Opinion of the Attorney General April 6, 1962."

Bids approved for TC airport hangar

Bids for the proposed hangar for the Thief River Falls Technical college aviation program at the Thief River Falls regional airport were approved at the meeting held Monday, according to Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the technical college.

Kraus Anderson Company of St. Paul was the apparent low bidder with a base bid of $2,241,000. Allocated construction budget amount was $2,400,000. Another of the six bidders on the project also had a bid below the allocation amount, Dr. Gunderson said.

Bids previously taken on the project were well over the amount available and were rejected. The project was scaled back from 40,000 to 35,000 square feet and a change was made in the specified roof structural system.

Robert Madson, vice chancellor of the Minnesota State Board of Technical Colleges, said that he expects work will begin on the project this fall and that a completion date has been set for Sept. 1, 1992.

Mike Novak takes job as Oklee superintendent

Mike Novak, former assistant principal at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, has become the new superintendent and elementary principal for the Oklee school system.

Novak applied for a leave of absence last spring to take on a position as an assistant principal in a Phoenix, AZ. That position did not meet his expectations and he returned to Thief River Falls. Upon his return, however, he learned that it was the policy of the school system in Thief River Falls not to rescind leaves of absence.

At a meeting on September 23 of the school district board for School District 627 in Oklee, Novak was offered a contract for the 1991-92 school year as the new superintendent and elementary principal. Novak was at his job in Oklee on the following day.

Novak has taken on this challenge as a first-time superintendent. However, he has had many years of experience. He began his school career in 1966 as a math and drivers educational teacher in the Roosevelt Junior High School in Milwaukee, WI. From 1967 to 1972 he served the same position in the West Division High School in Milwaukee, WI. In 1972 he moved to the Glenview Public School and served as high school principal until August 1973. From there he moved to the Carltan public school system in Carlton, MN, as high school principal and served for one year until August 1974. He then moved to Zumbrota where he was high school principal from August 1974 to August 1977. Following his next move to Paynesville in August 1977 he was Paynesville public school high school principal until July 1980.

He came to Thief River Falls in July of 1980 and worked as assistant high school principal for a period of time and then became the assistant Middle School principal. In 1984 he left Thief River Falls for one year and became the secondary school principal for Wheaton public schools and then returned to Thief River Falls where he has been the assistant high school principal for the past six years.

Novak graduated from Mankato State College with a bachelor of science with degrees in math and Russian. He received his master of science degree in secondary school administration from Mankato State College and his Education Specialist degree in general school administration from Mankato State University. He was raised in St. Paul and graduated from Minneapolis Roosevelt high school.

The society provided seven staff members from the Twin Cities area to conduct the screening, counsel people tested and display and demonstrate low vision aids. Funding for the screening was provided through a grant from US West Foundation. Local arrangements were handled by Mike Gau, US West customer services manager in Thief River Falls.

Initiative Fund gets $10.2 million grant

McKnight Foundation makes five-year commitment for assistance

Five-year commitment by the McKnight Foundation to provide $10.2 million in grants to the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund (NWMIF) over the next five years was announced at a news conference held Wednesday afternoon at the Best-Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Bruce Hamnes of Stephen, a director on the NWMIF board, made the official announcement. Also participating were Norma Hanson of Goodridge, also a director on the board; Jean Downing, director of programs; and Patricia Berger, director of development.

Hamnes said the McKnight grants will be used, along with additional monies that the NWMIF will be raising, to reach the fund's two primary goals:

(1) To increase economic growth and business development in northwest Minnesota to ensure regional economic stability; and

(2) To empower individuals, organizations and communities by increasing their capacity to shape the future of the region.

"This level of funding, which represents our third phase, is by far the largest financial commitment that the McKnight Foundation has made to our region," Hamnes said at the news conference.

"The role of the Initiative Fund in achieving these goals will be as a catalyst, bringing ideas and plans together; as a financial supporter through grants, loans and special projects; and as a network and coalition builder for effective services," he said.

Over the next five years, Hamnes said, the Initiative Fund will undertake the following activities:

• Expand the current business loan program to provide necessary loan funds for small business start-up and expansions;

• A special effort for development and support of entrepreneurs in the region;

• Expanded training and education opportunities for people and organizations in leadership, management and community economic development;

• A special effort for increased understanding of cultural diversity in the region; and

• Targeted grant funds for projects that address one of the following areas:

(1) Develop technology-bases industries that diversity or add value to the region's economic base with further details;

(2) Establish an information base that can be used to maintain or increase the economic status of the area with priority to projects that leverage additional funds for implementation; and

(3) Build joint ventures within the human service system which increase the effectiveness and efficiency of service delivery.

"Our first two grants from McKnight amounted to $6.5 million. This funding was used by us to award over $4.7 million in grants and almost $2 million was loaned out to small businesses in the region to help with start-ups and expansions that have resulted in 280 new jobs for northwest Minnesota."

Director Norma Hanson said she was excited about notice of the McKnight grant and what it can do for entrepreneurship in this part of Minnesota.

Humphrey Fellow speaks out on education

Joe Nathan discusses principles of learning at meeting in Red Lake Falls on Tuesday

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Joe Nathan says parents are finding out that schools are not doing what they have been saying they are doing.

Joe Nathan says we have lulled ourselves to sleep believing we have more effective schools than we do.

Joe Nathan says we have failed to make use of powerful learning principles which have been demonstrated but are being largely ignored.

So who is this Joe Nathan know-it-all anyway?

Dr. Joe Nathan, a Senior Fellow at the University of Minnesota's Humphrey Institute of Public affairs and director of the Center for School Change, certainly does not claim to know it all. To the contrary, he believes we have much to learn in how we as a nation, state and individual school district can do a more effective job of educating our students.

But he also firmly believes that not enough is being done to utilize the knowledge about educating that is already known, and that schools which train teachers are at least partly at fault for not providing them with those skills while they are seeking a degree in education.

Nathan was one of the speakers at an area informational meeting conducted by the Center for School Change Tuesday evening at the Northwest Minnesota Global Studies Institute conference room in Red Lake Falls. About 25 people from a number of northwestern Minnesota communities attended the session.

The Center for School Change is a state-wide organization funded by a $2.3 million grant from the Blandin Foundation of Grand Rapids. The Center is the largest foundation-supported school reform effort ever undertaken in a single state. It works with communities and schools to help make significant improvement in public education. Marie Hvidsten is one of three regional coordinators in Minnesota.

In addition to Dr. Nathan, speakers at the meeting Tuesday included Wayne Jennings, a former teacher and administrator from St. Paul who has been involved in many educational innovations during his more than 30 years in education.

Reports were also given on the Global Studies Institute, Computer Infused Curriculum, Magnet School concept and other programs.

Dr. Nathan granted a Times' interview at the Thief River Falls regional airport prior to attending the Red Lake Falls session. During the interview he discussed some of the points he made later with those in attendance at the meeting in Red Lake Falls.

Appointed by President George Bush to the President's Educational Policy Advisory Group, Dr. Nathan serves on the 25-member group with presidents of the American Federation of Teachers, National Education Association, National School Boards Association, several college presidents, chief executive officers of ALCOA, IBM and Xerox and other "heavy hitters" of education and business. He was also recently appointed by Gov. Arne Carlson to his Action for Children commission.

Nathan's wife is a public school teacher and they have three children, including 12-year-old twins. He holds a BA degree from Carleton college and MA and PhD degrees from the University of Minnesota. He has been president of his children's elementary school PTA, writes a weekly column for the St. Paul Pioneer Press and Duluth News Tribune and is the author of three books. His guest columns have appeared in The Wall Street Journal, USA Today, Detroit News, Atlanta Constitution and Christian Science Monitor as well as various education magazines. His areas of specialty include parent involvement, school choice, creation of distinctive public schools, youth service and use of technology in schools.

"It has been proven that youngsters learn better when they are applying the knowledge they receive," Dr. Nathan said. "Yet schools and individual teachers in many cases seem reluctant to break with the comfortable familiarity of 'traditional' classes to take advantage of this learning principle."

While mathematics test scores may have been improving lately, he noted, students are not strong in the application of mathematics to their daily lives.

As a case in point he cited a test where eighth grade students were given a menu with 10 items on it, told they had $5 to spend and could select three items. They were to figure out how much change they would receive from the $5 after paying for the three items.

"Only 40 per cent of the eighth graders across the nation could successfully complete this problem," Nathan said. "In Minnesota the number was just over 50 per cent—a little better but certainly not good. We should be able to do better."

Pointing out how application of knowledge can be used, Nathan pointed to the Rothsay school district where the students have operated a hardware store for three years and have just taken over operation of a grocery store this year. They handle the entire operation from ordering stock to scheduling workers to paying the bills.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are from a 1978 Marshall County Homemakers' Cookbook, so you know these recipes are good.

Wouldn't this be fun to try one of these cool days:

Slow Cooker Short Ribs and Limas

3 pounds beef short ribs
2 (10 ounce) packages frozen lima beans
1 can condensed beef-vegetable soup
1 envelope dry onion soup mix
1 (3 ounce) can mushrooms
1/4 cup cold water
1-2 tablespoons flour

Place ribs in bottom of crockery slow cooker. Add frozen beans.

In bowl, stir together soup, water, dry soup mix and undrained mushrooms. Pour into cooker. Cover and cook on low heat for 10 hours or until meat is tender. (May cook on high for 5 hours.)

Turn to high setting. Remove beans, mushrooms and meat and keep warm. Spoon off excess fat.

Combine cold water and flour and add to boiling juices in cooker. Cook and stir until thickened.

Serve with meat and vegetables. (Serve 6.)

How about this slow cooker recipe, it sounds like it serves a bunch:

Slow Cooker Hamburger Casserole
(Mrs. Corrine Swenson, Ringbo Homemakers Club)

3 large potatoes
3 carrots
1 1/2 cup peas, drained
4 1/2 onions, diced
3 pounds lean ground beef, lightly browned
3 stalks celery
1 1/2 cans tomato soup (10 ounce cans)
1 soup can water

Place layer of sliced vegetables in crock pot in order given. Season each layer with salt and pepper.

Put the lightly browned beef on top of celery.

Mix soup and water and pour into pot. Cover and cook on low setting for 8 hours.

Breakfast Pizza
(Mrs. Earl McGregor, Choregirls Club)

1 (8 ounce) container of crecent rolls
1 (8 ounce) package of brown and serve sausago
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
4 slightly beaten eggs
3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon oregano

Spread crescent rolls in greased 9x13 pan. Add chopped sausages and then cheddar cheese.

Pour egg mixture over top and sprinkle with mozzarella cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Let's just keep on with these quick meal casseroles. This one sounds delicious:

Ham Casserole
(Joyce Paul, Happy Hobbettes Club)

1 medium head cauliflower
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1 (3 ounce) can drained mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
1/3 cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup cubed velveeta cheese
1/2 cup sour cream
1 cup bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted butter

Break and cook cauliflower.

Combine ham and mushrooms in (greased, I assume) casserole.

In saucepan, melt the 4 tablespoons butter. Stir in flour well, and then add milk. Cook thick. Add sour cream and cheese and stir until cheese melts.

Pour above cheese mixture over ham and mushrooms. Drain cauliflower and stir into mixture.

Combine bread crumbs and melted butter and sprinkle over top. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. (Serves 4.)

One more casserole, this one made with that old favorite, zucchini:

Zucchini Casserole
(Mrs. Harry Anderson, Cozy Clan Club)

3 medium zucchini squash
chopped onions
5 eggs, beaten
2/3 cup sour cream
1/4 cup bacon, fried crisp and drained
2/3 cup cubed soft cheese

Slice and parboil zucchini for 5 minutes. Drain.

Mix beaten eggs with sour cream.

In buttered casserole, layer zucchini with chopped onions. Pour egg-cream mixture over. Sprinkle with bacon and then with cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes, or until set.

Chief Deputy in Red Lake county receives award

Each county is required to have a child protection investigator. Arlt has served on a child protection team for a number of years.

Peterson said he has always been easy to work with. Peterson, who works with Arlt, said they encounter many stressful situations. Peterson said Arlt always manages to keep calm, takes charge and is knowledgeable.

Arlt became a deputy sheriff in Red Lake county in 1976. In 1987, he was appointed chief deputy, a position he still holds.

Class of '40 to meet annually

On Friday, September 27, the Best Western in Thief River Falls was the site for the Lincoln High School Class of 1940 where more than 40 classmates and their spouses reminisced their high school days. A hospitality room was set up in the afternoon and hors d'oeuvres, punch and coffee were served. Lois (Jordahl) Dahlen from Willmar and Tillie (Paulson) Gebhardt from Crookston were at the registration table. The afternoon was spent in socializing, viewing snapshots from last year's 50th reunion and taking pictures. Leonard Furuseth was the master of ceremonies at the banquet and introduced a former teacher, Blanche Greenland Larson. Arthur Buringrud gave the welcome to the class followed by Clifford Vigness giving the invocation. Letters received from classmates unable to attend this year's get-together were read by Frances (Stenberg) Stromberg from Grygla. Following the banquet, classmates introduced themselves, their spouses, and told a little bit about themselves. A short business meeting followed. It was voted that the Class of 1940 would meet annually on the last Friday in September.

Door prize winners were Olaf and Lois Dahlen, Willmar; Kenneth and Ruth (Myhrer) Keuhn, Ely; Doris (Hostvet) Peterson, Grand Rapids; LaVerne and Olive (Jorde) Rondorf, Rueben and Lenore Wold, Helen (Arros) Wysoski, Ione (Ryan) Beck, Ray Oen, Viola (Jorgenson) Jaranson, Virginia Buringrud, and Frank Gillespie, all of Thief River Falls. Coming the farthest distance and winner of a blanket were LaVerne and Kazuko Engelstad from Waterloo, Iowa. Rueben Wold gave the benediction at the close of the day's activities.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Tress (Mackenroth) Noel, Marion (Holmen) Wold, Ione (Ryan) Beck, Ruth (Klein) Oen, Helen (Arros) Wysoski, Dolores (Votava) Wilson, Viola (Jorgenson) Jaranson, Lois (Jordahl) Dahlen, Tillie (Paulson) Gebhardt, and Leonard Furuseth. This committee meets the last Tuesday of each month at noon at Dee's Cafe where plans are formulated for next year's get-together. All classmates are welcome to join the committee.

NMU supports Minn. Public radio station

John McTaggart (right) received a donation of $1,000 from Paul Lane representing Northern Minnesota Utilities. The donation will help bring Minnesota Public Radio's News and Information Service to Northwest Minnesota.

Northern Minnesota Utilities recently made a contribution of $1,000 to help bring Minnesota Public Radio's News and Information Service to northwest Minnesota.

Progress continues on the construction of the new station, with the delivery of the transmitter and antenna. MPR projects that area residents will be able to hear the 24-hour news and information by the end of 1991. The station will transmit from the existing MPR tower near Euclid. Programming will include not only news from MPR's reporters around Minnesota, but also national news programs such as All Things Considered and Morning Edition from National Public Radio. Listeners will also have access to international perspectives on world events from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

MPR is a regional radio network with headquarters in St. Paul. Established as a single central Minnesota station, MPR now operates 19 non-commercial stations serving listeners throughout Minnesota and the upper Midwest.

MPR broadcasts two separate, fully-developed program services. Its cultural service features classical music, fine arts and performance programming combined with in-depth newscasts at regular intervals throughout the day. Its full-time news and information service draws upon many of the world's foremost news gathering organizations to present a comprehensive view of current affairs. With more than 30 award-winning reporters stationed throughout Minnesota and surrounding areas, MPR's news staff is the largest in this region.

ACTIVITIES

Leaf Rubbings

Now that fall is here and the leaves are falling, the children are collecting and playing with them. An effective way to extend that play is to do leaf rubbings. Put the leaves on a hard surface, put a sheet of paper over the leaf and color over the leaf on the paper with crayons. The impression of the leaf will show through in the coloring. For younger children, you may have to tape the leaf down so that it will not slip as you rub over the leaf. Beautiful pictures can be created using a variety of leaves and colors.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to enjoy these videos new to the library:

PARENTING TIPS

Discover Fall

Many wonderful opportunities for quality time are waiting for you outside. Try to set aside some time in which you and your child can take advantage of them. Changes are taking place every day. Remember that what you know and take for granted is new and amazing to your child. Help your child discover things by being interested in what he sees, hears and touches.

Go for a walk, explore your yard and your neighborhood. Look for and talk about the changes that are taking place. Children do not automatically make use of their five senses. They need us to guide them and make suggestions. Talk about the leaves, what color they are, how do they sound when you walk through them? What happens when you touch dry, brittle leaves? Can you smell any burning leaves? As you help your child see and notice the little things you will also help him to later discover the big things. Who knows, maybe one day your children will be another Columbus!

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Use words that will help your child to describe what he hears, sees, smells, touches and tastes. Listen when your child talks about his/her discoveries.

Ultra-runner returns from charity event

Jim Grindley, ultra-runner from Thief River Falls, returned to Thief River Falls this week sore but pleased with his performance at Megan's Run, a 24-hour fund-raising race in Portland, OR.

Tuesday, just a couple of days after the race Grindley was walking tenderly. He explained that only a relatively short distance into the race he developed large blisters on his feet. Grindley said he was unaccustomed to running around a quarter mile track — especially on a race that could take him over 100 miles. During the race he had to stop and drain the blisters. That didn't stop him, however. He just tried to change his stride and limped on. Eventually it caught up to him and he had to stop — and walk.

In all, Grindley completed just under 93 miles in the 24-hour period and will collect just over $1,500. His 93 miles was also good enough to give him second place in his age group.

Forty-nine runners participated in the race this year, which was created in 1986 as a fund-raiser for Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS). It was named for Phil and Kathy Edmunds' infant daughter Megan, who died of SIDS in 1984.

Runners participating in the race this year raised more than $50,000 and logged over 4,682 miles on the quarter mile track.

The overall winner, 43-year-old Ron Purrung of Sheboygan, WI, finished with 148 miles. Second place, overall, went to a woman this year. Sue Ellen Trapp, 45, Fort Meyers, FL, completed the 24-hour run with almost 137 miles. In the process she broke six U.S. age-group records, as well as an American record for any age. Third place overall fell to a 34-year-old Burnsville, MN, woman. Susan Olson placed third with 134.9 miles.

Grindley said Trapp was not the only runner setting records. He said a lot of records were broken this year. It was a well organized race and runners had a lot of support, he said.

Grindley said he wanted to thank residents of Thief River Falls for their support. And, he would like to personally thank each person who provided a pledge for him. It was a race he won't soon forget.

One More Thought On The Casino Vote

Several comments we have heard lately lead us to believe that proponents of the gambling casino in Thief River Falls are dismissing the advisory referendum scheduled for October 19 as inconsequential. They don't plan to vote because "it doesn't mean anything anyway" and the vote is "just another way to stir up those against the casino."

Perhaps the issue will be moot by referendum time if city and county governing bodies choose to act before then. But we would be at least mildly surprised to see that happen, given the expectation that elected officials should at least listen to their constituents, regardless of how they intend or choose to act in their behalf. To emphasize and lament a legal inability to conduct an advisory vote and then patently ignore a voluntary citizen effort to provide that service for them would stand no governing unit in good stead.

People promoting the referendum, while primarily identified individually with opposition to the casino, sincerely do want a large turnout which will provide a meaningful indication of community support for or opposition to that gambling facility. They expect to be in the majority, and they want to show that they are, although they don't know that they are and aren't really sure that they are.

We are disappointed that organizations supporting the casino did not join early in this campaign for a truly bi-partisan effort. Rather than ignoring the advisory vote they should have been promoting it and encouraging a turnout of voters supporting the casino question. We feel they had a lot to gain from any kind of a show of support strength.

It will not be good enough after October 19 to claim that only the opponents were motivated to vote and that those who chose not to do so are therefore in favor of the casino as a "silent majority." That argument won't wash after the votes are counted. Although the effort and expense of the vote is being borne primarily by opponents, the opportunity is being provided for supporters to make their position clear. We would suggest that it would be wise to make use of that opportunity.

And if we were a local public office holder who was leaning toward or committed to a vote in support of the casino, we would be shoving supporters toward the polling place October 19 with both hands. Regardless of motivation or intent or rationalization, it doesn't look good for an elected official to act contrary to the stated wishes of his or her constituents.

If support is there, and we wouldn't be at all surprised that it is, let it show in the vote total and settle the claims once and for all. Those who don't vote don't count—and that's a fact.

The Health Care Mess

Aaron Trippler, vice president of member services for Communicating for Agriculture, Inc.—a national, non-profit rural organization based in Fergus Falls—wrote the following opinion piece recently. We publish it here to encourage additional thought and perhaps public response to a question of nation-wide yet individual concern:

Most people know that Congress will not be able to solve this country's health care problem any time soon. But you would never know it from the numerous proposals being thrown about in Washington. One only has to read between the lines to recognize the "political agenda" behind most of them. With the 1992 election rapidly approaching, we will hear more and more about "solutions," but we'll probably see very little action.

The same is true on the state level. An eventual answer to the health care crisis probably will evolve from state initiatives, but there is nothing in place yet that promises a long-term answer.

In 1991, more than a third of the states introduced legislation creating some type of universal health care. Most of these proposals would have solved the problem except for one small hitch: there was no money to pay for the enormous costs of these proposed programs.

When studying any of these proposals, it's always apparent that the proponents of the plan place the burden of the costs on someone else. An old cliche comes to mind: "The only fair tax is the one you pay and I don't." It's very easy to propose solutions if someone else foots the bill.

The latest proposal to provide universal health care coverage in Minnesota is a good case in point. This month, a group of the state's largest HMOs suggested a way to provide insurance to every Minnesotan—financed through higher premiums to those who already have insurance.

The proposal's components:

• All Minnesotans would be covered by 1997.

• By 1993 all employers would have to offer coverage to employees working 20 or more hours per week and their dependents.

• Some small businesses, individuals earning low incomes, and seniors would receive subsidies for their premiums or guaranteed acceptance.

Now the kicker: The plan would cost $380 million a year and calls for a six per cent surcharge on inpatient hospital services. Hospitals would pass on the surcharge cost to the insurance companies, which would pass them on to their clients.

It is estimated the surcharge would add about 2.5 per cent a year to health insurance premium costs at first, rising to about 4.5 per cent once the program is in full operation in 1997.

What is wrong with this proposal? Nowhere does it address one of the major problems with health care: controlling costs! As long as health care costs continue to rise, the cost of insurance will continue to go out of sight. And this proposal admits that premiums will rise about 4.5 per cent before any health care costs increase. Try explaining this to the self-employed in Minnesota and others who pay for their own health care.

As a nation, we constantly concern ourselves with the 10 to 15 per cent of the population who are uninsured—and this is a legitimate concern. But unless something is done about the 85 per cent already covered, they too will become uninsured because they simply can't afford coverage. We must put a lid on health care costs!

The hospitals in the state believe they would be asked to pick up part of the tab, especially when reimbursement rates are renegotiated between hospitals and insurance companies. Herein lies another bold statement! The hospitals want no part of controlling costs, they just want to be sure they get paid. And through these "negotiated" rates with some carriers and employers, we are simply cost-shifting more dollars to the segment of society that pays its own health care costs and premiums.

Let's solve this problem by mandating the same hospital rates and physician fees for everyone. And if need be, let's force everyone who receives free health care benefits from an employer with no premiums, deductibles, etc., to pay taxes on these fringe benefits, at least on a portion of them. Then there would be some funds with which to solve the problem.

The burden of health care must be spread across society. The providers should accept a cap on fees! The consumer must accept a portion of the cost for employer-paid "Cadillac benefit plans!" If employers want to earn tax breaks for their health insurance costs, they should be mandated to provide health care to their employees! The self-employed should have the right to deduct their health care costs as business expenses! Medical malpractice awards must be frozen! Incentives should be provided for people to save for catastrophic health care costs!

One piece of legislation will not solve the problem, but if some of these piecemeal solutions were enacted, the United States would be a lot farther along on providing a health care system that implements a public/private partnership.

It can work. It must work. Let's remove politics from the discussion and propose solutions, not politically expedient approaches.

Hospice benefit set at Redeemer church

To benefit the program of Northland Community Hospice, a spaghetti supper will be served at Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday, October 7.

The event is sponsored by the evangelism and social ministry committees of Redeemer and Black River Lutheran churches and by several local branches of Aid Association for Lutherans. All are invited to attend and free-will donations will be received.

"The people of Northland Community Hospice are dedicated to serve the needs of the terminally ill in our area," states hospice director Laurie Anderson. "Through these people the last days of many persons are made much more comfortable than would otherwise be possible. Funding for the work of the staff and volunteers comes entirely from donations.

Office space in Northwest Medical center is donated by the center. The service area covers about a 40-mile radius and approximately 35 to 40 persons each year are cared for as patients. The staff includes two registered nurses—Laurie Anderson and Linda Ronchetti. The volunteer network is comprised of about 40 persons.

Initiative Fund gets grant

"We have a lot of young people with a lot of good ideas who will need help in putting those ideas in action," she said. "We need high technology in our rural areas and our communities lack effective training for leadership. This grant provides for programs to develop greater leadership abilities."

Hamnes added that the NWMIF board has become united in the opinion that economic development must take precedence over social needs. "It has become clear," he said, "that sufficient jobs with adequate wages are critical so that people will not only remain in the region but will begin to move back to the small communities that they had to leave to support themselves and their families."

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund is one of six independent, regional organizations established in 1985 with a McKnight Foundation commitment of support and which cover all of Minnesota with the exception of the metropolitan area. The foundation has paid $56 million over the past five years to the six groups.

According to Michael O'Keefe, executive vice president of the McKnight Foundation, that foundation regards the initiative funds as its primary vehicle for grantmaking in greater Minnesota. Each fund is governed by a separate board of directors independent of the Foundation. While priorities differ among the six regions, all six funds support grant and loan programs in economic development and human services.

"The Initiative Funds represent an important commitment on the part of many individuals to solving problems locally," O'Keefe said. "They are essential to the foundation's work of addressing basic human and community needs throughout Minnesota. That the funds have become so well established in just a few years is a tribute both to their leadership and outstanding local support.

Founded in 1953 by William and Maude McKnight, the Foundation now has assets of approximately $911 million. It made grants of $38 million in 1990 and of 33.5 million to this point in 1991.

Director of Programs Jean Downing of the NWMIF said that one of the goals of the fund is to become self-sustaining. To that end an endowment fund was established in 1988 which has now grown to about $2.5 million. Plans are to increase that endowment fund to about $15 million within the next 10 to 12 years. Included in the McKnight grant commitment of $10.2 million are challenge funds which will provide a match for other money raised to increase the endowment fund.

Since it began raising funds in July of 1986, the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund has raised $2,629,473 in addition to its grants from the McKnight Foundation. This includes $132,138 from individuals, $551,989 from corporations and businesses, $624,535 from other Foundations, $1,291,848 from government and $28,963 in fees and earnings.

The fund's expenditures during that time of $6,574,000 included $3,491,000 in grants, $1,827,000 in loans and $1,256,000 in special projects. Grants have accounted for 61 per cent of its expenditures, loans for 23 per cent and administration for 16 per cent.

Pennington county 4-H clubs received a financial boost in the construction of their food stand at the Pennington county fair with a donation from the L.B. Hartz Foundation. The permanent food stand was built this summer and used for the first time during the 1991 county fair. Sharon Hamre of the county 4-H leaders council is shown accepting the $2,000 check from Gene Balto of the L.B. Hartz Foundation board.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

As assessor for Thief River Falls and Pennington county, I am very concerned at some of the real estate values in Thief River Falls.

The Penney's store changed hands this year. It sold for approximately three times the amount of its annual real estate taxes. The Bostwick's building sold for approximately two times its real estate taxes and the ITS building changed hands this year for about four times the amount of its annual taxes. These businesses are in the heart of downtown Thief River Falls.

To explain what this means I am furnishing an example. If you paid $500 real estate tax on your home, two times the tax would be $1,000—the value of your house should you put it on the market, comparing it to what the commercial properties sold for. These ridiculous commercial property values, in the heart of downtown Thief River Falls, must tell us something.' These values are set on supply and demand.

We do not have the number of people it takes to support a successful business and our population is continuing to decline. Our population today is 8,010. In 1980 it was 9,105, a decline of 1,095 people or 12.03 per cent in 10 years. Pennington county population was 15,258 in 1980 and 13,306 in 1990—a decline of 1,952 people or 12.73 per cent in 10 years.

We now have a chance to bring more people to town with the establishment of a new business, the casino—200 to 300 new jobs, more tourist trade, more shoppers and more spin-off business.

The casino will be built in our area—if not Thief River Falls then perhaps in East Grand Forks or Grand Forks, ND, which already has state-approved casino type gambling.

Can we afford to see more of our shoppers find one more reason to drive to Grand Forks?

Can we help the Canadian shopper make up his mind that the next visit to the state may include some time at the casino?

I think this issue needs to be looked at with rational thinking; thinking of the future of Thief River Falls

Sincerely,
Gerard DeHaan
Thief River Falls

"WHERE IS YOUR HEART AT?"

Jesus was always looking at the heart of man. Looking to see what their true intentions were. One time the scribes and pharisees brought a woman to Jesus that had been caught in adultery. Jesus did not judge the woman first. He looked at the hearts of the scribes and pharisees and told them that he who is without sin cast the first stone. None of them cast a stone, but all walked away. Then Jesus turned to the woman and said, where are your accusers? Jesus told her to go and sin no more.
Where is your heart at? Are you wanting to serve Jesus, or the world and religion. It's a question only you can answer.

Bob Wolfe retires as DOT engineer

After 34 years of service to the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT), Bob Wolfe has retired effective September 27 as district engineer, a position he has held at Bemidji since 1974.

Wolfe started his career with the department in 1957 and earned his civil engineering degree at the University of Minnesota in 1960. He is a graduate of Itasca junior college in Coleraine and Deer River high school..

He was research engineer, project engineer, assistant chief soils engineer and maintenance operations engineer in the metro area between 1960 and 1969.

In 1969 he moved to St. Cloud as the area maintenance engineer and in 1971 transferred to Duluth in the same capacity. He became district engineer for the northwest district at Bemidji in 1974.

One of his early projects was to complete construction of the Bemidji bypass. He and his staff made use of extensive public involvement to develop a project design, obtain funding and complete the project by 1981.

During his 17 years in the district Wolfe became known for his "client-based" approach to delivery of transportation services. He stressed client involvement with his staff and initiated ongoing working relationships with local units of government and commodity groups.

He also initiated a "risk management" policy on district roads, based on information from trucking, agriculture and industry groups. This approach involved the use of pavement management technology and input from road users to manage maintenance activities and improvement projects on area roads in a way that best supports the local economy.

Bob Wolfe

He made many visits to Thief River Falls and other cities in the district for input and planning meetings with committees and organizations to receive as well as provide information on highway problems and proposed solutions in the district.

Bob and his wife Marldeanne will live at their recently-completed home on Big Turtle Lake near Bigfork.

Naturalist to give program at Franklin

Public attendance is invited. For more information contact the Agassiz Audubon chapter at 745-5663.

Burning leaves allowed under law October 1

Beginning October 1 residents of Thief River Falls can burn leaves and yard refuse within the city limits.

Thief River Falls Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman, said Tuesday that by ordinance, residents can begin burning leaves and yard refuse within the city limits. Bjorkman said conditions are safe for burning at this time. He reminds residents that a responsible person has to be in attendance while they are burning leaves or yard refuse. He also suggests that residents have a garden hose attached and ready for use and that residents be considerate of neighbors by not burning when the wind may carry smoke into a house or laundry.

Residents in the rural area of the fire district still have to have permits to burn large areas. If anything, Bjorkman said, it alerts the fire department that there is a controlled burn taking place so that when someone calls in about a fire they know how to handle the call. In some fire districts they charge for every fire call they make. Bjorkman said the permits are free and can be picked up at the fire station

Loeslie case moved

Motion for a Change of Venue in district court, Norman County, was granted for a case against Donovan Loeslie of Warren.

Loeslie was charged with two counts of criminal sexual conduct in the second degree on August 27 in Norman County. On September 27, change of venue to a court in Hennepin county was granted. According to court documents the alleged incidents relating to the charges against Loeslie occurred in Hennepin county. A change of venue means the case will be tried in a Hennepin county district court.

According to Hennepin County authorities the change of venue was granted on September 27, but a judge has not been assigned the case yet.

Local officials provide Halloween safety tips

Pennington county sheriff Bob Wold and Thief River Falls police chief Ken Proschheiser are encouraging parents and youth to enjoy Halloween safely.

Remember when designing children's costumes that face paint is preferable to a mask. Masks should have adequate holes for proper respiration and peripheral vision. All trick or treaters should wear some sort of reflective clothing, carry a bright orange bag and carry a flashlight or glowstick to make it easier for passing cars to spot them while they walk on the sidewalk or left side of the road facing traffic.

Young children should always be accompanied by an adult. Either a parent or older child should stay within close range at all times and never let the children go down a street by themselves. Walk with the children to each house and wait in the driveway or by the door until the children return.

Older children should travel in pairs or in groups at all times while trick or treating and never venture down a dark, empty side street. Parents should know the route that their children are following. Children should always walk together to the front door of each house and never run across the street or across the yard. Dark, unlighted houses should be avoided.

Tell children to save all their candy until they get home. All candy should be closely inspected. Throw away all unwraped candy or any suspicious looking goodies. If a child does get sick, try to determine what he or she had eaten and where it came from. Call a doctor or the hospital emergency room immediately and save all wrappers.

Also remember that a jack-o-lantern and any other electrical decoration can be a fire hazard. Keep them out of reach of small children and away from flammable materials such as draperies, furniture and paper decorations. Do not leave the house unattended.

Volunteers sew Trauma Bears in RSVP program

Volunteers in Thief River Falls have sewn a number of Trauma Bears in a project started in December of 1990 by the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program (RSVP) and donated them to the RSVP office on Wednesday afternoon at the Heritage Community center in Thief River Falls.

The bears are delivered to ambulance and rescue squads, fire and police departments, social services and violence intervention programs to be given to children in stressful situations. Funding for the project was provided by Lutheran Brotherhood.

Volunteers working on the sewing project in Thief River Falls were Marion Lorenson, Clarice Bren, Ida Rupprecht, Lois Larson, Genevieve Homstad, Laura Bishop, Ruby Ramsey, Bernice Homstad and Dorothy Hanson.

Accepting the bears were director Harl Gamber and Deanna Patenaude of the RSVP office in Crookston.

In addition to the bears made in Thief River Falls, more than 800 of the Trauma Bears have been sewn in Oslo, Holt, Fertile, Erskine, Crookston, Shelly, Newfolden, Twin Valley, St. Hilaire, Argyle, Warren, Stephen, Ada, Goodridge, Middle River, Gatzke, Plummer, Red Lake Falls, Oklee, Alvarado, McIntosh, Winger, Halstad, Fosston and Gary.

So far the bears have been delivered to the following places: Fertile EMS, police department and fire department; Polk county sheriff's department and social services; Oklee fire department and paramedics; Marshall county sheriff's department; and Newfolden rescue squad and fire department;

Also Twin Valley fire department, rescue squad and police department, Norman County social services and sheriff's department; Ada fire department; Oslo fire department and rescue squad; Warren fire department and ambulance, and Marshall County social services;

"RSVP hopes to continue this worthwhile intergenerational volunteer project so that all children in the five-county area who may be in stressful situations may benefit by receiving one of these Trauma Bears," stated RSVP director Harl Gamber.

Trauma Bears sewn by volunteers in Thief River Falls were presented to the area Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) Wednesday at the Heritage Community center in Thief River Falls. Among the local recipients of the bears, which are given to children in stressful situations, was Midwest Ambulance Service, represented by SueAnn Brentl (seated at left), EMT-A and Joe Prondzinski (seated at right), EMT-P and director of operations. Standing (left to right) are Deanna Patenaude, representing the RSVP office in Crookston, and volunteer seamstresses Marion Lorenson, Ida Rupprecht, Clarice Bren, Lois Larson and Genevieve Homstad. Not pictured are volunteers Bernice Homstad, Laura Bishop, Ruby Ramsey and Dorothy Henson who also sewed bears for the project.

Governor declares public power week

Gov. Arne Carlson has proclaimed October 6-12 'Public Power Week' in Minnesota. This is in honor of the 132 municipally-owned electric and gas utilities in Minnesota.

The first municipal electric utility in Minnesota began operating in Ada in 1876. Several other municipals in the state have celebrated their centennials, and three others join that group this year — Granite Falls, Willmar and St. Peter. Many others are celebrating their golden anniversaries, etc.

Far from being relics of the past, municipal utilities are an important part of the electric utility industry in Minnesota and across the country. While most municipals serve cities of fewer than 10,000 people, cities as large as Los Angeles and San Antonio are also served by municipals.

More than 35 million Americans in every state but Hawaii receive electricity from more than 2,000 non-profit, community-owned electric utilities. Across the nation, 13.6 per cent of all electric customers are served by these utilities.

In Minnesota, as in the nation as a whole, municipally-owned utilities average the lowest rates. This helps keep rates down for all electric consumers.

Among the benefits of municipal power are: lower rates, efficient service, local control, commitment to conservation and the environment, economic development, and competition.

HERE'S THE SECRET TO KEEPING THE BAD GUYS OUT!

The secret is Key Control. Key Control is the confidence of knowing who has duplicate keys. No other security system can offer the same high level of key protection and site security. Or, simply protect you from unauthorized duplicate keys.

Standard pin tumbler system. The ASSA Twin 6000 cylinder is a major development in lock technology. It resists picking by any commonly known method because of the two independent locking mechanisms. Drilling attacks are frustrated by case-hardened steel inserts which are embedded in the cylinders. Coded side bar locking system. Drill-resistant cylinder housing. Drill-resistant cylinder plug.

A picturesque setting was presented to participants and spectators at the 1991 Thief River Falls Sports Boosters invitational high school cross country meet held Tuesday at the Thief River Golf Club. Boys and girls varsity, junior varsity and junior high teams took part in the event – the lone home appearance of the year for the Prowlers.

Prowlers host cross country meet

Chris Larson of Grand Forks Red River finished with a two-second edge over Joel Davis of Thief River Falls, and East Grand Fork was a one-point winner over Red River as the boys' portion of the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational high school cross country meet featured down-to-the-wire first place team and individual battles.

Davis trailed a group of front runners through much of the race before a finishing kick pushed him past everyone but Larson, who held on for a 16:40-16:42 victory.

Team-wise, East Grand Porks boys got by Red River 70-71 for the title. Detroit Lakes wound up third in the 12-team field with 98 points, followed by Park Rapids with 119, Warren 129, Grand Farks Central 141, Grafton 167, Minto 189, Thief River Falls 227, Roseau 249, Fargo Shanley 282 and Warroad 290.

Sarah Hutton of Central was the winner in the girls' varsity race with a 12:41, but Grand Forks did not have a complete team and did not figure in the team totals, where Detroit Lakes led an eight-team field with 68 points, followed by Bagley with 88, East Grand Forks 89, Roseau 117, Park Rapids 169, Warroad 176, Thief River Falls 179 and Crookston 221.

Stephanie Vigen and Jessica Bugge finished 19-20, respectively, in 14:22 and 14:23 to lead the Thief River Falls girls.

Thief River Falls' Leah Helgenset was the individual champion in the girls junior high portion of the meet with a 13:04, and teammate Lisa Swanson was third in 13:54.

Lynn Dyer-coached Prowlers will compete in the Park Rapids Invitational Tuesday.

Tennis tournament starts Tuesday...

Prowlers finish with 7-0 victory

Thief River Falls closed out its 1991 regular season high school tennis schedule Tuesday with a 7-0 win over visiting Roseau in a rescheduled make-up match that left the Prowlers at 4-7 in dual meet play.

"It was nice to go out on a winning note," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney.

Three Thief River Falls wins came on tie-breakers. "It was nice to see them win those tie-breakers," noted Forney. "We've been working on those in practice."

North Sub-Section 8AA tournament play starts with team competition Tuesday, followed by individual matches Wednesday at the Grand Forks Tennis Center.

In first round team play, No. 4-seeded Thief River Falls plays No. 5 Moorhead at 9 a.m. and No. 3-seeded Alexandria meets No. 6 Fergus Falls at 10:30. Semifinals will find No. 1-seeded Bemidji playing either the Prowlers or Spuds at 12 noon, while No. 2-seeded Detroit Lakes goes against the Cardinals or Otters at 1:30 p.m. Championship match is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Defending champion Anita Salmela, a senior from Detroit Lakes, is the No. 1-seed player in the singles portion of the individual tournament. Bemidji senior Shanna Rusten, Bemidji sophomore Jenny Brune and Fergus Falls junior Anna Zotalis round out the top four seeds.

In doubles, junior Kari Bowman and sophomore Andrea Vagle of Bemidji are seeded No. 1; seniors Heather Fossand and Caroline Dale of Detroit Lakes are No. 2; senior Tarik Koivisto and junior Jennifer Paggen of Thief River Falls are No. 3; seniors Sara Eidsvold and Jenny Quam of Alexandria are No. 4.

Championship team, plus the top four finishers in singles and doubles, will advance to the Section 8AA tournament Oct. 14-15 in St. Cloud.

Sophomore Carly Dee and freshman Jami Fremstad, seeded No. 11 and No. 12, respectively, will compete in the individual singles competition for the Prowlers. Senior Sara Tweet and sophomore Jami Dehnert, seeded No. 8, will join the Koivisto-Paggen combination in doubles.

High school volleyball...

Marshall County Central stops Grygla-Goodridge

A string of six straight first-game ace serves by Grygla-Goodridge senior Nikki Bottem stood out as an individual highlight, but team-wise it was all-Marshall County Central Tuesday as the Nordics stopped the Wolverines 15-13, 15-8, 15-5 in a high school volleyball match played at Goodridge.

Trailing 13-6 in Game 1, Grygla-Goodridge rattled off seven unanswered points – six of them on Bottem's non-returnable curve-ball serves.

But the Nordics regrouped and upper hand the rest of the night.

"We played all right," offered Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, who singled out senior Kim Davidson for a strong match at the net (13 ace spikes) and sophomore Sara Lokstad for a solid all-around performance.

Despite Bottem's run of service aces, the Wolverines had a tough night at the line, according to Grygla-Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. "We didn't play bad in the first game, and halfway through the second game, but then we started having trouble serving, and that really took us out of it."

MCC vs. Lake of the Woods

Marshall County Central reached .500 for the year Thursday with a 17-15, 15-12, 15-13 win over Lake of the Woods at Baudette.

The Nordics overcame a 10-3 third-game deficit to complete the sweep and even their season record at 6-6.

"It was a good match," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "I thought we played well. It's always tough to go up there and play. We knew we had to stop their middle attack, and stay away from the free ball situations. I thought we did both pretty well. And we passed the ball real well."

Kim Davidson was 31-for-35 in her spike attempts for the night, including 12 aces. Sara Lokstad joined Davidson in a strong 1-2 front row attack for the winners, who host Badger-Greenbush Tuesday.

Wolverines vs. Bulldogs

Fourth straight loss for Grygla-Goodridge Thursday, a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Badger-Greenbush in Greenbush, dropped the Wolverines to 1-11 for the year.

The Bulldogs won 15-10, 8-15, 15-7, 15-7.

"We were pretty much in it," said Grygla-Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom, "but we missed some key serves. We couldn't put a run together."

Only time the Wolverines produced a string of service points was an eight-point Game 2 run by Dawn Hoganson.

Spuds sweep TRF

Moorhead breezed to a 15-3, 15-5, 15-3 North Sub-Section 8AA high school volleyball win over host Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Although the perennial state tournament-qualifying Spuds figured to be a favorite over the struggling Prowlers, Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson was nevertheless disappointed in her team's showing.

"When you don't have everyone show up on the court to play, you can't expect to have good results," offered Anderson, who watched the Prowlers' record dip to 5-11 heading into a Thursday match at Fergus Falls. They are winless in three North Sub-Section 8AA starts.

Moorhead started the night with an 8-0 first-game lead. Thief River Falls had brief 2-0 and 3-1 leads in Game 2 before giving up eight straight points. The Spuds put it Northland Community College volleyball...

Pioneers win MCCC opener

Northland opened up its 1991 Minnesota Community College Conference Northwest Division-counting volleyball schedule Wednesday with a 3-1 come-from-behind win over visiting Brainerd.

The Raiders started with a 15-12 decision, but the Pioneers came back to win the match 15-13, 15-11, 15-8.

"I never doubted the fact that we would win," said Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "Even though we lost the first game, we played together."

Northland bounced back from the first-game loss to take a commanding 12-4 second-game lead before Brainerd rallied for a 13-13 tie. But the Pioneers closed it out on back-to-back ace serves by Cheri Bjorgaard.

Bjorgaard and Jill Brantl controlled play at the net much of the rest of the night.

However, it wasn't error-free. Northland had a 14-2 cushion in Game 4, but then went through nine service rotations before finally picking up the final point.

"Brainerd has a very good team," mentioned Jacobson. "Defensively they never give up."

Northland is 9-9 overall. The Pioneers were scheduled to host Fergus Falls tonight (Friday) in a 6:30 p.m. Northwest Division match. They will be at the University of Minnesota-Crookston Wednesday. "It's going to be a tough division," said Jacobson, noting that the latest MCCC rankings included all four Northwest Division teams – No. 2 UMC, No. 4 Fergus Falls, No. 6 Northland and No. 7 Brainerd.

Northland participated in a Friday night triangular at International Falls, losing 3-0 matches to both Vermilion and Rainy River. The Ironmen beat the Pioneers 15-9, 15-13, 15-13 and the host Voyageurs downed Northland 15-1, 15-11, 15-13.

"We were out of sync all night," said Jacobson after the triangular. "They were disappointing losses because we are a better team. If we had played any where near our capabilities we could have won."

Northland hosted UND-Lake Region in a Monday dual, losing 3-2.

"We still had some residual effects from Friday's matches," noted Jacobson. "We played good to a point, then we lost momentum and confidence."

The Royals won 10-15, 15-5, 15-12, 5-15, 16-14.

RLCC hosts volleyball tournament

Matches will be played at both Oklee and Plummer Saturday for the first Red Lake County Central Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The eight-team, two-pool, round-robin schedule starts at 11 a.m., with the host Mustangs being joined by East Grand Forks, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, Climax, Norman County West, Clearbrook-Gonvick, Red Lake Falls and Lake Park-Audubon.

Finals include the third place and championship matches at 6 and 7 p.m., respectively, in Plummer, plus the seventh place and consolation championship matches at 6 and 7 p.m., respectively, in Oklee.

Red Lake County Central broke the .500 barrier with a come-from-behind 5-15, 15-7, 15-10, 15-10 Tuesday win at Warren and a 15-2, 15-4, 15-2 Thursday sweep of Waubun in Plummer, putting the Mustangs at 8-6 for the year.

"We struggled early," admitted Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene after the win over the Ponies. "We were flat at the start, but our defense got us going. We had some saves and digs that gave us a real spark."

Cheryl Greenwald led the Mostangs' defensive efforts, with Dixie Koskela also coming up with a strong back-row performance, said Borene. Dawn Bachand led the Red Lake County Central scorers with 17 last-touch points and 19 kills, while Jenny Walter wound up with 16 last-touch points and 17 kills.

A young Waubun team was not match for Red Lake County Central. "They're really inexperience, but we did a lot of things pretty well," said Borene.

Bobbi Berberich took advantage of a rare opportunity to play back row with a 10-for-10 effort at the service line. Parrah Brantl was good on 14 of 15 serves.

After hosting the tournament, the Mustangs take on Crookston Tuesday in Oklee.

Freshmen win two

A strong defensive effort carried Thief River Falls past host Bemidji 16-8 Tuesday in freshman high school football, with Thief River Falls relying on its offense to produce a 28-20 Thursday win over visiting Grand Forks South.

Bemidji took an early 8-0 lead, but a 69-yard Eric Bjorgaard touchdown pass to Steve Burslie and a Brian Howe conversion run tied it 8-8 at halftime, and it remained deadlocked until Howe scored on a 1-yard run midway through the fourth quarter. Burslie made it 16-8 with the two-point conversion.

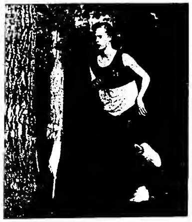
Burslie caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from Bjorgaard to open the scoring against South, then added touchdown runs of 15 and 10 yards, to go along with a Bjorgaard touchdown run following a 35-yard pass to Adam Henney that carried to the 1-yard line.

Howe and Burslie added two-point conversions against South as Thief River Falls built a 20-6 halftime lead.

The Glen Peters and John Schmitz-coached freshmen, 4-2, will play a 4:15 p.m. game at Grand Forks Valley Junior High Thursday.

Cornell wins title

Led by medalist Kelly Cornell, the Concordia College women's golf team won the first-ever official MIAC tournament Sept. 28-29 by a 722-737 margin over runner-up St. Thomas at the Mankato Country Club.



Cornell, a senior from Thief River Falls, turned in a first-place 177 on rounds of 90-87 in the wind.

Concordia coach Duane Siverson said the Cobbers' fall performances should put them in position to earn one of the six available team invitations to the NCAA Division III national championship meet next spring. Cornell and teammate Julie Jamison earned individual invitations to the national meet last spring, finishing 10th and 18th, respectively.

Freshmen girls 5-0

Thief River Falls freshmen swept host Grand Forks South 15-4, 15-9, 15-9 Thursday in high school volleyball.

Peggy Lawrence-coached Thief River Falls freshmen are 5-0. They play a 4:30 p.m. match at Grand Forks Schroeder Thursday

Top Thief River Falls finisher in the girls varsity portion of the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational high school cross country meet Tuesday was Stephanie Vigen, who placed 19th in a race won by Sarah Hutton of Grand Forks Central.

Moorhead tops TRF swimmers

Moorhead defeated Thief River Falls 125-61 Thursday in a girls high school swimming meet at the Franklin Middle School pool.

The Prowlers, still minus several top swimmers, fell to 2-2 in dual meet action. They will participate in the Grand Forks Invitational Saturday beginning at 11 a.m. at the University of North Dakota.

"It was a good, solid meet for our kids," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken after the Thursday setback.

DNR News

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials said they have been receiving numerous questions from deer hunters regarding the new restrictions on use of bait for deer hunting.

"While most hunters have not objected to the baiting regulations, many have questioned whether the new rule affects their particular hunting situation," explained Ed Boggess, resource manager for the DNR Section of Wildlife. "Many hunters who are feeding deer, pheasants and other wildlife on the same property where they are hunting deer want to make sure that does not constitute baiting," Boggess said.

The new regulation states that hunters may not place or use bait for the purpose of taking deer. It defines bait as grain, fruit, vegetables, nuts, hay or other food transported and placed for the purpose of attracting or enticing deer. Bait does not include salt, minerals, liquid scents, or such things as standing agricultural crops or other foods that result from agricultural or other land management activities.

"The baiting regulation is not intended to prevent individuals from feeding deer," explained Boggess. "However, if hunters wish to hunt deer near feeding areas, they should consider waiting until they have finished hunting before placing out feed, or they should avoid hunting at the actual feeding site," he said.

Hunters have also asked the DNR about the use of scented or flavored "deer blocks." Boggess indicated that if the blocks contain some food but are primarily scented or flavored salt or mineral blocks, they would not constitute bait. However, if they are made up primarily of grains, apples or other foods, they would be considered bait.

This year's restriction on baiting is in response to problems in other Midwestern states where baiting has become widespread. Those problems include pre-emption of and confrontations over hunting spots on public lands, litter and aesthetic impacts, shifting of deer movements and behavior based on baiting patterns, and increases in illegal activities associated with baiting. While baiting for deer is not currently a common practice in Minnesota, it is beginning to become more prevalent here, Boggess said.

"We wanted to restrict baiting before it became firmly established in the state," explained Boggess. "Once baiting begins in an area, it tends to increase rapidly because other hunters then feel that they must also bait to compete for deer." At least a dozen other states have established regulations prohibiting the use of bait for deer, according to Boggess.

"With the high populations and hunting success that we have, baiting is not necessary to successfully hunt deer in Minnesota," said Boggess. "When we balanced that fact against the potential problems that a proliferation of baiting would present, it was obvious that some action was needed."

National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (Foundation), in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service), has announced a grant award of $300,000 to soil and water conservation districts (SWCDs) in the Upper Midwest for wetland restoration activities.

The award was announced by the Foundation's Board of Directors during its summer meeting in Minnesota July 22-26.

Specifically, $300,000 from the Foundation will be available as matching funds for SWCDs in the North Central Region of the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD). SWCDs will commit $600,000 and the Service will provide inkind services and technical advice for these activities.

These awards to the SWCDs will be used for wetland restoration activities including construction, surveying and engineering and landowner contacts to identify drained wetlands.

"This is a unique opportunity to strengthen the partnership between the service, Foundation and as many as 100 SWCDs from throughout the North Central Region," emphasized Jim Gritman, Regional Director of the Service's office in the Twin Cities.

Wetland restoration activities by SWCDs will commence in 1992 and are expected to be completed by late fall, 1993.

Cold Water Facts

Although September's falling leaves and temperatures often mean the end of what most Minnesotan's consider to be the traditional boating season, a considerable number of "hard core" anglers continue fishing until freeze-up. Unfortunately, that often means several people die in watercraft accidents that would have only been embarrassing dunkings during warmer weather, according to Tim Smalley, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) boating safety specialist.

"Late season anglers need to be aware that capsizing or falling overboard into cold water can mean the rapid onset of hypothermia and drowning, even for strong swimmers," Smalley said.

Hypothermia is where the chilling effects of cold water cause the loss of body heat faster thans it can be produced, eventually causing unconsciousness and drowning or death by heart failure.

"Four anglers died in late season boating accidents in 1990," Smalley noted. "Hypothermia was a contributing factor in all the fatalities, and is involved in at least 50 percent of all fishing boat deaths over the season."

The DNR offers this information to help late-season anglers avoid hypothermia:

- Hypothermia usually kills victims in the water by eliminating their ability to swim or stay afloat.
- Hypothermia can occur on the land or in the water, although water robs body heat 25 times faster than air of the same temperature.
- Alcoholic beverages do not keep you warm, and in fact can speed the onset of hypothermia.
- Water less than 70 degrees is cold enough to cause hypothermia.

Symptoms of hypothermia are:

- Continual shivering (although shivering stops in extreme cases).
- Poor coordination, slurred and slow speech, numb hands and feet.
- Dazed or confused behavior, hallucinations, personality changes (usually to the exact opposite of victim's normal personality).

Rescue is not always immediate. If you wind up in cold water, you can delay the onset of hypothermia if you:

- Wear your PFD (Personal Flotation Device or life preserver). A vest or float coat style PFD increases your survival time by decreasing the amount of movement required to stay afloat and helping insulate against heat loss.
- Get back in the boat. The importance of getting back into your boat can't be over emphasized. If you can't right a capsized boat, climb on top and hang on.
- Keep your shirt on (and everything else). Almost all clothing, even hip boots and waders, will float for an estended period of time. As long as you remain calm and don't thrash around. Air trapped in clothing fabric will hold considerable buoyancy. Only removed clothing if it is hampering your efforts to climb back into the boat.
- Think or swim. Don't try to swim for safety unless your boat has sunk. Studies show that a strong swimmer has only a 50/50 chance of swimming one-half mile in 50 degree water. Your chances of being sighted by a rescuer are greater if you stay with your capsized boat.
- H.E.L.P. The heat escape lessening position (H.E.L.P.) begins by crossing your ankles, then your arms over your chest, lean back and try to relax. A PFD is a must for using this strategy.
- Treatment. Remove the victim from the cold, and under supervision, rewarm slowly. Call for medical assistance in all but the slightest cases. Hypothermia victims must be handled gently due to increased chance of cardiac arrest. Hypothermia is over when the victim is rewarmed to the point of sweating.

Do's -

- Shelter the victim from the wind and the rain.
- Replacer wet clothes with dry warm clothes or blankets.
- Call for medical assistance.
- Encourage the victim to move.
- Keep victim awake and talking.
- Huddle together for warmth.
- Apply warm compresses, warmed rocks wrapped in towels, or water bottles less than 110 degreer.
- Encourage the victim to drink as much warm, sweet liquid as possible (no alcohol).

Dont's -

- Never transport a victim if medical assistance can be brought to the victim.
- Never give alcoholic beverages to a victim.
- Never give the victim any medications.
- Never massage or jostle the victim.
- Never let the victim smoke.

For more hypothermia information, contact the Minnesota DNR Boat & Water Safety Section, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4046, or call toll free 1-800-652-9747, ask for the DNR, and request the free pamphlet "Hypothermia, the Cold Facts."

Officials asked to support city housing project

Developers and project leaders for a student housing project in Thief River Falls asked elected officials to support continued study of the student housing project Thursday.

Members of the Thief River Falls city council and school district 564 met with officials from the Technical College, Northland Community College, the city's community development director, city's attorney and Eldon Burow of Frauenshuh companies, developer of the proposed student housing project.

Paul Ihle, city attorney, and Don Stewart community development director for Thief River Falls, proposed that the purpose of the meeting Thursday was to bring elected officials up to date an the progress of the project and to discuss project financing.

Dr. Orley Gunderson of the Technical College first explained the need for the facility. Gunderson said the most frequent complaint he bears from students is about housing. He also explained that future growth of the college is limited by housing.

Gunderson said both colleges have shown significant growth in the past 10 years. In the case of the Technical College, a large percentage of the growth was caused by growth of the aviation program. That program will show continued growth in the near future. Gunderson said it is a goal of the college to have 1,000 full time students by the year 2000.

A lack of student bousing is such a problem that it is being used against the school. Gunderson said the lack of housing problem is being spread by word of mouth to other students. It is also being used against the school by other colleges.

To Gunderson, there is a definite need for housing. He asked the elected officials to support the proposed housing project.

Jim Havilland, acting-provost of Northland Community College, explained that for each program the Technical College introduces the students have to have general education courses at Northland to fulfill their requirements. Thus, Northland will benefit from the growth of the Technical College.

Eldon Burow of Frauenshuh Companies, explained that the need is what brought the developer to Thief River Falls. Burow said he was confident that their firm had completed the research and economic performance analyses. Burow outlined ooe proposal that included 24 four bedroom units, two two bedroom units for married or single parents, and six two bedroom units for other students. He has looked at several options and this proposal, which would house about 124 students is just one of many more he will look at. He may also propose more than one of these project units.

Ihle told elected officials that he was real pleased with Eldon's effort. He said what is needed now is to assure investors — investors who would purchase the bonds for the project — that it will be a good investment, which means there needs to be a tie-in to the city.

Options being looked at include the city committing funds for a reserve fund which would protect the bonds, or an equity infusian, in additian to water and sewer. Ihle said, hopefully, nothing will be needed.

In effect, the city would cet as a "safety net".

According to information provided by Burow, the following criteria would be needed in order to provide financing for a city-owned (HRA) housing project for students of the community and technical colleges in Thief River Falls:

• a proforma coverage of debt service by net revenues of 1.50x;

• a review of the management plan of the facility including the adequacy of expected maintenance expenditures and the justification of operating expense estimotes, an equity contribution of at least 20 per cent of the construction costs (can be in the form of cash or land improvements);

• pledge other city revenues on an irrevocable basis to increase the city's stake in the success of the project;

• a moral obligation of the city to replenish the debt service reserve fund to its required level should it experience any draws;

• a pledge from the city to conduct periodic inspections;

• a review of the adaptability of this facility to a non-dormitory use;

• a prospective review of the control of eacb of the educational institutioos at the state and local levels including justifiestion that the programs that attract the most noo-local students to the Thief River Falls institutions are not likely to be duplicated elsewhere in the state;

• a comprehensive study of the student housiog supply and needs in Thief River Falls;

• a comprehensive study of all enrollment and program data of the colleges.

Ihle asked the elected officials to ask their representative bodies for a resolution or act of support for the continued research and study of the student housing proposal.

Nathan discusses education

mathematics, communication skills, planning, working cooperatively, listening skills and other applied skills that will have great value to them beyond their school years. It is becoming evident that we have to get students out of the classroom to learn."

Nathan also believes it is important for students to have direct association with people from other countries to learn more about culture and languages.

"The most important thing in improving education in America is increasing parental Involvement," Nathan said. "Involved parents are finding that schools are not doing what they have been sayiog they are doing in providing students with a good education."

Despite the recogoition that parental involvement is basic to educational improvement, few teacher education programs offer courses an working with parents in educational endeavors.

At the elementary school Nathan's children attend, teachers send personal notes home with each student every Friday, noting the student's progress or difficulty. Parents know the notes are coming and students know their parents are expecting them. If a note is "lost," the parents can call the teacher for information on what it contained.

"This system takes a little more time for each teacher each week, but it probably saves a lot of time spent in discipline for classroom disruption and other problems which could become more serious. One of parents' most frequent comments when serious problems arise with their children is that they weren't told sooner that there was a problem. The weekly note keeps parents advised before problems become serious."

If parent involvement is the most important key to improved learning by the nation's students, who initiates the effort for change?

"The best predictor of porent Involvement," Dr. Nathan said, "is what the school does to promote it."

He also added from a parental involvement standpoint that children take their studies or activities more seriously when their parents pay attention to what they are doing. Parents would be well advised to be awore of where their attention is directed—academics or activities, for instance.

There is $1 million of the $2.3 million Blondin grant available to communities to provide cash and/or training for educational improvement projects. For further information on the Center for School Change contact Marie Hvidsten at 681-8677.

Council takes no action to delay decision on casino

Absolutely no action was taken by the Thief River Falls city council at its meeting Tuesday night when they received a request to have their decision on the casino delayed until an advisory vote could be taken on October 19.

Alderman Don Barron encouraged the council to keep an "arms length" away from the proposed advisory vote. So emphatic was his appeal that he had a statement read into the minutes to clarify the position of the council relative to the casino.

When David Grothe, representative of the Citizens Advisory Vote Committee, presented a request to have the council delay their decision on the casino until after the advisory vote on October 19, Barron interjected with his statement.

As a point of clarification, Barron said, the council has not officially or "unofficially encouraged" a privately funded advisory vote of the people. Barron was referring to a paid advertisement in The Times which states that the council unofficially encouraged a privately funded advisory vote.

The following statement was read into the minutes of the meeting with the approval of the council on a motion from Don Barron and seconded by Jean Heinrichs:

"I believe there is need for clarification of the position of the city council relative to the proposed casino.

"The city council is moving with due diligence toward a decision about the proposed casino.

"1. Many questions were answered at the information meeting held on September 17th.

"2. The planning commission, at its meeting on September 23, made findings that, subject to execution of an agreement between the city of Thief River Falls and the Red Lake Band of Chippewa, which shall address planning, zoning and development concerns, the proposal of the Red Lake Band would be consistent with the Comprehensive Plan and Land Use Regulations.

"3. On September 24, the council unanimously passed a motion to show the Red Lake Band that the council is looking at their proposed venture in a positive light, but the council requires a legal contract to review before a final vote is taken. This is presently being worked on.

"4. On September 24, Legal Counsel, Paul Ihle, advised the Council to take an "arms length" position relative to a proposed advisory vote and cited a number of attorney general rulings to back up his recommendation.

"5. Therefore, it is apparent the council is carefully trying to gather information to provide answers to as many questions as possible before acting as representatives of the people who elected them to make these kinds of difficult decisions.

"6. Again, it should be empha-

Arena walk program to begin

Fifth year of the arena walking program at the Thief River Falls sports arena will begin Monday, November 5, under sponsorship of Falls Clinic Division of Dakota Clinic Ltd. and the City of Thief River Falls. No fee will be charged this year.

The program was developed in 1986 as the first of its kind in the area. It is intended to encourage people to walk on a regular basis as part of their exercise and fitness program and is held in the arena so that anyone may participate in a walking program, even in cold weather.

The sports arena provides a place that it protected from the wind and weather and is a comfortable temperature for walking. It is available for walking seven days a week but certain time restrictions are Imposed to allow for other activities.

"The City of Thief River Falls park and recreation department has been extremely cooperative in setting hours and regulations that everyone can live with," stated Gail Holland, public relations coordinator at Northwest Medical center. "Walkers are not allowed to walk in the arena before 7:30 a.m.

"Walking is the safest and most natural way to health and fitness and it is right under your nose—at your feet," she added. "It has been discovered by millions as a safe and effective form of exercise. Some people walk for exercise and to stay in shape. Others walk for companionship, for time alone or for a break during a hectic day. People who walk are strengthening their hearts and improving their health."

In the past a small fee has been required to join the arena walking program. This year the fee has been waived and everyone is welcome to participate in this program at no cost.

Arena walking logbooks are available free at the arena office and contain information on times when people may walk. Participants who reach 10, 100 and 500-mile marks will receive a pin, T-shirt and trophy for attaining each of those goals, respectively.

Questions can be directed to Gail Holland at Northwest Medical Center, phone 681-4240, extension 210.

Ground breaking for the home office of First National Bank of Middle River began this week. Bank officials recently announced that it will move to Thief River Falls. The home office will be located at the former site of the Holiday motel. The bank will keep a branch office in Middle River.

Recycling center is ready for use

Pennington county residents who wish to do more in the line of recycling now have that opportunity with the newly-opened Pennington county recycling center, according to Howard Person, Pennington county extension agent.

The center is located in the west building at the Future Fuel complex on highway 32 south. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The recycling center does direct recycling with a total of eight specific items, including three kinds of glass, two types of plastic, metal cans, aluminum cans and waste cloth and clothing.

Types of glass include clear, green and amber. Only glass containers are accepted—no window glass, mirrors, insulators, ceramics or other types of glass. Metal caps, cap rings, foil or plastic films should be removed from the containers, but paper labels may be left attached.

Plastics accepted for recycling include Type 1 polyethylene teraphthalate bottles such as two-liter soda beverage bottles. Look for the recycling circle with the number 1 in it, usually on the underside of the bottle.

Giving Miss Moose the old heave-ho, Garner Erickson (left) and Gordon Forester of the Minnesota DNR attempt to extricate the young animal from a marsh near Thief River Falls Wednesday. The moose was discovered by a Thief River Falls resident Tuesday evening, mired in the marsh with nearly half its body in the mud and cattails and unable to move. Forester and Erickson used ropes, a four-wheel ATV and finally their own muscle to free the moose and drag it a few feet onto the mat of cattails. The moose was unable to stand and appeared extremely weak from its ordeal. It is unknown how long the animal had been mired, unable to reach food or water. As of this morning the moose has not moved from the rescue area. It drank water from a bucket held for it and ate food left for it but is believed to have injured its rear leg in the struggle to free itself. Whether the animal will survive or not is unknown but it is being observed and provided with water and food. Other photos from the rescue effort will be published in the Thief River Falls Times Tuesday, October 15.

Officials asked to support city housing project

Developers and project leaders for a student housing project in Thief River Falls asked elected officials to support continued study of the student housing project Thursday.

Members of the Thief River Falls city council and school district 564 met with officials from the Technical College, Northland Community College, the city's community development director, city's attorney and Eldon Burow of Frauenshuh companies, developer of the proposed student housing project.

Paul Ihle, city attorney, and Don Stewart, community development director for Thief River Falls, proposed that the purpose of the meeting Thursday was to bring elected officials up to date on the progress of the project and to discuss project financing.

Dr. Orley Gunderson of the Technical College first explained the need for the facility. Gunderson said the most frequent complaint he hears from students is about housing. He also explained that future growth of the college is limited by housing.

Gunderson said both colleges have shown significant growth in the past 10 years. In the case of the Technical College, a large percentage of the growth was caused by growth of the aviation program. That program will show continued growth in the near future. Gunderson said it is a goal of the college to have 1,000 full time students by the year 2000.

A lack of student housing is such a problem that it is being used against the school. Gunderson said the lack of housing problem is being spread by word of mouth to other students. It is also being used against the school by other colleges.

To Gunderson, there is a definite need for housing. He asked the elected officials to support the proposed housing project.

Jim Havilland, acting-provost of Northland Community College, explained that for each program the Technical College introduces the students have to have general education courses at Northland to fulfill their requirements. Thus, Northland will benefit from the growth at the Technical College.

Eldon Burow of Frauenshuh Companies, explained that the need is what brought the developer to Thief River Falls. Burow said he was confident that their firm had completed the research and economic performance analyses. Burow outlined one proposal that included 24 four bedroom units, two two bedroom units for married or single parents, and six two bedroom units for other students. He has looked at several options and this proposal, which would house about 124 students is just one of many more he will look at. He may also propose more than one of these project units.

Ihle told elected officials that he was real pleased with Eldon's effort. He said what is needed now is to assure investors — investors who would purchase the bonds for the project — that it will be a good investment, which means there needs to be a tie-in to the city.

Options being looked at include the city committing funds for a reserve fund which would protect the bonds, or an equity infusion, in addition to water and sewer. Ihle said, hopefully, nothing will be needed.

In effect, the city would act as a "safety net".

According to information provided by Burow, the following criteria would be needed in order to provide financing for a city-owned (HRA) housing project for students of the community and technical colleges in Thief River Falls:

• a proforma coverage of debt service by net revenues of 1.50x;

• a review of the management plan of the facility including the adequacy of expected maintenance expenditures and the justification of operating expense estimates, an equity contribution of at least 20 per cent of the construction costs (can be in the form of cash or land improvements);

• pledge other city revenues on an irrevocable basis to increase the city's stake in the success of the project;

• a moral obligation of the city to replenish the debt service reserve fund to its required level should it experience any draws;

• a pledge from the city to conduct periodic inspections;

• a review of the adaptability of this facility to a non-dormitory use;

• a prospective review of the control of each of the educational institutions at the state and local levels including justification that the programs that attract the most non-local students to the Thief River Falls institutions are not likely to be duplicated elsewhere in the state;

• a comprehensive study of the student housing supply and needs in Thief River Falls;

• a comprehensive study of all enrollment and program data of the colleges.

Ihle asked the elected officials to ask their representative bodies for a resolution or act of support for the continued research and study of the student housing proposal.

mathematics, communication skills, planning, working cooperatively, listening skills and other applied skills that will have great value to them beyond their school years. It is becoming evident that we have to get students out of the classroom to learn."

Nathan also believes it is important for students to have direct association with people from other countries to learn more about culture and languages.

"The most important thing in improving education in America is increasing parental involvement," Nathan said. "Involved parents are finding that schools are not doing what they have been saying they are doing in providing students with a good education."

Despite the recognition that parental involvement is basic to educational improvement, few teacher education programs offer courses on working with parents in educational endeavors.

At the elementary school Nathan's children attend, teachers send personal notes home with each student every Friday, noting the student's progress or difficulty. Parents know the notes are coming and students know their parents are expecting them. If a note is "lost," the parents can call the teacher for information on what it contained.

"This system takes a little more time for each teacher each week, but it probably saves a lot of time spent in discipline for classroom disruption and other problems which could become more serious. One of parents' most frequent comments when serious problems arise with their children is that they weren't told sooner that there was a problem. The weekly note keeps parents advised before problems become serious."

If parent involvement is the most important key to improved learning by the nation's students, who initiates the effort for change?

"The best predictor of parent involvement," Dr. Nathan said, "is what the school does to promote it."

He also added from a parental involvement standpoint that children take their studies or activities more seriously when their parents pay attention to what they are doing. Parents would be well advised to be aware of where their attention is directed—academics or activities, for instance.

There is $1 million of the $2.3 million Blandin grant available to communities to provide cash and/or training for educational improvement projects. For further information on the Center for School Change contact Marie Hvidsten at 681-8677.

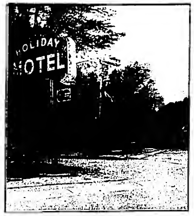
Arena walk program to begin

Fifth year of the arena walking program at the Thief River Falls sports arena will begin Monday, November 5, under sponsorship of Falls Clinic Division of Dakota Clinic Ltd. and the City of Thief River Falls. No fee will be charged this year.

The program was developed in 1986 as the first of its kind in the area. It is intended to encourage people to walk on a regular basis as part of their exercise and fitness program and is held in the arena so that anyone may participate in a walking program, even in cold weather.

The sports arena provides a place that it protected from the wind and weather and is a comfortable temperature for walking. It is available for walking seven days a week but certain time restrictions are imposed to allow for other activities.



"The City of Thief River Falls park and recreation department has been extremely cooperative in setting hours and regulations that everyone can live with," stated Gail Holland, public relations coordinator at Northwest Medical center. "Walkers are not allowed to walk in the arena before 7:30 a.m.

"Walking is the safest and most natural way to health and fitness and it is right under your nose—at your feet," she added. "It has been discovered by millions as a safe and effective form of exercise. Some people walk for exercise and to stay in shape. Others walk for companionship, for time alone or for a break during a hectic day. People who walk are strengthening their hearts and improving their health."

In the past a small fee has been required to join the arena walking program. This year the fee has been waived and everyone is welcome to participate in this program at no cost.

Arena walking logbooks are available free at the arena office and contain information on times when people may walk. Participants who reach 10, 100 and 500-mile marks will receive a pin, T-shirt and trophy for attaining each of those goals, respectively.

Questions can be directed to Gail Holland at Northwest Medical Center, phone 681-4240, extension 210.

No action taken on request to delay

Council takes no action to delay decision on casino

Absolutely no action was taken by the Thief River Falls city council at its meeting Tuesday night when they received a request to have their decision on the casino delayed until an advisory vote could be taken on October 19.

Alderman Don Barron encouraged the council to keep an "arms length" away from the proposed advisory vote. So emphatic was his appeal that he had a statement read into the minutes to clarify the position of the council relative to the casino.

When David Orothe, representative of the Citizens Advisory Vote Committee, presented a request to have the council delay their decision on the casino until after the advisory vote on October 19, Barron interjected with his statement.

As a point of clarification, Barron said, the council has not officially or "unofficially encouraged" a privately funded advisory vote of the people. Barron was referring to a paid advertisement in The Times which states that the council unofficially encouraged a privately funded advisory vote.

The following statement was read into the minutes of the meeting with the approval of the council on a motion from Don Barron and seconded by Jean Heinrichs:

"I believe there is need for clarification of the position of the city council relative to the proposed casino.

"The city council is moving with due diligence toward a decision about the proposed casino.

"1. Many questions were answered at the information meeting held on September 17th.

"2. The planning commission, at its meeting on September 23, made findings that, subject to execution of an agreement between the city of Thief River Falls and the Red Lake Band of Chippewa, which shall address planning, zoning and development concerns, the proposal of the Red Lake Band would be consistent with the Comprehensive Plan and Land Use Regulations.

"3. On September 24, the council unanimously passed a motion to show the Red Lake Band that the council is looking at their proposed venture in a positive light, but the council requires a legal contract to review before a final vote is taken. This is presently being worked on.

"4. On September 24, Legal Counsel, Paul Ihle, advised the Council to take an "arms length" position relative to a proposed advisory vote and cited a number of attorney general rulings to back up his recommendation.

"5. Therefore, it is apparent the council is carefully trying to gather information to provide answers to as many questions as possible before acting as representatives of the people who elected them to make these kinds of difficult decisions.

"6. Again, it should be empha- (Continued on Back Page)

WIC Program adds participants

More mothers and children will soon be taking part in the state's WIC supplemental food program, according to officials at the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

About 5,000 new participants are being added to the program, bringing statewide enrollment in WIC to a record high of 84,000. The expansion will allow Minnesota WIC to serve most of the people who are now on waiting lists for the program in the state.

WIC—the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children—has been serving eligible participants in Minnesota since 1974. The program provides selected supplemental foods and other health-related services to mothers and children with special nutritional needs.

"WIC is one of the great success stories of public health," said Marlene E. Marschall, Minnesota Commissioner of Health. "Research has shown that pregnant women who participate in WIC have more successful pregnancies and healthier children."

"WIC has had a very positive impact on the health of mothers and children in Minnesota," said Commissioner Marschall. "We are very pleased that we have been able to expand WIC, and bring more people into the program."

Eligible WIC participants can include pregnant women, new mothers, infants, and children up to age five. Each participant must be professionally evaluated, and found to have special nutrition-related health needs. Participants must also be Minnesota residents, and have incomes that fall below established guidelines.

Minnesota WIC officials have been making a special effort, over the fast few years, to get eligible pregnant women into the program. Many potentially eligible women in that group have not been participating in the program, officials say, even though good nutrition is especially important during pregnancy.

Participants in the program are given vouchers that can be used to buy food from grocery stores or other food retailers. The vouchers can only be used for certain kinds of foods, selected by WIC staff to meet the specific nutritional needs of each participant. Participants also receive nutrition education, and are referred for additional health-related services.

MDH administers WIC in Minnesota, and a statewide network of local WIC agencies is responsible for providing services under the program. To find out who provides WIC services in your area, you can call MDH toll-free at 1-800-WIC-4030 (or 1-800-942-4030).

WIC is funded primarily by the U.S. Department of Agriculture—although the Minnesota Legislature has also allocated state funds for the program. Minnesota was one of the first states to provide local funding for WIC.

WIC is an equal opportunity program, in accordance with policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. Persons who believe they have been discriminated against should write to the Administrator, Food and Nutrition Service, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

ACTIVITIES

Singing with Children

Children love to sing and a fun way to get some of the seasonal themes is to use "piggy back" songs." These are words that are set to the tune of a familiar children's song. Two fall songs may be:

"Leaves"
(to the tune of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star")
All join hands and circle round
While we watch the leaves fall down
See them twirling to the ground
See them whirling all around
See them skipping here and there
See them flipping in the air.

"Changing Seasons"
(to the tune of "I'm a Little Teapot")
I'm a little person who's aware
Of the changes in the air
First the leaves turn brown and then they fall
Then the snow comes lightly down

PARENTING TIPS

Children and Time

One of the most frustrating things about being a parent is trying to get everything accomplished that needs to be accomplished. And then to make matters worse you have a child who has no concept of time and dawdles. When you press him to cooperate better or to hurry, he becomes explosive.

How to cope? Here are several possible approaches:

✓ Examine your expectations. Are you expecting too much of yourself or your child? Is it possible to do all the things you did and keep house the way you did before you had children? Is it realistic to expect your young child to do things in the same time frame that you, an adult, would do them in?

✓ A child usually cooperates better and faster if you have given a warning about five minutes before the activity must end. "You have a couple more minutes to play. Then you must put you toys away and put your coat on so we can go to Grandma's house."

✓ Tell him to say good-bye to whatever he is doing or to whomever is present, and give him time to do it.

✓ Offer him a choice. Out make sure it is a choice of two things that fit within your limits and will accomplish what you want to have accomplished. For esample: rather than "Do you want to go to bed? say "It is time for bed, do you want to walk or shall I carry you?"

Each time you alert your youngster to anticipate an event, his ability to organize a time world increases. Also, the vocabulary associated with time: "pretty soon," "five minutes" will become relevant. When you give your child choices and abide by those choices, you show him respect which helps to build self-esteem.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Here are more good recipes from the 1978 Marshall County Homemakers' Cookbook.

How about homemade soup on a cold day? This one uses zucchini, yes it does:

Curried Zucchini Soup
(Jeanne Schmidt, Good Neighbors Club)

3 small zucchini
2 large yellow onions
1/2 pound tomatoes
1 quart vegetable stock or water
3 tablespoons butter, margarine or oil
1 teaspoon whole wheat flour
4 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
dash cayenne pepper
1/8 teaspoon ginger

Wash zucchini and dice coarsely. Peel and slice onions.

Heat 2 tablespoons butter or oil in kettle and saute onions and zucchini until soft.

Add stock (or water) and cook 20 minutes. Slice tomatoes and saute briefly in remaining tablespoon of butter. Add to vegetables and stock and bring to boil.

Mix flour, curry, ginger, salt and pepper with remaining 4 tablespoons of water to blend and add to soup. Simmer 6 minutes.

Spin soup in blender or put through food mill to serve. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

These rich bars will stick to your ribs (and hips too, I suppose):

Sour Cream Raisin Bars
(Mrs. Florence Weber, Farley Club)

2 cups raisin, cooked and cooled

Crust
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter
1 3/4 cup oatmeal
1 teaspoon soda
1 3/4 cup flour

Mix ingredients together and press half in 9x13 pan. Bake for 7 minutes at 350 degrees.

Filling
3 egg yolks
One carton sour cream
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch

Boil mixture until thick, stirring as it boils. Add raisins and pour over baked crust.

Add remaining crust for topping and bake 25 minutes more at 350 degrees.

Here is a different recipe for date bars:

Crispy Date Bars
(Willo Sedlacek, Gloomchasers Club)

Crust
1 cup flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter

Combine until crumbly. Press into greased 11x7 or 9x9 pan. Bake at 375 degrees until golden brown (10-12 minutes).

Filling
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups crispy rice cereal (Rice Krispies-type)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nuts

In saucepan, combine dates, sugar and margarine or butter. Cook over medium heat until mixture boils, simmering for 3 minutes.

Add 1/4 cup of this mixture to the beaten egg, then return mixture to saucepan and continue to cook until mixture bubbles.

Stir in cereal, nuts and vanilla. Pour over baked crust and cool.

Frosting
2 cups powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened

Combine ingredients and beat smooth. Spread over cooled filling.

'Tis the season for not knowing what to do with all that zucchini, so, try these yummy bars:

Zucchini Bars
(Evelyn Nelson, Parkettes Club)

1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup nuts
1 cup grated zucchini
1/2 cup frozen orange juice concentrate 4 tablespoons oil
grated orange peel
2 slightly beaten egg whites

Sift sugar, flour, soda, cinnamon, baking powder and salt in bowl. Add nuts, zucchini, orange juice, oil and orange peel, then add egg whites.

Place in 9x13 pan and bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Frosting
1 cup powdered sugar orange juice concentrate water

Mix together well until soft. Put on hot bars for glaze.

Inter-County has loans available for improvements

Inter-County Community council at Oklee is still accepting applications for the Minnesota Housing Finance agency deferred and revolving loan programs. The loans can be used for basic and necessary improvements, such as electrical wiring, plumbing, roofing, heating, insulation, doors and windows.

To be eligible, applicants must live in East Polk, Red Lake or Pennington counties, own the property to be improved and have lived there for at least the last six months. Applicants must also meet the minimum income and asset guidelines for each loan program.

Interested persons should contact Inter-County Community Council, Box 189, Oklee, MN 56742 for an application or call 796-5144 for more information.
